SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,

BUT HOME TRUTHS!

IT DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, as Asiatic cholera (ism in medicine or nimen, (which only impairs nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S

Electric Oil!

is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $ 0, 0 worth in a day. No listening, smarting sensation. No opium, camphor, alcohol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure. I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50 00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STILES ALLEN, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breasts and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Person School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases an you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

AROUND HOME.

It is reported that Messrs. Russell & Odlon have determined to put up a coal-pocket on their wharf.

The schooner Mary Willey was at Concord railroad wharf on Tuesday, loading ice for Laighton Bros. & Co., of the Shoals.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. received 1600 bushels of malt this week, coming by way of the New York & New England railroad.

Harper's Weekly has a likeness of Secretary of the Navy Goff, also of District Attorney Rollins of New York. Moses Brothers sell the paper.

John A. Smith, for many years landlord of the New England house at Dover, signed the pledge at the reform club meeting in that city last Sunday night, and on Monday was preparing his hotel to be run as a first-class temperance house.

It is said that a gentleman in this city who was formerly in good employ, and had sent his spare money to a relative in New York, who was a stock broker, to invest for him, had from loss of work, and receiving no return from his investments, got reduced in circumstances. Within a few days he has received a remittance of from eight to ten thousand dollars from the broker, and now basks in the smiles of fortune.

Before Judge Lowell, of the United States circuit court, on Monday, the equity suits of the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain railroad against the Northern railroad, and also against the Nashua & Lowell railroad, were argued upon demurrer filed to the bill, which seeks to recover a contribution from the earnings of the defendant railroads under a contract for through freight. The plaintiff railroad advanced $600,000, and claims that the defendant railroads should under the contract contribute towards a repayment in certain proportions. Since the hearing of a similar case against the Boston & Lowell railroad, the bill has been amended, and the hearing now was upon the demurrer. Decision reserved. Sidney Bartlett, F. W. Palfrey and Wallace Hackett for plff.; Josiah H. Benton, Jr., for Northern railroad; F. A. Brooks for Nashua & Lowell railroad.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Rev. A. Cole of Cornish, one of the oldest preachers in York county, is lying at the point of death.

The workmen in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard have been suspended until the first of next month owing to the lack of funds.

The proprietors of the lumber mills in the vicinity of Kennebunk depot are purchasing all the logs they can obtain at prices varying from $5 to $9 per 1,000 feet.

The friends of Mrs. Leander Plaisted of Eliot gave her a surprise party on the evening of the 13th inst, and on departing left behind several valuable silver presents, and a great variety of tin ware.

The Orthodox society of Eliot have placed a vane on the belfry of their church, and the bell is expected to arrive in a few days. The society may well be proud of the new edifice, which is a credit to the parish, the architect and the builder.

Fire was discovered under a stairway in the brick schoolhouse at Kittery Foreside, between seven and eight o'clock Monday evening, and though it was burning brightly when first seen it was put out by snow and buckets of water before the arrival of the navy yard engine. As there was no stove pipe or furnace in the immediate vicinity of where the fire caught, it is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The loss is estimated at about $300.

The lady and gentlemen friends of Mr. Parry Tobey, "batchelder," of Eliot, to the number of 130, surprised him at the residence of his father, Capt. James Tobey, on the evening of the 20th. Parry was the recipient of many presents, among them being a bass viol, a cradle containing a doll baby, with nursing bottle, soothing syrup, etc., and an old-fashioned warming-pan. A supper consisting of brown bread, baked beans and other delicacies was served by the lady visitors.

THE CONCERT AT RYE.

Dear Editor: I have got something on my mind that I want you to know about, and if you see fit to tell any one else I shall not object. I was taken this way once before about the big city of London, and you relieved me; and so here I am again. This time it is about Rye. As to size, Rye is not quite up to London, to be sure, but let me tell you it is ahead in some other respects. I was one of the fortunate nine that went there the other evening and gave a concert, under the auspices of the Martha Washington society of that place. It is not a new idea, I believe, that people can make themselves disagreeable, indifferent, or agreeable, without saying a word, and that as an audience feels they will affect the performers. If agreeable, the chances are that they will get a good performance; if disagreeable, there is about as much enjoyment and chance of success as there would be in the morning of having a first-class wash out of a bowl of water that had frozen solid in the night. We gave the concert in the Congregational church. After warming ourselves in the vestry we went up stairs and into the church, which was filled. The moment I looked the audience in the face I knew that everything was all right, and it would be our fault if the concert was not a success. The faces seemed to say "we are glad to see you, and we shall give you credit for all that you do well." I believe it did go well, for the faces grew encouragingly brighter as we went on with the programme. Even the loud-ticking clock was not disagreeable, but seemed to say "Good! good! good!" at each stroke. I don't think I have thought myself much of a violinist, but Rye has encouraged me, and I am up one round higher on the ladder. If when you meet me on the street I appear to be stepping a little higher than usual, you may know that Rye did it. (No pun intended.) Now comes the last but not least of the affair. The thoughtful Marthas prepared for us in the vestry, after the concert, what they called a "lunch." We live very well at home, but if that was a lunch we should like to change our boarding-place and take our regular meals in Rye. I believe that they must have stirred in smiles into the Charlotte Russe that was set before us, as there was something besides cream that made it taste unusually nice. I was helped three times, and then could not keep my eyes off the empty dish. If the George Washingtons of Rye don't cherish the Marthas that got up the so-called lunch, there must be something wrong about the Georges. If one of the Marthas should be abused by a George (I don't think they will) and be brought before a Portsmouth court, I would advise the George to object to my being on the jury, for I should certainly go strong for hanging him.

Talk about London? do you think they can come up to our American Rye women? No Sir! H. L. HARLOW.

P. S. The above is not what the boys call "taffy." H.

WEDDING IN NAVAL CIRCLES.

On Wednesday evening, November 24th, a wedding took place at the residence of Mr. William Workman, 357 Bradford street, in the vicinity of Sixteenth and Pine streets. Both the groom, Mr. John Pierce, and the bride, Miss Mary Hoyt, are natives of Portsmouth, N. H. Mr. Pierce, who is attached to the United States navy, has just completed a three years' cruise on a foreign station, and is now doing duty, in a clerical capacity, on the receiving ship St. Louis, at League Island. On the Saturday evening following, the event was duly celebrated by the male friends of the groom, most of them members of the same vessel on which Mr. Pierce serves his country. There were no ladies present except the hostess, Mrs. Workman, and the charming bride herself. Prominent among the gentlemen were Messrs. A. T. Young, George H. Edds, Harry Meyers and J. A. Campbell. An elegant collation was served, and there was no lack of inspiriting stimulants. Songs, speeches and recitations were the order of the evening. Mr. Campbell made a humorous speech on "The Joys and Blessings of Married Life," which was enthusiastically appreciated. Harry Meyers amused the company by singing "Patrick, rock the cradle." Mrs. Pierce, the fascinating bride, who is brimful of merriment, read an original ode to "Jonathan Jinks," the well-known contributor to the Sunday Times. A. T. Young sang in his powerful bariton voice, "The old sexton," after which George H. Edds read an amusing medical essay. The festivities kept up till a late hour, when all retired wishing both bride and groom a long and prosperous life.—Philadelphia Sunday Times.

Naval Gazette.

Capt. R. J. R. Lewis has been detached from the command of the Shenadoah and ordered to return home.

The United States steamer Yantic, which has been detailed to cruse in the line of New York and European steamships in search of the vessel reported as being waterlogged some eight hundred miles out, is reported as having sailed from Beaufort, S. C., on Saturday; she had been detained by easterly winds.

The Tennessee arrived at St. Croix on the 10th of January.

The Alliance arrived at Matanzas on the 22d, all well.

The House naval committee has reported favorably the bill offered by Mr. Briggs of New Hampshire, for promoting the efficiency of the navy by the discharge of officers who, upon examination for promotion, are found to have been guilty of drunkenness or other misconduct, instead of putting them on the retired list.

The Biggest Crow Story Yet.

The Lexington, S. C., Press is responsible for the following tall story: "A gentleman who resides near the elegant premises of Mr. Inksheep, about six miles north of our city, reports what is probably the most stupendous thing in the way of a crow roost that has ever been since Noah's crow went to roost in the olive tree. The roost is in the magnificent woodland of Mr. Inksheep, and our informant estimates the number of birds at 150,000,000. He says the largest oak trees have been uprooted and smaller ones crushed into kindling wood by their weight; that the noise made by them is so great that the people for three miles around have to stuff cotton in their ears, and are only enabled to communicate with each other through speaking trumpets after the crows begin to assemble. Cattle weighing 1500 pounds have been killed by the birds and their bones picked clean, and the skeletons of hogs, and sheep which weighed 150 to 200 pounds are dangling from the trees, where the crows have carried them, and the whole country is strewn with bones, as in the prophet's vision of the valley of Jehosaphat. Shooting at them is exceedingly dangerous. A gentleman in the employ of Mr. Inksheep fired two shots into one of the trees, and narrowly escaped suffocation from falling birds."

An Alleged Miracle at Calais.

A young daughter of Mr. John Robinson of Calais, Me., is said to have been cured of St. Vitus dance, since the new year, by means that have excited much interest. Mr. Robinson thus relates the particulars of the strange case:

My little girl, only seven years old, suffered every hour, night and day, with the disease, so that she had to be watched constantly to prevent her falling on the stove or dishes. The physician who attended her said that she must be sent to the hospital at Augusta. I related the case to an old man whom I happened to meet, and told him how bad I felt at sending her away. He said that she could be entirely cured in nine days, and that I was a lucky man in having the means of cure at my own home. He told me to stand my donkey with his head to the south; then to take the child and sit her on its back with her face to the east, and then to pass her over the donkey's back towards the west, saying, "In the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost." Following his instructions, I did this for nine mornings before breakfast. On the third morning the child began to improve, and the donkey began to take the disease. From that time to the end of the nine days the child grew rapidly better, and the donkey grew worse in proportion, and it died on Monday, the 10th, after frightful suffering from the disease. The child is now perfectly restored, having no trace of its trouble. These are the facts, and all the neighbors are witnesses.

"Now I See!"

So said the blind man after the Saviour had healed him. Actual blindness is not easy to cure, although it is sometimes done. But remember that disease of the eyes often result from impure blood. If you have any reason to think your bad eyes may have come from this cause, lose not an hour of time in buying a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy;" which will cost you only one dollar, and take it to cleanse your blood. You can implicitly trust it to this. Or drop a line to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. State your case fully and get the doctor's opinion free.

Political Notes.

William Webb, charged with voting twenty-one times at the last election, was on the 22d inst. convicted in the United States court at Charleston, S. C. Mr. Webb's efforts were in aid of the democratic party.

The New York Times says: "The curious fact is shown by the official canvass of the votes cast in this city and county on the 2d of November, that not one 'scratched' ticket for Presidential Electors was voted. Every one of the 35 candidates on the republican ticket received 81,686 votes; every one on the democratic ticket received 123,015 votes; every one on the greenback ticket received 610 votes, and every one on the prohibition ticket received 26 votes, and there were no defective and no blank ballots."

How He Found He had a Trotter.

"Stranger," said the stage driver, "this was how I found out her speed: I was driving along the railroad track just as a big load of hotel furniture started. The freight car wouldn't hold it all, but they managed to squeeze everything in except a long bar mirror, which they tied to the side of the car. The mare saw her reflection in the glass, and thought it was another horse spurting for the lead. You couldn't have held her back with a steam windlass. She just laid back her ears, and snorted along like a twenty-inch shell. The passengers all began to get excited. They rushed out on the platforms and began to make bets. The conductor stood up on a seat and began to sell pools. The engineer pulled the throttle valve wide open, and tore along at ninety-five miles an hour. Soon the mare was abreast the cow-catcher. At San Bruno we had half a mile the lead. Near the Six Mile house the train was so much ahead of time that it fell through an open draw and everlastingly smashed up—seventy-two killed and one hundred and ninety-nine wounded. It was pretty rough on the passengers, but then we distanced the train, but yer life. About a month after I sold that mare to her present owner for $60,000.—New Orleans Picayune.

Milk for Poultry.

This is one of the very best things to give either young or old fowls. Most every breeder has tested its value and recommends it as a wholesome and nutritious diet, naturally adapted for young chicks and poultry. On every farm and in most all surburban homes milk is fed to pigs. This is one way to utilize it. But if farmers paid more attention to their poultry stock than they do, they would find that they could turn it to better account by feeding it to their chicks and laying hens.

All kinds of poultry are fond of milk. Although they soon become satiated if fed exclusively on grain, animal, vegetable or insect food, they seldom refuse milk in any form—fresh or sour, it makes no difference to them. Nowadays milk enters largely into the bill of fare for chicks and fowls. Fanciers have found out that it contains properties beneficial to their health and early development. Almost the first food—and with many the first after the yolk is assimilated—its soothing and nutritive effect is apparent, and if mixed with stale bread crumbs or oatmeal cake nothing is better.

Now, for laying hens milk is nourishing, and induces laying. Where it can be spared it is more valuable to the poultry stock than to any other. If farmers would give it a fair trial, and lay aside the fogy notions of their ancestors and look at things in a new light, they would abandon the practice of feeding their spare milk to pigs, and give it to a better-paying stock.—Poultry Monthly.

—Senator Brown, of Georgia, said to be the richest man in that state, has purchased a dress suit for social occasions. The swallow-tail coat is as big as an overcoat, and is made from heavy beaver cloth. He says that if society demands that he shall wear a coat like a goose-quill, he is going to have it heavy enough to keep out the cold, even if it does bag in the back, and get at half-mast when he sits down.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. Joseph Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since the year 1871, 1876, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "I will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or from pain arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES.

Is a combination of Hypophosphites, originated by me in Canada while under the process of pulmonary consumption, and which has since been employed in the medical profession throughout America and England with unprecedented success.

It contains the elements essential to the animal organization, the oxidizing agents and tonics.

In combination with the stimulating agent phosphorus, possessing the merit of being slightly alkaline, and is dispensed in the convenient and palatable form of a syrup.

Its effects are usually visible within twenty-four hours and are marked by a stimulation of the appetite, the digestion and assimilation, entering directly into the circulation; it tones the nerves and muscles; exerts a healthy action of the secretions; neither disturbs the stomach nor injures the system under prolonged use, and may be discontinued at any time without inconvenience.

In a word it possesses the stimulants to arouse the strength, the tonic to retain it, and merit of a high degree. Very respectfully,

JAMES I. FELLOWS.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

Garala's "Mary."

A Canadian paper has the following to say about the Canadian fleet:

The following are the expenses in connection with the maintenance of the government steamers last year, amounting to a total of over $106,000, viz.: "Napoleon III.," $26,996; "Druid," $22,335; "Newfield," $21,738; "Glendon," $10,856; "Sir James Douglas," $9,753; "Northern Light," $14,429. If this isn't paying dear for one's whistle, why what is it? Will any sane business man say that the Dominion gets any adequate return for this enormous outlay on its miniature navy?

Seeking Non-Temperance Heathens.

The other day a couple of gentlemen having brought from High Falls a specimen of sulphur water from the noted spring there, took it to a law office in the upper part of New York city, and set it down on the floor, leaving it there during the day. The sulphur water had been put for convenience in a keg that had once contained whisky, and the old label was still sticking to it. In this law office are a couple of young students of considerable social distinction. During the day a lady came into the office on business, and it was noticed she gave a rather [illegible] glance at the keg of sulphur water, but though she was shown [illegible] active temperance woman nothing further was thought of it until an hour or so afterward, when in walked another lady, one of the most prominent members of the committee appointed by the Ladies Temperance Union to look after the lost sheep. She quietly went to the desk of the senior member of the firm (he was absent at the time) and laid in a conspicuous place two tracts, one of which was entitled "The Dangerous Road," and the other was headed with the somewhat startling caution, "Beware of the Hydra-Headed Serpent."

Anything for the Wattses?

A lantern-jawed young man stopped at a country post-office recently, and yelled out:

"Anything for the Wattses?"

The polite postmaster replied, "No, there is not."

"Anything for Jane Watts?"

"Nothing."

"Anything for Ace Watts?"

"No."

"Anything for Bill Watts?"

"No, sir."

"Anything for Fool Joe Watts?"

"No; nor for Dick Watts, nor Jim Watts, nor Sweet Watts, nor any other Watts, dead, living, unborn, native, foreign, civilized or uncivilized, savage or barbarous, male or female, white or black, franchised or disfranchised, naturalized or otherwise. No, there is positively nothing for the Wattses, either individually, severally, jointly, now and forever, one and inseparable."

The boy looked at the postmaster in astonishment, and said:

"Please look and see if there is anything for John Thomas Watts."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1881.

[Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N. H. as second-class matter.]

Congress.

The Senate on the 25th inst. refused to take up Gen. Logan's resolution to put Gen. Grant on the retired list of the army.

The House judiciary committee decided on the 25th that the Senate has the right to originate appropriation bills. This has been a vexed question for half a century. The House will probably refuse to confirm the judgment of the committee. The same committee discussed the bill fixing the President's term at six years, and making occupants of the office ineligible to re election. After a number of votes the bill was laid on the table.

The House passed the post-office appropriation bill, after a protracted debate and the adoption of numerous amendments.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24th

In sixteen days the two houses of Congress will meet in joint convention to announce the result of the Presidential election. Two of those days will be Sundays; two will be Saturdays, on which no work is done; two will probably be spent in consideration of the electoral resolution, and two in wrangling over the new rules. Giving two days of wasted time to this last-named subject is not treating it fairly, for it takes up more than an average of one day per week. So, prior to the meeting in joint convention, there are really but seven days for work. Making a reasonable allowance for wastage between that meeting and the fourth of March, and we have fourteen more working days—twenty-one in all. If half the necessary business of the session is done, therefore, it will, as is usual in short sessions, be hastily and crudely done; and much of it in the last days and nights before the fourth. Proper consideration cannot be given to the funding bill, the re-apportionment bill, the bankrupt bill, the inter-state commerce bill, the Ellis bill concerning government use of the telegraph, bills relative to the electoral count, the more important of the appropriation bills, or any of the other of the numerous measures pressing for action. I say nothing of contested election cases, private claims, etc.

This is not a state of things creditable to Congressmen, or of advantage to the people generally. Two remedies have been suggested. One is that the meetings of Congress should be fixed at an earlier day—say in September or October, instead of December; and the other, such changes in the rules as will give to majorities more complete control of the time of Congress. Observation shows me that the last change would not be effective. Majorities are not always anxious to forward public business, nor minorities to delay it. Then again, a majority in the House has already quite as much power as is consistent with the ideas of representative government.

Much labor was expended on a revision of the rules two years ago, with an intention of obviating dangerous delays, and the best men of the body took part in it. They had a success of which they are all ashamed. The trouble lies deeper than the rules, for the Senate, in which business is done to suit the convenience of individual senators, rather than under rules, disposes of work more rapidly and more satisfactorily than the House.

It is possible that meeting two or three months earlier might be of advantage. It is worthy of trial, at least. Or (though I have never heard it suggested) certain committees of the House might be authorized and required to sit in Washington during portions of each recess, for the consideration of matters left unfinished during the session. Or a court or other independent body might be organized to sit during the year, and to report to Congress fully upon those numerous private claims which now take up so much time. It is agreed among all intelligent congressmen, especially the more experienced ones, that a changes of some kind is a necessity. KNOX.

News and Notes.

The schooner yacht America will leave Boston between the 15th and 20th of February for Norfolk, Va., where she will be joined by Gen. Butler, who proposes making a three months' cruise among the West India islands.

Mount Baker, in British Columbia, is in a state of active eruption.

The tug-boat Minnie exploded her boiler on Perdido bar, Florida, Jan. 22d, and sank immediately. The captain, engineer and fireman were killed.

William C. Binney, formerly treasurer of the Amesbury & Newburyport Horse Railroad company, was brought to Boston on Monday night by detectives, and taken to Salem next day. It is said that about three years ago the directors of the railroad company authorized the issue of bonds to the value of $24,000 for construction purposes, and it is alleged that Binney, without authority, issued paper to the amount of $31,000. He was indicted at the time and left town, and has not been heard of since, except by his personal friends. The detectives found him in St. Louis.

Marlborough, Mass., has a missing citizen, Benjamin Hayden, a single man, about forty years of age, and a large crowd of citizens, in charge of the selectmen and police, commenced a search for him on the 25th inst. Hayden left Marlboro' village in the blin ing and severe snow storm of the 21st, to walk to his father's home at "The Farms," about two miles from the post office, and has not been seen since. It is supposed he is dead, and buried in the deep snow.

The license to organize a new telegraph company with a capital of $1,000,000 was issued in Illinois, Jan. 25th. It is intended to build a line from Chicago to New York, on the first start.

A Washington dispatch says: "It is reported that the United States has proposed to Denmark to purchase the Danish West Indies." After the refusal by Congress to take St. Thomas, Denmark will be very cautious about making any bargain with the United States.

Associate Justice Swayne of the United States supreme court handed his resignation in to the President, Jan. 25th.

Mrs. Hatton is at the head of the Tennessee state library, and she and her daughters keep the twenty thousand volumes of the library in as perfect order as they could be kept by any male librarians in the land.

The widow of the late Mark Hopkins has an income of a million a year, and her residence, one of the finest on Nob hill, San Francisco, is crowded with works of art She is noted, however, for her closeness in bargaining, and Giuseppe Garibaldi, the decorator, has sued her for a disputed bill of $12,000.

A son of Henry K. Robinson of Brewer Village, Me., about twenty-five years old, was shot in the abdomen Saturday by a revolver in his own hand. It is not known whether the shooting was accidental or intentional. The young man was subject to fits. It is feared that the wound will prove fatal.

The winter in London is the severest felt since 1814. The Thames is frozen over, and high snow drifts are seen in the streets, impeding ocomotion and interfering with traffic.

The St. Nicholas Hotel, Broadway, New York, furnishes good rooms and full board for $3 per day, and large rooms at reasonable rates, as heretofore. Uriah Welch, proprietor, is as popular with the travelling public as ever, and for attention to the comfort of its patrons, safety and conveniences, this hotel has never been surpassed.

The hearing in the case of the demand for a permanent injunction against the Western Union, Atlantic & Pacific, and American Union telegraph companies, to prevent consolidation, was the sensation in business circles in New York, on the 25th inst. The managers of the gigantic enterprise denied that there was any conspiracy to defraud any of the stockholders in any company in any way or to swindle the public by any increase of rates, or that such conspiracy ever existed.

One "Alexander Rodanow," who was arrested in Boston on the 15th inst., charged with unlawfully using the United States mails for purposes of swindling, turns out to be Dr. Nathan Ganz, the editor of the Anarchist, a monthly publication recently begun in Boston for the dissemination of socialism, etc. He says that Rodanow is his cousin, and that he (Ganz) assumed the name to allow his relative to escape. The officials are inclined to believe that Rodanow and Ganz are one and the same person.

Capt. Howgate is seeking from Congress an American register for the Gulnare, which he has sold to a Baltimore fruit importer, and is now negotiating for the purchase of one of the rough weather steam tugs at St. Johns. If he makes the purchase he will equip and start a new Arctic expedition in the spring.

"Nan, the newsboy," who was dismissed from the New York police force a few weeks ago for drunkenness, has been converted, has turned evangelist, and is preaching nightly to large crowds of the worst people in the city at "wicked Jerry McAuley's" mission in Water street.

Mrs. John Finn of Easton, Mass., after returning from a funeral to which she had carried her baby warmly wrapped in her lap, found, on reaching home, that the little one was dead, having been smothered beneath its covering.

Edwin A. Sherwin, a car inspector of the Fitchburg railroad, was run over and instantly killed in the yard at Fitchburg, Mass., Jan. 25th. He stepped from the train he had inspected immediately in front of a car attached to the switch engine. He leaves a widow and two children.

Mrs. Quimby of Augusta and Mrs. Whidden of Calais, lady visitors at the insane asylum of Maine, appeared before the hospital legislative committee, Jan. 25th, and stated that the rumors of the inefficiency of the officers and other reports concerning the management of the institution, were gross misrepresentations. The committee voted to recommend the expenditure of $24,000 for an addition to the present hospital, instead of $18,000, as recommended last winter.

Naval Affairs.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate, Jan. 25th: Pay Inspector Casper Schenck to be a pay director; Paymaster George Cochrane to be a pay inspector; Passed Assistant Paymaster J. Porter Loomis to be a paymaster.

A United States steamer, supposed to be the Vandalia, arrived at Barbadoes, Jan. 22d, with all well on board.

Political Notes.

Philetus Sawyer, republican United States senator, is said to be the richest man in Wisconsin; Fair, democratic senator, is the richest man in Nevada; Brown, democrat, is the richest man in Georgia; Sewell, republican, represents the richest corporation in New Jersey; and Miller, republican, of California, is another rich man, representing a corporation constantly interested in legislation. The natural tendency of the times is to build up an office-holding aristocracy of wealth, regardless of culture or statesmanship. A check should be put to this at once.

Samuel Maxey has been re-elected to the United States Senate from Texas. Johnson N. Condon, democrat, has been elected senator from West Virginia.

Mrs. Helen Campbell, a Yankee widow, who superintended the cooking department of the North Carolina Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution, has been forced to abandon her position because, in a letter written by her, she stated that Tourgee's "Fool's Errand" was a true picture of southern life. The fact that she was driven away for this expression of opinion bears eloquent testimony to the accuracy of the opinion.

—A horse car driver in Hartford had occasion to stop and crawl under the car to fix something. Two sympathetic men on the walk seeing the form under the car, and that it was motionless, believed that it had been run over, and hastening up, caught the driver by the feet and pulled him out, very much to his profane astonishment.

SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,

BUT HOME TRUTHS!

It DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common-sense tells us so. Nature's laws harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in wonderful name, by popular fiction in medicine or alumen, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no nostrum, but is just what it purports to be. It cures, that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold 8 to 6 bottles in a day. No listening, smooth talk, no opium, camphor, niche, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvy, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvy on the head over 10 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's 'Electric Oil,' and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAM, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Prescott school, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and see cured. Bring on the worst cases as you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

Dover city 6s of 1893 (railroad loan) sold in Boston at 117 1-2 on Wednesday.

Prof. Vose will commence a class in phrenology at Good Templars' hall, Friday evening.

The ladies of the Baptist society will give a musical and literary entertainment in Congress hall this evening. See advertisement.

The Knights of Pythias are to have a social dance at Congress hall with supper at Pythian hall, on next Wednesday evening, Feb. 2d.

The schooner Clyde came up from the lower harbor on Wednesday with 50,000 frozen herring. The price per hundred has been as low as forty-five cents.

The schooner William P. Hood left the wharf on Wednesday noon of this week with about 5000 barrels of apples and potatoes for the Baltimore market.

The barkentine Arthur C. Wade, Sherman master, with 1723 bales of cotton for the Great Falls Manufacturing Co., arrived at the Eastern railroad wharf on Wednesday.

A large gang of shovellers on Wednesday of this week cleared the sidewalk on the easterly side of Richards avenue of snow, which had piled up in some places three feet high.

Letters from Capt. John Hontvet, of the schooner Maud B. Wetherell, report it as very improbable that the vessel will get away from Georgtown, Prince Edward's Island, where she now is, before April, on account of the ice.

The directors' car of the Eastern railroad passed through this city Wednesday afternoon, carrying the Boston directors of the Maine Central railroad from Portland. The run was made from Portland to Kittery in one hour and twenty-two minutes.

S. T. Bickford, postmaster at Milan, N. H., charged with robbing the United States mail, was brought to this city on the afternoon of the 26th inst. by United States Deputy Marshal J. P. Morse, for examination. Bickford early in December, it is alleged, stole three hundred and fifty dollars from a registered package sent by a Mrs. Dunn to a brother connected with the Gilsey house, New York; the money was afterwards found secreted in the cellar of the accused, and the package when received contained slips of brown paper which had been substituted for the bills. Bickford confessed to the crime, settled with Mrs. Dunn, and tendered his resignation as postmaster, which the department declined to accept, and ordered his arrest. Special agent Wm. H. Bigelow of Augusta was employed to work up the case.

The arrivals of fish on Wednesday, the 26th inst., were as follows: Schooner Julia A., 3000 lbs.; Water Lily, 4000; Grace Choate, 6000; Mary E. Caswell, 3000; Flying Eagle, 6000; Mary E. Smith, 4500; Rover's Bride, 4000; Fleur De Lis, 3500; Helen F. Tredick, 4000; from small boats, 3500 lbs. The fishermen report the fish as very scarce, as one might judge from the light fares, which recently been brought in to our wharves, and it would lead one to suppose that their scarcity might cause an increase of price; but on Wednesday the price fell to one dollar and twenty-five cents a hundred pounds. It is but little encouragement to these hardy toilers of the sea, that after having buffetted the winds and the waves for three or four days, and had but meagre luck, they find the prices in the market hardly sufficient for them to realize more than enough to pay expenses. It is supposed that the buyers give all they can afford to, and the present low price may probably be owing to the non-demand.

Blocks of ice twenty-two inches square and weighing 380 pounds each are being harvested in Newmarket in large numbers.

Mr. C. M. Gignoux, general agent for New Hampshire of the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York, while out driving on the 25th inst. had the back of his sleigh stove in by the pole of a team behind him running into it. Legal measures have been taken to recover of Charles Sander of Exeter, driver of the second team, for the damage done.

The plans of the new Christ church show a large building, the erection of which is to be begun as soon as the frost comes out of the ground. The stone is being taken out at Leach's island under the direction of Mr. Joseph R. Holmes, by whom it is to be transported to to the site of the church on State and Madison streets, where the contractors will receive it and erect the building. The contract has been awarded to a New York firm of builders, who were the lowest bidders under the proposals advertised for.

It is stated in the papers that "the citizens of Newmarket, South Newmarket and Exeter are about to confer with the Dover board of trade relative to the railroad bridge across the Piscataqua river at Dover point. It is claimed that the pier of that bridge are wholly inadequate to the safe and easy passage of such vessels as are usually engaged in the trade of those places. A committee will be appointed to ask the bridge owners and the Eastern railroad to make such necessary alterations. On non-compliance with these requirements, notice will be given to all parties interested, and application made to the next legislature for redress." What special interest the Dover board of trade can have in the matter does not appear, as vessels bound to Dover do not care for the Dover point bridge, not having to pass through it. Dover is interested in having better pier accommodations at Portsmouth bridge, and the board of trade of that city has already moved in the matter.

THE "MOTHERS' TEA PARTY."

What was termed "a mothers' tea-party" was held at Bow Mission hall on Tuesday evening, the 25th inst., and was greatly enjoyed by those who participated. The affair was conceived and arranged by Rev. Mr. Loyne, to whose aid, as usual, many kind hearted ladies rallied to make it a success. The guests of the occasion, numbering about fifty, consisted of the mothers of the poor children of our city, many of whom could have told piteous stories of the hardships and privations that poverty and intemperance had compelled them to undergo. They appeared bright and happy, as a whole, although lines of care and suffering could be traced in the countenances of some, that no festive occasion could obliterate, even for a moment. It was a happy thought, however, for the projector to thus convene those whose lives are seldom lighted by a joyous meeting, and who are too rarely cheered by words of encouragement and timely attention.

New Hampshire Items.

Epping is to have a Catholic church next season.

The resignation of Rev. A. W. Jackson, pastor of the Unitarian church at Peterboro, has been accepted, and he will take his leave for California early in March, where he will take charge of a society in Los Angeles.

Mrs. E. G. Clark of Nashua fell on the ice recently and fractured her leg.

The jury in the case of Parnell and his companions, at Dublin, failed to agree, and was discharged on the 25th inst. Immense crowds were in and about the court house during the day. In dismissing the jury the presiding magistrate said that after the exhibition in the court it was hopeless to expect a free or unanimous verdict.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

We call the attention of those who believe in the study of English literature in our schools to a new and valuable contribution for that special purpose, by H. H. Morgan, the eminent principal of the St. Louis high school. Its title is "Literary Studies from the Great British Authors." It is published by G. J. Jones & Co., of St. Louis, Mo., and is for sale by all booksellers. Its selections cover the grand periods of English literature from Chaucer to Tennyson. They appear to us the choicest and most characteristic we have ever seen in similar compass. It would be easy for a lover of English literature to select and arrange his favorite pieces; but where the purpose is one of instruction and initiation among the masters of our prose and verse, it requires a careful, trained and adaptive hand, familiar with what is possible and what is not to the average scholar. Mr. Morgan is well known to have all these qualifications. He is one of the acknowledged educators of our country, and a master in the study of English language and literature. We have examined this book carefully with reference to its intended use, and recommend it not only for schools but to anyone who wishes to be advantageously introduced to the great men and the great writings of our race.

The Cause.

Because he bore the name of Thomas, a citizen of Habberstadt, Germany, has committed suicide. After the explosion of Thomassen's infernal machine, in the harbor of Bremen, he applied to the government for leave to change his name, but permission was denied. He was so distressed by this refusal and by the jests he had to bear in consequence that he withdrew wholly from social intercourse, and became moody and misanthropic. Finally he determined to seek relief in death, and after several attempts at suicide, which were frustrated, succeeded in hanging himself. He took care, in preparing for his end, to burn up his valuables, so that no human creature should derive benefit from them.

Debilitated Digestion.

In the "Memoirs of Count Segur" there is the following anecdote: "My mother, the Countess de Segur, being asked by Voltaire respecting her health, told him that the most painful feeling she had arose from the decay of her stomach, and the difficulty of finding any kind of ailment that it could bear. Voltaire, by way of consolation, assured her that he was once for nearly a year in the same state, and believed to be incurable, but that nevertheless a very simple remedy had restored him. It consisted in taking no other nourishment than yolks of eggs beaten up with the flour of potatoes and water." Though this circumstance took place as far back as fifty years ago, and respecting so extraordinary a person as Voltaire, it is astonishing how little is known of it, and how rarely the remedy has been practiced. Its efficacy, however, in cases of debility, cannot be questioned, and the following is the mode of preparing this valuable article of food as recommended by Sir John Sinclair: Beat up an egg in a bowl, and then add six tablespoonfuls of cold water, mixing the whole well together; then add two tablespoonfuls of farina of potatoes; let it be mixed thoroughly with the liquor in the bowl. Then pour in as much boiling water as will convert the whole into a jelly, and mix it well. It may be taken alone or with the addition of a little milk, in case of stomachic debility or consumptive disorders. This dish is light and easily digested, extremely wholesome and nourishing. Bread or biscuit may be taken with it as the stomach gets stronger.

—Harper's "Drawer" tells of an Episcopal clergyman of the muscular sort, a lover of the great American game, who inadvertently remarked, at the end of the portion of Scripture appointed to be read, "Here endeth the first innings."

—A story is told of a North Adams young man who called on a young lady for the first time Sunday evening. After an hour or two of pleasant conversation on various subjects the "man of the house" entered the room where the young people were sitting. The "guv'nor" was introduced to the young man, and, after a few remarks upon the weather, etc., left the room and retired for the night. Nine o'clock came, and the caller, saying good night, left for his home. The next morning, on passing the house, the young man had occasion to speak with the young lady, and, when about to resume his down-town journey, met the "man of the house" coming in at the gate. "Well, young man, you held on pretty long," said the old gent, and the poor young man, without stopping to explain, we t his way, puzzled whether to commit suicide or go a-fishing.

Pekin Ducks.

The Pekin duck is comparatively a recent addition to our domestic poultry, having been first imported from China in 1873, by Mr. James E. Palmer, of Stonington, Conn., and shown by him in December of that year at the Connecticut State Poultry Exhibition at Hartford, where they attracted great attention. They are larger than any other variety, often weighing fifteen to eighteen pounds the pair. The Pekin is a clear white duck, with a faint yellowish tinge to the under part of the feathers, which are very thick and downy. They have been long domesticated, as is shown by the shortness of the wing primaries, and all the flight feathers, so that they are very tame, and not disposed to fly much. They are perfectly hardy, and do not mind cold weather, and require only a little water and regular feeding. When they have a good run, they are excellent foragers, and take very good care of themselves. Their record as layers is quite remarkable, coming as near to being perpetual layers as it is possible for a bird to come. One bird is on record as having laid one hundred and eighty-seven eggs in one hundred and ninety-one days. Mr. F. H. Corbin, of Newington, Conn., whose skill and judgment in all matters relating to domestic fowls are well known, says that he considers this the best duck in the country.—N. E. Farmer.

Arkansas Chivalry.

The other day several men were standing on a street corner talking, when a handsomely dressed lady passed.

"You may not believe me," said a man named Spriggins, "but I have had my arm around that lady."

"You are a vile slanderer, sir!" exclaimed young Mr. Paperage, and drawing off, he struck Mr. Spriggins a heavy blow between the eyes.

Both parties were instantly arrested, and when Mr. Spriggins requested that the lady be summoned, a policeman caught up with her and requested her presence in court, which had just convened in afternoon session.

"Judge," said Paperage, "while several acquaintances and myself were standing on the street talking, this lady passed. Then this man," pointing to Spriggins, "remarked that he had put his arm around her. The lady is nothing to me, Judge, but my mother was a lady, and my sisters are ladies, and I have always made it a point to chastise a man who speaks ill of a lady."

"Mr. Spriggins," remarked the judge, "did you say that you had put your arm around the lady?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then the gentleman did right in striking you. Ladies are not safe in Little Rock so long as such ruffians are allowed to insult them."

"Judge, allow the lady to speak," replied Spriggins.

"Certainly. You will please make your statement"

"I didn't hear the man when he said that he had put his arm around me, and as I passed on, I do not know what occurred."

"Excuse me for being blunt, but—but—"

"Do you mean to ask if the man ever put his arm around me?"

"Yes."

"Then I must say that he has."

For a few minutes there was a deep silence, only disturbed by a boy who picked at the plastering with a horseshoe nail.

"What right had he to put his arm around you?" stammered the judge.

"Because," answered the woman, "he is my husband."

—A drink for the sick—Well water.

—A Norwich, Conn., butcher accepted an invitation to take a trip on a double ripper. It was his first experience on one of those engines of calamity, and he now declares, "it will be my last." Here is his description of it: "I just got astride it when it started. It went over a mile in a minute. It went so fast we couldn't see anything, and nobody could see us. I breathed just three times on that trip, but I didn't stop trembling until I arrived home and got to bed. No more for me; not for money!"

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered a new thing or 18?5, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, by whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 13th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "I will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorder arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

—An upper flat—An aristocratic noodle.

—The best pocket companion—A full purse.

—Count Drohojeski, a youthful Polish patrician of Lemberg, was entertaining a select circle of noble friends at a card party, and while his attention was riveted on the game, had the misfortune to be disturbed by the jangling strains of a barrel organ, played by a poor old blind man who had contrived to enter the court yard of the house in the hope of earning a few kreutzers. Moved to ungovernable indignation by this intrusion upon his privacy, the count took down a loaded fowling piece from his gun-rack, threw open the window, and taking deliberate aim at the audacious organ-grinder, dexterously shot him in the neck. The old man was conveyed to the nearest hospital on a stretcher, and the noble marksman resumed his game; but, greatly to his astonishment and disgust, was presently arrested by the police and conveyed to prison, where he now lies awaiting his trial for murderous assault.

—A little Rhode Island widow has been teaching New York dressmakers manners, in a way that entitles her to the thanks of all their victims. When she went after her new gown, she found the bill for making it an exorbitant one, and declined to pay it. The dressmaker said she could not have the dress until she paid. She said, "We'll see about that," and sailed in. Two minutes later the dressmaker was bunched in a corner with her face badly scratched, and her fine clothes badly torn, and the widow was passing down the steps with her dress. The next scene was in the police court, where the judge, after vainly attempting to make the widow pay the damage she had done or apologize, sent her to jail. He became ashamed of it, however, soon after, and let her out, and when the case got to a jury they acquitted her, the foreman remarking, as he left the court room: "I've wanted a chance to get even with those cut-throat dressmakers for a good while."

—A correspondent in Boston tells of some of the oddities of Thomas Dawse, whose library is in the Massachusetts Historical rooms. He lived and died in Cambridge, and was a leather dresser. He used to pull wool while wearing a ruffled shirt, buy books, and speculate upon philosophical truths and great problems of existence. At fifty he was going to marry, but learning that the young lady was engaged to his partner, he invited her to ride to Boston, where he left her in the streets to look out for herself. She never married, and finally died in the poor-house. His library contained five thousand volumes, almost all valuable English works, printed in London and bound uniformly in calf. He had a golden lamb in front of his house as a sign. The Harvard students broke off its head, and this irritated him so much that he changed his will and left his property, $100,000, to individuals and public institutions, instead of the Harvard college, as had been his intention. His library he gave to the Massachusetts Historical society on condition that it should be kept forever in one room. He was a great admirer of Franklin, and erected a monument to his memory in Mount Auburn cemetery. Harvard college gave him the degree of LL. D., which Edward Everett translated into "Literary Leather Dresser."

A Boy Again.

Pain and sickness bring on old age with fearful rapidity. They make an incessant drain on the vital forces, and the weary steps and faded cheeks of age often come, while the enjoyment of life should be at its highest. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" turns this kind of old age into youth again. Headache, pains in the limbs, troubles of the liver, bowels or kidneys vanish before it, and feeble men and women become like rollicking school boys and girls once more. One dollar a bottle, either at your druggist's or from the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—They tell of a very cultured divine who, instead of saying "the collection will now be taken up," impressively remarks: "The accumulation of money will now ensue."

HENRY VAN NORTWICK, of Toledo, Ohio, says:—A friend prevailed upon me to try an "Only Lung Pad," and it obtained immediate relief from a racking cough. I know the Pad helped me.—See Ads.

—When the firemen met at dinner, the following sentiment was proposed. "The ladies: their eyes kindle the only flame which we cannot extinguish, and against which there is no insurance."

News and Notes.

Small-pox is alarmingly prevalent in a number of places. In Brooklyn, N. Y., the disease is increasing in spite of the efforts of the board of health to check it. In Chicago both small-pox and diphtheria are spreading. At Bersimis, Canada, on the north shore of the St. Lawrence, small-pox prevails to an alarming extent.

At Seneca, S. C., Jan. 25th, Benjamin Schnell, aged thirty-five years, was married to Hattie Gertrude Posey, aged eight years, by a justice of the peace, with the full approval of the child's mother, who witnessed the ceremony. Schnell previously attempted to marry the child in Atlanta, Ga., and was arrested by the mayor of the city on suspicion that he had stolen her from her nurse.

Mrs. Margaret Vaughan, an aged woman of South Boston, was burned to death through her clothes taking fire from a stove, Jan. 26th.

Stanley Matthews of Ohio was nominated for associate justice of the United States supreme court, Jan. 26th.

On Wednesday, Jan. 26th, a petition signed by over one hundred of the most prominent citizens of Portland, asking the passage of a license liquor law, was presented to the Maine legislature.

Edward Richardson of New Orleans is called there the "cotton king" of America. He is said to be worth $15,000,000. He owns ten to twelve cotton plantations on which from fifteen to twenty thousand bales of cotton are grown each year.

The Countess Milintine, a daughter of the Russian minister of war, is named in the official list of the forces sent out on the new Russian campaign as the head of a corps of fifty nurses, most of whom are ladies of rank.

Woodbury Cottle died Tuesday, Jan. 25th, at Norwood, Mass. He was a first lieutenant in the Mexican war under Gen. Scott.

A report has been received from Singapore that a local trading steamer has capsized. Seventy bodies have been recovered, and many others were carried away by the current.

By the foundering of a boat in the harbor of Cherbourg eighteen men were drowned.

Miss Lizzie Sargent, daughter of Ex-Senator Sargent of California, has entered the medical profession in San Francisco.

Gen. Skobeleff, commanding the Russian army in Turcomania, reports to the czar that on Jan. 24th the Russians captured Geok and Dengil, slaughtering many Tekkie-Turcomans and capturing a large quantity of munitions of war, cannon and prisoners.

Jesse D. Bright, who was expelled from the United States senate in 1861 for disloyalty, died at his residence in Indianapolis a few days since. Sixteen years ago Mr. Bright was stricken with paralysis in New York city, and has been an almost helpless invalid ever since. He was a native of Norwich, N. Y., and was about seventy-eight years of age. Among his surviving children is R. J. Bright, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate.

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 24th, while a Miss McCann of Bangor, Me., was alone in the house, an unknown man entered and asked for food. He then seized her, tying her hands behind her back, put a gag in her mouth and robbed her of some change in her pocket. She fainted, and was found unconscious in the snow outside the house when her parents returned. She was too nervous to give a description of the man, but the police are busy searching for him. The case is a mysterious one.

William McLain, of Rockland, Me., was injured by a blast in the quarry, Jan. 25th. The explosion was that of a seam charge, in which ten pounds of powder was used. McLain was directly over the charge, which fortunately went very deep, and while it started a great body of rock, very little was blown from the surface. He was thrown into the air a considerable distance, and bruised and burned quite severely, but miraculously escaped serious injury.

Recently Mr. I. V. Miller of Belfast, Me., sent to Boston thirteen large sacks of skins, for which $1,500 have been paid to hunters. Among them were 1300 skunk skins, 150 fox, 4,500 muskrat, 300 mink and a few bear skins. With the exception of the bears the majority of these animals were killed in Waldo county, the town of Waldo being particularly good hunting ground.

Bishop Thomas A. Becker, the Catholic prelate of Wilmington, Del., is reported by a member of Smythe Post, G. A. R., as saying that he had no objection whatever to Catholic soldiers joining that organization, and that it is not opposed by his church.

Political Notes.

The legislature of Tennessee on the 26th inst. took the thirtieth ballot for United States senator, and made choice of Howell Edmunds Jackson, democrat, who had seventy votes to twenty-five for Horace Maynard, and one for Rose. The new senator served the confederate government in a civil capacity throughout the war of the rebellion.

New Hampshire Items.

Bishop Niles of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire was at the Isle of Wight early in January, and was intending to leave there for Paris soon, and afterward go to Rome, where he will pass the remainder of the winter.

At Bridgewater, Jan. 26th, a two-years-old daughter of Lewis Brown was badly and it is feared fatally scalded by falling into a tub of water.

Miss Mary A. Buzzell of Candia, who lived alone, was recently found at her house without a fire, in an insane condition. She was taken to the insane asylum at Concord.

The Concord Manufacturing company has been obliged to stop work on account of a scarcity of water.

C. H. Chase, a convict in the New Hampshire state prison, was hit on the head by a post flying from a circular saw, Jan. 25th, fracturing his skull, fatally injuring him.

The Nashua Telegraph says: "A circumstance occurred in this city on Sunday that would have created a religious tempest half a century ago. The Rev. Mr. Smith of the Universalist church could not speak aloud on Sunday morning, and therefore the Rev. George W. Grover, Congregationalist, invited Mr. Smith and his congregation to worship with him. Over they went, some four hundred, and the Orthodox church was for once full. It was not exactly a conversion to Orthodoxy, but it was an exhibition of Christian courtesy that more honored the Master than much that is done in His name."

Naval Affairs.

Lieut. J. K. Coggswell is ordered to the Colorado, at New York. Lieut. R. M. Berry is ordered to equipment duty at the Washington navy yard. Lieut. G. W. F. Holman is ordered from the Saratoga to the hydrographic office.

Chief Engineer L. J. Allen is ordered as a member of the board of examining engineers at Philadelphia. Chief Engineer Wm. S. Stamm is detached from the examining board at Philadelphia, and ordered to the Norfolk navy yard. Chief Engineer F. C. Dade is detached from the Norfolk navy yard, and placed on sick leave.

Sailmaker Isaish E. Crowell is ordered to the Wabash, at Boston. Sailmaker Henry I. Stocker is detached from the Saratoga, and ordered to the equipment department of the Boston navy yard. Sailmaker Charles E. Tallman is detached from the Wabash, and ordered to the Saratoga.

Public Libraries.

The following extracts from an article by Charles F. Richardson, on public libraries, have a local application at the present time:

"Every town ought to have a library containing as many volumes as the town has inhabitants. Such a library becomes at once the centre of the intellectual life of the town, and affects the moral manners of the entire community. And more; its influence stretches out into the whole country, wherever its readers may chance to go, and its importance is not for a moment to be compared with the entire sum of the mercantile and manufacturing interests by which it is surrounded. A town with a library can be distinguished easily from one which lacks any such collection of books; and those parts of the country in which town libraries abound, are the parts which are most influential in every department of intellectual, and even material labor."

"Let it not be thought that a town library is only a luxury for great cities or rich communities. In the work of popular education through libraries, it is, after all, not the few great libraries, but the thousand small, that may do most for the people. The present writer can sincerely say that he owes more to the library of his native town, (containing perhaps four thousand volumes,) than he does to his whole college course, in which the use of much larger libraries played a great part. And others feel a similar debt of gratitude to town libraries far smaller than this—libraries of no more than a few hundred books, or even less,—kept on a few poor shelves, in a town house or country store. The thing to do is to make a beginning of a local library. If your community has none, it ought to be thoroughly ashamed of itself. There must be ten good books in it, or the money to buy them. Gather these together, and start a library at once; the life of the whole neighborhood will immediately be made that much the nobler and stronger."

Lost Money.

When men lose money disgracefully they are not apt to inquire for it, but let a wife lose fifty cents by accident!

"How do you get along?" said a wife to her husband, in the midst of the panic.

"Oh? I shall weather the storm, but I wish I had a few hundreds more."

"Don't you wish you had married a rich wife?" said she in a teasing way; then going to her room she returned with rather more than the amount required in United States bonds.

"Why, where in the world did you get this?" said the husband.

"Well, my dear, you went to a champagne supper seven years ago, and on your return, finding navigation around the room rather difficult, deposited hat, shoes, gloves, and a large roll of bills on the carpet. I put the money away and waited three weeks for you to inquire if I had seen it, when, finding you were ashamed to do so, I invested it, and here you have it!"

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Miss Laura Dixon of South Eliot, daughter of Mr. Samuel Dixon, has been engaged as instructor of music at Colby Institute, New London, N. H.

The Currier's Association of South Berwick gave a very successful ball in that town on the evening of Jan. 25th, Turner's quadrille band of Portsmouth furnishing the music.

The Laconia Co., at Biddeford, has declared a divided of $16 per share, payable Feb. 1st, and the Pepperell Manufacturing Co. has declared a dividend of $40 per share, payable on the same date.

On Monday, Jan. 24th, Gov. Plaisted of Maine placed his autograph on the first bill to pass the legislature at its present session. This bill is one incorporating the Orchard Park Association, and gives it authority to hold property at Old Orchard beach to the amount of $10,000. It is in the interest of the Free Baptist denomination, which proposes to hold annual meetings in July and August.

In the supreme judicial court of Maine, recently in session at Saco, a fellow named Thompson was tried for malicious slander and defamation of character; he was convicted, fined $300, and ordered to pay costs of prosecution. The evidence shew that Thompson at one time paid attentions to a Miss Waterhouse, but was dismissed by her—and the dismissal of such a wretched cur indicates that she is a sensible girl—after which time he persecuted her with a series of the most outrageous and cowardly insults, sending vilely obscene letters to her through the mails, etc. He was once arrested at the instance of the United States district attorney, but there was not sufficient evidence to convict him, and he was discharged. Miss Waterhouse then had a writ served on him, and he was committed to Alfred jail, where he remained six weeks before he could procure bail.

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvy, Deafness, c.c., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STEKAM: H, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Ferson School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases as you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

Mr. Amos S. Foster, of the post-office clerical force, has for some days been confined to his home by congestion of the lungs.

Grand Patriarch S. C. Gould of Manchester will officially visit Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5., I. O. of O. F., this (Friday) evening.

Mr. James Holbrook, of this city, who has for some time past been travelling with various shows, has returned home, sick. An entertainment for his benefit is talked of by the boys.

Mr. Herbert W. Nowell, formerly clerk at the Commercial house in this city, and recently clerk of a hotel in Manchester, we are informed is to return to this city and take a position at the Kearsarge.

Messrs. Pryor & Matthews, hardware dealers on Market street, have on hand a very large stock of all the different kinds of white lead, which they are selling at the lowest market prices. They sell large quantities and can make very low figures.

Jay Rial's Uncle Tom's Cabin company will appear at Music hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 3d, with a trained pack of Siberian bloodhounds, five in number, a trick donkey, and a full set of scenery specially prepared for this company's use in the presentation of the great moral drama, "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Bickford, the alleged mail-robbing postmaster of Milan, was on Thursday morning brought before United States Commissioner Hatch for examination, and was held in the sum of $800 to answer at the May session of the United States circuit court in this city. The accused gave bonds, and departed on the next train.

The arrivals of fish on Thursday, the 27th inst., were the schooners Comet, with 1500 lbs.; the Nettie Adams, with 5000; and the Christie Campbell, with 4000 lbs. The schooner Addie and Hattie set her trawls (some 2400 hooks) on Thursday, and making an under-run caught one hundred fish. This well illustrates the scarcity of these denizens of the sea.

On Wednesday evening of this week, between six and seven o'clock, while the family of Richard D. Smart, Jr., residing on Chestnut street, were absent from home, a crash was heard by Mrs. Salisbury, who lives in the upper part of the house, and running down stairs she found a room in flames. She alarmed one of the neighbors, who kicked open the door and extinguished the fire, which was caused by a dog left in the room upsetting and breaking a lighted kerosene lamp.

The suit of the Star fire insurance company of New York against the New Hampshire national bank of this city, tried at the recent term of the supreme court at Exeter, and in which a verdict was ordered for the insurance company in the sum of $475, and the case transferred to the law term on legal points, is of considerable interest. The suit was upon a draft for $446 drawn upon said insurance company by its special agent, in settlement of a loss by fire at York, Me., in 1879. This draft, payable to the owner of the insured property and the person holding a mortgage on it, was sent to the company's agent for delivery, but it was deposited by him in said bank, apparently indorsed by the payees, and was by the bank collected of the insurance company through Boston and Hartford banks. It turned out that the indorsements of the payees were forged. The insurance company claims to recover the amount paid, as the bank had no right to collect it of them.

James McCabe, James Murdock, Frank Durnan and Peter Morgan, four Dover boys, the oldest of whom is but fifteen years of age, were before the police court in that city, Jan. 26th, charged with stealing copper from the Print Works; they pleaded nolo contendere, and were sent to jail for a week. Benjamin E. Witham and David P. Coffin, the junk dealers who bought the copper from the boys, were charged with feloniously receiving stolen goods, and held in $300 each for further examination.

On the arrival of a Boston & Maine train at Newmarket junction, Sunday morning, Jan. 23d, Conductor Thompson stated that a man had jumped from his train while going at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, and that they would find him dead. A rigid search was at once commenced by railroad employes, and continued until late in the forenoon, without success. Monday morning the missing man turned up safe and sound. On being questioned in relation to the circumstance he seemed remarkably reticent, but finally admitted that he had done some "ground and lofty tumbling," but had received no bruises, and coolly remarked: "That conductor don't know how much it takes to kill a man." His name is Frank Clough. He has a family living at Rollinsford, and works for the Swamscot Machine company of South Newmarket.

Schooner Velocipede of Portsmouth, commanded by Capt. White of Cape Porpoise, arrived at the latter place Friday of last week without a crew. It appears that Capt. White being sick employed Jerry York of Portland to take charge one trip. The captain stopped ashore, and they went out, got a "trip of fish," went up to Portland and sold them, bought rum, and all hands but three got beastly drunk. The three sober men got the vessel under way and went out. It so happened that the cook, he having charge when the vessel was out fishing, was one of the sober ones, and the other two sober men set sail, and got into Portland harbor again; and when they arrived, being disgusted with such works, left the vessel. After they left, the rest of the crew all left, taking everything that they could lay their hands on, even to the bell, log, barometer and all of her lines. Capt. White being in Portland at the time of her arrival, had to employ two of Capt. Benson's crew to get the vessel to Cape Porpoise.—Biddeford Times.

The Velocipede is owned by Mr. Valantine Doane, Jr., of this city, who had the vessel brought to this port, finding her plundered as above reported.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The powers of the Mayor and Aldermen in relation to the so-called Public Library do not seem to have been considered in the discussion of the petition. Any town or city may raise and appropriate money to establish and maintain a public library, for the purchase of land and the erection of buildings, and for the compensation of necessary officers, and may receive gifts and so forth for the purpose of establishing, increasing or improving, such library. Every such library shall be subject to such rules as may be ordained by the town or city. This in brief is the law. From this it is plain that the public library provided for by law to be established by the city must be owned and held exclusively by the city, and must be governed by rules made by the city.

There is no limit to the amount which may be raised and appropriated for such a purpose. But the law does not authorize the city to raise or appropriate money for the support of a library held and managed by individuals. However praiseworthy may be the enterprise, and however self-sacrificing may be its managers, a library so held is a private and not a public enterprise, and the city has no authority to assist it financially. The same principle applies to highways; the city must lay out and maintain needful public roads; but a way opened by individuals for the free use of travellers is not a highway—a public road—and the city is not bound to maintain it, and indeed has no right to do so. The city is bound to support the poor, but may not refund the private charities of individuals. The city may maintain lights in the streets, but may not allow citizens to establish them at their discretion to be supported at the public charge.

But further than this, limited as are the powers of the city in relation to public libraries, the powers of the Mayor and Aldermen are still more restricted. That board is not the city. The powers vested by law in towns, the statute says shall be exercised by the two boards of the city acting concurrently, each board having a negative on the other. Now the power to establish and maintain public libraries and to regulate them, belongs to the two boards and not to the executive board alone. The Mayor and Aldermen have no more right to spend money not appropriated by the two boards, than selectmen of towns have to spend money appropriated by the inhabitants. Just this, and no more.

The conclusions we come to are these: The two boards of the city councils acting concurrently may accept the books offered to them, and may establish and maintain a public library; but they may not expend the public money for a private library, though the books may be freely offered to the public. And the Mayor and Aldermen may not alone establish a public library, nor assist in the support of any other. CYNIC.

A VETERAN DRIVER.

Mr. John A. Brown of this city, born in 1808, began to drive in the employ of the Eastern Stage Co., at the age of sixteen years. His route was that between Hampton Falls and Exeter, at the time that such famous whips as Barnabee, Annable and Robinson drove from Portsmouth to Boston.

Sheppard Smith, the Exeter agent of the company, died suddenly in 1829, and Mr. Brown was appointed to fill the office on the day following. He soon became so popular with the travelling public that the agent of an opposition line resigned in disgust, and strange as it may seem, Brown was appointed to fill the vacancy, with the knowledge and full consent of his previous employers. So faithfully and impartially did he serve two masters that he continued to hold the dual position until the building of railroads did away with all the great stage lines. He then entered the employment of the builders of the Eastern railroad and had charge of the numerous horses used in the construction department of the corporation.

He subsequently drove a stage from the depot in Hampton to Exeter; and until the Boston & Maine railroad was built, did a thriving business. The first person to take passage over the new stage line was the late Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, who upon arriving at Exeter looked at his watch and remarked that it was but fifty-seven minutes since he left Portsmouth depot. Among the passengers who regularly patronized him he remembers Daniel Webster, Ichabod Bartlett, Jeremiah Mason, Edward Cutts and many other notable personages of that day.

Mr. Brown was always passionately fond of horses, and at the age of fifteen years, while a student at Exeter Academy, owned a very fine colt; and from that time on has never been without a horse until a few days ago, when he unfortunately lost the one he has driven for several years in an express and job wagon. The loss of his horse was a great misfortune to the old gentleman, and a subscription paper headed with $20 by a popular and open-handed ex-mayor is being circulated, and the prospect is that the veteran driver will soon hold the reins again over a good piece of horseflesh.

FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES.

Is a combination of Hypophosphites, originated by me in Canada while under the process of pulmonary consumption, and which has since been employed by the medical profession throughout America and England with unprecedented success.

It contains the elements essential to the animal organization, the oxidizing agents and tonics.

In combination with the stimulating agent phosphorus, possessing the merit of being slightly diffusible, and is dispensed in the convenient and palatable form of a syrup.

Its effects are usually visible within twenty-four hours and are manifest by a healthy action of the appetite, the digestion and assimilation, entering directly into the circulation; it tones the nervous and muscles; exerts a healthy action of the secretions; neither disturbs the stomach nor injures the system under prolonged use, and may be all continued a any time without inconvenience.

In a word it possesses the stimulants to arouse the strength, the tonic to retain it, and merit of a high degree. Very concentrated.

"Now I See!"

So said the blind man after the Saviour had healed him. Actual blindness is not easy to cure, although it is sometimes done. But remember that disease of the eyes often result from impure blood. If you have any reason to think your bad eyes may have come from this cause, lose not an hour of time in buying a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy;" which will cost you only one dollar, and take it to cleanse your blood. You can implicitly trust it to this. Or drop a line to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. State your case fully and get the doctor's opinion free.

Know My Son Bill?

As the overland express was snorting through Alameda, on its way to New York, the engineer suddenly whistled down brakes, the conductor frantically shouted and jerked the signal line, and with many a jar and squeak the long line of cars was brought to a stop.

The cause of this sudden "fetch-up" was a fat old lady, with a red face and a green parasol, who had planted herself squarely in front of the engine, and was making the most frantic signals for it to pause.

"What's the matter? Anything on the track?" said the engineer, excitedly.

"Nothing but me," said the old lady stiffly.

"Has there been a smash-up? Is there a drawbridge open?"

"Don't poke fun at me, young man. I want to see the proprietor."

"The what?"

"The man who runs this thing, the captain, or whatever you call him."

"What do you want with the conductor?"

"None of your business. I want to see the boss man—the boss—and to swear."

"Well, ma'am," said that functionary, running up, watch in hand, "what's up? What can I do for you?"

"You go through to Chicago, don't you?"

"Why, of course. What of it?"

"Know my son Bill—Bill Skinderson—there?"

"No. For heaven's sake, get off the track, you old—"

"Don't swear at me, you red-nosed gorilla, or I'll inform on you. Dear me, I thought everybody knew my boy Bill—prominent man there—runs the biggest fruit-stand in town, and—hands off, you rascal. Don't dare to tech me. I'll move when I'm good and ready."

"Well, blank your blankmation eyes, hurry up! What do you want?"

"Oh! I thought you'd change your tune. Well, I wish you'd stop over a day or two at Chicago and look up Bill, and tell him that little Mariah Jane's janders have kinder worked round into fits, and there's more hopes. She's sorter——"

"Start her up, Jimmy," yelled the furious conductor; and if the old lady hadn't hustled up her skirts and jumped herself she would have had a first-class case of damages against the company. After that she stood apoplectic with rage, shaking her parasol at the disappearing train, and announcing her determination to go right over "and see Governor Standard the very minute the dishes were washed."

To Test Olive Oil.

It is only necessary to pour a little water into a saucer, and then to allow a drop of the oil to be tested to fall gently upon this water. If the oil is pure olive oil it will take an irregular shape, much like a rocky island in the sea, with promontories, inlets and bays. If it is poppy oil the drop, at first round, will soon dissolve itself into elegant festoons of half circles. A drop of rape oil will take a similar shape, but the outlines are more positive. The oil of ground nuts gives a round drop, accompanied by a large number of smaller ones; thus distinctly differing from olive oil, with which it has in other respects many qualities in common. Gingelly oil (sesamum) displays also these small drops, but they are much smaller than the preceding oil and of a greater number. The drop produced from colza oil is round, with sharp and well defined outlines. Where the olive oil is mixed the drop will show the configuration approaching more or less to the details given above, according as it contains a greater or smaller admixture of the other oils. Oil which, when shaken in a bottle, will show on its upper surface a permanent collection of small air-bubbles is not olive oil, but has been adulterated with poppy oil; in pure olive oil such bubbles do not remain.

—Booth was playing "Hamlet" in Virginia one night, and had no skull. A little darkey volunteered to get one. When Booth was leaving the theatre he felt some one tugging at his coat-tail. He looked around and saw the child. "What will you have, sonny?" "Please, sah, I want daddy's skull, sah." "Daddy's skull?" "Yes, sah. Dat used ter be de ole man's head-piece afore de mewel kicked him, an' mammy'll tek me ter rags ef I lose it."

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered a new October 1875, 1876, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach considers a letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from the difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Fashion Notes.

Clerical-looking collars in high standing bands are worn by ladies.

Small bonnets are gradually disappearing, and large ones are increasing in size.

Tan colored gloves are worn as full dress for morning receptions and the opera.

The new dresses give fashionable women the appearance of having come from Japan.

A new petticoat has been brought out in London so arranged as to keep the short skirt out at the back just at the spot above the ankle where it frequently annoys by falling in. The plan is a simple one, and consists merely in a crinoline steel being run through a casing in the back breadth, where it stands out stiffly and holds out the dress, to the great comfort of the wearer.

The elaborateness which characterized the fashionable coiffure of a few years ago has vanished. The rats and the mice, the puffs and the pads, have given place to simple coils, with perhaps a comb for those who have classically-shaped heads. For those who must have more elaborate coiffures, the front is frizzed or banged, and the back hair is looped or plaited and fancy pins are put through it.

Close fitting wraps show the Jersey form, and are of chenille over satin, and trimmed with fur. Entire cloaks are seen in chenille, the most dressy having gold thread woven in the fabric and gold cord used in trimming. Dressy ulsters of drab and ecru cloth have hoods lined with red or scarlet satin, the seams being corded with the same, and the cuffs and pockets corresponding. Copper buttons of large size are the only ornaments.

It is generally understood that two materials are required to perfect the design which is now expected in all costumes; but it is not infrequently the case that three and sometimes four different materials have part in the combination. Thus, we see, in a promenade costume, the skirt or the foundation of faille, satin or French cashmere; a narrow plaiting of the material of the skirt, or of red, blue or old gold satin borders the foot; above this is a side plaiting, from eighteen to twenty inches deep, of silk or woolen plaid, or of satin damask; surmounting the wide plaiting is drapery of plush, festooned across the front and caught up with large silk cord, terminating in heavy tassels, or with flots of satin ribbon of the color of the cashmere, or of the ground of the faconnee stuff, while the paradessus is a polonaise.

As a reliable and cheap remedy for the various affections of the throat and lungs, we heartily recommend Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.—

SIR:—I have been using your medicine for over a year now and with the best effects. I have used 12 bottles of the Hypophosphites, and it has made a new man of me. I have been ailing over six years with a number of diseases, but lung difficulty was the most prominent. I have been under the care of a great many doctors, and have taken quantities of medicine without any apparent benefit, but appeared to be still growing worse and weaker until I accidentally came across one of your circulars, and was constrained to try your medicine, and I found its effects were almost magical upon me, and I was a surprise to myself and friends, having gained so rapidly in flesh.

I am respectfully,

Life Insurance.

We lay before the readers of our paper the very satisfactory exhibit of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The general agency of this company is in National block in this city, and if the people of Portsmouth and vicinity do not inform themselves as to life insurance, what need to avail themselves of, and of what alleged species to steer clear, it is by no means the fault of this company or its general agent, who is ready to inform enquirers not only as to the advantage of the system of the Mutual Life Co., but as to the benefits to be derived from insurance in the abstract. The class of persons who insure are for the most part thoughtful, considerate and mindful of future wants and obligations. Indeed, the mere fact of being a policy holder, is indicative of a degree of good judgment. The danger is in the process, or the selection of the mode of assurance.

The assured seem naturally to divide into two distinct classes. One of these embraces men who either invent, or inaugurate and manipulate all sort of society, association, club or secret organizations of men upon the alleged ground of bountiful contributions to be made in the distant hereafter should the plan survive, and the persons who listen to them. The readiness with which these new-fangled associations run like epidemic diseases or newly invented fashions, all over the land, is accounted for when we stop to consider that so many organizers and managers, or examiners, grand sachems or manipulators, under all sorts of guises, savage or civilized, are ready to relieve credulous, honest and careless men who do not stop to investigate the stability, or possibility of these concerns performing their promises, or affording the security sought, but go off at half cock, pay their money, and too late learn that it has been wasted.

The other class embraces cautious, reflecting and shrewd business men. Generally these are men who have earned their money. Sometimes they possess wealth, attained from small beginnings, but under an experience and discipline which afford knowledge of what it costs to earn a dollar. These men take nothing on trust; they investigate for themselves. They look back at the history of life insurance. They discover its stability amid the wreck and disappearance of thousands of proposed substitutes which have come and gone in every civilized country of the globe.

The world, or a great part of the people in it, wish to be humbugged. They dost upon it. Smart and unscrupulous men are ready to serve up this desired commodity at every turn. A medical quack always makes more rapid fame than can a regular practitioner, and the projects of numberless societies of alleged beneficial results can outgeneral the legitimate and substantial life insurance agent. It is one of the laws of society, and always has been, that the many are sold, and to the few only is vouchsafed wisdom as to investments and expenditures.

Our object in commencing this article was simply to ask the reader who can knowingly examine figures and compare results, to go over the exhibit of the Mutual Life Co. Acknowledged to be the leading company in the United States, it occasionally becomes the object for the pointed pen of some writer to criticise, but in every instance this seems only to test the strength of the company, so that some might be led to suspect that the recent article in a popular New York magazine may have been instigated as an advertisement, were it not for the fact that the business of the company is of such a character that no such appliances are requisite to maintain its hold upon the sound and far-seeing portion of the community, who investigate the merits of life insurance for themselves.

New Hampshire Press Association.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press Association will be held at the Phoenix hotel, Concord, on Tuesday forenoon, Feb. 8th, at eleven o'clock, for the election of officers, and other business of importance. Arrangements will also be made for a summer excursion, and a full attendance of all members is desired. All printers, not members, desiring to join, will please send their applications to the corresponding secretary before that date, and be present at the meeting if possible. The cost of joining the association is $1, and an annual assessment of $1, thereafter. J. D. P. Wingate of Exeter is corresponding secretary.

News and Notes.

A farmer recently sold a lot of butter to a Rutland, Vt., grocer, who found that the balls had been hollowed out, filled with water, and then frozen hard.

During the temporary absence of Mrs. Dascomb from her home in Altona, N. Y., Jan. 25th, the house took fire, and four young children were burned to death.

Capt. Eads, the manager of the ship railway scheme across the isthmus, asks the United States for a charter, limiting the capital of the company to $75,000,000, and to guarantee a semi-annual dividend of three per cent on two-thirds of the stock for fifteen years.

An extraordinary scene occurred at the burial of a child at Brightside, Eng., recently. The father was denied permission to bury the child because he refused to pay the fees in advance. The sexton and his son attempted to prevent the opening of a grave, when the sympathising crowd present put the sexton and his son into the grave. Finally the man and his friends triumphed, and a collection was taken to enable the father to pay his expenses.

Sally Hunter, who died in Washington, D. C., Jan. 25th, was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, in 1766, and belonged to the Washington family, being one of the slaves emancipated by the general's will. She went to Washington after the war, and has since resided near the navy yard. She is believed to be the last of General Washington's servants.

Congress.

In the Senate, Jan. 27th, Mr. Beck of Kentucky made a long speech in favor of free ships. He demanded the free admission of all materials used in building and equipping vessels, and declared that our navigation laws, like slavery and polygamy, are relics of barbarism. Mr. Blaine made an able speech in reply, and argued in favor of protection and subsidies

In the House the democrats did not renew the contest over the electoral count resolution.

New Hampshire Items.

Of 6,108 names of prominent men of the United States published in the latest American biographical dictionary. 273 hail from New Hampshire.

The New Hampshire Educational institute, under the auspices of the Claremont Teachers' association, met in Claremont Jan. 27th.

Major Savage and Charles Moody, of Alton, in answer to an advertisement sent a dollar to a "firm" that promised to send in return "a mowing-machine knife-sharpener" and "corn-sheller." They received a bit of pine wood six inches long, with a little coarse emery stuck on it—which was the knife-sharpener; the corn-sheller was a piece of thin sheet-iron three inches square. "Fools and their money," etc.

Household Hints.

As we have said before somewhere, the enterprising editor who endeavors to run a "household department," without the aid of a female writer, will come to grief sooner or later. One day the editor of the Cloverdale Cleanup was startled by a whole tornado of raps on his sanctum door, on the other side of which he presently beheld a small mob of matrons of the vicinity, each of whom bore an expression of indignant determination on her face, and a dish or pan under her arm

"Are you the—the party who said, in last week's paper, that salad dressing could be improved by an ounce of cayenne and some powdered borax?" said one.

"I—I—suppose so," admitted the editor.

"Oh, you are, eh!" said the woman, displaying a sticky green compound. "Well, perhaps, you'd like to finish this lot. I have four children at home on the point of death from it now."

"Are you the miserable liar who stated that the only way to clean sealskin was to boil it in milk? Look at that!" screamed another, holding up what appeared to be a drowned puppy.

"I—er—ahem—really—" mumbled the wretched journalist, "the printer must have mixed it up with the broken china item."

"And didn't you print a receipt saying that a few pinches of copperas gave a rich, dark color to sponge cake? My husband has thrown up steadily since day before yesterday morning!" sobbed another, exhibiting what appeared to be a hunk of stove coal.

"Yes," put in another irate dame, holding up a tattered basque; "and you said that vitrol would take ink stains out of velvet. You disgusting old pirate."

"I—I—think it must have been my assistant Cliperm," stammered the editor. "I don't think I wrote anything for that issue except a leader on our 'Accursed Monopolies.'"

"That is too thin," shrieked another devastated female, putting up a green veil and displaying a purboiled countenance. "Didn't you advise me yesterday down at the market to cut on your infallible remedy for removing freckles? It took 'em out and the skin with 'em; and the doctor says it is two to one I never see out of that eye again. There, you're welcome to what's left!"

And the half-scalped victim broke a bottle on his nose, while the rest hammered him over his head with assorted slabs of indigestion according to the Cleanup specifications, rammed unrisen dough down his mouth, and a coal tar, arsenic and sulphur remedy for chicken pip down the back of his neck.

When they were gone the moulder of public opinion picked himself up, hunted for the foreman's mallet, smashed the stereotype "Household Hints" into forty thousand bits, kicked the devil down stairs, and went out to trade a special notice on the first page for some court-plaster.—Brooklyn Eagle.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES.

Is a combination of Hypophosphites, original ed by me in Canada while under the process of pulmonary consumption, and which has since been employed by the medical profession throughout America and England with unprecedented success.

It contains the elements essential to the animal organization, the oxidizing agents and tonics.

In combination with the stimulating agent phosphorus, possessing the merit of being slightly alkaline, and is dispensed in the convenient and palatable form of a syrup.

Its effects are usually visible within twenty-four hours and are attained by a stimulation of the appetite, the digestion and assimilation, entering directly into the circulation; it tones the nerves, nd muscles; exerts a healthy action of the secretions; neither disturbs the stomach nor injures the system under prolonged use, and may be all co tinued a any time without inconvenience.

In a word it possesses the stimulants to arouse the strength, the tonic to retain it, and merit of a high degree. Very respectfully,

JAMES I. FELLOWS.

AROUND HOME.

The afternoon trains on the Eastern railroad, Friday, were much delayed.

We are indebted to Senator Rollins for bound volumes of the Congressional Record, and other documents.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. on Friday commenced cutting the third crop of ice from the pond near the brewery.

Mr. John Dixon, the well known fish-dealer, died on Thursday evening last. He has been an active, enterprising man in his line of business, and will be missed by many who have been assisted by him in gaining a livelihood. He leaves a wife and four children.

The schooner Azelia, with 5000 lbs. of cod-fish, and the Lucy, with 500 lbs., arrived late on Thursday evening. The Josie Johnson arrived on Friday noon with 7000 lbs. of fish, which were bought by Messrs. Herbert & Newton, who paid two dollars per hundred weight.

Mr Henry Morehouse, the English evangelist who came to this city to supply for a few days the place of Major Whittle, who was called away during the continuance of the revival conducted by Messrs. Whittle and McGranahan, in November, 1877, died in England on the 31st of December last.

In Portland, Jan. 18th, John York, proprietor of the Portland house in that city, was arrested on a charge of passing a counterfeit treasury note for one dollar, Oct. 1st, and was held in $1000 by the commissioner for a full hearing. It is said that York was for a time landlord of the old National house in this city.

The milk-sleigh of Mr. T S. Cole was capsized, Friday morning, and as the horse by his bad conduct monopolized all Mr. Cole's attention for a time, the entire quantity of milk, about one hundred and forty gallons, was lost. It was trial enough for a man to have to venture out on such a morning, without having his property wasted.

Last year there were twenty-two alarms of fire in this city, as follows: Four in January, one in March, two in April, one in May, two in June, one in July, three in August, five in October, two in November, and one in December. Of the above number, five alarms were false. The total loss sustained cannot at present be estimated, the correct figures for the damage by the burning of the creosoting works at Noble's island, and by the destruction of the Kearsarge mills, not being at hand. Aside from these the loss as returned foots up $7851.02.

The Journal of Jan. 29th says: "Twice last week, Mr. M. B. Tobey of Kittery Point had his trawls stolen from the place in which he set them off the Hampton shore. As the cost of a set of trawls is about $10, and the loss of them involves not only the fish thereon, but of his fishing business until another set can be procured, such a theft is severely felt by the ordinary fisherman. The act of stealing trawls, exposed as they are by the necessary absence of the owners, is not only mean, but is deserving of and receives a severe penalty at law upon conviction. We understand that it is carried on to a considerable extent upon our coast. We hope the miscreants will be caught and made an example of."

The Portland Press says that Mr. William H. Andrew of that city "has just taken out a patent sinker for fishermen that will immediately commend itself to all of that profession, and has already been endorsed by many of the best men that sail from this port. The sinker is of various sizes, from one and a half pounds to nine pounds in weight. At one end there is a swivel to which the hook is attached, so fashioned that once the fish takes the hook he cannot get it out of his mouth, no matter what dodges he attempts. At the line end is a spiral spring so arranged in the sinker that the fish cannot jerk the line out of the fishermen's hands, or snarl, or 'muss up' the line. The strain on the line has to be steady and regular. It will thus be seen that Mr. Andrew's invention is really a valuable one."

We have received from the general agency of the "Young Ladies' Journal," 31 Beekman street, New York, a specimen copy containing colored fashion plates of twenty figures, comprising fifteen ladies' and five children's dresses, of the latest Paris fashions; some of the newest designs in ornamental and useful fancy work, with directions for working; articles on etiquette of good society; several complete and continuous stories, illustrated; also a gigantic supplement of about one hundred figures, showing all the latest fashions for ladies and children, with cut-out patterns. The Young Ladies' Journal is for sale by all book and newsdealers. Price, including all the supplements, thirty-five cents, postpaid. Yearly subscription (thirteen numbers,) including the extra Christmas number, $4.50.

The old and middle-aged people of Portsmouth can well recollect the mounted truckmen who with their spick-and-span white frocks used to parade the streets on the 4th of July. How the times have changed! Now there is not a single truckman in Portsmouth. The railroad tracks run on the wharves, and vessels' cargoes are discharged immediately into the cars. This is in accordance with the age. But to extend the subject, there are now staying in the city and vicinity hundreds of able-bodied men who have sailed the ocean o'er—'longshoremen who have helped discharge vessels in ports from Portland to New Orleans, in New York and Liverpool, and even in the East Indies; and yet it is asserted that some person in authority has sent to Boston for a gang of lumpers to discharge a cotton-laden vessel at a north end wharf, to whom the owners of the vessel will be obliged to pay a higher price than would have been charged for the same labor by the equally competent local workmen. If this statement is correct, it is hard on the Portsmouth lumpers and the vessel's owners. V.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

A store at Old Orchard occupied by J. E. Mitchell was burned early Friday morning, with its contents. Insured $1400.

There is a rumor that a corn preserving company is to locate at North Berwick, providing the local farmers will promise to plant one hundred and fifty acres of land with corn of the kind desired for canning.

It is said on good authority that the gold-mine story from Eliot was correct as first reported, except as to the excitement alleged to exist in the town concerning the matter. Gold-bearing rock has been found as stated, and the value of the discovery is to be tested, but the towns-people are pursuing the even tenor of their way notwithstanding.

Rev. Mr. Cousins, whose wife was recently divorced from him in the York county supreme court, on the ground of cruelty to and neglect to provide for her, denies that there was any substantial ground for the accusations. He says he did not appear and defend himself, simply because he did not care to put any impediment in the way of her securing the divorce. This explanation may be satisfactory to some people.

—Rev. Dr. Talmage is charged with falsehood. From his gymnastic performances, we thought he was charged with electricity.—Puck.

—The Chicago Tribune confidently recommends Chicago as a winter resort. It says enough winter has resorted there since last November to supply most cities for several years.

—The advent of Mrs. Malaprop brings to mind a lady of Buffalo's first society of many years ago. Gov. De Witt Clinton was a guest at the family mansion, and this occurred at the dinner table. The great governor spoke of the delightful climate of the then village. "Yes," said the hostess, "we generally have fine weather, except when the sun crosses the Penobscot." "Why, my dear," remonstrated her husband, the general, "you don't mean the Penobscot?" "O dear! no," she exclaimed, "of course I don't mean that—I mean the Passamaquoddy."

MARRIED.

GARRETT—SIDES. In this city, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. R. M. Grant, assisted by Rev. Wm. H. Alden, D. D., on the 27th inst., Mr. Freeman R. Garrett and Miss Annie R. Sides, daughter of Capt. Wm. O. Sides, all of this city.

DIED.

WALKER. In Jamaica Plain, Mass., Jan. 25th, Isabella B. W. Walker, wife of Gideon Walker.

MARINE CHRONICLE.

Sch Governor Wolcott, Coombs, New York for Boston, passed through Hell Gate 26th.

A Singular Phenomenon.

Monday night as the schooner Little Kate was coming into port, at about midnight, the sailors saw a singular phenomenon. In the direction of Portland light they discovered a bright light covering quite a space, in the air, near the lighthouse. As the vessel came nearer the light appeared to move and to approach it. The men on board were considerably alarmed, not knowing what to make of the phenomenon. The men on the steamer Lewiston, which was coming in at the same time, also saw the light but could not account for it.—Portland Advertiser.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge (Ulster Co.), N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered a nee ves or 18?4, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 18th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "I will always afford me pleasure to recommend th "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorder arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Congress.

In the Senate, Jan. 28th, Mr. Blaine introduced as a substitute for Beck's freeship bill, a bill granting subsidies to American ocean-going steam-ships.

In the House, on the 28th, there was a sharp debate over a bill to pay $136 to the widow of Hugh M. Page, a former officer of the United States navy who resigned his commission in 1861, to "go with his state" into rebellion. The strongest speech against paying the bill, which was for wages due Capt. Page at the time he resigned, was made by Bragg of Wisconsin, a democrat.

The committee on commerce of the House have agreed to report favorably a bill for the abolition of compulsory pilotage at Hell Gate.

The sub-committee of the House committee on ways and means have agreed to report favorably the bill to remove the tax from matches, bank checks, bank deposits and capital.

The majority of the House special committee appointed to find out who wrote the anonymous letter to Congressman Springer, offering him a bribe to favor Donnelly in the Washburn-Donnelly election contest, have prepared a report, fixing the guilt on the notorious H. H. Finley, the lobbyist.

Foot Racing.

A six-days' go-as-you-please foot-race closed in New York, Saturday night, the winner, Hughes, beating the best previous record. The scores of the five prize-takers were as follows: "Lepper" Hughes, 568 miles; James Albert, 558; Robert Vint, 550; Fred Krohne, the "Big Swede," 530; Harry Howard, 515. Campana, "Old Sport," made 425 miles. The longest distance previously covered in a six-days' match was 566 miles, made by Rowell in England last November.

Titled Aristocrats.

San Francisco has not yet been cured of its love of titled aristocrats, and therefore continues to be a victim of pretenders. The latest of these was a clever rogue who called himself Count Von Schiller. He made acquaintances in snobbish society, and then pretended to fall dangerously ill. He dictated a letter to his father, directing him to make a remittance of $6,000, and induced the young man who acted as his amenuensis to lend him $1,000 until the money came. Then he feigned a belief that he was about to die, and made a will in which his San Francisco friends were liberally remembered. On the strength of these bequests he borrowed numerous small amounts. He has at last been exposed and arrested.

—A Boston restaurant keeper received an order from the deceased Mr. Harrington, through a medium, for an old-fashioned pumkin pie. The medium ate the pie while under the control of the delighted spirit.

—The school committee of Lewiston have invented a new verb. They allude in their annual report to the influences which "derrick up to a better life." The word is a little better than "hist" which has heretofore served to express in common speech the same idea, but it will not probably meet with much approval from R. G. W.—Lowell Courier.

—Cincinnati people are wondering over a horse which is quite destitute of hair. He has no mane whatever; his tail consists only of a hairless stump, and even inside the ears no hair can be found. The horse has not been shaved, for the closest examination fails to discover the slightest sign of a bristle on any part of the body. The horse is four years old, was never sick, and until a year ago was like others of his kind. Physicians who have examined him can discover no signs of disease, and are at a loss to account for the case.

"Punctuality is the hinge of business." In families where Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is kept, there is never a case of absence from school or business on account of coughs, colds or sore throat. 25 cents.

—Not long since, a little girl was called upon in a Hartford Sunday school to say her verse. She rose and promptly said, with a slight lisp, "There lih no rethpectable persons with God."

A Boy Again.

Pain and sickness bring on old age with fearful rapidity. They make an incessant drain on the vital forces, and the weary steps and faded cheeks of age often come, when the enjoyment of life should be at its highest. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" turns this kind of old age into youth again. Headache, pains in the limbs, troubles of the liver, bowels or kidneys vanish before it, and feeble men and women become like rollicking school boys and girls once more. One dollar a bottle, either at your druggist's or from the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—Senator Hannibal Hamlin wears no over-coat, even in the coldest weather of winter. One old swallowtail with him makes continual summer.

HENRY VAN NORTWICK, of Toledo, Ohio, says:—A friend prevailed upon me to try an "Only Lung Pad," and I obtained immediate relief from a racking cough. I know the Pad helped me.—See Adv.

—The Detroit Free Press says that "it took a Harvard student only two years to conquer Latin, but he was four years learning how to throw the lasso so as to enable him to earn $30 per month on a Texas ranche."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound revives the drooping spirits; invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions; gives elasticity and firmness to the step, restores the natural lustre to the eye, and plants on the pale cheek of beauty the fresh roses of life's spring and early summer time.

—A Boston paper charges certain actors with "fulminating trite fatuities." No arrests were made.

Ten years ago while gathering ice, I strained my back and took cold; urination has been painful ever since, until after consuming three bottles D. R. V. G. I am now 69 years old, and feel like a colt.

—John Cantley, a wealthy stockman, was shot in Dallas, Texas, by his brother, in the latter's saloon. Cantley died the next day, but before death became reconciled to his brother, and willed him $1,000 cash and considerable town property!

Feeble and exhausted constitutions restored to health and strength by Malt Bitters.

The Grateful Brewers.

A number of brewers of Brooklyn have united in a letter expressive of their sense of the important service rendered to the people and the brewing interest "in the resistance of the tax attempted to be imposed upon them, and through them upon every consumer of beer in the country, in the interest of a dangerous commercial monopoly," by Mr. Perry Belmont, representative-elect in the Brooklyn congressional district. The letter contains a good deal of taffy, which will not be lost upon the son of his father who paid such a handsome sum for his seat in Congress.

Naval Gazette.

Commander Merrill Miller is detached from command of the Yantic, and placed on sick leave.

Commander Edwin T. Woodward is detached from the League island navy yard, and ordered to command the Yantic.

Lieut. Wm. C. Gibson is detached from the New York navy yard, and ordered to the Yantic.

Commander Henry L. Picking, commanding the Kearsarge, reports her arrival at Port Royal, Jamaica, Jan. 12th, four days from Curacoa. Health of officers and crew good. The Tennessee was expected at Port Royal hourly from Venezuela.

Capt. Wm. A. Kirkland is ordered to proceed via Liverpool to Monte Video, on arrival to report on board the Shenandoah.

Sailmaker T. B. White is ordered to the receiving ship Colorado at New York, relieving Sailmaker C. C. Freeman, who is ordered to the Trenton, European station.

Pay Inspector Caspar Schenck is ordered to examination for promotion.

New Hampshire Items.

The Senate committee on judiciary are to act to-day upon the nomination of Hon. Charles H. Burns to be United States district attorney of New Hampshire. Mr. Burns is a lawyer of acknowledged ability, and has experience in the prosecution of criminal, as in the trial of civil cases. He is a fluent speaker, and has the ability to discharge the duties of this office to a successful degree. He will make a competent district attorney, and will compare quite favorably with officers in similar positions in either of the New England states.

John L. Copp, of Rochester, has been granted a patent for an under-vest under his claim filed in September. Charles B. Rice, of Claremont, has been granted a patent for wire cover for rolls of paper machines. F. A. Perry, of Keene, has been allowed a re-issue of his patent spark-arrester.

The President has nominated William H. Hayes to be postmaster at Farmington.

The dry storm of Friday was the worst of the winter for railroad men in this state, and trains were blockaded by drifts, and frozen up, on many of the roads throughout the state.

Two engines and a "gouger" sent from Concord on Saturday morning to clear the Concord & Claremont railroad track, left the rails a short distance from the city. Charles H. Sanborn was hurt in the head and back, and a man named Brown had his left leg broken in two places.

Andrew Woodson of New Durham was instantly killed in Farmington on Thursday of last week, while chopping wood, by the fall of a tree which crushed his head to bits.

News and Notes.

A defalcation of $25,000 or $30,000 has been discovered in the Detroit savings bank of Detroit, Mich. The thieves are two tellers, brothers named Seigler, and the stealing has been going on for ten or twelve years. They belong to a prominent family, another brother being rector of an Episcopal church; their bondsmen will make the loss of the bank good, so the high-toned young men will escape the punishment their crime deserves.

The New York board of trade and transportation has adopted resolutions condemning the proposed consolidation of the great telegraph lines, and urging Congress and the state legislatures to take action in the matter.

A contract has just been agreed upon between the authorities of Florida and capitalists of Philadelphia and the Pacific coast, to drain Lake Okeechobee in south Florida. This will reclaim 12,000,000 acres of the best sugar land in the world. The territory reclaimed will include the celebrated everglades, and be in extent twice as large as the state of New Jersey. This is the largest contract on record, and when completed Florida can produce more sugar than the United States now consumes.

Ada Fowlor, whose mother is accused of keeping a disreputable place in Providence, R. I., was arrested in Lowell, Mass., Friday, on a charge of enticing a girl only sixteen years old to the aforesaid den. Ada is alleged to have done this in several instances, though evidence is only procured in the present case as yet. She is only eighteen years old.

Edward Mulaney of Bridgeport, Conn., a man of very intemperate character, assaulted his wife on Friday with an axe, inflicting a probably fatal wound in the head. Mulaney was arrested.

Caroline D. Chamberlain, aged seventy-two years, Randolph Luddon, aged ninety years, Samuel B. Steele, aged eighty-one years, Loyal Jordan, aged sixty-five years, and G. Bucklin, aged forty years, died in Castleton, Vt., week before last. Two of them were found dead in bed, and one dropped dead in a barn.

Political Notes.

At Washington, Jan. 28th, Gov. Jewell, chairman of the republican national committee, was examined by the House select committee appointed to investigate the alleged abuse of the franking privilege during the late presidential campaign. He testified that the republican national committee used no franks whatever, but on the contrary expended in New York city $10,000 for postage, and $4000 for a message on political correspondence and documents which they distributed.

A Wife Lost and Won.

George Bovard, says a Pittsburgh journalist, is the name of a young Methodist minister who attended the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Mercer, Penn., a couple of years ago. While there he and a young lady teacher of the soldiers' orphans school, situated at Mercer, fell in love with each other. Her name was Clara Shaffer. He was about to start to India to Christianize the heathern. A correspondence was kept up between the two, and he wanted her to come to him, be married, and assist him in his labors. He had no money to pay her expenses, and she had none. In this emergency, a few months ago, she made a confidant of "Dick" Wright, a heavy clothing merchant of Mercer, and he being a big-hearted man, with generous impulses, offered to supply her with what money she needed to reach her far-off lover. She gladly accepted his offer, and at once began her preparations for the long journey. "Dick" and Miss Shaffer were thrown much together, for a while, and about the time she was ready to start he was deeply in love with her himself. But he said nothing, and she started for New York with enough of Dick's money in her pocket to take her to India. Two or three days after her departure he grew despondent, and chided himself for having given away his chances for marrying Miss Shaffer himself. A thought struck him, and that was to follow her, and if possible to overtake her before before she boarded a steamer in New York for distant India. He acted promptly on the thought, took the cars, reached New York, and found the vessel on which she was to sail. Miss Shaffer was already on board; he made known his affection, asked her for her hand for himself, was accepted, and the two returned to Mercer a few days ago as man and wife. The outcome is a little rough on the young minister, who is wrestling with superstition and idolatry in the jungles of India.

—"An old tar" has recently prepared a handbook of nautical terms for the use of persons who intend to follow the sea. "In order to correct popular belief, our author," says the San Francisco News-Letter, "gravely asserts that the berths on board ship do not necessarily add to the census. The hatchways are not hen's nests. The way of the ship is not the extent of her avoirdupois. The boatswain does not pipe all hands with a meerschaum. The ship does not have a wake over a dead calm. The swell of a ship is not caused by dropsy, nor is the taper of a bowsprit a tallow candle. The hold is not the vessel's grip. The trough of the sea is not dug out of the ship's log. The crest of a wave is not the indication of its rank. The buoy is not the captain's son. The men are not beat to quarters with a club. Ships are never boarded at hotels. The bow of a ship is not evidence of politeness. A sailor's stockings are never manufactured from a yarn of his own spinning. The sails of a ship are not made by an auctioneer, nor are the stays constructed by a milliner."

THE PORTSMOUTH SHOE FACTORY.

Very many years ago, as one of the Eastern Stage Company's coaches rolled through Middle street just after its occupants had enjoyed a dinner at Wilde's tavern on Congress street with the zest which travellers by coach in those days always carried with them, a jolly Englishman who occupied a seat near the window, as he passed by a one-story shop nearly opposite the Lord mansion, exclaimed as he read a small sign, "Boots and Shoes. I. Mendum," and shouted, "Was there ever a better sign? 'Boots and shoes—I. Mendum.' Of course he does," and his laugh could be heard nearly to the top of Mason's hill, for the upper part of Broad (now State) street had then no houses between Middle and what was then Massey street, now Summer. Portsmouth people then bought their shoes at Elisha Crane's in Market street, or had them made in small shops about town, all by the slow process of manual labor, with no machinery to aid in the work or lessen the cost. How different the manufacture of shoes to-day; and how few of us realize that in this city we have in its appointments one of the best establishments for the manufacture in the United States.

A short time since, as work at the navy yard had become so materially reduced, and ship-building had ceased, it became evident to our real estate holders and business men that some new species of industry must be started in Portsmouth, or our population would diminish, our business decline, rents of stores would decrease, and a period of Rip Van Winkle quiet and dullness ensue. The result of this consultation was the establishment of the Portsmouth Shoe Co., which at first began business in the Nowell building on State street, and then after a business arrangement with W. W. Whitcomb of Boston was able to have a substantial and convenient factory erected for its occupancy, furnished with a thirty-five horse-power engine and all the means and appliances for the successful prosecution of its business. This building was first occupied last fall, and here between two and three hundred industrious persons of either sex, minors and adults, are busily engaged in the work, and furnish for the western and southern trade as fine a quality of shoe as is seen in the Boston market.

The general manager, Mr. Knights, who is thoroughly up in all that pertains to this business, and who is a practical and competent man, is in charge of the manufacture; and as we pass from room to room we are astonished at the various processes through which the work passes, the great amount of work which is done by machinery, the superior character of the work, and the industrious and intelligent class of people we see within the walls of this new industrial establishment, of which we may well be proud. We will not weary our readers with the recital of the detailed process of manufacture required to convert the leather into a finished shoe. It is multitudinous, thorough, exact, and wonderful. The store room is in the upper story; the stock goes first to the cutting-room, and thence is sent to the stories below by the elevator, to undergo successive manipulations, until it is ready for packing. Any one interested in mechanical labor or curious to see how much machinery to-day economises the cost of manual labor, would be both delighted and surprised to witness the various operations within the high brick walls of this new building. Orders for the work will require all that can be produced until after April, and as fast as goods are ready they are hastened on their way to customers.

The pay roll for the labor here performed requires about ten thousand dollars every week, the company disbursing as much as did the Kearsarge mills. The business is done by a corporation of which Dr. F. E. Potter is president, with a board of directors composed of men who own the stock in the corporation, and some of whom built the building, not so much by way of investment as for the purpose of helping the business of our city. The treasurer is W. W. Whitcomb, at No. 260 Devonshire street, Boston, a gentleman long in trade and subsequently in the manufacture of shoes, and a good business man. The owners of the building recieve a stated rent for the use of their real estate, while the stockholders in the company recieve dividends of six per cent per year in semi-annual payments; and the reputation which the goods have attained in the market, and the ability shown by those in charge of the business, seem to warrant the belief that the projects which was entered into solely to revive and maintain business in our community has not only accomplished this result, but will bring to the investors a reasonable income for their outlay.

The shoe business requires men of peculiar attainments to be successfully done. Competition is intense. Stock must be bought carefully, and goods must be judiciously sold. Shoes however are a staple article in constant demand, and careful and able management can only be secured by good success. In the men in charge of this enterprise, we recognize gentlemen of ability, integrity and business zeal, and we have great hopes that this undertaking will prove even more remunerative to its projectors than the most sanguine expectations of its proprietors ever foreshadowed.

Success to this enterprise, say we all. While it has given employment to many of our people, it has brought to our city what is needed and should be ever welcome, a class of industrious mechanics. It is by this kind of labor that New England towns must be kept up. It is the producers which add to the wealth and common prosperity of a place like ours; and as ship building and similar industries seem to have vanished from our locality, the introduction of mechanical industries controlled by our own capitalists, and not subject to the uncertain views of residents of other cities, must in the end prove the true means in our economy of increasing our importance in a business view, developing our real estate, employing our capital, and above all furnishing an opportunity for many residents to earn an honest living.

With reasonable appropriations for an increase of the navy, with another shoe establishment in successful operation, with increased operations in hosiery manufacture and our other varied mechanical pursuits, there can be no reason why our goodly city should not advance in population and business importance, and despite the loss sustained by the burning of the Kearsarge mills, be able to gain in population compared to other New England cities similarly situated.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

By the dissolution of the firm of Samuel Adams & Co., dealers in building materials, notice of which is given in another column in to-day's issue of this paper, a change occurs in the name of an old-established firm. Samuel Adams, Esq., retires from the business with an honorable record, after having for forty-one years been interested as a partner at the old stand, the firm name having been successively Barker & Adams, Barker, Adams & Co., and Samuel Adams & Co. Mr. Joseph E. Adams, after being connected with the business for fifteen years, is compelled by failing health to relinquish it and go west. Mr. John H. Broughton, after a service of thirty-six years, first as clerk and then as partner, succeeds to the business as sole proprietor; his energy and long experience will enable him to maintain the reputation for promptness which the old firm has always enjoyed, and his shrewdness as a business man would cause him to continue its unblemished reputation for fair dealing, even were there no higher motive. Ex-Mayor Broughton is one of our live and honorable business men; he has a large acquaintance all over the state, and the old stand will without doubt continue to be the seat of a large trade, as in days gone by.

GOOD FOR THE DOCTOR.

Our Kittery correspondent writes us as follows, under date of Jan. 29th:

The statement in the Times recently, in a letter from Kittery, that "our political doctor is to leave for Washington to see what award can be made for the red-oak constructor," appears to be a guess not very wide of the "Mark." The Senate, after the arrival of the "political doctor" at Washington, voted that $225,000 of appropriations for repairs in the navy shall be "immediately available"—that is, not to wait until after July 1st to be expended, but to be now used in the repair and reconstruction of the U. S. S. Brooklyn at New York, and the Lancaster at the Kittery navy yard. Perhaps the storekeepers and mechanics of Portsmouth will regard this as a beneficial proceeding, though every effort to increase the expenditure at the navy yard seems to be a cause for discouragement to the Times correspondent in this town, whose chronic twaddling in regard to navy yard matters long since ceased to interest even the most intense democrats here, for all on this side of the river have been made to feel the effects of niggardly democratic appropriations, and rejoice at the prospect of a revival of work, even if it is to be done with the disapprobation of the correspondent of your democratic contemporary.

THE SNOW BLOCKADE.

The gale of Friday, Friday night and Saturday forenoon caused more obstruction to travel than any snow storm of the season, the fine snow being whirled by the wind into drifts which neither horses nor railroad snow-plows could break through. The highways in the vicinity of this city were made almost impassable, and traffic with the country suffered very much in consequence. The mail from Newcastle was brought to this city on horseback, Saturday, the mail coach being unable to get along.

The Eastern railroad suffered greatly. Up to noon on Friday the trains got along pretty well; but at that time a freight train, which left Boston at five o'clock in the morning, on arrival at a point near Flood's lane, between Newburyport and Rowley, struck a drift that it could not get through. A second freight train soon came along, but the two failed to force a passage; and after the passenger train which leaves Boston for this city at a quarter past twelve o'clock arrived at the blockade, the three engines unsuccessfully essayed to break through. Two engines with a snow-plow were sent from Newburyport, but effected nothing. Train after train was stopped at stations on either side of the blockade; and it was not until after midnight that a large gang of men succeeded in clearing a way, and the belated trains proceeded. The train due in this city at three o'clock Friday afternoon, arrived between one and two o'clock Saturday morning; and all the other trains were many hours behind time. The train which left this city for Dover, Friday evening, got stuck somewhere near Dover point; the first train down over that branch arrived here about three o'clock Saturday afternoon, with two engines. At Biddeford, Me., Saturday morning, an engine struck into a snowdrift, throwing the packed snow back with such force as to smash the cab, and when the engineer arrived in this city he was sheeted in ice, and badly chilled. The Pullman train from the eastward, Saturday morning, was three hours late on arriving here, and was afterward stuck at Hayes' cut, near the Plains, delaying all other trains until about noon, when a passage was effected.

On the Boston & Maine railroad similar trouble was experienced, trains being blocked on the Newburyport branch, and on the main line near Exeter.

The Concord railroad was impassable during the greater part of Saturday; and the same story comes from the railroads all over the state. The cold was intense, and the snow packed in so that it was almost as hard as a floor, a very moderate depth sufficing to stop a snow-plow with a train behind it.

AROUND HOME.

The river was impassable for small boats on Sunday, owing to the immense quantity of floating ice.

Haverly's Colossal Colored Minstrels will give a performance at Music hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 8th.

The schooner Mary E. Smith, with 2000 lbs. of cod-fish, and the Telephone with 1000 lbs., arrived on Saturday.

The lighthouse steamer Mystic arrived at the Concord railroad wharf on Sunday from Chatham, Mass., bound for Portland.

A large gang of men was employed by the Eastern railroad on Saturday, shovelling snow from between the rails at Hayes' cut.

Miss Norah Bartlett is to appear in "The Guv'ner" with the the Boston Museum company at Franklin theatre on the 22d of February.

A dividend will be paid this week to the creditors of the estate of Davis, Moulton & Company, of which firm J. C. Carr was a copartner. The dividend is payable at Utica, N. Y. Creditors can obtain their dividends by leaving orders at William H. Hackett's office in the United States court house.

Mr. John L. Randall has purchased the grocery store and business of Asa Swett & Co., corner of State and Pleasant streets. Mr. Randall has had considerable experience in the business; for several years past he has been with Mr. Henry F. Gerrish, on Market square, and knows how a good grocery store must be kept.

The gang of men brought from Boston to this city last week to discharge a few hundred bales of cotton from a vessel into the Eastern railroad cars, returned to Boston on Saturday evening. The Portsmouth stevedores feel quite aggrieved at the bringing here of the Boston crew, as there are many old "cotton-jammers" at work along our wharves, and they say they offered to put out the cotton at a much less price than was paid the imported men.

There was another run of very low tides on Friday and Saturday of last week. On Friday the ledge between the south beacon and the island shew out of water in many places, and was quite bare for ten or twelve feet inside the beacon.

The Newmarket Advertiser reports scarlet fever as very prevalent in that town, though there have been no fatal cases as yet.

The flags on the fishing vessels in port, and that on the liberty pole at Liberty bridge, were displayed at half-mast on Sunday, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late John Dixon, whose funeral took place Sunday afternoon.

The river on Saturday was quite lively with floating ice. The lower harbor was packed full of it in the morning, so that the navy yard men living at Newcastle had to come to this city and take passage over by steamer, being unable to make a direct passage in their boats.

The Eastern railroad ran three extra freight trains each way between Boston and Portland on Sunday, to which were attached snow-plows and scrapers. The last storm caused a large amount of extra labor on the several roads, and the staving up of two engines on the Eastern road and one on the Concord road.

At Newmarket, Wednesday afternoon of last week, Deacon Thomas J. Haines attended a meeting of national bank stockholders, and on his return was about to put up his horse when the animal suddenly started, throwing Mr. Haines down, dislocating his right shoulder and bruising him considerably. He is nearly eighty years of age.

Jay Rial's Uncle Tom's Cabin company were at the Gaiety theatre in Boston all last week, and the Boston Post said:

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" draws at every performance large and delighted audiences. The Siberian bloodhounds create a decided sensation.

This company will play at Music hall on Thursday evening. See advertisement.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.
PONTIAC, Dec. 29th,
A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $20.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.
J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.
It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.
Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.
Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Person School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.
DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

"Now I See!"

So said the blind man after the Saviour had healed him. Actual blindness is not easy to cure, although it is sometimes done. But remember that disease of the eyes often result from impure blood. If you have any reason to think your bad eyes may have come from this cause, lose not an hour of time in buying a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy;" which will cost you only one dollar, and take it to cleanse your blood. You can implicitly trust it to this. Or drop a line to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. State your case fully and get the doctor's opinion free.

Circumstantial Evidence.

The danger of yielding implicit belief to a charge supported by purely circumstantial evidence, is not often better shown than in the following occurrence in a New York court-room: The culprit at the bar was a Mrs. Herrick. Mr. Elwell and Mr. Jenning charged her with having stolen a watch.

"Are you sure she stole it?" Justice Bixby inquired.

Elwell and Jenning then told the justice that on the 8th of November last they were attending a lecture in the Cooper Institute. Mrs. Herrick sat three seats away from them. At the conclusion of the lecture Elwell said he missed his watch. Miss Fanny Kleburg, a student, the daughter of a clergyman in New Haven, Conn., told him that she saw Mrs. Herrick pick the watch up. Elwell and Jenning then called upon Mrs. Herrick at her boarding house, and told her that Elwell lost his watch at the lecture and that she was seen to pick up a watch from the floor. Her answer according to the men's story was, "Yes, I did pick one up."

Elwell said to the justice: "I think that watch was mine; in fact, from what Miss Kleburg said, I am sure it was mine."

"What did she say to that?" Justice Bixby asked.

"She replied: 'I have the watch now. If you will give me the number or description of the watch you lost and it agrees with the one I have, I will give it to you.'"

"Did you do so?" the magistrate asked.

"No, sir; I could not. The watch I lost was a gold one, attached to a gold chain, and had a locket."

"What did you do then?" asked Justice Bixby.

"I went before Assistant District Attorney Rollins and made a formal deposition. He has all the papers in the case."

"Did you lose your chain and locket at the same time?" asked Justice Bixby.

"Yes, sir," Elwell answered.

"And do your witnesses say they saw her pick up the locket and chain?"

"No, sir; only the watch."

Mrs. Herrick was asked about the watch.

"Yes sir," said she to the justice. "I remember the occurrence. I have read of people falling among thieves, but I thought then it was all romance. Now I am beginning to learn that it might have been true. When my husband died he left me a gold watch. The Messrs. Johnson, ice dealers in Providence, know that. So does Rev. Henry Roberts of the Caldwell Congregational church. I kept my husband's watch in my trunk, very rarely carrying it. On the day mentioned I took it out of my trunk and set it. There was no chain attached to it. I carried it loose in my pocket, and during the lecture I took it out. In putting it back in my pocket it slipped from my hand, and I picked up. Since then, six different persons have called on me and asked me if I did not pick up a watch. To all, I said that I did. I am ready to prove that the watch I picked up was my own."

FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES.

Is a combination of Hypophosphites, originated by me in Canada while under the process of pulmonary consumption, and which has since been employed by the medical profession throughout America and England with unprecedented success.

It contains the elements essential to the animal organization, the oxidizing agents and tonics.

In combination with the stimulating agent phosphorus, possessing the merit of being slightly alkaline, and therefore in the convenient and palatable form of a syrup.

Its effects are usually visible within twenty-four hours and it marks, as a consequence of the appetite, the digestion and assimilation, entering directly into the circulation, it does the tissues not merely receive a temporary stimulus, but improves the system under prolonged use, and may be discontinued without the evil consequences of each.

In a word it possesses the stimulants to arouse the strength, the tonics to sustain, and both of a high degree. Very pleasant.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

AFTER THE THEATRE.

Ten dollars. Quite a sum to pay
For one who earns but four a day,
For just a single evening's fun.
It seems so, now the day is done.
Three for the carriage, for you know
I never could ask her to go
With that swell dress—the shade correct,
And train strung out a yard or two—
In a plain horse car. And so rice
She looked, I did not grudge the price.
Three more for seats—down center aisle,
And four rows back—just right for style.
The curtain rose. How time will pass,
While gazing through an opera glass.
The curtain fell. Once more we stood
Outside, and then the thought of food
Itself presented. She said, yes,
She felt quite hungry. You can guess
That what we ate, with just a bit
Of rosy wine to season it,
Used up that other four. Time sped.
I took her home. Good-night was said.
Then to my own home came I straight;
And here I sit and meditate.
The cash I had four hours ago
Is gone. I've naught for it to show.
Have I regrets for it? Not one.
Twas folly, but, by Jove, 'twas fun!

Martin Unseated.

On Saturday last the House of Representatives unseated Martin, republican member of Congress from North Carolina, and seated Yeates, a democrat, in his place. One reason for this action no doubt was because the democrats desired to reward themselves for their honesty in giving to Bisbee, republican, of Florida, the seat which no one ever pretended to believe he was not entitled to, and turning out Hull, democrat, from the seat which no one ever pretended to believe he had any just claim to. The vote on the Martin-Yeates case was a party one, except that Stephens and Felton of Georgia, and all the greenbackers except Ladd of Maine, voted with the republicans.

The democratic argument for the unseating of Martin was of the flimsiest character, and based entirely upon a technicality, such as will be presented as an argument in the famous Chalmers case in the next Congress. The democrats asserted that Yeates had a majority of 156, although some of the democratic members of the committee admitted that he could not properly claim, even on their own figuring, a majority of over ninety-two votes. To obtain even this result the democrats had to throw out the entire precinct of Mary Hill, in Bertie county, which had 108 republican votes. The reason assigned for this was that the ballots bore a distinguishing mark, the words "Republican ticket" being printed upon them near the fold. It was put in evidence that the ballots were so printed at the instance of the democratic counsel for the contestant, and that he in person distributed them among the ignorant colored republican voters for the purpose of raising the very technicality which was raised, and that he then induced the judges of election to reject the precinct. The democratic majority of the committee would not have been able to report in favor of unseating Martin, except by rejecting the entire precinct, for the democrats did not agree on a greater majority for Yeates than ninety-two, with the omission of this precinct. It appears, too, that in a number of strong republican precincts, the registrars being democrats appointed by the democratic state government, the polls were not kept open during the full time required by law, and that many republicans were prevented from casting their votes on this account. The trick in this delay in opening the polls was due to the fact that the democratic registrars appointed persons as judges whom it was known would refuse to serve, and that other appointments were made necessary. All the ballots from these precincts were thrown out too, for the reason that owing to democratic negligence or intrigue the polls were not kept open, all the ballots being republican! By this means the voters in several strong republican districts were disfranchised.

J. Q. A. Haddaway, Esq., of "Episcopal Methodist," Baltimore, Md., writes: "With much pleasure I testify to the good effects of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in my family. Have used it in many cases, and in each instance the result was entirely satisfactory." Price 25 cents a bottle.

SIR:—I have been using your medicine for over a year now and with the best effects. I have used 12 bottles of the Hypophosphites, and it has made a new man of me. I have been ailing over six years with a number of diseases, but lung difficulty was the most prominent. I have been under the care of a great many doctors, and have taken quantities of medicine without any apparent benefit, but appeared to be still growing worse and weaker until I accidentally came across one of your circulars, and was constrained to try your medicine, and I found its effects were almost magical upon me, and I was a surprise to myself and friends, having gained so rapidly in flesh.

I am respectfully,

News and Notes.

John W. Sickles, formerly commercial editor of the Chicago Times, attempted suicide on the 29th ult. by cutting an artery of his left wrist at a Chicago hotel. His wife and children left him two months ago, on account of his improper attention to a widow named Elizabeth A. Hall, with whom he has since lived; she died a few days ago, and her loss had unsettled her paramour's mind. He is in a critical state, but may recover.

In a fight at a dance near Plattsburg, Mo., early Friday morning, a young man named Buck McClellan was killed by a companion named Bell. No arrests have been made.

Subscriptions amounting to $250,000 have been taken at Chicago in the new telegraph enterprise, and a party interested has gone to New York to secure further amounts.

G. A. Parks, agent for the Commonwealth Distribution lottery of Kentucky, was arrested in Chicago, Saturday, on the charge of selling lottery tickets in violation of Illinois laws.

Charles Boerner, an aged German, purchased at a banking house in Philadelphia, Saturday, two $1,000 and nine $100 bonds of the Pittsburg, Titusville & Buffalo railroad. Shortly after leaving the bank, three men crowded close by him, and when he recovered from his surprise the bonds were gone. There is no clew to the thieves.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gerrish, aged seventy-four years, widow of Frank Gerrish, a soldier of 1812, was burned to a crisp Saturday morning in her house at East Salisbury, Mass., through her clothes igniting from matches with which she was trying to light a fire. She lived alone, and was found dead Sunday afternoon by a brother from Seabrook.

Mrs. Almena E. Wright of Brockton, Mass., has died, it is stated from the effects of an abortion. She was acting as housekeeper for Deacon John W. Curtis, who is charged with being the cause of her trouble; and a physician, Dr. Geo. E. Freeman, is also alleged to be implicated as performing the operation.

A young man called at a jewelry store at Pittsfield, Mass., one evening last week, and wanted to take three gold watches home to select one, which he was to give to his sister, soon to be married, as a bridal present. He said he was the son of E. B. Wilson, principal of one of the schools in town, and the watches were given him to be returned in an hour. It was afterward found that Mr. Wilson had no such son, and the young man had decamped with his booty—about $150 worth. Officers found that he left on the evening train for Boston.

Theresa Curry, about thirteen years of age, daughter of Patrick Curry, the father of a large family of children, living at Milford, Mass., attempted to kindle a fire in a stove Wednesday evening of last week, with the aid of kerosene. The child was burned in a horrible manner, and died. The child's mother, in attempting to extinguish the flames, was badly burned on one of her arms. Another child of the same family was also burned severely, but will probably recover.

A despatch from Bradford, Pa., says that a party of citizens from Kinzua went to see a well torpedoed. Forty quarts of nitro-glycerine were put in a barrel to be thawed by steam. It exploded, shivered the engine house and derrick to splinters, tore Andrew Laster, the engineer, to pieces, killed by a missile J. O. Cushing, one of the spectators viewing the scene from a distance, and hurled fragments that struck and seriously injured F. M. Blystere, John Franklin and Peter Sweeney. Cushing was postmaster at Kinzua.

On Saturday evening the residence of Wiley Emery, a wealthy stock farmer, about four miles east of Caryville, Ky., was discovered to be on fire, and before the neighbors could reach the scene, the house was burned to the ground. Nothing could be seen of any members of the family, nor were any cries heard, but the dead bodies of all the members of the family, consisting of Mr. Emery and his seven children, three boys and four girls, were found in the ruins. Some days ago Mr. Emery sold several thousand dollars worth of stock, and was known to be keeping the money in his house. It is supposed that the family were murdered, and the house robbed and then set on fire.

As an express train was approaching the station at Athol, Mass., Saturday afternoon, it struck the horse and sleigh of James Stevens of North Dana, injuring Mr. Stevens so that he lived but a few hours, and instantly killing the horse.

The post-office at Vassar, Mich., was robbed, Friday night, of money, stamps, etc., to the value of $2,000.

New Hampshire Items.

The state hatching house at Plymouth has just received 50,000 eggs of the salbling or salmo salvertinus, known in Europe as the red trout. They were given by the German government to Prof. Baird, United States fish commissioner, and by him given to the state of New Hampshire. They are, when hatched, to be placed in Lake Winnipesaukee. They are a very fine table fish, and this is the first attempt to introduce them into this country. They spawn in streams, increase rapidly, and often weigh twenty-five pounds.

The thermometer at Concord was six degrees below zero, Saturday morning; the wind was still blowing, and railroads were all blocked. No trains were in on the Peterborough, Concord & Claremont, Concord & Portsmouth, North Weare, Suncook Valley, or Lawrence railroads, on time.

Wedding in Indianapolis.

The marriage of Mr. Elbridge Gerry, Jr., of New York, and Miss Jessie Sharpe, of this city, occurred at the residence of the bride's father, Thomas H. Sharpe, on North Pennsylvania street, last night. About one hundred invitations had been issued, and the guests included a number of prominent society people from this city, Lafayette, and New York. The wedding was comparatively a private affair, no attempt at great display being made, but all the appointments were in perfect taste, the decorations and costuming being particularly brilliant and elegant. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Myron W. Reed, of the First Presbyterian church, the attendants being Miss Bessie Gerry, sister of the groom; Miss Jennie Wilson, of Lafayette, and Misses Mamie Harrison and Lulu Allen, of this city. There were no gentlemen as attendants. Messrs. Will J. Brown, George Porter, John Landis and Walter Bradshaw, however, acted as ushers. The numerous friends of the contracting parties testified their regard by numerous and elegant presents, as well as by sincere congratulations. The bride has been one of the most attractive ladies in Indianapolis society, and her absence will be felt. Mr. and Mrs. Gerry will leave for the east this afternoon.—Indianapolis Journal, Jan. 26th.

—American news via Paris Figaro: Most horrible! An accident atrocious comes to have place on the line of the Great Northwestern, at the States United. Two trains are encountered themselves shocked, and so for to say re-entered the one in the other in leveling himself completely. There does not rest of a survivor many more than "a mechanican. Arrived at the station, we do not know how, all the world throws itself on him; we interrogate him, feverishly. Him, very calm: "Oh, there has not had large thing—the two trains have made telescope!"

—In Adair county, Mo., the other day, two young men concluded to have their pictures taken with pistols drawn at each other. They had each cocked their pistols, and while the photographer was arranging them in a proper position one of the pistols was discharged by him, the ball striking the man opposite just above the left lung.

—It has been decided by a Brooklyn church that playing cards isn't wicked, and two-thirds of the congregation have quit using them.—Post.

—Nothing would give the people of this country more pleasure than to hear that Vennor had frozen his ears two feet deep during the last cold spell he predicted.

—A Virginia man has read nothing but the Bible for ten years past. There is no objection to that style of reading so far as it goes, but it didn't make him up to steering clear of a mowing machine swindler and a lightning rod agent, who bled him about $500. A wicked newspaper would have told him to take his dog and a pitchfork and chase the rogues three miles across a stumpy swamp.

—An Ohio paper proposes to number the hours of day and night consecutively from one to twenty-four, or from midnight to midnight, thus doing away with A. M. and P. M. in railway time-tables and elsewhere. The advantage of the proposed new method says that there is no more reason for having two twelve o'clocks in one day than there is for two twelve-mile posts on a twenty-four mile railroad.

—An aged colored man living in a suburb of St. Louis had been praying for several months that he might be allowed to vote for Garfield. He was very feeble, and his friends had not thought it possible for him to live until election day; but on the 2d of November he tottered to the polls, and stepping to the window, gave his name. The ballot was received by the judges, duly marked and deposited in the box. Satisfying himself that his vote had been properly registered and disposed of, the old man turned to go home, but before he had taken a half dozen steps he suddenly reeled and fell dead. He had his wish.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercles from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 29th, 1879.
JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered more uneasiness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)
JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

AROUND HOME.

One of the fish tanks belonging to Maj. David Urch's aquarium was carried away by the ice on Sunday, floated up the river, and smashed; part of it has been recovered.

There was a brilliant dispay of the aurora borealis, Monday night. We believe this is held to presage a decided change in the weather; hope it isn't going to be decidedly colder than it has been.

The Dover Democrat, in an account of the running over of two dogs by a Boston & Maine railroad train in that city last week, says: "Parts of the brutes' bodies were dragged five hundred years." Don't believe it.

Professor Oscar Faulhaber, teacher of modern languages at Phillips academy at Exeter, has been invited to give his two lectures on the "German Empire" and the "Republic of France" in this city. It is proposed to have these lectures given early in March, and of the precise time due notice will be made.

By a decision of the supreme court in favor of D. E. Smith of South Newmarket, fourteen cottages at the Methodist camp grounds at Epping, belonging to private parties, and the well owned by the Hedding Camp Meeting association, must be forthwith removed. Among the cottages is one belonging to Gov. Head.

On Monday a friend of the Faith Home handed to Mr. C. E. Myers, treasurer of the board of trustees, his check for $500, to be applied towards the liquidation of the mortgage still resting on the property. A few more similar gifts would make the property free from debt, which the friends of the Home are very anxious to see accomplished.

The "Jollities" are to be at Music hall on the evening of Feb. 22d, with the "Electrical Doll." The company number eighteen persons, each one an artist, and are now doing an immense business in New York. Their season in Boston closed to packed audiences. This company is not the party of amateurs who played here a year ago.

Mr. Eugene Foote had his right hand badly jammed, Monday forenoon, while coupling cars on the Eastern railroad. His brother, Mr. Frank A. Foote, met with a similar accident some months ago. Both brothers were insured in the Travelers' Life and Accident company, of Hartford, Conn., Messrs. Morse & Tisley agents, and have alike received benefits for their investments.

On Sunday afternoon the schooner Vanguard, of Gloucester, Mass., on coming into the lower harbor on the ebb tide encountered a large field of pack ice, which swept her on to the sand flats on the west side of Gerrish's island, between Wood and Fishing islands. The United States tug Leyden went to her assistance on Monday, hauled her off the sands, and towed her to the navy yard, well enveloped with ice. No damage has been discovered.

Mr. Morris C. Foye commences his third annual sale of Hamburgs this day. These goods are made on the best of muslin, with the patterns closely wrought, and are as cheap as inferior qualities. Mr. Foye also has one of the finest assortments of Swiss embroideries, excelsior trimmings, ruffings, laces, etc., to be found in the city. Ladies will find Mr. Foye and his clerks willing to show goods even if costumers are not ready to purchase. See advertisement.

The new anti-cruelty society at Dover is starting in well. On Friday last, at the instance of members of the organization, one Frank Meserve of Madbury was before the Dover police court on a charge of working a horse unfit for labor, and was held in $100 for trial at a higher court.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet arrived Monday morning, light. She has been engaged during the winter in haddock-fishing for the Boston market, and having received good prices for her fares, has realized a handsome dividend to the men, who claim to be high line of the fleet that sails from this port. Since the 9th of December she has stocked $2600, and divided $106.04 to each man.

The arrivals of fish on Monday were as follows: Schooner Lady Thorne, 4500 lbs.; Josephine, 3000; Flying Eagle, 3000; Cosmos, 5000; Northern Eagle, 12,000 lbs.

The price of fish on Monday was two dollars per hundred pounds.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

Mrs. Adams conducted the gospel temperance meeting, Saturday evening. There was a very good attendance, and the service was interesting throughout.

Their was also a very good audience present at the bethel service Sunday afternoon. After the preliminary exercises, Mr. Horace Frye conducted the regular social service; remarks were made by several friends of seamen. In the audience we noticed a number of hardy fishermen, which is always a welcome sight in the bethel service.

The reform club held a full meeting and interesting service Sunday evening; address by Prof. Vose, phrenologist. L.

PORTSMOUTH BRIDGE.

Mr. Editor: I understand that orders have been issued in regard to toll arrangements at Portsmouth bridge, which are causing the citizens of Portsmouth and Kittery, and the officers stationed at the navy yard, a great deal of inconvenience. The stock, or a controlling interest at least, as I understand, has passed into the hands of parties out of the state, who have no interest in our community and do not care how much trouble they may cause the travelling public. Is it not time that the states of New Hampshire and Maine take some action toward freeing the bridge, and thus put a stop to a tax upon every person coming to or going from the city of Portsmouth. B.

"CRAWM."

The word "crawm" or "crom" does not appear to be recognized by lexicographers, yet it is used in common parlance in seaport and fishing-towns along the Atlantic coast of the United States. It is a technical term of fishermen, and is used to designate such fish as are not considered to be first class; in fact, a mixture of all sorts.

It may be remembered that some five or six years ago this winter, during the season of Lent, a cold spell intervened and a great many fishing vessels were frozen in on the New England shores. At this juncture Mr. Elvin Newton of this city received a considerable quantity of frozen "crawm," consisting of small cod, sow-hake, cusque, etc. Not knowing how to dispose of them, Mr. Newton after some coaxing prevailed upon one of his employes to accept them as a gift. The next day there came a telegram from a Boston fish-dealer, stating that there was but a small quantity of fresh fish in the market, and that if Mr. Newton had on hand any fish of any sort, he had best send them to Boston, to be sold on shares. Having once bestowed the "crawm" on a donee, Mr. Newton considered himself in honor bound to purchase them before reshipping them. On the other hand the donee, not considering them to be his own lawful property, and wishing nothing, had to be coaxed into taking fifteen dollars for them. About twenty-five dry-goods-boxes filled with this crawm were forwarded to the Boston dealer, and the sales netted the original holder two hundred and forty-five dollars. V.

MATTERS IN RYE.

RYE, Jan. 31st.

Brethren! take note, that when the sturdy yeomanry of this hamlet by the sea decline to haul seaweed or venture out of doors to trade cows, even when the sky is cloudless and "old Sol" pouring down his refulgent rays, you may make up your minds that there is a full sized "blizzard" in active operation all along the line.

That such was the case on Friday last, even "Old John,"—the white horse that through sunshine and storm has daily, Sundays excepted, for the past eight years been the motive power to convey the mail from Rye Centre to Greenland depot—admitted, and for once he mildly protested against performing his undoubted duty; but a little mild persuasion convinced him of his error, and he bravely floundered through the snow drifts and reached the depot in good time. When the wind is blowing at the rate of fifty miles an hour, and there is eleven feet of light snow on the ground, and the thermometer is down to zero, there is no fun in taking a sleigh-ride from Rye Centre to Charley Garland's store—even providing that the road is passable, which is not always the case. Only two sleighs passed the post-office on that day, and but very few pedestrians were seen.

Saturday morning the mail started at the usual time, but had to turn back after proceeding a short distance, and go via the Lang and Lafayette roads, which were comparatively free from drifts. On arriving at the depot it was found that no train had got through from the east, and no news from the train from Boston, but at about eleven o'clock a snow plough and engine was discovered coming from the south, and shortly afterward the Boston train arrived. They soon left to go east, and during the afternoon probably got to Portsmouth, although they must have been delayed as it was reported that three trains were at that time stuck in the snow at Hayes' crossing.

The return from the depot was accomplished by the usual route, but a large amount of shovelling had to be done before the road was made passable. There are big drifts all over town; the travelling is simply horrible, and likely to be so for some time to come.

Not many people out to church Sunday. It does not require any great shakes of a storm to induce the average citizen to "stay home from meeting," and a few flakes of snow were all that was necessary on this occasion.

If there should happen to come a Friday evening in the not remote future when the elements and travelling will permit, the members of the "Musical Society" which met and reorganized some weeks since will assemble at the town hall for their first rehearsal.

Prof. Harrington, who is about the only showman who succeeds in drawing a full house here, is to give an entertainment Wednesday evening, Feb. 9th.

Rev. Mr. Haynes of North Hampton is to deliver a lecture under the auspices of the Martha Washington society on the 14th inst.; subject, "Problems of the future."

The Christian society are to have a festival, so it is reported, some time during February.

John E. Leavitt, proprietor of the Washington house, arrived home from Florida on Monday last.

That part of Rye bordering on Sagamore creek and near Newcastle bridge, is evidently not a good place to raise calves, if the experience of Capt. Charles Odiorne is anything to go by. During the past two years six of that species of property belonging to him, have come to untimely ends. Lightning struck two, and a dog or dogs made veal of the remainder. The captain did not look in vain to the selectmen of the town of Rye for compensation for the havoc made by the dogs, but as to the equivalent for the pair deprived of breath by electricity, no record has as yet been made.

Readers of the States and Union have probably by this time come to the conclusion that "Harry," who writes from Washington such readable and spicy letters, and in alluding to the colored element in our population always uses two g's, is somehow or other down on that race, or at least on the large proportion of it which stays at the capital. Perhaps the inference is wrong, but it does certainly look that way. NAT.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The bell presented to the Congregational society of Eliot by Mr. John R. Hanscom was raised on the new church on Wednesday of last week. Its weight is a thousand pounds, the pitch B-flat, and the tone richer and clearer than that of the old bell which was burned with the church last April.

A man by the name of Daniel Banks, formerly of York, fireman on the towboat Joseph Banks, was drowned in Boston harbor on Thursday night of last week. It is supposed that Banks in attempting to board the tug fell into the water, and was so quickly benumbed by the cold as to be unable to give an alarm.

On Thursday of last week a bill was reported to the Maine legislature, and passed, by which that portion of Berwick lying south of the old line of the Boston & Maine railroad was set off to South Berwick, which town is to pay $750 as its proportion of Berwick's town debt, in return for the slice of territory received from Berwick.

The following list is given of natives of York county now holding responsible positions under the management of the Boston & Maine railroad: J. T. Furber, general superintendent; William Smith, master mechanic; Orrin Hamilton, E. Weymouth, A. Hamilton, H. Gilman, C. E. Stevens, George A. Ricker, John J. Thompson, Melvin Loud, conductors; Daniel B. Smith, Moses Smith, Woodbury Bennett, engineers.

—Col. Blanton Duncan predicts the destruction of the world by cold, though the Bible says the world shall be burned up. It is believed that the Colonel has later information.

SOME FACTS!
NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE, BUT HOME TRUTHS!
IT DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, say sophistication in medicine or aliment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S
Electric Oil!
is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $30.00 worth in a day. No listering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alchol, capsicum nor water. Not a drop! Pleasant and
SOOTHING INSTANTLY,
even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.
200 Doctors say so.
It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself. PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,
A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.
J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.
It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.
Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 25 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frost-bite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.
Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Person School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.
DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian not could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.
CHEAPEST IN THE WORLD!
as it is not mixed with water, nor turpentine. Beware of counterfeits without our "Trade Mark" on back of each bottle. Wholesale agent for Portsmouth and vicinity,

Naval Gazette.

Capt. S. B. Luce is detached from command of the Minnesota, Feb. 15th, and placed on waiting orders.

Capt. Ralph Chandler is ordered to the command of the Minnesota, Feb. 15th.

It is stated that a number of prominent members of the pay corps of the navy have associated themselves together for the purpose of testing the validity of the action of the secretary of the navy in restoring to the navy list the name of Paymaster Edward Bellows last year. They have decided to apply for a mandamus in the proper court to require the secretary to show cause why Bellows' name should not be omitted from the list, as it was previous to the action of Secretary Thompson.

United States flagship Shenandoah, Admiral Bryson, was at Montevideo Dec. 16th, and the steam corvette Marion, Commander Bunce, left that port on the same date for a summer cruise to the south seas, calling at the Falkland islands, and Punta Arenas in the Straits of Magellan. She will be absent about four months.

—A Jersey man who attended prayer meeting with his daughter, felt compelled to rise up and remark: "I want to be good and go to heaven, but if those fellers don't stop winking at Mary there will be a good deal of prancing around here the first thing they know."

—A conceited young country parson, walking home from church with one of the ladies of his congregation, said in allusion to his rustic audience, "This morning I preached to a congregation of asses." "I thought of that," observed the lady, "when you called them your 'beloved brethren!'"

—General Hazen, the weather prophet, recently received a home thrust from an unexpected source. His only child, a boy just four years old, remarked, gleefully: "I say, papa, you's a big fraud." "My dear," said his pretty mother, "you must not talk so to your papa." "I mut," emphatically answered the child, "Mr. — told me I mut, 'cause my papa maked such drefful bad weather."

WHAT HAPPENED TO
MR. JOSEPH BEACH.
Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 15th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

2d A NNUAL SALE.

Daily Chronicle.

A Tale of the Ocean.

In the shipping columns of the metropolitan daily papers, under the heading of "Disasters," can almost any day be seen brief items something as follows:

LIVERPOOL, 10th.—Bark Blank, Jones, New York for Glasgow, was abandoned lat. 44 N., lon. 60 W., dismasted and waterlogged. Crew saved—landed here to-day by ship Nonesuch. The ship had to lay by nine hours to take crew off—sea very heavy.

These items are set in the smallest possible type, and tucked away as if they were of no consequence; and yet many of these brief records allude to deeds of cool daring and self-sacrificing humanity worthy a world-wide fame. A recent rescue of a shipwrecked crew, which was noticed in the shipping lists by a three-line item, is thus described in an English paper by an eye-witness:

The Parthia lay hove to for six hours. At ten o'clock at night the gale broke, the wind sensibly moderated, the steamer was brought to her course and went rolling heavily over the immense and powerful ocean swell which the cyclone had left behind it. Sunday morning came with a benediction in the shape of a warm, bright sun. But the swell was still exceedingly heavy. It was shortly after two bells (nine o'clock,) when the look-out man reported a vessel away on the lee bow, apparently hull down. As she was gradually hove up by the approach of the Parthia, those who had sailors' eyes in their heads perceived that she was a vessel in distress, and that if any human beings were aboard of her their plight would be most miserable. She was water logged, and so low in the water that she buried her bulwarks with every roll. She had all three masts standing, but her yards were boxed about anyhow, her running rigging in bights, with ends of it trailing overboard. Her canvas was rudely furled, but she had a fragment of a foretopmast staysail hoisted, as well as a storm staysail, and she looked to be hove to.

Her aspect, had she been encountered as a derelict, was mournful enough to have set a sailor musing for an hour; but when it was discovered that there were living people on her she took an extraordinary significance. No colors were hoisted to express her condition; but then no colors were needful. Her story wanted no better telling than was found in the suggestion of the small crowd of human heads on her deck watching the Parthia; in the dull and deadly lifting of the dark volumes of water against her sides, in the gushing of clear cascades from the scupper-holes as she leaned wearily over to the fold of the tall swell that threatened to overwhelm her, and in the sluggish waving of her naked spars under the sky.

Twenty-two people could be counted aboard of her. All these had to be saved, but it was very well understood by everyman belonging to the Parthia that they could only be saved at the risk of the lives of the boat's crew that should put off for them; the swell was still violent to an extent beyond anything that can be conveyed in words. As the Parthia, with her propeller languidly revolving, sank into a hollow, a wall of water stood between her and the bark and the ill-fated vessel became invisible; then in another moment hove high, the people on board the steamer could look down from their poised deck upon the half-drowned hull and the soaked, clinging and pale-faced crew as you look upon a housetop in a valley from the side of a hill.

The serious danger lay in lowering a boat. But Jack is not of a deliberative turn of mind when something that ought to be done waits for him to do it. Volunteers were forthcoming. The order was given. Eight hands sprang aft and seated themselves in the lifeboat, and the third officer, Mr. William Williams, took his place in the stern-sheets. It was one of those moments when the bravest man in the world will hold his breath. There swung this boat's crew at the davits; the ends of the falls in the hands of the men waiting for the right second to lower away. One dark green feamless swell, like a huge mountain of water, rose and sank below; too much hurry, the least delay, any lack of coolness, or judgement, of perception of the exactly right thing to do, and it was a hundred to one if the next minute did not see the boat dashed into staves and her crew squattering and drowning among the fragments. The due command was coolly given; the

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

sheaves of the fall-blocks rattled on their pins and the boat sank down to the water's edge. A vast swell hove her high, almost to the level of the spot where she had been hanging, and quick as mental hands can move the blocks were unhooked—but only just in time. Then a strong shove drove her clear, and in a moment she was heading for the wreck—now vanishing as though she had been wholly swallowed up by the tall, green, sparkling ridge that rose between her and the steamer, then tossed like a cork upon a mountainous pinnacle, with half her keel out of water.

She had been well stocked with lines and life-buoys, for it was clearly seen that the pouring waters would never permit her to come within a pistol-shot of the bark, and the suspense among the passengers amounted to an agony as they wondered within themselves how those sailors would rescue the poor helpless creatures who watched them from the foamy decks of the almost submerged wreck. They followed the boat vanishing and reappearing, the very pulsation of their hearts almost arrested at moments when the little craft made a headlong, giddy swoop into a prodigious hollow and was lost to view, until presently they perceived that the men had ceased to row. It was then seen that the third mate was hailing the crew of the bark. Presently they saw one of the shipwrecked sailors heave a coil of line towards the boat; it was caught, a life-buoy bent on to it and hauled aboard the wreck. To this life-buoy was attached a second line, the end of which was retained by the people in the boat. One of the men on the wreck put the life-buoy over his shoulders and in an instant flung himself into the sea, and was dragged smartly but carefully into the boat. The Parthia's passengers now understood how the men were to be saved. One by one the shipwrecked seamen leaped into the water, until eleven of them had been dragged into the boat. This number made a load, and, with a cheery call to those who were to be left behind for a short while, Mr. Williams headed for the steamer.

The deep boat approached the Parthia slowly; but, meanwhile Captain McKaye's foresight had provided for the perilous and difficult job of getting the rescued men on board the steamer. A whip was rove at the foreyard-arm, under which the rising and falling boat was stationed by means of her oars; one end of the whip, knotted into a bow-line, was overhauled into the boat and slipped over the shoulders of a man, and at a signal a dozen or more of the Parthia's crew ran him up and swayed him in. In this way the eleven men were safely landed on the deck of the steamer. The boat then returned to the wreck, the rest of the crew were dragged from her by means of the buoys and life-lines, and hoisted, along with six of the Parthia's men, out of the boat by the yard-arm whip. But not yet was this perilous and nobly-executed mission completed. There was still the boat to run up to the davits. All the old fears recurred as she was brought alongside, with Mr. Williams and two men in her. But Jack has a marvellously quick hand and a steady pulse. The blocks were swiftly hooked into the boat, and soon saw relieving tackle was rove to the davits, and the strong running pull of a number of men, before the swell that followed her could rise to the height of the chain-plates.

To appreciate the pathos and pluck of an adventure of this kind, a man must have served as a spectator or actor in some such a scene. Words have but little virtue when deeds are to be told whose moving powers and ennobling inspirations lie in a performance that may as fitly be described in one as a hundred lines. Such as remember the faces of those shipwrecked Englishmen and Canadians; the aspect of them as they were hoisted, one by one, over the Parthia's side; the bewildered rolling of their eyes, incredulous of their miraculous preservation; their expression of suffering, slowly yielding to perception of the new lease of life mercifully accorded them, graciously and nobly earned for them; their streaming garments, their hair clotted like seaweed upon their pale foreheads; the passionate pressing forward of the crew and passengers of the Parthia to rejoice with the poor fellows over their salvation from one of the most lamentable dooms to which the sea can sentence, will wonder at the insufficiency of this record of as brilliant and hearty, though simple, a deed as any which makes up the stirring annals of the maritime life.

The "Bark and Bloody Ground."

At Louisville, Ky., Saturday night, the jury in the case of Buford, who murdered Judge Elliott, returned a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity. A despatch from Cincinnati to the Boston Journal says: "The acquittal of Col. Tom Buford, the Kentucky judge-slayer, has occasioned profound surprise here and in Kentucky. The ground of acquittal was insanity, and the principal evidence adduced in support of the theory was that he was a violent and a sentimental man; that he was accustomed to go and weep over his sister's grave, and swear vengeance against her enemies; that he thought Jesus Christ and Napoleon Bonaparte the two greatest men that ever lived; and that he has a propensity for shooting people who differed with him. The murder was the most atrocious in the bloody criminal annals of the state, and the few journals and public men who have been laboring to bring about a higher regard for human life and more prompt punishment of murderers, are much discouraged at the verdict. There have been several hundred murders in Kentucky during the past ten years, and in that time not a single white man has suffered the death penalty for one of them. Buford will be sent to a lunatic asylum for a short time, for appearances."

This Buford, it will be remembered, had a case in court; before the case was put on trial he publicly declared that if a decision was not rendered in his favor he would murder the presiding magistrate; and an adverse verdict being returned, the ruffian did shoot his unarmed victim dead as he left the court house.

News and Notes.

A Lowell firm has taken a contract from the United States government to dump 50,000 tons of rocks, weighing from a quarter of a ton to five tons or more each, on a line from the beach point of the Salisbury side of the Newburyport harbor mouth out to the north breaker a distance of about a mile. The rocks a the foundation are to lay fifty feet wide, tapering to fifteen feet wide at the top. The government appropriated $50,000 last year for this purpose, and $100,000 is looked for this year.

Elsie A. Chase, aged thirty years, died suddenly at Providence, R. I., on Friday evening, under circumstances so suspicious that the police are investigating. She was some time ago married to a Swedish farm laborer, but the marriage was not recognized by her family.

Two Bridgeport, Conn., bootblacks were among the gayest at a fashionable masquerade there recently, but engaging in a fight their masks were torn and their identity revealed, to the intense disgust of the aristocracy present.

By the derailment of one passenger and twelve freight cars at Gibsonville, N. C., Sunday night, the conductor and fireman were killed, but the passengers escaped injury. He belongs in Newburyport.

Albert Bray, clerk in a Newburyport grocery store, a day or two ago undertook to hurry up a slow fire by pouring kerosene on it, and now has less skin on his face than formerly, and much shorter eyebrows and lashes.

There is great excitement and alarm in England, caused by the posting of placards throughout Ireland, and in the Irish centres in England and Scotland, Saturday night at midnight. The supreme council of the Irish Republican Brotherhood, commonly called the Fenian organization, has issued a proclamation commanding the people to remain quiet, and not be induced to create any present riots or disturbances. The proclamation commands them to "watch and wait until the hour of action comes." It is said that this proclamation was drawn after grave deliberation and consultation with the Irish leaders in America, Scotland and England.

The annual report of the Maine railroad commissioners states that the railroad business of the state is in an exceedingly prosperous condition; that the Old Orchard Beach railroad is the only new road built during the year past, and that there are now 1,030 miles of railroad in the state. They also give in detail a description of the condition of the various roads as to their equipment and management, complimenting one and all for the excellent showing that they are making.

A female patient escaped from the Danvers, Mass., insane hospital last week, and a male attendant was sent after her. He overtook a woman, whom he at once seized for the fugitive. The woman thought the man was an escaped lunatic, and the man was sure the woman was. He insisted upon taking her to the hospital, where it was found that the escaped patient had only run round the building and come in at another door. Of course explanation and apology followed.

Ten years ago the present site of Birmingham, Ala., was a cotton field. Now it is a brisk manufacturing town, with a population of 6000, and bright prospects for the future. So much for manufacturing industries.

New Orleans had an inch of snow, on the 23d of January, the largest fall in fifteen years. There were a few flakes of snow on the same day in Galveston, Texas, after which came a little sleet.

A Fort Buford (D. T.) despatch says the surrender of fifty-one lodges under Crow King and Lone Day, recently reported, proves to be only nominal, as they are still in possession of their arms and ponies, and have not moved them from the south of the Little Porcupine.

New Mexico detectives have ascertained that Col. Potter of the United States geological survey, missing since October, was murdered and robbed by three Mexicans while on duty in the field. One of the murderers was hanged a few days ago for horse stealing, and another, who is believed to have belonged to the gang and been a party to the murder, is now under arrest at Albuquerque.

How Diphtheria may be Spread in Schools.

It is not alone by the breathing of infected air that diphtheria may be communicated from child to child at school. Indeed, those who deny that the air is often or ever a medium of communication of the disease, and who are at all familiar with the thoughtless ways of little children in school, must yet recognize that the possible means of communication by almost direct contract are many. Who has not seen a schoolboy with his mouth full of marbles just taken from a mate? children often borrow and lend pencils, which by instinct they wet in the mouth or hold in the mouth; they borrow sponges of one another to wipe their slates, which they moisten with saliva. In so democratic community as a primary school-room it is a common thing for all the children of the room to drink from the same cup; their clothes hang in close contact in closets and ante-rooms. They manifest their likes and dislikes by biting or refusing to bite from the same apple; and little girls often pledge eternal friendship by that classic symbol, "sharing gum." Though these things may occur outside the school, they are the more frequent the more children are brought together, as they are in schools.—Sanitarian for February.

On Wednesday next, Feb. 9th, in the presence of both houses of Congress, the electoral votes will be counted, and James A. Garfield and Chester A. Arthur declared elected President and Vice President of the United States for four years from the 4th of March next.

A joint stock real estate association has been formed in New York with a capital of $225,000, to own land and buildings to be leased for stores. Among the projectors is Jacob Wendell, Esq., a capitalist of the Empire City, who began his business career as clerk in the counting room of Hon. Ichabod Goodwin in this city.

Uncle Tom's Cabin will be presented at Music hall on Thursday evening, it is claimed in such a manner as never before in this city. The company is said to be a large and strong one, and among the accessories are scenery brought by the company, a trick donkey, and a pack of trained bloodhounds. The price of tickets is placed low; see advertisement.

Miss Sarah Loveland of Newmarket started from Boston on Monday afternoon for San Francisco; at the latter place she will take steamer for the Sandwich islands, where she intends to remain about two years as a teacher. She goes out in company with Rev. Wm. H. Woodwell of Newburyport, a missionary, his wife and two children, and Miss Sarah E. Small of Oldtown, Mass., who like Miss Loveland is a teacher.

Very many of our business men are suffering from colds. They say the Eastern railroad is responsible for this. It is a well known fact that Salem and Lynn people on entering or leaving railway cars never close a door after them. With cars heated to a high temperature, persons at Salem and Lynn entering and leaving the train always leaving the doors wide open, no matter how cold it is. The railway managers ought to see to this. Sometimes a considerate brakemen closes a door after a train starts, but he only to be found upon one platform. It is annoying to see well dressed, apparently intelligent and respectable persons invariably pay no attention to the comfort of their fellow travellers, by the careless way in which they allow cold air to rush through the cars by leaving doors open at either end.

Last Sunday afternoon Moses Kenney of Nottingham arrived at Silver's hotel in Newmarket in a rather benumbed condition, covered with blood and having several severe cuts and bruises about his head and body. He stated that on Saturday night he and William Pendergast started from Epping to go to Kenney's house at Nottingham. They had liquor, and on the way, somewhere in Lee, they got into a fight, and Pendergast using a beer bottle inflicted injuries as above. Kenney will probably lose an eye, besides being badly frost-bitten. Pendergast's whereabouts are unknown.

The Concord & Portsmouth railroad suffered considerably in rolling stock from last week's snow blockade, besides the cost of extra labor for cleaning the tracks, and the interruption of traffic. On Saturday, in attempting to force a passage through a drift near Jones' pond in Raymond, the snow-plow left the rails, and was followed by the locomotives Stickney and Peaslee. The Stickney ran into a ledge, and was completely wrecked; the Peaslee fell on its side close to the pond, and was badly damaged. Several of the men had narrow escapes, but no one was injured to any extent worth mentioning.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

D. F. Libby's grocery store at Biddeford was burned on Saturday. Loss $1200; insured.

An old wharf at South Eliot, built over a hundred years ago, and which was in a good state of preservation, was carried away by the ice on Sunday. Some of the old residents in Eliot say that there is more ice in the river now than there has been at any time since the year 1857.

YORK CORNER, ME., Feb. 1st.

Last week Mr. Geo. N. Hooper lost a valuable cow, and on the same day Mr. Charles H. Junkins suffered a similar loss.

Mr. Wm. P. Titcomb, superintendent at the alms-house, has lost a valuable horse. The animal broke a leg prancing in the yard. The veterinary surgeon, J. D. Bragdon, Esq., deemed it advisable to have the animal killed, which was done.

Daniel Banks, aged eighteen years, a son of Mr. John Banks of York, was drowned at Boston on the 27th ult. He attempted to step on a tug boat, on which he was employed, and missing his footing fell overboard. The body was recovered next day and brought to York, where it was interred on Sunday. Mr. Banks lost another son about two months ago, aged about twenty-five years. He has also lost within a few years, three grown daughters, one of whom was married and had a small family of children.

J. D. Bragdon, Esq., has a cow which has recently produced, in seven days, just three pounds of gilt-edged butter.

The Verdict.

The coroner's jury appointed to investigate the cause of the fire at the county farm of Strafford county, have reported. They find that the fire was caused by one of the furnaces, which was known to be out of repair; and that the greatest neglect was in the want of water, and they severely censure the county representative delegation for not providing an abundance of water, which could have been easily done. They also censure the county commissioners for not providing a watchman, and neglecting to keep the furnaces in repair. They find that after the discovery of the fire, everything possible was done to rescue the inmates.

A Californian Storm.

A despatch to San Francisco from Santa Cruz, Cal., dated Jan. 30th, says: "Camp Capitola, on Soquel creek, four miles from Santa Cruz, has been washed out to sea, only four houses being left of the town. No lives lost. At Oroville the railroad is submerged a long distance. The damage cannot be ascertained until the water goes down. At Windsor, Sonora county, thirteen inches of rain fell in seventy hours. Much damage is sustained by the people in that vicinity. In Placerville, Eldorado county, in twenty-four hours up to noon to-day 7.6 inches of rain has fallen. From other places in the northern part of the state come almost incredible accounts of the amount of rain fall during the storm. Eight Chinamen, cutting lumber on the line of the South Pacific Coast railroad, near Dougherty's mill, were buried alive yesterday by half a mile of mountain sliding down. Eighteen were employed, and but ten escaped."

A Sacramento despatch of Jan. 31st says: "The levee has broken three miles below this city, in two places, and much damage to farms and orchards will follow. The water is backing up toward the city. The levees around the city are all right, and no danger is apprehended. A number of extensive crevasses have occurred on the opposite of the river in Yolo county, and much damage is reported. The losses at present are roughly estimated at $1,000,000. The river is twenty-six feet above low water mark, the highest ever attained."

Spirituous Statistics.

A recent number of Bonfort's Wine and Liquor Circular contains a table of the numbers and capacity of the grain distilleries in operation on the first day of this year, from which it appears that Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio taken together can daily turn out of their distilleries 392,334 gallons of liquor, against 93,435 gallons contributed among twenty-one other grain-distilling states. New York distils less than Nebraska, Missouri or Maryland, and only exceeds California by about 600 gallons. Oddly enough North Carolina is credited with 218 out of the 656 distilleries of the Union, and yet those 218 distilleries together only have a daily capacity of 2,689 gallons. Massachusetts and New Hampshire have not lost the traditions of the old New England rum. They run only seven distilleries, but produce 7,868 gallons. Maine and Vermont have no distilleries.

The following conditions of peace imposed by Chili upon Peru and Bolivia are published: "The surrender of the allied fleet and the payment of an indemnity of $30,000,000, whereof Peru shall assume $20,000,000 and Bolivia $10,000,000. Chili to occupy Callao and work the guano deposits and copper and saltpetre mines, until the full payment of indemnity is made."

A Scoth minister once said no woman could bear pains well as a man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her hand by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, says he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his "Favorite Remedy" to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" at one dollar a bottle is the thing for female weaknesses and all complaints arising from bad blood. But that Scotchman was mistaken.

SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,

BUT HOME TRUTHS!

It DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, any sophistication in medicine or aliment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $50,00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alchol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself. PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Forson School; Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

Good Words for a Good Thing.

The papers are so full of exaggerations about all sorts of things that it is hard to believe. Yet all things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be, and deserves the praises that are showered upon it from all who have used it. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with salt rheum from head to foot. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your druggist or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

WHAT HAPPENED TO
MR. JOSEPH BEACH.
Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.
One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Edge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 1872, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.
By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.
Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.
Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?
If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tuberccle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and intercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons affected as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

The Boston Gold and Silver Mining Company.

The success of this company is now fully assured. The consolidation of the many diffent claims has been accomplished. The development work has been accomplished energetically, ecomically and with intelligence. The mines are on producing, self-sustaining basis, and only wait milling facilities of a capacity corresponding with the output of the ore, to become dividend-paying. The stock commands a steady and gradually appreciating price on the board, and the buyers largely outnumber the sellers. Messrs. Goff, Hastings & Co., the company's financial agents, have displayed commendable energy and ability in its management, and have fought for and won an honorable triumph during a period of great depression in mining affairs. The success of this company having been achieved to the satisfaction of those interested and to the credit of the mining industry, other enterprises of like character became possible, enlarged experience serving to round the corners and smooth the road of future enterprises. The question then presented itself whether they would bring forward other consolidations, organize new companies, and divide their energies among the different undertakings, or, planting themselves upon their first great venture, the Boston Gold & Silver Mining company, concentrate their energies upon the one scheme and make it the leading company of America. Several of the gentlemen connected with the company have been in times past identified with railroad schemes of considerable magnitude, and more familiar with the great railroad consolidations and combinations of the last quarter of a century. They could see that the same plan of absorption that had proved successful in railroad management would prove equally successful in mine management. Great corporations could swallow up little ones with benefit to both. They resolved, therefore, that the Boston Gold & Silver Mining company, already the owner of groups of rich mines, in number sufficient for half a dozen of the ordinary companies of the day, should inaugurate the absorption policy and purchase and control other great mines in different parts of the state. The plan was feasible, practical, sensible, and the intelligent management at once took the initial step in carrying it out. The first movement was to secure the co-operation of Colonel R. W. Thyng, one of the oldest, most experienced and successful mining men in Colorado, who had accumulated a large fortune in legitimate mining enterprises, and whose record for honesty, integrity and ability was unquestioned. The colonel entered into the scheme with his accustomed energy, and backed his labor with a large amount of money, which he invested in the stock of the company. He is to be made vice-president of the company and managing director in the field of one of the new enterprises. Colonel Ware has already shown his ability as a manager, the success of the Boston Gold & Silver and the Breckenridge Smelting companies being in a degree due to his efficient superintendency. The plan of one great company with two such managers in the field is certainly more sensible than a half-dozen companies with one superintendent to direct the development of all their practical work, as has been the custom heretofore. Mr. Edward H. Goff will continue in the presidency, the board of directors being fully satisfied with the past ability displayed by him. He possesses the intelligence, coolness and energy requisite in the head of an executive body, and has earned the confidence alike of the gentlemen with whom he is associated in the management, and the public. Since the absorption and enlargement policy was adopted several properties have been under consideration, with the view of adding them to the list of the Boston Gold & Silver company's mines, and Goff & Thyng will go out to Colorado next week to make a personal examination of the properties offered, and also to carefully inspect the mines now owned and being worked by the company. They will be gone several weeks, and will look the state over as far as permitted by snow and lack of transportation.—Boston Advertiser, Jan. 29.

Do not trifle with a cough, cold or affection of the throat, lungs or bronchial tubes. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a positive cure and prevents consumption.

—A russet apple tree in Skowhegan, Me., was planted in 1762. In its branches a play-house for children has been built for half a century or more. The tree is seven feet from the ground to the branches, five in number, all of which are very large and average thirty-five feet in diameter. It is more than four and one-half feet in diameter, and has yielded an average of thirty bushels of apples, each year. A sprout from this apple tree stands thirty-two feet from the parent stem, but is forty-eight years younger.

Two Years Ago!

John A. Hornstein, of Decatur, Ill., fifty-seven years old, had a wife nineteen years of age. He was jealous and abusive, and she left him. On the 1st inst. he stabbed her and then beat her on the head with an iron kettle; and then shot himself in the head twice, and finally cut his throat with a common wood-saw.

My wife has been troubled with biliousness, bloating of stomach and bowels, swelling of the limbs, constipation for years, but all has vanished from the use of three bottles of D. R. V. G. Dyspepsia Remedy.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1881.

Judge Lowell's Bankrupt Law.

Judge Lowell's draft of a bankrupt act seems to meet approval on all sides. Congressmen who may presume that they know more about the workings of the law than does the learned Massachusetts jurist, may wish to show their powers by proposed modifications; but the bill as submitted to Congress has the unqualified endorsement of the leading mercantile men and the ablest commercial lawyers of the country. It is this, perhaps, that may prevent its passage; if it is too good a measure it may be lost amid the political and personal legislation that accumulates towards the close of a short session.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1st.

There is plenty of evidence here that the change of administration which will take place on the fourth of March next will be a significant point in the history of the government. In the north attention has been given for years to southern political affairs, and the south has been unwilling in resisting what it deemed unwarrantable Federal interference in its affairs. How far either section has been justified in the course it has pursued is not a question necessary to be considered now. Every one knows that mutual distrust does not aid in establishing friendly relations, and that the continued prominence in politics of those sectional or party questions on which congressmen and governors have been elected, and presidential elections decided, has not only interfered with the consideration in Congress of business interesting to the whole country, but has delayed the return of good feeling among the people. In effect, a supposed political necessity has been allowed to interfere with the legislation of the country and with the natural growth of good feeling between people who have fought each other. There is plenty of evidence that President-elect Garfield understands this, and that he will attempt to substitute educational, postal, commercial and industrial questions for those now brought forward whenever an election is to be carried. No one thinks the general less a republican than he was one year or ten years ago, but neither is it doubted by any one that he recognizes as at hand the time when old questions will settle themselves if let alone, and other subjects brought forward.

It is therefore the earnest wish of his special friends—and I may say of those democrats who regret the present bitterness and sectionalism of politics—that an extra session shall be avoided. A few democrats who live only by reason of the present unsettled condition of affairs, and some republicans who fear that President Garfield will overlook them and their friends in the distribution of offices, are, on the other hand, equally desirous of perplexing the early days of his administration by forcing a re-assembling of Congress next summer. Hence the failure to push forward the appropriation bills, the funding, re-apportionment and other measures deemed by the country to be of importance. A really small minority, made up of members of both parties, is powerful enough, under the rules of the House, to delay business. In a week past the House really did nothing of importance except to vote on amendments to the post-office appropriation bills, and this in face of the fact that on the last day of January not a third of the work which ought to be done during the session had been completed in either House. This week it is believed the executive, legislative and judicial bill will be reported the House. After that will come the river and harbor, sundry civil, general deficiency, and agricultural bills.

News and Notes.

Patrick Hayes and John Sullivan were blown to pieces in New York, Jan. 31st, while blasting for a sewer.

Three men who were in jail at Albuquerque, N. M., for the murder of Col. Charles Potter in October last, were lynched by a mob on the night of Jan. 30th. They had confessed the crime, and the body of the murdered man had been found at a spot designated by one of the murderers. Col. Potter was a step-son of Ex-Gov. Van Zandt of Rhode Island, and was engaged in the service of the United States geodetical survey. The motive for his murder was robbery.

The steamship Roraima went ashore at Shark river inlet, N. J., Feb. 1st. Her captain refused all aid from the life-saving crews. She is an English vessel, and it was supposed she would become a total loss.

February opened throughout Vermont, New York and most of the western states, with a heavy fall of snow, and in many places it was the heaviest fall of this winter. High winds prevailed, and the snow drifted badly. In many places the drifts were twenty feet deep, and the trains were badly delayed; on some roads the trains had to be discontinued altogether. At midnight on the 1st the thermometer was below zero at most of the signal stations in the north.

Joanna Callahan, aged seventy years, and her son William, aged thirty, were burned to death in their house in Boston on the morning of the 2d inst. Seven years ago a daughter of Mrs. Callahan's, aged twenty-five years, was burned to death in a cotton mill on Adams street, Dorchester.

The town of Plymouth, N. C., was destroyed by fire Feb. 1st, only two buildings (a freight house and store,) being left standing. Loss $127,000.

The Elmira (N. Y.) Gazette tells the story of an unused Erie railroad ticket. It was bought July 3d, 1866, by a man who had some years previously left his father's home at the age of twelve. He missed the Erie train, took one on the Central, fell into conversation with a fellow-passenger who turned out to be his father, who had supposed him dead and had made a will giving all his property to a nephew; a reconciliation was effected, a new will made, and now the purchaser of the unused ticket is one of the leading citizens of Buffalo.

Miss Anna Maria Hall, the authoress, wife of S. C. Hall, the well-known author, to whom she was married in 1824, is dead. Her maiden name was Fielding. Her first work, "Sketches of Irish Character," appeared in 1828. With "The Buccaneer, Mrs. Hall made her debut as a novel writer, in 1832. It was quickly followed by "Tales of Woman's Trials," "The Out-law," "Uncle Horace," "Lights and Shadows of Irish Character," and "Martin; or, a Young Maid's Fortunes." She also contributed very largely to periodical literature. She was the authoress of several books for children, among them "Daddy Dacre" and "The Prince of the Fair Family." Mrs. Hall also wrote several temperance stories and sketches.

Gov. Head was a hard worker at the recent fire at Wilton, where he had been attending the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Hon. Charles H. Burns. On hearing the alarm he immediately dressed and went down town, helped haul the "tub" to the river, and worked at pumping for two hours as hard as any of the boys.

Richard Taft, the well-known proprietor of the Profile house, lies dangerously ill at Littleton.

Mr. Calvin B. Hill has resigned the presidency of the Indian Head national bank of Nashua, a position which he has held since March, 1870. Other and important business demands his time.

A citizen of Nashua maintained and provided with all the comforts of life an orphan girl for nearly eight years, and when a few days since her uncle died, worth $80,000, it was found that he had willed $79,950 to foreign and domestic missions, and the balance to his poor niece.

A resolution has been introduced into the city government of Concord, instructing the mayor to close up all liquor saloons in the city. It will not be acted upon until the last of the month, when it will probably pass, and it looks as if a liquor crusade will be inaugurated.

The Otterson foundery at Nashua, concerning the business of which there has been considerable controversy and embarrassment, was started up on Monday, Jan. 31st, when nearly all the old hands resumed work. Mr. Mark R. Buxton has become sole proprietor.

AROUND HOME.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Music hall tonight—specially-prepared scenery, trick donkey, blood-hounds, and large company of actors. See advertisement.

Mr. Oliver K. Lucas had a fall at the Eldredge brewery on the 1st inst., and was so badly hurt that he was unable to work for two days, though no permanent injury is anticipated.

One of the high school pupils, who lives in Newcastle, arrived at the school on Wednesday of this week with both his ears badly frozen, he having walked the entire distance from his home. The frozen appendages were thawed out by the application of snow.

There is something very like a water famine prevailing, and much apprehension is felt concerning what might be the result of a fire at the present time. A gentleman residing on Langdon street came into our office on the 2d inst., and filled a gallon can with water to take home for drinking.

At the county representative convention at Dover, on Tuesday of this week, it was voted to rebuild the county farm buildings. The new building will be constructed on the most approved plan, and provided with every means to prevent a repetition of the late disaster. There was considerable opposition to rebuilding, many advocating a return to the old town system.

Mr. Thomas Lees of this city went on a smelting exhibition to Great bay, Monday of this week. He found the ice two feet thick, but managed to cut a number of holes, though he could not catch a single smelt. The scarcity of these fish in the bay is supposed to be owing to the drought, which causes them to ascend the rivers to find fresh water. The eels in the bay are reported as being unusually large and fat.

John Murray, the actor who appeared in this city as "Constable Hook" some weeks ago, was arrested in Fall River, Mass., a few days since, on a board bill contracted ten years ago, the amount of the debt, with interest, being $162. Mr. Murray was also arrested in this city on an old debt, at the time he was here. He is a fine actor, but his habits were so irregular years ago that he got in debt almost everywhere; he has since reformed, we believe.

William Pendergast, the person involved with Moses Kenney in a fracas on the highway in Nottingham on Saturday night, the 29th ult., as before reported, turned up Monday near the South Lee depot, in a worse condition than Kenney. It appears that they had a fight as to which road to take in going to Nottingham. Both were intoxicated, and finally got lost. All of Pendergast's extremities were badly frozen, and he is in a terrible condition. The amputation of one hand, and possibly one foot, will be necessary. He has been sent to his home in Epping.

On Wednesday of this week the high school presented Mr. Clarke with a beautiful edition of Hawthorne's complete works, consisting of six elegantly bound volumes. The presentation took place just after the school had assembled for rhetorical exercises, which occur the last hour of each Wednesday. Master Carter of the graduating class spoke for the school, expressing much regret that Mr. Clarke's health was not such as as to warrant his continuing in his present position. The recipient was completely surprised, but feelingly thanked the school, and stated that he should probably have opportunity to say more to them before leaving. Mr. Clarke is to remain until his successor is appointed.

The Cocheco river is frozen over down to Dover point.

Messrs. Randall & Caswell, the oldest fish-buying firm in this city, say that in their business experience they have never known fish to be so scarce at this season of the year as they are now.

The locomotive "Stickney," which was demolished at Jones' pond in Raymond on the 29th ult. through getting off the track, had served the Concord Railroad faithfully for twenty-five years.

Captain Becker, of the schooner W. B. Keen, is having cod-nets made, which will be ready for the spring fishing. This is the only vessel regularly fishing out of this port that has yet decided to adopt this mode of catching fish.

It has been reported during the last week that another cargo of cotton will soon arrive at this port, for the Great Falls corporations. The cargo of cotton which recently arrived has been distributed to the mills at Newburyport, Lewiston, Me., and Great Falls.

Ala Bundi, the youngest of the band of Hindoos who appeared at Music hall in this city some weeks ago, died in New York on the 27th ult. She was between fourteen and fifteen years of age, and the wife of the oldest man in the company. She died of paralysis of the heart.

Wednesday, February 2d, was a very cold day. At daylight the thermometer indicated eleven degrees below zero at the Creek, ten degrees below on Water street, and eight degrees below at Noble's island. At the CHRONICLE office, at four o'clock in the morning, the temperature was one degree above zero; at sunrise, two degrees below. At the navy yard, at four o'clock in the morning, four degrees above; at sunrise, zero.

The arrivals of fish on Wednesday were as follows: schooner Hattie N. Reed, 2000 lbs.; Mary E. Caswell, 1500; Flora Temple, 1200; Comet, 2000; Mary E. Smith, 1500; Celia, 2500; Josie Johnson, 500; and the Magellan Cloud, 8000 lbs. Many of the boats have their trawls set, and those that have not been able to haul them, will meet with more or less losses. The light fare of the schooner Flora Temple was owing to the losing of trawls.

A novel sight was presented to persons who saw the arrival of the fishing vessels which came up the river on the 2d inst. One could almost credit the stories of the existence of phanton vessels plowing the ocean. The hulls, and all the fore part of the vessels' decks from their foremasts to the end of their bowsprits, were covered with ice from one inch to six inches thick. The schooner Magellan Cloud, of Gloucester, the last arrival, presented a spectral appearance; her hull, deck, masts and rigging to a height of ten feet above her deck, were completely enveloped with thick ice; and navigating any craft under such conditions seemed almost an impossibility. The lower harbor, on account of the large mass of floating ice, was not safe for the anchorage of vessels, and those which did not come up to the wharves, anchored outside of Fort Constitution. The strong wind broke up most of the ice during the day, and navigation was much easier afterward.

PORTSMOUTH BRIDGE.

Mr. Editor: In the CHRONCLE of the 1st inst. I noticed a communication signed "B.," which places the Portsmouth Bridge Co. in a wrong light before the public. The company's stock is owned by the railroad, as it has been for some years, and there has not been any advance in tolls. Where it seems to trouble "B." and the naval officers most is that the Bridge Co. have caused all persons who are in the habit of paying yearly, to pay in advance, as they have had trouble in several cases about collecting their past dues. They have made arrangements to have the year end the 1st of October. JUSTICE.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 1: Batchelder, J.

Jeremiah Murphy, drunk, fine $10, costs $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

James Smart, drunk, fine $3, cost $6.90; county farm.

Clarence Cavitt, brawl and tumult, fine $2, costs $6.90. Appealed, and ordered to recognize in $100 to prosecute the appeal at the supreme court in April at Exeter.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION.

The Rockingham County Musical Convention at Music hall last year was so decided a success, in the pleasure afforded large audiences and the enlarged interest in musical matters infused into the community, that the managers have decided to make the institution a permanent one, and the second annual convention will be held in Music hall from the 14th to the 18th days of February, inclusive, winding up on the evening of the 18th with a grand concert. The soloists engaged embrace such names as Miss Fannie Kellogg, Mrs. C. A. Sinclair, Miss Emma J. Flanders, Mrs. Ella Cleveland Fenderson, W. C. Tower, Geo. J. Parker, G. W. Want, John F. Winch, D. M. Babcock, and others equally well known, the whole under the direction of Prof. S. B. Whitney. The programme embraces two rehearsals, a concert by the Schubert quartette and soloists, and the grand oratorio of "The Messiah" on the closing night. Season tickets, annitting to all the concerts and rehearsals, with reserved seat, $2. See advertisement.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mrs. Bigelow Lawrence will not visit York the coming season, as for several years past, but will make a trip to Europe.

The roads in Kittery, Eliot and York are filled with snow, in many places to the tops of the walls, making travel inconvenient and in some localities dangerous.

Mr. Daniel Beadle of Kittery point received serious injuries of the legs and hips by a tree falling on him on the 28th ult. He was carried home, and has since been confined to his bed.

The ball was hoisted at the navy yard on the 2d inst., for the first time in three years, to notify the workmen that on account of the intense cold there would be no work on the yard that day.

Mr. G. Everett Hammends of Eliot started westward on the 31st ult., to enter the employ of the New York, Erie & Western railroad as civil engineer. He will be stationed in the vacinity of Buffalo, N. Y.

Messrs. Cottle & Son, of Kittery, have a gang of men stripping the Grant lot of eight acres at the point, which they recently purchased. The logs are being hauled to Spruce creek, to be afterward brought to this city and sawed into lumber.

A gang of men on Monday commenced clearing away the snow and debris from the well at the Paul farm in Eliot where the gold mine is situated, preparatory to commencing work as soon as the weather moderates. A party of prospectors were viewing the premises last week, and thought from all indications that it would be a paying mine. The ledge runs in the direction of the river. The neighbors are to look for a find on their lands as soon as the spring opens. We are informed that a liberal offer has been made for several acres where the well is. ***

—Chicago is the only American city in which Bernhardt has not, thus far in her tour, been assailed from the pulpit, and her receipts there were the smallest.

SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,

BUT HOME TRUTHS!

It DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, any sophistication in medicine or ointment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $50.00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alcohol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Ferson School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

CHEAPEST IN THE WORLD!

as it is not mixed with water, nor turpentine. None genuine without our "Trade Mark" on back of each bottle. Wholesale agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

may not work injury to people when they relate to matters of little consequence, but when entertained as to what we shall take when afflicted with serious disease they may lead to dear experience. Don't therefore trifle with diseases of the blood manifested with eruptions, blotches, scrofulous and other swellings and grave symptoms, but take that well tested and efficacious remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the greatest blood-purifier of the age. If the bowels are very costive use also Dr. Pierce's Pellets (little sugar-coated pills).

CURES FEVER AND AGUE.

DR. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I write this to inform you that my child, one year old, has been permanently cured of the fever and ague in a weeks time, and the use of but half a bottle of your Golden Medical Discovery. My wife a long sufferer from liver complaint and billiousness, by the use of the Discovery and Pellets has been entirely relieved. The Discovery has never disappointed us for coughs and colds.

Yours truly, JAMES STRICKELL.

It costs to cut ice on the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers from fourteen to twenty-two cents a ton; fifty cents to load it on vessels, and about $1.50 to freight it to market.

OVERWROUGHT AND FEEBLE NERVES are quieted, digestion promoted, and the system strengthened, by the Liebig Co's renowned Coca Beef Tonic.

As the seashore train for New York was nearing Kingston, R. I., on the 1st inst., both connecting rods of the locomotive broke, and the engineer, Owin T. Moriarty, was so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. He is one of the oldest and best engineers on the road.

Grandmother Says!

A recent arrival at San Francisco from Samoa reports the death of King Milaetos, Nov. 8th. The country is in a state of anarchy, except the neutral territory governed by the consuls of the United States, Germany and Great Britain.

The Greatest Care

should be taken in preparing medicine for the sick. It has been taken in the article known as "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading druggists and grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

Three children of Rev. Manning Hunter (colored), in Sumter county, S. C., were burned to death Sunday night, Jan. 30th, in a fire caused by a kerosene lamp explosion. The father was away preaching, and the mother was also absent.

For five years I have been troubled with constipation, liver and stomach troubles, coupled with loss of memory and sleepless nights. Two bottles D. R. V. G. have made me a well man and a happy one.

Corn for Fuel.

There are places in the west and northwest where scarcity of fuel has forced people to burn corn again this winter. The frequent recurrence of the fuel famine in those places leads a correspondent of the St. Paul Pioneer Press to suggest what he calls a practical solution of the problem. Coal cannot be found, and the use of wood will soon exhaust the available supply of that article; corn is the only substitute, and must be the fuel of the future. For stoves it is superior to any other substance, hard coal alone excepted, and it is cheaper than anything that is likely to be used for fuel. Two or three acres of corn will afford an ordinary family a year's supply of fuel; and this writer alleges that the same corn sold in the market, and the proceeds turned into either wood or coal, would not begin to do it. Of course he speaks of the far northern prairies. Corn may be used in either a wood or coal stove without any change of grates, and makes a steady, hot fire, which can be regulated as readily as a coal fire. Two bushels of corn in the ear, it is estimated, will keep a comfortable fire the coldest day in winter. Regarding the squeamishness about burning an article that is used for food, the writer says pointedly: "I would sooner burn an acre of corn that can be replaced in a single year than to burn an acre of timber that it takes years to replace, even on the score of sentiment." There is common-sense in this. If it is cheaper for the people on the fertile prairies to raise their fuel as they do their food, and save what little timber they have for other purposes, sentimental squeamishness should not deter them from doing so. More cooked food is daily thrown away than would feed the hungry poor, and it is done without compunction. While there can be no excuse for this wastefulness, there is good reason for burning corn when it is of more value as fuel than the proceeds would be if used in the purchase of wood or coal.

The "Granite Monthly" for January is on our table. It opens with a portrait and sketch of Hon. Geo. B. Chandler of Manchester, by J. N. McClintock. The other articles of interest are, "Removal of judges," by Hon. Geo. W. Nesmith; "Mines and mining at Surry mountains;" "Chester," by Benj. Chase; "Dartmouth college," by Rev. S. C. Bartlett; and "Reminiscences," by Joseph W. Parmelee.

WHAT HAPPENED TO
MR. JOSEPH BEACH.
Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.
One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.
By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.
Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years as severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed) JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

Great Flood in California.

A despatch from San Francisco, dated Feb. 2d, says: "The flood in Sacramento river culminated this morning at Sacramento, the water being within a foot and a half of the top of the levees. The levee below the town broke, and the country is submerged. Washington, Yolo county, opposite Sacramento, is inundated. The damage in both cases is enormous. The entire Sacramento valley presents the appearance of an inland sea, numberless houses have been swept away, but fortunately the loss of life is so far reported very small. The hills, high ground and levees in the overflowed district are covered with live stock, and there is a great demand for boats to save what cattle, sheep, etc., remain, as a great number have been drowned. It is raining on the Sierra Nevadas from Plumas to Calaveras counties, and there is an immense deposit of snow. Should the rain extend high up in the mountains, another flood is probable. Should it come on top of the already immense body of water in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, there is no telling where the inundation would end or the destruction of property stop, as the water now covers places that were never overflowed before." A Maryville despatch reported the levees there so saturated that they could stand but little more strain, and the river was still rising.

Heavy Betting.

Frank Work of New York, owner of the trotting horse "Edward," some time ago wagered $20,000 to $10,000 that his horse could beat Foster Dewey's "Richard," Louis Lorillard backing the latter horse. The race is to come off on the first Wednesday in June at the Hartford, Conn., trotting park, to be mile heats, to harness, best three in five. On the 1st inst. Work offered to wager another $20,000 to $10,000, and if this offer is accepted it will be the heaviest betting on a trotting match ever recorded.

Don't ruin your health, and besides, make yourself disagreeable to other people by your continued coughing. A twenty-five cent bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure you. At all druggists.

The New York Times announced on Feb. 2d that the entire amount of the $250,000 Grant fund had been raised. Mackey of California, Jay Gould and Wm. H. Vanderbilt, each subscribed $25,000, and Sidney Dillon $10,000.

No, Sir!

A Scotch minister once said no woman could bear pains well as a man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her hand by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, says he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his "Favorite Remedy" to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" at one dollar a bottle is the thing for female weaknesses and all complaints arising from bad blood. But that Scotchman was mistaken.

In several places in Vermont and northern New York the temperature was forty degrees below zero, on the 2d inst.

Congress.

In the Senate, Feb. 2d, a bill was reported appropriating $100,000 to enable the secretary of the navy to fit out a vessel to search for the ship Jeannette, supposed to be lost or ice-bound in the Arctic regions.

Senator Morgan called up the caucus electoral count joint rule, and after a protracted debate it was adopted. It provides as follows:

The two houses shall assemble in the hall of the House of Representatives, February 9th. Lists of the electoral votes shall be made by two or more tellers on the part of the House, and one or more on the part of the Senate. The totals for each presidential and vice-presidential candidate (except the votes cast for the state of Georgia seven days after the time prescribed by the federal law) shall be handed to the president of the Senate, and he, as the presiding officer of the joint convention, shall announce the results in the same way in which the results were announced under similar circumstances in 1819, 1856 and 1869, when the electoral votes of the states of Missouri, Wisconsin and Michigan were found to have been cast on days other than those fixed by the general law. The announcement according to this arrangement would be a hypothetical declaration as to what would be the total for each candidate "if the votes of Georgia be counted," but it is to be provided that this hypothetical declaration shall be supplemented by announcement by the presiding officer that, "in any event, James A. Garfield and Chester A. Arthur have received a constitutional majority of all the electoral votes, and are duly elected President and Vice President."

In the House, the joint resolution was passed appropriating $40,000 for a monument to commemorate the battle of Bennington.

The Halifax Swindle.

Mortimer M. Jackson, United States consul general at Halifax, N. S., has made to the state department a report strongly corroborating the statement of Prof. Hinds that the Dominion government purposely and shamelessly falsified the fishery statistics presented to the treaty commissioners. Mr. Jackson's report was made Nov. 17th, before Prof. Hinds' specified charges were made public, so it cannot be called a mere imitation of the Canadian professor's statement. Consul Jackson makes the following points:

The value of the fisheries of the Dominion in 1879, as reported by the Canadian statistics, is exactly double that of 1870. The schedule of the fishery products specifies sixty different kinds of fish, including all the river fisheries; so it seems that the river fisheries of all the Canadian provinces and Prince Edward Island were included as a basis of the Halifax award. As to the mackerel fishery, which is of the most interest in the United States, Consul Jackson says that there is a material difference as to the entire value of the Dominion mackerel fisheries of 1871, as set forth in the annual report of the minister of marine and fisheries, and the statement of the fishery commissioner, Mr. Whitcher. The minister gives the total value of the mackerel fishery for that year at $2,870,807, while the fishery commissioner reports the total value for the same year as $1,353,306, making a difference in value of $1,517,501. In the estimates which follow, the government takes the value of the fishery commissioner as the one that is correct, showing that the minister's estimates were $1,000,000 in excess of the product of any year between 1869 and 1879. A comparison of the Canadian official labels shows that, taking the period from 1873 to 1879, the mackerel bears in point of value to the total fish product a proportion of less than one-seventh. In view of this fact Mr. Jackson concludes that there must be a radical error in the estimates of the Dominion officials as to the aggregate value of the fisheries of the Dominion. The total value of the mackerel fisheries from 1873 to 1879, the Canadian fishery commissioners put at $10,543,975; while the Canadian government, in its official returns, reports the value of exports of mackerel to the United States for the same period at $5,559,229. It assumes that half of the mackerel caught in the Dominion waters, as compared with the quantity exported to other countries, is consumed in the Dominion, yet the principal dealers say that the consumption of pickled mackerel as compared with the amount exported is merely fractional, and that the number of barrels sent from the maritime to the upper provinces is not one in twenty of the quantity exported. From these facts Jackson concludes that the total catch has been greatly overestimated.

Jackson produces statistics to show that, in the year 1879, (in which the largest total catch of fish ever made in the Dominion was reported,) while the Americans engaged in Canadian in-shore fisheries lost money, Canada saved under the operation of the treaty, by the remission of duties on fish and the products of fish exported to the United States, not less than $350,000.

Consul Jackson says that the Canadian fishery statistics are of no importance as showing the value of the treaty concessions made by Great Britain to the United States respecting the colonial in-shore fisheries. This is a diplomatic form of stating that the official reports of the Dominion government on the subject are not true; and if they are false, of course they were, during that period, and have been since, falsified for a purpose. Mr. Jackson also expresses the opinion that the American fishermen will be compelled to abandon the in-shore fisheries on account of want of profit, and to limit their fishing to their own coast and shore and the Newfoundland banks.

Naval Affairs.

Pay Inspector Crosby is ordered as inspector of provisions and clothing at the Washington navy yard, and Paymaster Caswell ordered to continue on duty as paymaster.

By the death at Albany, N. Y., on January 22d, of Miss Caroline Quackenbush, daughter of S. P. Quackenbush, U. S. N., inherits $70,000; his nephew, John N. Quackenbush of the navy, one-third of that amount; the wife of Lieutenant Davis, U. S. N., a son of the late Admiral Davis, $70,000.

The Alliance will shortly proceed to New Orleans.

Fleet Engineer F. M. Gunnell is detached from the Asiatic station, and will return home without waiting relief.

Rear Admiral Clitz, commanding the Asiatic station, left Shanghai in the Richmond on January 4th for Hong Kong. The Swatara left Yokohama on January 3d for Kobe, Japan, where she would remain about two weeks, and then proceed to Nagasaki, Japan, where she will remain for the present. The Alert is at Hong Kong. The Ashuelot is wintering at Tientsin. The Palos is still at Shanghai. The health of the squadron is excellent.

New Hampshire Telegraph Company.

At the annual meeting of this company, Ex.Gov. P. C. Cheney, Hon. J. M. Parker and James Baldwin were chosen directors, and subsequently P. C. Cheney was elected president and general manager, and Walter T. Holt treasurer and clerk. This company has a line of telegraph to West Gofistown and Shirley Hill from Concord, and is authorized by its charter to make extensions to any point in the state, making connections with Maine, Massachusetts and Vermont. Its authorized capital is $50,000. During the past season Bell telephones instead of Morse instruments have been used on the line, and it is probable that extensions will be made in several directions the coming spring, either by the present owners or some of the opposing companies which are moving to secure the valuable franchise contained in the charter.

News and Notes.

The town of Franktown, Nevada, was swept away on the 2d inst., by the bursting of a reservoir. The pond was a mile long, three-quarters of a mile wide and fifty feet deep, and all the houses in its path went away like chaff. No lives were lost, the inhabitants having timely warning. Nearly a mile of the Virginia & Truckee railroad track was destroyed.

Small pox has been raging in Jefferson, Union county, Dakota, for several weeks. The population consists mainly of French Canadians. There have been over ninety cases, and between thirty and forty deaths; whole families have been swept off, and in some instances the dead were unburied for days.

Steamship Bristol City, an English vessel, sailed from New York on the 28th of December for London with a cargo of oil-cake, cheese, etc., and has not since been heard from. She is supposed to have gone down with all hands.

It is said that Mr. Walter A. Andrews of Beverly, Mass., who with his brother William crossed the Atlantic in the smallest boat that ever crossed those waters, has been obliged to give up his business on account of sickness, and may never recover. He has been failing ever since his voyage to Europe about two years ago in the Nautilus.

One of the bills which have passed the lower branch of the Maine legislature is designed to prevent accidents resulting from jumping on and off moving trains. It provides a penalty of thirty days imprisonment and a fine of $50. If the offender is killed or maimed for life by his carelessness, it is presumed that he is exempted from the penalty on the ground that he is already sufficiently punished.

At Princeton, Ill., two couples went sleigh riding. A bottle of whiskey was frequently passed around, and the sport was further enlivened by the firing of pistols. They were found lying in the road, the two men insensible from drink, one girl dead from a bullet wound, and the other badly wounded.

A Portland, Me., paper of Feb. 2d says: "We understand that a series of petitions have been or will be presented to the legislature from Waldoboro' and several other towns, urging that body to enact a law preventing the seining of mackerel off our coast. The Portland and other coast fishing towns will present remonstrances to these petitions, on the ground that the mackerel are in great plenty and are not diminished, or the mackerel interests impaired, by the seining; that the mackerel fishing of Portland last year amounted to half a million dollars, one firm alone putting up 20,000 barrels; and that, as the treaty with Canada permits the seining of mackerel within three miles of the shore, if the act petitioned for is passed, the result will be that our fishing schooners will simply go under the English flag and continue the business, thus putting more of our commerce under foreign colors."

AROUND HOME.

Three of the crew of the schooner Magellan Cloud, which arrived on the 2d inst., were frost-bitten.

Mr. J. E. Lord, of Providence, R. I., will give a public reading in the Court street Christian church on Monday evening, Feb. 7th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The schooner Anna H. Mason arrived on Thursday, the 3d inst., with 6000 lbs. of cod-fish. In going into the wharf the ice swept her against the schooner Magellan Cloud, and stove one of her dories.

Our Rye correspondent, under date of Feb. 3d, says: "Eight below zero Wednesday morning at Rye Centre post-office, and four below this (Thursday) morning. Blowing hard all Wednesday afternoon; roads full and running over."

The smaller of the two engines at the Kearsarge mills has been sold to Nashua parties, and workmen are taking it out of the burnt building. The old iron has also been sold to parties in Nashua. The larger engine was injured to such an extent that it cannot be repaired, and it will be sold for old iron.

The lecture committee of the Universalist parish desire to inform their patrons that the fifth and last lecture in the course will not be delivered until after Dr. Bolles has finished his Lowell Institute course in Boston. These lectures are given twice a week, and are very fine. These, with a few other engagements which the doctor had made previous to his Portsmouth engagement, will prevent his coming before the first of March.

A bill is before the Massachusetts legislature to incorporate Frank Jones, B. F. Butler, Stillman B. Allen and others as an Elevated Railroad company to build a road through the streets of Boston; capital half a million. The attempt has been made before to obtain a similar charter, and a lively opposition will be seen under the gilded dome when the attempt is made to pull through the desired legislation. The bill allows the present horse railway companies to participate as stockholders.

Mr. Joseph Locke's red Irish setter, "Bess," on the 29th ult. produced fifteen puppies, eight males and seven females. They are very handsome and promising looking youngsters, and will prove a valuable addition to the breed of setters already owned by our local sportsmen. Their sire, "Dash Elcho," also owned by Mr. Locke, is a very handsome, medium sized red Irish setter, with a fine silken coat of a rich, dark chesnut color, and eyes of almost human expression and intelligence. Dash Elcho took first prize in the grand puppy class when under seven months old, at the bench show of the Massachusetts Kennel club, held at Boston, he having to contend against the best dogs in the states, and some of them of a more mature age. Dash Elcho is essentially a blue blood, for there is no stain on his escutcheon, his ancestry being traced back authentically to about the year 1796, when the strain was owned by the Earl of Enniskillen, of Florence Court, county of Fermanagh, Ireland. Bess, the dam, is a handsome animal, a daughter of Bagot's "Rhoada," and closely related to the celebrated prize-wining dog "Duke," belonging to the late Hamilton Thompson.

MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.

The Mechanics' Association at the regular quarterly meeting, held on Tuesday evening, the 1st inst., voted to close the reading room at 9:30 o'clock P. M. hereafter, instead of ten o'clock as heretofore. Their reading room is one of the pleasantest and best lighted ones we were ever in, and its list of daily papers, sixteen in number, is the largest and best selected to be found in any reading room in the state. A large number of weeklies from all parts of the country are always to be found on the tables, as well as the publications of the patent office and other departments in Washington.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Feb. 3rd:

City marshal's report was pronounced correct by committee on police.

A request of the chief engineer for the purchase of two job sleighs (cost about $120) to carry hose to fires during the winter, was referred to committee on fire department with mayor added.

Report of chief engineer for year ending Dec. 31st was received and referred.

Ald. Noyes, from the committee to whom was referred the matter of furnishing a room for the public library, reported recommending the hiring of a room in Congress block. Report accepted. On motion of Ald. Hall, it was voted that the city solicitor be requested to give an opinion as to the city's powers in the matter.

Repairs on No. 2 engine house were referred to the committee on city lands and buildings, with power.

Adjourned for one week.

ICE IN THE RIVER.

In March, 1871, as near as we can remember, the receiving ship Vandalia, at anchor just outside of Pumpkin island, was solidly frozen in, and provisions were rolled across the ice to the vessel in casks from the navy yard. At the same time the trips of the Emerald and the small boats were greatly interfered with by the floating ice in the river, many of the cakes being of large size and from a foot to fifteen inches in thickness. Since that time the ice in the river, on the Kittery shore and in the lower harbor, has never been so troublesome as this winter.

On Wednesday night, the 2d inst., the fishing schooner Telephone, lying in the lower harbor, owing to the large body of ice pressing against her dragged her anchor but fortunately brought up against the U. S. S. Plymouth, as otherwise she would have gone on the rocks. The watchmen on board the Plymouth rendered the schooner's crew valuable assistance.

The space between Goose point and the Raynes shipyard, below the north mill-bridge, was solidly frozen over on Thursday, the first time for years.

The steamers Mystic and James Sampson, during the cold snap, have been making only their "workmen's trips" between this city and the navy yard, both boats occupying berths at wharves this side of the river at night, the ice massed on the Kittery shore preventing their lying there. The navy yard steamer Emerald has made her time-table trips right along, not having missed one up to Thursday night.

AQUEOUS.

The town pump in front of the jail on Islington street was reported to Sheriff Kent last Thursday forenoon to have given out. The drafts upon this source of water were very large and frequent. The milk men on returning to their farms filled their cans at this pump with this precious fluid, with which to water not their milk, but their live stock; and residents all up and down the neighborhood during the early part of the week came for water to drink and for cooking. The sheriff notified County Commissioner Johnston at once that it would be impossible for him to keep the prisoners upon the old-fashioned jail diet of "bread and water," unless a new supply of the latter was sent to the jail.

Islington street throughout its entire length, and Congress street also, are badly off for this indispensable article, and much inconvenience has been felt on account of the giving out of the aqueduct supply on those streets; but the residents along that line are not the only ones who grumble, the cause of complaint being widespread. The aqueduct company say there is a leak somewhere, but the critical public say the cause of the famine is that the water in times of abundance is not saved in a suitable reservoir at the fountain head, and properly distributed by pipes. Next to the weather, the water question seems to be the prominent topic of discussion.

The shelter shed built over the old locomotive which furnished steam for drilling at the Eastern depot, has been taken down, and on Thursday workmen were engaged in using up the materials in the erection of an engine house over the well, which has been floored over. The aqueduct company had for several days previous been unable to supply the service tank with water, and the prompt utilization of the supply in the well had become a necessity.

A report was going about town, Wednesday and Thursday, that the scarcity of water was largely owing to the Eldredge Brewing Co. using an immense quantity to flood their ice pond. The fact is not a gallon of water has been used for any such purpose.

OLD DOCUMENTS.

A relic of old times is a fireward's certificate appointing Jonathan Barker a member of engine company No. 1, in the year 1819, shown to us by a friend. It is signed by Samuel Larkin as chairman, and J. W. Peirce as secretary.

A tax bill of the same date has a notice on it that the selectmen will meet every Wednesday evening of July and August at their office, where any person aggrieved may apply for redress,—a very excellent plan long since disused, to the great inconvenience of tax-payers.

"Fluttered frog" is the name of the last new color.

The combination of pale rose with garnet still prevails.

Plaited mull collars edged with lace are dressy and stylish.

Black beaver fur bands are used for the handsomest black suits.

Real Spanish or Alencon are fashionable laces for bridal veiling.

The newest fichus of costly lace have wide Medicis collars attached.

Shirred fronts of skirts are more poputhan at any previous season.

The round neck with soft drapery is preferred for low corsages.

Roman sandals are the daintiest and prettiest low shoes now imported.

"Alaska pug" is a popular trimming, resembling India leopard skin.

Asters of many different shades are made up in a huge bouquet for the belt.

Dark green and seal brown suits are most popular for trimming with fur.

Gold lace of all widths is used more than ever, as well on tulle as on silk dresses.

White flannel skirts are edged with a ruffle that is wrought with colored embroidery.

High, square-neck basques with half sleeves are worn almost altogether for full-dress occasions.

Crimson and cream are beautiful combinations for evening toilets of satin and brocade.

Bonnet crowns of copper colored plush are made very effective by amber headed appliques.

Great bows of satin ribbon, in collars, have taken the place of the belt bouquet to a great extent.

Low slippers or half-high shoes the color of the dress are worn with silk stockings of the same color.

Otter bands are liked for brown, gray and drab dresses, also for black, but this is a very expensive fur.

Trimmings of steel beads are revived, particularly for black and for the fashionable dark green dresses.

Woolen stockings are preferred in solid dark colors, or else in small stripes both for ladies and children.

Among the most distinguished toilets are those of a new light shade of cardinal with solid jet trimmings.

Some youthful-looking wool dresses just imported have the dull red shade so popular for the prevailing color.

New purses for ladies, in silk crochet and steel beads, fasten with two steel bars slipped through carved steel rings.

Colored diamonds, set side by side with perfectly white ones, are now the fashion for the costliest forms of jewelry.

The pretty peasant dresses remain in favor with ladies who have their dresses made at home, and carry out their own ideas.

Soft sashes tied in front are considered enough drapery for the front breadth of dresses with brocaded panels on the side.

The short skirts for full dress are confined to very young ladies, especially to debutantes, but are very much liked for dancing.

A close basque, narrow skirt, and an apron pointed low on one side like that of the handkerchief suits, is a favorite design for cloth dresses.

Colored underskirts are worn almost altogether this winter; these come in the colored flannels, the hand-knitted skirts, and in the quilted Balmorals.

Ribbed Cardigan jackets, with or without sleeves, or else with silk sleeves, are shown to wear next the cloak over a dress, not only for warmth, but to protect the dress from being rubbed by the cloak.

The favorite basque has a postilion back, formed into two box plaits, while the front is open square, quite low, and is cut away sharply from the waist line, which is far more becoming than to button the basque over the stomach.

A popular fashion that is now inexpensive since jet fringes have been lowered in price is that of covering the upper form of the sleeve from arm-hole to wrist with the netted heading of the fringe, cutting off or putting out of sight the drooping strands of the fringe.

—The Dubuque (Ia.) Times tells a long and romantic story of how a young lady in that city dreamed thrice that she visited New York, and met there in a big hotel a very attractive gentleman whom she subsequently married; of how six years later she did visit New York, and accidentally met at the rooms of a friend in one of the hotels the very man who had been the hero and subject of her dreams; of how they were indeed married, and did not live happy ever after, because the husband soon ran away, and the wife returned disconsolate to her father's house in Dubuque.

SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,

BUT HOME TRUTHS!

It DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, any sophistication in medicine or ailment, (which only impoverishes and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no nauomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $50.00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alcohol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Person School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

CHEAPEST IN THE WORLD!

as it is not mixed with water, nor turpentine. None genuine without our "Trade Mark" on back of each bottle. Wholesale agent for Portsmouth and vicinity,

Good Words for a Good Thing.

The papers are so full of exaggerations about all sorts of things that it is hard to believe. Yet all things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be, and deserves the praises that are showered upon it from all who have used it. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with salt rheum from head to foot, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your druggist or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

The ice men of Maine had good luck the past season, and sold fully 1,000,000 tons of their product, bringing into the state $1,500,000, perhaps more. They are again making preparations for housing an enormous quantity of ice. The prospect is that 1,500,000 tons of ice will be cut and stored the present winter. The work both on the Kennebec and the Penobscot is in progress.

Piles cured by Liebig Co.'s Aromated Extract of Witch Hazel. Professor E. M. Hale, M. D. L. L. D., of the Chicago Medical college, says: "It has extraordinary power over this disease." Professor Sidney Ringer of the University Medical college, London, says: "I have found it singularly successful." Beware of worthless imnitations. Also cures rheumatism, catarrh and neuralgia.

Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes.

The yacht Carrie blew up in Baltimore harbor on the 2d inst., killing two white men and a colored man.

H. E. Hodge, Cambridge, Mich., says: —I have been afflicted with Asthma for years, an "Only Lung Pad" gave me immediate relief. I can recommend it as the greatest remedy ever produced.—See Adv.

Aaron Devore, a prominent citizen of Millersburg, Ohio, on the 2d inst. called to his son to get up, and on his failing to do so pulled him out of bed. The boy seized a knife and stabbed his father fatally.

For five years I have been troubled with constipation, liver and stomach troubles, coupled with loss of memory and sleepless nights. Two bottles D. R. V. G. have made me a well man and a happy one.

New Hampshire Items.

A despatch from Manchester, on the 2d inst., says: "An old resident, who has kept a record of the weather for many years, says that to-day has been the coldest within his recollection." If he has kept a record, what in the world does he want to trust to his "recollection" for?

Joseph Morrison, a French Canadian resident of Dover, was killed while chopping in Nottingham, Feb. 2d, by a tree falling on him. He was forty years old, married, and leaves four children.

A man named Collins was found on Wednesday morning, the 2d inst., at Manchester with his feet frozen, and was sent to the county farm.

The New Hampshire veterans residing in Lowell netted about $100 by their recent ball.

Feb. 2d was a cold day all through New Hampshire. At Littleton, Lancaster and Bath, the thermometer is reported as reaching thirty below zero; at Bethlehem, twenty-four below; at Milford, twenty. The wind blew a gale, and travel was almost wholly suspended.

Enoch Collins, a man forty-five years old, while at work in Weare's planing mill in Seabrook, Feb. 2d, was lifting a board from under a circular saw when the saw caught the board and jerked Collins against its teeth, cutting a terrible gash in his side. He was taken home alive but cannot recover. He has a family.

Shipping Disasters in January.

The number of vessels belonging to, or bound to or from ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing during the past month, is forty-four, of which twenty-five were wrecked, eleven abandoned, one sunk by collision, four foundered, and three are missing. The list comprises two steamers, three ships, ten barks, five brigs and twenty-four schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $1,195,200.

—A story is told of a young Indiana employe of one of the departments in Washington, who was dismissed for some irregularity, and went to Chairman Jewell of the republican national committee, proposing to go to Indiana and render assistance in spotting eastern democratic repeaters. Mr. Jewell gave him a $100 check. The young man raised the check to $1000, went to the democratic national committee with the story that he was hired for that sum (exhibiting the check) to take a party of republican repeaters to Indiana. He then proposed to take the repeaters to that state and use them for the democrats, for $2000. The proposition was accepted, and a check given for that sum. He then destroyed the raised check, drew the $2000, but rendered no service.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "I will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

Setting Fence Posts.

A correspondent sends the following as bearing upon the question whether posts last longer for being setting top-end down: "A land-corner in the northern part of McKean county, Penn., is described in a warrant, dated 1794, as being marked by an iron-wood post. The lines were traced in October, 1880, and on looking for this corner an iron-wood post was found marking it, under a thick covering of leaves, the but-end up and battered, the pointed top-end down, and still showing distinct axe-marks. Trees of the same wood, eighteen inches through, on the same line, had wasted away by natural decay." The iron-wood—Virginia hornbeam, Ostrya Virginica—is durable, and if the covering of leaves kept the post constantly wet it might resist decay much longer than eighty-six years, especially in soil impregnated with preservative salts. Every fact, however, bearing on a disputed point deserves a place on the record as a means toward solution. But the mere theory advanced that "the capillaries of the wood of a tree have valves for holding the ascending fluid, and that such agencies as heat or winds do the pumping," will hardly suffice to change the opinion of Professor Caldwell, who "cannot see or divine any reason why a post should stand longer because set top-end down." The writer should not propose such an argument for publication until he has discovered that such valves exist. Let him take sections of dry wood and set them—some top-end down and some the reverse—the base in shallow water, and see in which moisture rises the highest. This is a very simple experiment, needing no microscope, or instrument of precision. A common broomstick sawed into short lengths, and a saucer of water, will suffice for making it.—New York Tribune.

—"You dirty boy" is the advertising catchphrase of a soap manufacturer in England. For permission to print the phrase on the backs of the paper, stamps, etc., to be used in taking the English census, the soap manufacturer will pay all the expenses of taking the census, which will be about $500,000.

—The head of the house brought home a thermometer the other night and hung it in his bed chamber. Before morning the fire went out, and the temperature in the room fell forty degrees. His wife got up first in the morning—as is the fashion of wives—consulted the thermometer, and in a tone of surprise exclaimed: "Why, Henry, it is run down. You must have forgotten to wind it up last night!"

Consumption may be prevented by checking a cough or cold in time, and nothing equals Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for throat and lung affections. 25 cts.

—Michigan has a female type-setter who set up 8000 ems, made up the paper, took in $50 on subscriptions and sued the editor for breach of promise, all inside of a day and a half.

OVERWROUGHT AND FEEBLE NERVES are quieted, digestion promoted, and the system strengthened, by the Liebig Co's renowned Coca Beef Tonic.

—The papers make a great bother about the number of people who escape at a railroad accident. Wouldn't they have escaped just the same had there been no accident?

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the power of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress and enlightenment would indeed be marvellous.

—A Chicago Methodist minister says kissing parties are dangerous, and none but sanctified beings and angels can safely indulge in them. That rules out lots of folks.

The Greatest Care

should be taken in preparing medicine for the sick. It has been taken in the article known as "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading druggists and grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

—Colonel Fair, the new Nevada senator, it is reported has the habit of addressing every man that he meets as "my son," no matter what is the age of the person. To a woman he invariably says: "My dear child."

Two Years Ago!

I was a sight to behold, and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health, and can eat anything. What did it? Sulphur Bitters cured me of dyspepsia and liver complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. B. Manchester.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1881.

The British Troubles.

There was an extraordinary and noisy scene in the British house of commons on the evening of the 3d inst., which culminated in the forcible expulsion of Mr. Parnell and his followers, who were attempting to prevent the passage of the bill to coerce Ireland into obedience to British rule. The Home Rulers refused to vote; a motion to suspend them was carried, whereupon they individually declined to leave the house, and were removed singly by the sergeant-at-arms. There is great excitement in all places in England and Ireland.

Michael Davitt, the agitator, was arrested in Dublin on the 3d by a detective officer of London, on the ground that he has broken the conditions of his ticket-of-leave.

Naval Affairs.

Surgeon A. S. Oberly is detached from the Powhatan, and ordered to the Richmond and as fleet surgeon of the Asiatic squadron.

Surgeon T. C. Walton is detached from the Franklin, and ordered to the Powhatan.

The orders of Medical Inspector C. H. Burbank as fleet surgeon of the Asiatic squadron are revoked, and he is placed on waiting orders.

Gloucester Fisheries.

The fish receipts at Gloucester, Mass., last month, were considerably smaller than for the corresponding month in 1880, owing in part to the severe weather and consequent long trips. The number of arrivals reported last month was sixty-five, viz.: Thirty-four from Georges, with 849,000 lbs. codfish and 89,100 lbs. halibut; seven from the banks, with 228,000 lbs. halibut; and twenty-four from Grand Menan and vicinity, with about about 5,740,000 frozen herring.

In January of last year there were eighty-nine arrivals, viz.: Fifty-two from Georges, eighteen from the banks, and nineteen from herring trips, with 1,405,000 lbs. Georges codfish, 513,500 lbs. halibut, and 5,340,000 frozen herring.

The number of arrivals in January, 1879, was thirty-seven, viz.: Twenty from the banks, nine from Georges, and eight from herring trips; and the receipts were 308,000 lbs. Georges codfish, 445,000 lbs. halibut, and 2,340,000 frozen herring.

News and Notes.

The fly wheel in the Russian Iron mills at Niles, Ohio, flew in pieces on the morning of the 3d inst., killing two men, injuring several others, and considerably damaging the mill. The belt to the governor slipped, causing a too great velocity of the wheel, which was eighteen feet in diameter.

Pittsfield, Mass., which was supposed to have an almost inexhaustible water supply, is seriously threatened with at least temporary trouble, for water has ceased running on Jubilee hill, and other high ground. The trouble is supposed to be that the water in Ashley lake is so low that the pipes are choked with ice.

A report from Little Rock, Ark., says that on the 2d inst. three men attempted to outrage Miss Georgianna Hamblet, an accomplished young lady residing in Augusta. They were caught and jailed, and that night a band of twenty men broke into the jail, took out the prisoners, carried them across the river, hanged them, and threw their dead bodies into the water.

A loud report, followed by a disturbance like the shock of an earthquake, was heard in several parts of Plymouth, Mass., at four o'cock last Thursday morning. The shock was felt at places two or three miles apart.

The following despatch was sent from San Francisco under date of Feb. 3d: "Rain continues throughout northern and central California, extending from the Sierra Nevadas to the ocean. The rainfall increases as the storm continues. In Shasta, to-day, rain fell at the rate of nearly an inch an hour, and several cloud bursts occurred in that county, doing considerable damage. There are no dry spots in that vicinity. The people of Marysville expect to be flooded some time to-night, as both Feather and Yuba rivers are rising, and the water at six o'clock this afternoon was only one foot from the top of the levee. The situation at Sacramento is critical, and to-morrow may see that place under water. The country all around Sacramento city is already under water. The immense floods coming from the upper Sacramento, Yuba and American rivers will, it is feared, be enough to overflow the levees that surround that place. A despatch from Courtland says that section will be overflowed to-night, sure. This is the last levee district of any size along the Sacramento river, from Colusa down to the mouth, that has withstood the waters. The damage there will be immense. It has been raining in San Francisco and vicinity since noon to-day, at times heavily."

OUR HARBOR.

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 4th.

Although most of the harbors along the coast are frozen up, and those that are clear are kept so only by the running of tugs, our Piscataqua has not surrendered to the ice king. Its swift current is too formidable an adversary to contend against, and if in wanton sport it would allow his majesty to collect his myriad forces and seemingly to pontoon the surface, with one bound it would scatter its quivering foe and send it fleeing towards the Atlantic, where it would be swallowed up in the abyss of space. Along the shores on either side of the river are presented fine winter scenes, such as are seldom offered to the eyes of our residents. The cold spell of 1857, followed by that of 1871, did not produce the effects of the present lengthened cold term. Many of our citizens who have visited the wharves with the last few days, have been amply repaid. The piles, which look like petrified columns of snow; the docks bridged with ice, extending out into the stream, on which are to be seen the fishermen wheeling bait from the herring vessels to their own; the clearing of the frozen element from the sides of boats, the spearing for eels, the sporting of many boys, and other sights, afford novelties for the pastime of an hour, and create a diversion from the usual routine of every day life. The seldom occurrence of such sights here makes the present one a source of pleasure. X.

NAVY YARD NEWS.

Pay day at the yard on Friday. It took $10,854 to go around.

A summary court martial for the trial of minor offences committed by marines has been in session at the yard.

Water is scarce upon the yard, and is furnished through hose from Seavey's island, where the supply is none of the best.

The Lancaster begins to look quite like a ship. The outside planking is all on, and a coat of priming paint is upon her upper works. Calkers are at work upon her sides.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mr. Asa McIntire of York was badly bitten on the right hand a day or two ago, by a fox that he had trapped.

The tug Ann is receiving an extensive overhauling at the Piscataqua railway. New upper timbers have been put in, and her entire upper works are being rebuilt.

The schooner Vanguard, which some days ago went ashore on the sand flats off Gerrish's island, and was afterward towed up to the navy yard, was generously supplied by Commodore Beaumont with articles necessary for her continued trip.

It is reported that Mr. Frank Bottomly, of Athol, Mass., who was lessee of the Chase mill in York before it was burned, is to build again on the same site. The selectmen of that town passed a vote two or three years ago, to exempt from taxation any building erected for manufacturing purposes. Cotton warp flannel is the article to be made.

AROUND HOME.

The iced piers to be seen at low tide are among the beautiful sights of the river front just now.

David Flynn is fitting up the Varrell estate purchased by him last summer, for a bakery, and will remove to the new quarters in the spring.

An engine and pump were placed in position over the Eastern railroad well, Friday, and the pumping of water from the well into the big tank commences this morning.

The schooner William P. Hood, Davis master, which left this port on the 26th ult. for Baltimore with a cargo of apples and potatoes, was at anchor off Bass river, Hyannis, Mass., on the 3d inst.

Eggs are worth three cents a piece at wholesale in the Boston market, and country roosters belonging to families that take the newspapers strut around the barn-yards with an air of consequence likely to be maintained till after the close of the lenten season.

A number of gentlemen at Greenland depot, Friday forenoon at about eleven o'clock, heard a sound as of about a thousand loads of rocks being dumped into a cellar all at once, and felt—or thought they did—a decided tremor of the earth. Possibly it was an earthquake.

William E. Crockett, Jr., the Eastern railroad freight brakeman who was struck by a bridge at Beverly on the night of the 31st ult., died at the hospital in Salem at noon on Thursday last. He was not quite twenty-one years old, and leaves a widow and little daughter in Newburyport.

Several fishing vessels started out Friday morning to prospect for fish. Those that returned the same day were the Comet, light, and the Mary E. Smith, with 500 lbs. of cod-fish. Fish are scarce. The dealers are as eager for the vessels to get good fares as the fishermen themselves are.

The elasticity of "a green old age" was well illustrated on State street last Thursday, by a gentleman of about seventy years, who made the most of the distance from Pleasant to Water streets on the many slides which the boys have made on the side-walks, and evidently enjoyed the performance as well as he might have done sixty years before.

We understand that a petition for a new highway from the north end of Vaughan street through the Raynes ship yard to Elm street at the mill bridge, was at the late term of the supreme court referred to the county commissioners. Commissioner Johnston being disqualified by residence, the vacancy was filled by the appointment of Mr. F. P. Cram, late commissioner.

On Thursday last the Merrimack river was frozen over opposite Newburyport sufficiently hard for persons to cross on foot, for the first time since January, 1857, at which time, the thermometer reached twenty-four degrees above zero. The Newburyport Herald of Friday says: "About all the harbors on the coast are frozen up excepting Portsmouth harbor, and that is so full of floating ice that anchorage is not safe. The sailors who are caught in that locality have a hard time of it."

When the donkey belonging to the Uncle Tom's Cabin company was being put into a baggage car at the Eastern depot, Friday morning, just as his fore feet touched the car the train backed, and he was tumbled to the ground, the wheels of the car passing within three inches of one of his hoofs. The animal was not hurt. After the train had started one of theatrical bloodhounds jumped from it, and was caught on State street by two gentlemen, who took care of him.

On Friday the ice in the docks was "a moverin' along," aided by men in dories, and the muscles of a dozen stalwart young fellows who cut it into cakes.

A very fair audience attended the performance of Uncle Tom's Cabin at Music hall, Thursday evening. The scenery was good, the bloodhounds tame, and the trick mule did not kick anybody.

The committee on commerce of the National House of Representatives on the 3d inst. agreed on the following items in the river and harbor appropriation bill: For Portsmouth harbor, $20,000; Exeter river, $5000; Newburyport, $40,000; Kennebunk, $2000.

John Albee, Esq., has in press a volume of his choice poems, which will be issued sometime during the present month by G. P. Putnam & Sons, New York. Mr. Albee is a graceful writer, and his book will be gladly welcomed.—Journal.

The book in question we believe is the Concord Conversations, being Mr. Albee's lectures on English literature delivered in conversational form before the Concord (Mass.) School of Philosophy last summer, and is not a selection of "choice poems."

WATER.

It is painfully amusing to read some of the communications that find their way to the editor's table, written concerning the water famine, its cause, and the prevention of a repetition of the disaster. One enthusiastic writer intimates that the aqueduct corporation has not kept abreast of the times, and that its managers are respectable but not practical; and suggests that some men like Frank Jones, Ezra H. Winchester or Charles H. Mendum ought to be in the board, "to infuse," as he puts it, "new vitality in its direction." Another suggests that water could be brought from a point in Eliot, across the Piscataqua, and the city supplied with a good head capable of use in case of fire. A third says that the aqueduct company wants big dividends, and should have built a reservoir and pumped up water last summer for the present exigency, as even with the cessation of use by the Kearsarge mills and Eastern railroad, and reduced use by the breweries, there is now a famine which might have been averted. Still another advocates the digging of wells in various localities, for public use. We still await the reception of the communication from the advocate of the Jones pond in Raymond, who insists commonly that this is our only feasible course to adopt. The Aqueduct Co. will have to put forth renewed efforts to supply customers, as soon as the spring opens, else some new project will be discussed, which if adopted will leave their property in a condition of no value. The free discussion of this subject may develope some plan of relief; but there is no doubt that in the long run we will have to depend for supply upon Him who sendeth the rain alike on the just and the unjust.

COL. BRACEWELL'S RESIGNATION.

Our Dover neighbors have been somewhat exercised to hear that Col. John Bracewell, for a long time manager of the printing establishment of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., at Dover, has tendered his resignation, to accept a position in western Massachusetts. The term for which Mr. Bracewell had engaged to remain in the service of the Cocheco Co. expired we believe about a month since, and the new opportunity tendered him is one which in justice to himself he does not wish to decline.

Col. Bracewell is an important spoke in the wheel at Dover. He is a man of uncommon energy, thoroughly accomplished in the specialty which has made him of such inestimable value to the corporation, and withal a citizen who has shown much public spirit in his efforts to build up the business of Dover by the improvements in the means of navigation upon the Cocheco, by the development of the city trade by erecting attractive stores, and the building of the new Eliot bridge—in fact, by every laudible undertaking. His removal from Dover is a loss to the state, and the regret of our neighbors at the head of navigation at this step, is shared in most extensively by the citizens of Portsmouth, many of whom are strong personal friends of Col. Bracewell, and some of whom have known him quite intimately from their relations to the company which by his aid has been so successful in the administration of its affairs.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

The following is the report of the chief engineer of the fire department, submitted at the last meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen:

To His Honor the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

Gentlemen,—In compliance with the ordinance defining the duties of the Chief Engineer, I herewith present the annual report of the condition of the fire department; a list of fires that have occurred during the past year, with a statement of the amount of loss and the amount of insurance on the property destroyed, as far as ascertained; the amount of property belonging to the city under my charge, and list of the members, with their ages and residences, and a list of the reservoirs, with their location and condition.

Membership—The fire department now numbers one hundred and thirty-one men, viz: Chief Engineer and four assistant engineers, clerk of the fire department, three steamer's companies consisting of twenty-one men each, two extinguisher companies of ten men each, one hook and ladder company of twenty-one men, one hose company of three men, four steam engineers, three steam firemen, two drivers, and six men on relief steamer, and three men on supply wagon.

Apparatus—The apparatus of the department consists of three steam fire engines, with hose carriages attached, and one steamer in reserve, two extinguishers, one hook and ladder truck, one supply wagon, and two horse hose carriages. All these are in good condition, with the exception of the hook and ladder truck, which is not reliable, and I would recommend that a new one be bought to be drawn by horses.

Hose—The are 8100 feet of leather hose in the department, (2400 feet of which are unfit for use and should be sold,) 150 feet of cotton hose, together with 2100 feet of new cotton hose bought the past year, also 2400 feet of leather hose, 800 feet of which have been delivered.

Houses—The engine houses are in fair condition. A few repairs are needed on the houses of Nos. 3 and 4.

Reservoirs—The reservoirs are thirteen in number. I would call your attention to the necessity for a larger supply of water. I would recommend that a reservoir be built on State street, near the Unitarian church. Also that a pipe be laid from the reservoir on Hanover street to the corner of Vaughan and Congress streets, and that larger pipes be put into each of the reservoirs. I would renew my request in relation to the building of a half-tide gate at Liberty bridge, as no water could be obtained in that portion of the city should a fire occur at low tide, the reservoir on Atkinson street having been adandoned on account of the sand, which mixes with the water and injures a steamer if placed there.

Fires and Alarms—The fires and alarms, from Jan. 1st to Dec. 31st number 21. The value of the property destroyed and the amount of insurance on the same is shown elsewhere.

Expenditures—The amount of money expended during the past year is $9653.71, of which $5650 was for salaries, and $3993.71 for contingent expenses, including $800 for repairs on steamer No. 4.

I would renew the request made last year, viz: That the City Marshal's office be connected by an electric wire with the breweries. An alarm could be more promptly given by notifying the watchmen at the breweries by telegraph than by the bell.

In conclusion, I would express my thanks to His Honor the Mayor and to the members of the city councils for their earnest efforts to promote the efficiency of the department, to the city marshal and his assistants for the aid they have rendered to the board of engineers, and to the officers and members of the several companies for the prompt and efficient manner in which they have discharged their duties. Respectfully submitted,

STEPHEN L. MARSTON, Chief Eng'r.

December 31st, 1880.

SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,
BUT HOME TRUTHS!

IT DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, any sophistication in medicine or aliment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no nimomey, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $50.00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alchol, capsicum nor water. Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frost-bite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Person School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

—A short time after the capture of Port Royal, and while the 3d regiment was encamped across the swamp, opposite the provost marshal's, Chaplain Hill had occasion to take a trip with his mule and dump cart down to headquarters to get the regimental mail, which had just arrived by the "Vanderbilt." On approaching the bridge he was halted by the sentry, who happened to be one of his own regiment, and on being challenged "Who comes there," he responded, "One man and a mule, without the countersign." "Advance, mule, three paces; jump out, jackass, and give the countersign, or there'll be a first-class funeral in camp to-morrow." It is needless to add that the chaplain didn't chaff that sentry the second time.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Its highly concentrated state, (there being in a given amount of syrup twice the amount of Vegetation Extract that any other contains,) the care, skill, and cleanliness of its manufacture, are sure guarantees of its purity and effect. The Case Dropped.

Not even a lawyer, however skilled in cross-examination, can make a witness tell the truth, provided the witness wishes to evade it. It is impossible to put a question in such exact language that it will demand the desired answer. Indeed, nothing is more true than the statement of Talleyrand, that language is intended to cover up one's thoughts, and no one ever practiced the principle contained in the statement more than Talleyrand himself. It was necessary on a certain occasion in court to compel a witness to testify as to the way in which a Mr. Smith treated his horse.

"Well, sir," said the lawyer, with a sweet and winning smile—a smile intended to drown all suspicion as to ulterior purposes—"how does Mr. Smith generally ride a horse?"

The witness looked up innocently, and replied:

"Generally a-straddle, sir, I believe."

The lawyer asked again:

"But, sir, what gait does he ride?"

The imperturable witness answered:

"He never rides any gate at all, sir; but I've seen his boys ride every gate on the farm."

The lawyer saw that he was on the track of a tartar, and his next question was very insinuating.

"How does Mr. Smith ride when he is in company with others? I demand a clear answer."

"Well, sir," said the witness; "he keeps up with the rest, if his horse is able to, or if not, he falls behind."

The lawyer was by this time almost beside himself, and asked, "And how does he ride when he is alone?"

"I don't know," was the reply; "I was never with him when he was alone," and there the case dropped.

Definitions.

Tennyson can take a worthless sheet of paper, and by writing a poem on it make it worth $5,000. That's genius. Mr. Vanderbilt can write fewer words on a similar sheet, and make it worth $50,000,000. That's capital. And the United States government can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an "eagle bird" and "Twenty Dollars." That's money. The mechanic can take the material worth $50, and make it into a watch worth $100. That's skill. The merchant can take an article worth twenty-five cents, and sell it to you for $1. That's business. The ditch digger works ten hours a day and shovels out three or four tons of earth for $1. That's labor.

Buy Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It cures. To be had at all druggists for 25 cents.

A block of tenement houses in East Boston was partially burned on Thursday morning last, and twenty-nine families were turned out of their homes in consequence.

Good Words for a Good Thing.

The papers are so full of exaggerations about all sorts of things that it is hard to believe. Yet all things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be, and deserves the praises that are showered upon it from all who have used it. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with salt rheum from head to foot, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your druggist or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

Piles cured by Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel. Professor E. M. Hale, M. D., L. L. D., of the Chicago Medical college, says: "It has extraordinary power over this disease." The Morgan resolution providing for counting the electoral vote was passed.

The Senate finance committee reported the refunding bill, amended to make the rate of bonds and certificates 3 1-2 per cent, and time 5-20 years, and to increase the rate allowed for placing the loan to one-half of one per cent. The section compelling national banks to take bonds was stricken out.

No business of importance was done in the House, private bills taking up all the time.

The House on the 5th inst. passed the democratic caucus joint rule providing for counting the electoral votes on the 9th.

Naval Affairs.

Naval Constructor Theodore D. Wilson has been ordered to proceed from the Portsmouth navy yard to New York, to examine the ventilating apparatus now being fitted to the U. S. S. Brooklyn.

News and Notes.

Apples are bringing $2.50 per barrel in the Boston market.

The First Baptist church in Cambridgeport, Mass., was burned last Thursday evening. Loss fully $95,000; insurance $75,000.

On Saturday a number of ships, barks, schooners and steamers were reported jammed in the ice at Delaware breakwater, some of them in very dangerous positions. An unknown schooner was wrecked off Plymouth, Mass., Saturday morning; crew saved. It is understood that a friend of Harvard university has given to President Elliot $100,000, for the construction of a new law-school building at Cambridge, and that the work will begin as soon as a location and plans can be agreed upon.

"Red" Leary, one of the five men indicted for the robbery of over $1,000,000 from the Northampton (Mass.) bank five years ago, was lodged in Northampton jail last Friday night. Leary was once before in custody, but that was in New York, where of course he had little trouble in getting away. Scott and Dunlap, two other of the thieves concerned in the robbery, are now serving twenty-years sentence in the Massachusetts penitentiary; and another one, "Shang" Draper, is to be tried on the 14th inst. at Northampton. Only one of the burglars, a fellow named Conner, is now at large.

A train which left St. John, N. B., on the Sussex road, Friday morning, ran off the track, smashing one engine, killing an engineer and fireman, and injuring a number of passengers.

A bachelor shoemaker named Addison Rowland, who lived in a shanty at Meadville, Penn., died on Saturday. He was supposed to be in poverty, as he refused to have a physician, or nurse, or go to a hospital. After his death the chief of police found every chink and crevice in the hut full of money and valuables. Four hundred and fifty-six dollars in gold, $1952 in silver, $2640 in greenbacks, a bushel of pennies, quantities of fractional currency, county orders which were not counted, six gold and twenty-five silver watches, and a lot of jewelry were found.

A despatch from St. Paul, Minn., on the 4th inst., reported "the worst storm known for years" to be then raging in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Dakota. Railroad communication with St. Paul was wholly suspended.

Michael Davitt, the Irish agitator whose ticket-of-leave was cancelled last week by the British authorities on account of his activity in the land league movement now going on in Ireland, was in 1870 sentenced to fifteen years penal servitude for treason and felony, he having been concerned in the Fenian movement. He was granted a ticket-of-leave in 1877. There is no charge against his moral character, his alleged offence being purely political.

George W. Bishop, ex-city councilman of Baltimore, and ex-judge of the orphan's court, and Isaac W. Helm, convicted two years ago of having forged the signature of Frederick Kelchum, upon which $18,000 of city bonds were fraudulently transferred, were each sentenced to five years in the Maryland penitentiary, last Thursday.

Mrs. G. M. Kellogg of Emporia has been admitted to practice in the supreme court of Kansas. She is the first woman upon whom the right has been conferred in that state.

Tuesday of last week, at Nesbitt, Miss., two brothers-in-law, named Davis and McGhee, got into a drunken brawl over a mule trade, and the latter was shot dead. Davis fled to Texas, where he committed suicide.

Russell Ward of Royalston, Mass., has been sentenced to pay a fine and costs amounting to $114, for not properly caring for his stock. He is an eccentric man and lives a hermit life. It is stated that during all the severe weather of the winter his barn has had no doors, and that his cattle have been insufficiently fed.

"Billy" Connors, who some time ago escaped (as did "Red" Leary) from the Ludlow street jail in New York, where he was held for suspected complicity in the great bank robbery at Northampton, Mass., some five years since, was captured in Philadelphia on the night of the 4th inst.

Mr. Paul Allen of Pownal, Me., died recently at the age of ninety-one. On the morning of his funeral his wife had a stroke of paralysis, and died the next morning.

New Hampshire Items.

The supreme court of New Hampshire has decided that where a policy of fire insurance is indorsed by the company "Payable in case of loss to the mortgagee as his claim may appear," and the assured conveys his property to his daughter without consideration or to protect it from creditors, and no notice is given of such conveyance to the company, the clause providing that in case of a sale or transfer or change in title the policy shall be void, is to be held literally, and that without the knowledge or assent of the company the change in title makes the policy void; and that the endorsement as above recited is not an insurance of a mortgagee's interest, but an order to pay such sum as should be payable otherwise to the mortgagee in case of loss, and is not a contract between the company and the mortgagee.

At a meeting of the governor and council, Friday, Charles E. Geralts and Jeremiah Marden, convicts, were pardoned from the state prison. The prison commission had a conference with the governor and council as to the terms of sale of the old prison, and it was settled that the terms should be $1,000 cash down, and the remainder in thirty days. The property will be sold together in April.

The October adjourned trial term of the supreme court for Merrimack county began Wednesday forenoon of last week at Concord, Judge Lewis W. Clark of Manchester presiding. Judge Clark opened the court as an accommodation to Judge Stanley, who was called away, but who is expected to continue the term.

The Concord Monitor says that George E. Jenks, Esq., who has just returned from Washington, brought with him a pocket knife that was in the possession of President Lincoln on the night of his assassination, April 14th, 1865, and which came into possession of Hon. William E. Chandler in 1866, and by him has been presented to the New Hampshire Historical society. It is a six-bladed, pearl-handled knife, with one blade broken, and the name of "A. Lincoln" is engraved on one side of the handle. The blades all bear the stamp of "W. & S. Anthon, Sheffield."

Col. Jonathan Savory, who died on the 2d inst., in Londonderry, aged 68, had represented his town in the legislature, and was for several years on the board of selectmen, and often a school committee man. He was recognized as a man of high character and ability. He was formerly a colonel of militia.

The Brakeman.

One of the most hazardous of occupations is that of the brakeman on a railway train. It is said that only about twenty-five per cent of the brakemen of freight trains die a natural death, and that the average life of the brakeman after he assumes the duties of his position is but ten years and a fraction over. It is estimated by a contemporary that at least ten brakemen are killed in the United States every day, 3,650 during the year. Twice that number are set as injured while on duty, making 10,000 brakemen who are killed or injured during each year. Life insurance companies generally decline to take risks upon the lives of brakemen on freight trains at any rate, and charge an extra rate of one per cent on brakemen on passenger trains. The reason given for the discrimination between the two classes of brakemen is that "men on passenger trains have a great many lives intrusted to their care, and consequently have a greater responsibility resting on them, and are more careful than freight men, and hence are not so liable to meet with accidents." Accident insurance can be obtained by brakemen of freight trains, but the rates are much higher than for men engaged in the ordinary callings of life. A "perferred risk," such as on merchants, salesmen (not travelling,) lawyers, editors, etc., is taken for about one-fourth what it costs to insure a freight brakemen.

—A toper lets his light so shine before men that others seeing his illuminated proboscis may shun the flowing bowl that biteth like a serpent and stingeth like a picnic hornet.

—Mrs. Burnett's new story, "A Fair Barbarian," contains the following conversation between certain English school-girls upon whom the sight of an American girl has just dawned for the first time: "I have not the slightest doubt," said Miss Phipps, "that when she is at home she lives in a wampum." "What is a wampum?" asked one of the admiring audience. "A tent," replied Miss Phipps, with some impatience; "I should think any goose would know that. It is a kind of tent hung with scalps, and—and—moccasins, and—lariats, and things of that sort."

AROUND HOME.

Henry A. Yeaton, Esq., of Detroit, Mich., is in town.

Mr. J. E. Lord, of Providence, will give a reading in the Court street Christian church this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. George Carlton, teamster for Mr. C. Morris Tredick, in clearing the ice from the dock on Saturday took an involuntary cold bath.

Eastern railroad engine No. 57, which met with some hard knocks during the last snow, storm has been repaired and returned to this station.

Water along the line of the Eastern railroad has been very scarce except at the Hampton station, which has furnished a liberal supply.

Saturday was the first decent day since the big storm, and the number of teams in from the country was very large, and trade consequently brisk.

Mrs. Owen Rodgers of Dover, while carrying a basket of wood into the house on Thursday last, fell on the ice and broke two bones of her left leg.

Mrs. Haskell Brown died at Faith Home on Saturday evening, of old age; she was nearly eighty-one years old, and had been an inmate of the home over four years.

Many of the families of this city were rejoicing on Sunday at obtaining water; the somewhat milder weather, had probably thawed out the pipes, giving a chance for the water to flow.

There are two places on the Conway branch at North Conway, where the snow is drifted to fifteen and twenty feet deep. It takes four men, one standing above the other, to dispose of one shovelful.

Messrs. John Sise and Andrew P. Preston start this week for a trip to Cuba and Mexico, leaving New York by the steamship Niagara for Havana on Thursday, the 10th inst., to be absent four or five weeks.

The New York Criterion Comedy company, which appeared in "Freaks" at the Franklin theatre a short time ago and gave one of the most amusing entertainments offered here this season, will play again at the same place on Saturday evening next.

A pair of cattle were standing on Market square, Friday, when they were seen by a peculiar move of the yoke to change their position to that of facing in opposite directions. It is funny how they do it, but it is often done; sometimes a pair of cattle will get the yoke upside down.

The small engine of the Kearsarge Mills, which has been sold to the Underhill Edge Tool Co. at Nashua, was loaded upon the cars last week. Its earlier transmission was delayed on account of making the examination relative to insurance. This has at last been completed, and the statement of loss furnished to the insurance companies. The engine though not at all damaged was sold at about half its cost, for the reason that opportunities to sell engines of this size do not occur very frequently.

The steamer Clara Batemen left the Concord railroad wharf on Sunday morning, having in tow the schooner Mary Willey with a cargo of ice for Appledore Island, and got about a mile and a half beyond Whalesback lighthouse when she had to put back, on account of the heavy seas, with the loss of part of the schooner's deck load, and the near losing of a horse which was secured on top of the ice. The schooner was brought to anchor in the Kittery cove, and the steamer came up to the wharf.

Barque W. W. Crapo, of New Bedford, commanded by Capt. Hardy of Dover, arrived at Liverpool, Eng., on the 4th inst.

The Boston papers have reported the resignation of Walter C. Harriman, Esq., as solicitor of Rockingham county. This is incorrect; Mr. Harriman has not resigned the position.

Rockingham and Strawberry Bank lodges of Good Templars went to Dover on Friday evening, and were entertained by Equal Rights lodge of that city.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, Haverly's Genuine Colored minstrels, forty in number, will give an entertainment, for the particulars of which the reader is referred to the advertisement in another column.

Jeremiah Marden of this city, who with Burleigh Tuttle was sent to state prison between one and two years ago for stealing a lot of stuff from a barn in Newington, was pardoned out by the governor and council last week.

A grocer of this city who deals only in the best articles in the market purchased a lot of eggs one day last week, and disposed of several dozen of them to his customers, who shortly returned them with the verdict of "no good." On examination it was found that the eggs were all rotten, and the person from whom they were bought is not known.

The Dover Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals met on Thursday evening last, as per adjournment, with President John Bracewell in the chair. Several committees reported; and the offer of Mrs. J. J. Pickering to present to the society an appropriate seal for official use was unanimously accepted. The reports of those ladies who had interested themselves in soliciting contributions of money were highly satisfactory.

The Eastern railroad last week added to the rolling stock two new freight engines,—No. 5, which arrived on the 2d inst., and No. 81, which came in on Saturday. The trial trip of No. 5 was engineered by a Portsmouth boy, Mr. Oliver Goldsmith, and of No. 81 by Mr. William Kempton, of Boston. These engines have cylinders eighteen and twenty-six inches, five-foot driving wheels, and weigh fifty-two tons; and with tender, coal, and water, will probably reach nearly ninety tons.

The old locomotive which furnished the steam for drilling the Eastern railroad well, was on Saturday removed from the position it has occupied during the winter, and was stowed away out of sight somewhere. Connection having been made between the tank and the steam pump which was put in position on Friday, the pump was started shortly after noon on Saturday, the water in the well at that time standing within eight feet of the surface of the ground. We hope the supply of water will prove abundant enough to more than repay the railroad for the outlay on the well.

On Wednesday evening, at Music hall, the spectacular extravaganza "Around the World in Eighty Days" will be presented. Of it an exchange says:

Last evening the grand spectacular production of Eighty Days Around the World was presented at Mechanic hall. It is an entertainment made up of gauze and glitter, filled with attractions of intensified interest, drawn thither in two special freight cars, to say nothing of the constellation of genius, rich, rare and racy, which occupied the greater portion of a passenger car. The ballet consists of forty young and sprightly damsels led by those queens of the ballet M'lle Solke and M'lle Pajlieri, whose Hungarian and Egyptian marches were among the great attractions of the evening, as they were all dressed in full armor. The piece is represented by about seventy-five artists, and is an adaption to the stage of one of Jules Verne's most wonderful stories.

On Saturday a horse and sleigh belonging to Mr. John Kelly were standing in front of his store on Market street, when the animal took fright at a slide of snow from the roof of a building, and upsetting the sleigh at the start, made a circuit down to Spring hill and back, through Bow, Daniel, Mulberry, State Atkinson, Court and Water streets, and turned down on Messrs. Russell & Odlon's wharf, going over the end of it into the water. Two men in a dory detached the sleigh, and towed the horse into the dock, when after some efforts, by placing a rope around his body, he was hauled on to the ice without a scratch on him, and apparently uninjured otherwise. The sleigh kept on its side all the time of the race, yet received but little injury. Mr. Kelly's son endeavored to hold the horse when he started, but from his plunging and rearing it was impossible.

The fishing schooner Shooting Star, of Gloucester, Foley master, in trying to enter Newburyport harbor last Thursday got stuck in the ice, and remained fast until about half-past four o'clock in the afternoon, when she got clear, floated out over the bar, and kept away for Portsmouth harbor.

The arrivals of fishing vessels on Saturday were the schooners Magellan Cloud, with 3500 lbs. of fish; Vanguard, 1500; Comet, 500; Nettie Adams, 2000; Telephone, 2000 lbs. The prices realized were $2.75 and $3.00 per hundred weight. The Nettie Adams was alongside the Northern Eagle on Saturday when she drew her nets, which contained only five cod. Some of the vessels have got discouraged at the light fares, and have laid up for the present.

A telegram was received here Saturday stating that four schooners with a total of 140,000 pounds of haddock had arrived at Boston, and were selling their fares at $3.25 per hundred weight.

The arrivals of fishing schooners on Sunday were as follows: the Iris, with 2000 lbs. of fish; Celia, 2500; Ev Nichols, 2500; Flying Eagle, 3000; Mary E. Caswell, 1500; Josie Johnson, 4700 lbs.; and the Vanguard, light.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The workmen in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard are now working on full time.

Work at the apple evaporator of D. F. Littlefield, Saco, commenced on Oct. 4th, and continued until Feb. 1st, night and day. During this time 25,000 bushels of apples were used, and fifty people employed. Seventy-five car loads of apples were prepared for market.

The inhabitants of the vicinity of Brave Boat Harbor, Kittery, have been in a state of excitement the past week, owing to the visit of a wild animal of some kind to their neighborhood. It is said one farmer has lost a pig, and that the animal's tracks were numerous around the pen. The prints were large enough for a bear. Several parties have been in pursuit, but up to Saturday evening had not succeeded in capturing the intruder.

John Main, of Beech ridge, York, a man about fifty years of age, is reported as having committed suicide by poison on Wednesday, Feb. 2d. The Boston Herald of Sunday says an investigation into the cause of his death shows that it was caused by taking strychnine, the alleged reason being fear of arrest on a complaint charging him with threatening life. When the officer arrived to take Main into custody he was found in a prostrated condition, and unable to be moved, having swallowed the poison a few seconds before the officer reached the house.

Pigeon Shoots.

Mr. Staples, who represents Parsonsfield in the Maine legislature, must be a state rights man. He has offered a bill to prevent cruelty to pigeons, which prohibits all except residents of the state to engage in a pigeon shoot or in any game where live birds are used as a target. Either the residents of that state have an inalienable right to be cruel, or only those who reside in other states participate in the cruel sport.—Boston Journal.

The Journal is slightly in error. It was not Mr. Staples of Parsonsfield who introduced the bill, but Mr. Staples of Eliot. There are four representatives from this county by the name of Staples, all fusionists. Massachusetts has a stringent law prohibiting pigeon shoots, and to escape this, sporting Bostonians charter a special car on the Eastern railroad and come to Eliot, where being out of their own state they can indulge in this manly sport (?) without fear of interruption from the law. A large number of pigeons are disposed of in the course of an afternoon. They are only shot on the wing, and rarely killed, only wounded; but then being unable to fly are brought in and thrown on the ground in a pile, where they struggle until they die. It is probably to put a stop to this barbarous practice by non-residents that Mr. Staples has introduced his bill. It has not yet been found necessary to quicken the humanity and decency of Maine people by such a law.—Biddeford Journal.

—"What is fame?" asks the Philadelphia American. Fame is the result of being civil to newspaper men.—Boston Post.

The Usefulness of a Committee Clerk.

A well-known Washington newspaper man, says a Washington letter, had the clerkship of one of the Senate committees last year. The committee was one which had very little work to do, and the senators were not very often all present at committee meetings. One day there were only two senators present, one a republican and the other a democrat. The clerk was in his place when they came in. "Well, Mr. Clerk," said the democratic senator, "have you prepared the majority report on that case?" "Yes," answered the clerk. "Won't you please read it, Mr. Clerk?" The clerk proceeded to do so. The report seemed satisfactory to the senator. As there were only two senators present, of course no work could be done, so the senators started to leave the committee room. "By the way," cried the republican senator, coming back, "you seem to have a real genius for writing committee reports. Write my minority report on the same case for me, and have it ready at the next meeting." The clerk had the minority report ready at the time named, and it proved as satisfactory as the majority report which he had already prepared on the same case. This clerk was generally known as the chairman of the committee.

SOME FACTS!
NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE,
BUT HOME TRUTHS!

It DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense tells us so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, any sophistication in medicine or aliment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $30,00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alchol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,
A young man here suffering from Scrivvy on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.
J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janiter of Ferson School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. E. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Measles and Scarlet Fever.

It is important to be able to readily distinguish between these two diseases, which are in some respects similar. Measles present the appearance of a patchy redness of a circular form, showing white between, with small pimples that feel like little hard points. The mouth and throat are red and inflamed, causing a cough and other symptoms of cold. About the third day the eyes become inflamed and watery. In spite of all remedies the symptoms do not abate. A day or two later the eruption appears upon the head and neck, and then extends over the rest of the body. At last it attacks the bowels, causing diarrhœa, and then the other symptoms quickly disappear. The essential point in the treatment is to avoid taking cold. There are few diseases that so readily and completely recover with perfect nursing, and few that entail such a series of misfortunes without it. Medicine is seldom necessary. A portion of the body at a time may be sponged with warm water and then carefully wiped dry before extending the operation. The room should be well aired, but no current of air should touch the patient. The food should be light and easy of digestion.

Scarlet fever is also red, but it has a smooth feel in the skin, and the redness is suffused like a blush, which deepens till it is very red. There is loss of appetite, pains in the limbs, and sore throat; this is the dangerous part. In scarlet fever there is sore throat, none in measles. In scarlet fever the patient seems to have no cold, as in measles. If the urine is not free, drink flax-seed tea or lemonade. Gargle the throat with red pepper, vinegar and water, or a solution of chlorate of potash. The main thing is to bring out the rash and keep it out. Nothing can compare with frequent warm baths for this purpose; or, if there is much debility, warm sponge baths. Check thirst with lemonade, buttermilk, etc. Keep the room cool and well ventilated. Meat or poultry broth and soups may be given. Scarlet fever is a disease that must also run its course, and the patient is to be protected by careful nursing, from death or some of the unfortunate complications that so frequently follow this disease.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Fattening Turkeys on Time.

We never had any luck trying to fatten turkeys until this season. We used to give them all the corn they would eat, putting it out on the ground in a pile where they could help themselves. The trouble was they wouldn't eat, but would go around day after day, picking frostbitten grass, and walk around the heaps of corn without touching it, as though they had a suspicion that Thanksgiving was coming. We thought we would try if possible to get the last lot of turkeys fat, and so we inquired of everybody, and at last found a farmer who fattened about one hundred annually. His practice was to shut them up about two weeks before he wanted to market them, and to feed them cornmeal mixed with water. We confined ours in a box-stall, and gave them a fresh supply of wetted cornmeal daily, with clean water for drink. At the end of two weeks they were plump and fat, but not being ready to dispose of them they were kept a week longer, when one of them was found dead. We were satisfied that there was no disease among them, and that this one had died from excessive fatness, or paralysis which had been caused by its plethoric condition. We killed the turkeys immediately killed, and found that they were, if anything, too fat. Hereafter we expect to fit our turkeys for killing without failure, but we are satisfied that they should not be confined longer than two weeks. Turkeys will not bear confinement for any length of time, as it is their nature to roam around and take a great deal of exercise, and when deprived of it they will not do well. I recollect, when a boy, shutting up a large gobbler in a hogshead into which a little light came at the bottom. Through this opening corn and water were given. This turkey became very fat. Some people fatten them by the cramming process, that is, by opening their beaks and forcing pellets of corn meal down the throat several times a day until they are gorged. In this way they can be fattened in a few days. Of course this system is impracticable for a large number, and is an unnatural way to put them in good condition.—Exchange.

Bound to Pass.

A pleasant illustration of the quaint shortcomings that characterize the passport system is afforded by the confessions of a Hungarian waiter who has just returned to his native city, Pesth, at the expiration of a four years' professional tour through Servia, Roumania, and the Slavonic provinces of European Turkey. This waiter applied in the autumn of 1876 to the police authorities of Pesth for a passport, which however was refused him, upon the ground that he was unable to exhibit certain requisite proofs of his identity, such as a certificate of birth, baptism, and so forth. Determined to carry out his project, he contrived to obtain a blank of the printed and stamped permits for the conveyance of horned beasts over the state railways. This paper he presented at the first frontier he found himself called upon to cross on quitting Hungary—that of Servia—and the official to whose inspection it was submitted, being probably ignorant of the Hungarian language, and seeing an official stamp and signature duly appended to the body of the document, granted without hesitation the usual visa. The visa thus obtained, others followed up its authority, as a matter of course; and, when the owner of the permit consigned it to official custody on his return to Hungary, it was covered with imperial, royal and princely frontier recognitions of his identity with the animal of which it set forth the description as follows: "One milch cow, aged seven years; color, reddish brown; distinctive marks, the right horn broken near the tip."

No, Sir!

A Scotch minister once said no woman could bear pains well as a man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her hand by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, says he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his "Favorite Remedy" to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" at one dollar a bottle is the thing for female weaknesses and all complaints arising from bad blood. But that Scotchman was mistaken.

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of

HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Turbercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

Humoring Children.

It is good to humor them in all natural manifestations and cravings of their affections. A child hungry-hearted for love, is one of the saddest sights in the world. Hardly less pitiful is the condition of a little one who is perpetually repressed or discouraged in the sweet impulses that prompt it to give expression to its love. That way danger lies. The boy or girl will not easily go wrong whose arm is twined morning and night around mother's neck, or whose head is welcomed to its cuddling-place on father's shoulder. It is on the side of their affections that children are most easily held and guided, and the firmest rein is the invisible, golden chord of love. It is good to humor children in following their natural bent in all right and helpful directions. Remember that education is only the leading out of powers and faculties that are within. Encourage, therefore, such inclinations towards books, studies, mechanics, music, out-of-door pursuits and healthful sports, as shall help most truly to develop your child. As education comes more and more to include the development of a natural aptitude, it will be more and more successful. It is good to humor your children in preserving their individuality, and in fostering a true self-respect. Teach them early the value of a dime and a dollar. If you can give them but five cents a week, tell them what it cost somebody in labor, and hold them strictly to their allowance. The philosophy of early training is to make the child father to the man—mother to the woman. The homely proverb, "As the twig is bent, the tree inclines," is not yet outgrown. It is as true as in ancient times, that if some twigs are permitted to grow as they incline, the tree will be a crooked one.—Golden Rule.

—Mr. John C. Collins and wife, of St. Paul, are astonished at a remarkable peculiarity only lately observed in their son, a boy ten years old. The boy is a healthy one, with nothing odd in his appearance, except that close observers might consider his head disproportionately large. He attends a lower town school, and in school appears as a rather bright scholar, but without particularly studious habits—just a stout ten-year-old boy, with a boy's inclination for play and mischief, but quick to learn when he has to study. The peculiarity is that the boy's left hand is a wonderfully strong magnet. Metal articles of light weight attach themselves to his hand so that considerable force is required to remove them. Knives, pins, needles, buttons, etc., enough to cover his hand, will thus attach themselves so firmly that they cannot be shaken off. Still more, the attraction is so strong that a common coal-scuttle can be lifted by it, and heavier implements have been lifted by stronger persons taking hold of his arm. With heavy articles, however, the boy complains of sharp pains darting along his arm. In a lesser degree his left arm and the whole left side of his body exert the same power, but it is not at all manifest on the right side.

"New Fangled Notions"

may not work injury to people when they relate to matters of little consequence, but when entertained as to what we shall take when afflicted with serious disease they may lead to dear experience. Don't therefore trifle with diseases of the blood manifested with eruptions, blotches, scrofulous and other swellings and grave symptoms, but take that well tested and efficacious remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the greatest blood purifier of the age. If the bowels are very costive use also Dr. Pierce's Pellets (little sugar-coated pills).

CURES FEVER AND AGUE.

PLEASANT VALLEY, Jo Daviess County, Ill., March 31st, 1879.

DR. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I write this to inform you that my child, one year old, has been permanently cured of the fever and ague in a weeks time, and the use of but half a bottle of your Golden Medical Discovery. My wife a long sufferer from liver complaint and billiousness, by the use of the Discovery and Pellets has been entirely relieved. The Discovery has never disappointed us for coughs and colds.

Yours truly, JAMES STRICKELL.

—The Philadelphia Sun says "there is no truth in the report that a signal service man wrote Hail Columbia." But it is generally believed that Vennor wrote "Beautiful Snow."

OVERWROUGHT AND FEEBLE NERVES are quieted, digestion promoted, and the system strengthened, by the Liebig Co's renowned Coca Beef Tonic.

—One way of doing a good thing to those who despitefully use you is to knock them down.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the power of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress and enlightenment would indeed be marvellous.

—A Philadelphia judge has decided that the cat is an animal. Those individuals who have insisted that the cat is a steamboat, will see how badly they were mistaken.—Philadelphia Chronicle.

The Greatest Cure

should be taken in preparing medicine for the sick. It has been taken in the article known as "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading druggists and grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

—"What is there," asks an exchange, "more cheerful and homelike than the busy hum of the sewing machine?"

"Nothing, unless a boiler-shop can be called homelike," answers the Chicago Tribune.

Two Years Ago!

I was a sight to behold, and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health, and can eat anything. What did it? Sulphur Bitters cured me of dyspepsia and liver complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. B. Manchester.

—When a fellow goes out of the theatre to see a man, he eats a little burnt coffee, and always finds his man. When a woman looks under the bed for a man she never thinks to eat any coffee, and she finds nobody.

Teachers, authors and others of sedentary habits highly prize Malt Bitters.

New Idea in Temperance.

The following, which we clip from an exchange, relates to what seems to be a new thing in temperance. If the plan of licensing the dram-drinker instead of the dram-seller were practicable, and put in force, there can be no question that it would do much to stop "respectable" tippling: "It is said that in Oregon drinkers of intoxicating liquors, instead of the sellers, are required to take out a license. We are not sure that our temperance friends may not get a useful hint from this statement. If every drinker visiting a saloon or tippling house were required to to have a license before he could buy a dram, there would be a great scarcity of respectable and moderate drinkers in those places of temptation. Besides, licenses would seldom be granted to those who are already drunkards, or who are habitually over-free of stimulants. Here would be protection for the drunkard and hard drinker. No minor would ever get a license, and they also would be kept out of danger. Why not adopt the plan, and make the penalty of selling to any who could not show a license, imprisonment in all cases? This would not, to be sure, prevent the use of liquors at home or in private, but it would go a great ways towards restricting its use and putting an end to what are called low groggeries."

News and Notes.

Two members of the military band at Fort Adams, Newport, R. I., broke through the ice while going to the fort from the city, Friday afternoon. They were rescued after much exertion by Ida Lewis, keeper of the Lime Rock lighthouse, who offered them an asylum at the light station, and on their declining it accompanied them to the shore, to make sure they got there safely. This makes about seventeen lives she has saved.

During a wind storm at Marion, Oregon, Friday, a schoolhouse containing one hundred persons was carried eighty yards from its foundations. Many of the pupils were hurt, but none killed.

The schooner reported wrecked by the ice off Plymouth, Mass., is the Willism of Ellsworth, Me., laden with carboys of vitriol for the Standard Fertilizer Co. of Duxbury.

There is terrible suffering and destitution among the poor in Minnesota, from the severe winter. One whole family were found dead, and it is feared that many others have perished.

The "committee on temperance" of the Maine legislature has reported leave to withdraw on the petition for a license law, and to allow the manufacture of beer and wine.

An unknown man broke through the ice at Fall River, Mass., Sunday, while skating, and was drowned. A few hours later, Wm. Law, a spinner, and Samuel Varley, a weaver, were skating, Law drawing his son, five years old, and Varley his son, aged eight, on sleds, when the ice broke, and all four were drowned. Warning as to the dangerous condition of the ice had previously been given in the Fall River papers.

The coal famine is becoming serious. The demands on the producers come from all quarters, and the stocks at the central depots are exhausted, miners not having been able to get out much coal owing to the severe weather.

Chicago harbor and the lake in its vicinity were frozen over on Sunday, for the first time in thirty years.

The jury at Cambridge, Mass., in the case of Charles D. Hatch vs. George W. Fuller, an action brought by Hatch to recover for the loss of the services of his daughter, a girl twelve years old, who was seduced by the defendant, brought in a verdict of $2000 for the plaintiff.

The flood in the Sacramento valley, California, has caused damage that cannot yet be estimated. About 3500 square miles of the valley are under water, most of the cities are flooded, and the loss of stock is enormous. The aggregate of losses will be stupendous.

Tom Davis had some photographs taken, at Zanesville, Ohio, and gave one to Lizzie Murray in the presence of Ida Bridwell, who wanted one too. Tom would not part with another picture, and Ida at once committed suicide.

The British steamship Romania, before reported ashore at Shack river, N. J., got off on Saturday by the assistance of wreckers, and proceeded to New York uninjured.

Charles H. Moore, a young man belonging in Newburyport, has been indicted by the superior court in Salem for forgery. The alleged forgery consists in an application to the city clerk last July for a license of marriage with a girl only fifteen years old, Moore alleging that her mother consented to the marriage, her father being dead. The mother denies having given her consent, and the clergyman who married the pair, Rev. S. J. Spalding, brings the suit, being himself liable under the law unless he can show that he was imposed upon. Should the charge of forgery be sustained, Moore is liable under another statute for abducting a girl under sixteen years of age from her home for the purpose of marriage.

At Mountain Home, Ala., Feb. 3d, Robert Letson shot William Davidson and Rev. J. N. Pickens, killing the latter instantly. Letson assaulted Davidson in a public road, and Pickens attempted to prevent bloodshed, though having no interest in the quarrel. Letson, after shooting Davidson, turned and shot Pickens deliberately. Davidson may not recover. Pickens was a minister of the Campbellite church, well educated, highly respected, and was the greenback candidate for governor of Alabama at the November election.

At a house-raising in Ripley county, Mo., Feb. 1st, an old farmer named William Tipton was murdered by a young desperado named Carroll Mussey, with a billet of wood. There was no quarrel, and the murder proceeded from pure wantonness. Mussey escaped.

Walter Blackwell, about twenty years old, a resident of West Sandwich, Mass., left home early last Friday morning with a dog and gun, for rabbit hunting. Late in the day, not returning, search was made, and in the evening his dead body was found. Near by sat the sportsman's faithful dog, which had to be killed, as he would allow no one to approach the body. On examination it was found that Blackwell had been shot by the accidental discharge of his gun, the charge, composed of buckshot, having entered the unfortunate man's chin, passing through the head.

Zavier Wilhelms, a saloon keeper of St. Louis, Mo., killed his mistress in a fit of jealousy, Friday evening, and then shot himself.

Ship Adrianna, 1300 tons register, left Galveston for Liverpool with 4000 bales of cotton, Feb. 5th, but struck on the outer bar and was totally lost. Crew saved.

The Cunard steamship Batavia, which left New York for Queenstown on Wednesday, Jan. 19th, has not yet arrived, and considerable anxiety is felt concerning her safety. The Gallia, which left New York a week after the Batavia, has arrived at her destination. The Batavia had twenty-two passengers and a full cargo.

A bear weighing 460 pounds was killed by a farmer in Wales, Mass., a few mornings ago, after it had destroyed three sheep and two calves.

A mysterious and fatal disease has attacked the herds in New Mexico, and the cattle are reported as dying by thousands.

A story comes from Edinburgh, Scotland, of extraordinary outrages committed in that city Saturday night. Six persons are reported shot. There is a suspicion, not yet traceable to any definite cause, that Fenianism was at the bottom of these disturbances.

New Hampshire Items.

It is stated that the "high contracting parties" representing the railways interested in the Central Vermont line have held a meeting, and discussed their differences with a prospect of harmonizing matters so that the business will return to the Northern railroad, and the lobby of the legislature next June be deprived of the plum from which such sweet succour has been anticipated.

Mrs. Sarah Caverno, aged eighty-eight years, widow of John Caverno, has used spectacles for many years. Recently she had lung fever and pneumonia, and was not expected to live; but she got better, and then had the mumps. She is now quite well, and is able to read the finest print without the aid of glasses.

The express passenger train over the Cheshire railroad, leaving Boston at six o'clock Saturday night, when near Fitzwilliam ran into a freight train. John L. Davis, the engineer, jumped off and slipped down the bank under the train, breaking his neck. Baggage Master Caldwell and Brakeman Pike were more or less injured. No passengers were hurt. Engineer Davis leaves a widow and one child at North Walpole. He was about fifty years old, and had run sixteen years for the Cheshire company. The fireman, who remained on the engine, was not hurt.

Congress.

—Frank Thomas arrived at Rochester, Minn., on his wedding trip, and there saw the opportunity to steal a mule. If he fled with the beast, he must leave the woman behind. The mule was sleek, fat and handsome, while the bride was scrawny and ugly. He deserted his wife and stole the mule.

—The dance known as "The Racquet," is tabooed in fashionable circles at the national capital. It is a little too muscular for the parlor ornaments and effeminate snobs who frequent the ball rooms and the "society" dances. It is rather too much like work, to stand up for ten or fifteen minutes and kick your legs out sideways with a swinging motion like the penculum of a clock.

AROUND HOME.

Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick of Rye has recently returned from a visit to Washington.

The steamer Clara Bateman towed the barkentine Arthur C. Wade to the lower harbor on Monday. She is bound to the West Indies.

A lot of foreign wool has just reached Sawyer's mills at Dover, the duties upon which amounted to about thirty-two thousand dollars.

Rev. J. W. Sanborn, formerly of South Newmarket, is now editor of the "Genesee Christian Advocate," published semi-monthly at Perry, N. Y.

The date of the appearance of the Boston Museum company in "The Guv'ner" at Franklin theatre has been changed from Feb. 22d to the 26th.

Editor Dodge of the Portsmouth Weekly was in town last evening, and made a stirring speech to the members and visitors of Equal Rights lodge, in social conclave assembled.—Dover Republican, 5th.

Between four and five hundred lobsters were brought in from the Isles of Shoals on Sunday evening, which is the best catch of them made this winter. They were sold to C. Sullivan & Co.

We shall publish to-morrow a pen-and-ink sketch of a well known and respected resident of our city. Copies of the CHRONICLE and the GAZETTE may be found at Moses Brothers' newspaper store.

Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin, of Greenland, who was severely hurt some time ago by falling into the hold of schooner Wm. P. Hood, was able to sit up for a short time on Sunday last, for the first time since the accident occurred.

True Seavey and wife, of Dover, on the evening of the 3d inst. celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage. The couple have resided on South Pine street in that city for fifty years, in the house where they were married, and during all that time have been subscribers to the Enquirer.

On Saturday last Andy H. Brown, the little son of Josiah T. Brown, was severely scalded about the legs by the accidental tipping over a kettle of hot water upon him while playing by the stove, causing portions of the skin to cleave off, and forming several large blisters; although only five years of age, and suffering intensely, the little fellow endured the dressing of the wounds with the utmost fortitude.

Everybody who has read Jules Verne's famous story "Around the World in Eighty Days" will be likely to attend its dramatic representation at Music hall on Wednesday evening, for it is seldom outside of the large cities that it can be seen, especially with all its wealth of scenery, a full ballet and orchestral accompaniment. The performance is asserted to be not in the least of the "blonde" style, but on the contrary a brilliant spectacular entertainment of a refined order, depending for its success entirely on its beauty and the attractive manner in which it is put on the stage.

Mr. A. D. Jenness, who lives on Marston's island, crossed the Little Harbor river on the ice to Leach's island on Monday afternoon with a horse and drag, and hauled back two stones weighing about six hundred pounds. The distance is about half a mile, and the tide was one-third flood. The oldest inhabitant, if he had been present, would have owned up that such a feat had never before been performed. Such at least was the opinion of Mr. Joseph R Holmes, who is getting out stone on Leach's island for the new church in this city, and who loaded Mr. Jenness' drag.

John G. Sleeper, a well known resident of North Hampton, where he has been largely engaged in cider making, is missing. Nothing has been heard of him for about four weeks. His headquarters are in Boston.

Atwood Adams has purchased of Chas. H. Sides that portion of the March farm in Greenland known as the "Tomb field," and has removed thither one of the cottages which stood near the railroad, on the March place, and intends to put in order for occupancy in the spring. The building was hauled across Mr. Folsom's land to the corner of the Newington road, and thence to its present site.

Haverly's troupe of genuine colored minstrels are to give an entertainment at Music hall this evening. They comprize forty performers, including sixteen end men, and played an engagement at the Howard Athenæum, Boston, the past week, to crowded houses. A grand "exhibition drill parade" through the principal streets will be given by the company on arrival. See advertisement.

A youthful pair were made one in this city not long ago, apparently to their mutual satisfaction. Next morning the happy bridegroom appeared in public with his bat canted down over his nose and listed tremendously to starboard, to conceal as far as practicable an uncommonly-black black eye. How he came by that black eye is the question which now agitates the minds of the young man's acquaintances, as he declines to give them any information on the subject.

PORTSMOUTH SAVINGS BANK.

At the annual meeting of the corporation of the Piscataqua Savings bank, held on Monday, the board of trustees were re-elected, as follows:

Ichabod Goodwin, Edw. P. Kimball, Wm. L. Dwight, John H. Broughton, Robert C. Peirce, John W. F. Hobbs, Ephraim C. Spinney, Emmons B. Philbrick, J. Albert Walker, John H. Hutchinson, and Alfred F. Howard.

Ichabod Goodwin was re-elected president, and Robert C. Peirce secretary and treasurer.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Feb. 7; Batchelder, J.

Ed. Clark, Henry Robinson and Rob't Keyes, for drunkenness, were each fined $5, the costs in each case being taxed at $6.90. None of them having so much money to spare, Robinson went to jail and the other two to Brentwood.

ELM STREET.

Mr. Editor: The Elm street crossing at the junction of Vaughan street, is apparently used by the Eastern railroad for shifting purposes. This street (Elm) is a great thoroughfare between two of the largest towns of New Hampshire, viz.: Portsmouth and Dover; yet, be the weather cold or hot, in winter or summer, residents are obliged to await the management of the train hands before they can proceed to their homes. Neither are the hands to be blamed, for the reason that they act according to the orders of their superiors. Parts of seven compact streets of Portsmouth are thus blockaded, one of the most important points of which is the upper end of Market street, by which the whole travel from the adjacent parts of the state of Maine arrives at this city. Of course accidents are of frequent occurrence, some of which have been fatal. If the unfortunate individual to whom the casualty happens may have friends or influence sufficient there may be damages accorded; but this will not bring back her or him to health and life; and this will not prevent the railroad from future accidents.

Cases in point: A lady during the late cold term while riding in a carriage to her home, was stopped by a freight train on Elm street, and was obliged to leave the carriage, climb over the cars, and make the best of her way home on foot. Another case is that of an old lady now eighty-four years of age, who in returning home "down town" from "Christian Shore" during the summer, was compelled to wait until after midnight. She was advised to crawl under the cars, as the train reached from far up on the north mill pond to Portsmouth bridge. Being unable to accomplish this feat, by dint of a couple of hours of coaxing she succeeded in getting the cars unshackled so as to admit a transit. As to fatal accidents, for obvious reasons it is unnecessary to recapitulate them.

The board of aldermen of this city has continually attempted to exercise its authority for the suppression of this and similar abuses; but an order from the aldermen amounts to but little more than the Pope's bull against the comet. There has long been a current report that the railroad corporations have no legal rights at all in crossing these streets with locomotives; further the deponent saith not.

What is the remedy? Must this city, already burthened with debt, come to the rescue of the Eastern railroad corporation? or shall the aforesaid corporation take care of itself with its own means and its own territory, of the latter of which it has plenty? CIRCUMVALLATOR.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The laborers on the navy yard were on Monday engaged in dumping snow into the reservoirs on the yard, to provide water for steaming purposes.

The heirs by the will of the late Aaron McKenney of Saco have filed a motion for a new trial, the object of which is to have the judgment of the supreme court with reference to the codicil overruled, and its validity established.

One of the Kittery coasting captains is engaged in forming a company to build a new schooner at Kittery, to be employed in the general coasting business.

Hon. John Hall of Berwick has been elected vice president of the New England Agricultural society, and Moses H. Hussey of Berwick one of the trustees.

The damage by the fire at the grammar-school at Kittery foreside was less than was at first estimated, Messrs. Adams & Parker having contracted to repair it for less than $200.

York harbor was frozen over to a thickness of from six to nine inches by the cold weather of last week, and all the fishing vessels were frozen in at the wharf. Considerable ice cutting was found necessary before they could be extricated.

Dr. M. F. Wentworth, of Kittery, on Sunday removed from the leg of Mr. Charles L. Fabour, of Kittery point, a bullet that was lodged there at the first battle of Bull Run, in July, 1861. We say "the leg" advisedly, as Mr. Fabour possesses only one of those useful appendages, unless a wooden leg is to be counted; for after sufficiently recovering from the wound received in his first battle he returned to active service, and finally lost his previously sound leg at Antietam.

On Saturday evening, just at dusk, as Elmer E. Riley, son of Mr. Jesse Riley of Kittery, was out gunning for partridges, he was startled by the appearance of a large animal which from his description and the appearance of the tracks is believed to have been a wolf. The creature apparently paid no attention to the boy, who did not gather his wits enough to shoot at the animal until it was sixty yards or more away, the charge of small shot then having no visible effect either in stopping the animal or hurrying his movements. The boy describes the creature as being the size of a very large dog, and it is possible that it was what made the tracks about the Bra' Boat Harbor farmers' barns.

She Won the Bet.

Thomas D. Locke, who lives on a farm between Dover and Great Falls, took advantage of the dry spell to dig his well deeper, the water in it having given out. Water was reached in abundance at a depth of fifty feet, but after the water was struck nobody could be found who would go down in the well to stone it up, on account of the supposed danger of a cave-in. As no man could be found to go down and lay the stones, Mr. Locke was on the point of abandoning and filling up the well, and digging a new one. While discussing the matter in the presence of his family, his hired girl, Bertha Perkins, made the remark "that the men were not over and above courageous, and that she would go down and place the bottom stones herself." Mr. Locke, doubting the sincerity of her remark, offered to bet a five dollar note that she dare not make the attempt. Another man offered a present of a nice pair of gloves, and another a fine cashmere shawl in case of her being successful. The bet was eagerly taken, and the necessary preparations commenced; and with pinch-bar in hand she descended the well by means of a derrick used for hoisting up the stones and dirt, and was lowered in a box to the depth of fifty feet, placed the stones as she was ordered by the overseer, who was standing at the top, and laid the foundation in a workman-like manner, to the surprise and satisfaction of all concerned.

SOME FACTS!
NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE, BUT HOME TRUTHS!

It DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Crops don't grow in the thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, any sophistication in medicine or aliment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood,) DR. SMITH'S is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $50,00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alchol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure, I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frost-bite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Ferson School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

CHEAPEST IN THE WORLD!

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 1875, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Naval Affairs.

The Alliance arrived at Key West on the 4th inst., all well.

The Yantic arrived at Halifax, N. S., Feb. 7th.

Chief Engineer F. C. Dade is ordered to examination before the retiring board.

The additional $1.50 per month allowed enlisted men in the navy from July 1st, 1870, has been included in the rate of pay fixed by the general order of June 30th, 1880, for the ratings of finisher, boilermaker and blacksmith of the engineer force.

Noble Johnson has been arrested for ku-kluxing an obnoxious republican in Fleming county, Ky., last November. As ku-kluxing has never been interfered with in that county before, the excitement over this "federal outrage" is intense. Thing's have come to a pretty pass if a Kentucky democrat is to be called to account for shooting or flogging a republican, or burning his barn.

Judge Tourgee, author of "A Fool's Errand," shows by the census tables for 1870 that the number of "carpet-baggers" who went south after the war was only about 10,000, and that the republican party in the southern states must have been largely composed of whites of southern birth, known in the local parlance as "scalawags."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says that "Kentucky holds the scales of justice level by acquitting every white man who is known to have committed murder, and by lynching every colored man who is suspected of having committed a disturbance of the peace."

The Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier says the democrats of that state must stand by their friends who have been arrested for violation of the election laws; that "they did what was necessary, and their cause was the cause of the democratic party." There is frankness.

In October last, at Philadelphia, a criminal prosecution for libel was instituted by Thos. H. Dawson against Chas. E. Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press, for publishing a statement that at a democratic parade Dawson had exhibited a rebel flag. The defence rested on the truth of the publication. The jury on the 5th inst. rendered a verdict in favor of Mr. Smith, the prosecutor to pay all the costs, it having been proved conclusively that Dawson did display a rebel flag as charged.

The Boston Post asserts that the New York World is "owned and controlled by Jay Gould," and intimates that therefore it is no longer to be accepted as democratic authority. The allegation of fact will probably not be denied, but the conclusion is likely to be strongly resisted. There is a good deal of democratic work to be done, aside from promoting the consolidation of railway and telegraph lines, with the ulterior purpose of selling the latter to the government. The World has a mission to prevent the coalition of the democratic party with the greenbackers, to resist the Bourbonism of its party in the south, to put the democracy of the state of New York as between its urban and rural elements upon speaking terms, and generally, when no election is pending, to hold high the standard of a constitutional government. With these things Jay Gould is not likely to interfere. The influence of the World is in the democratic party; it must retain that influence or it will be of no service to Jay Gould. Wherefore we infer that the Post has imagined itself at the end of its journey, because it has put on its spurs. The Post should be more forbearing; we did not read it out of the democratic party when it encouraged Garcelon and his council to betray republican institutions; we rather thought it more democratic than usual, according to modern democracy. The World is only on another switch.—Providence Journal.

—If you intend to be a millionaire never visit a church fair.

—He had just landed from a three years' whaling voyage, and, overcome by his joyful reception, found himself before the court. "Your honor," he said, plaintively, "I'm a simple sailor, lowly born." "Thirty days for the drunk, six months for 'Pinafore,'" was the ringing sentence; and the poor tar, bewildered, was dragged to his dungeon cell and deprived of telephone communication.

—"Father Ignatius" has been repeating some marvellous tales to a Sheffield, Eng., audience. He affirms that he sent one of the leaves of the bush in which apparitions vanished to a lady who had suffered excruciating pain forty-eight years through a diseased hip-joint, which she was suffering, and immediately the hole, which was as large as a shilling, disappeared, the discharge and the pain ceased, and since that moment she has been able to walk like other people. The lady is vaguely described as the proprietor of a school at Brighton.

—The magnificent ice mountain in the Niagara river, below the falls, was the scene on Sunday of an exciting accident and a narrow escape from drowning. The mountain has been formed by the spray of the falls and such accumulations of snow as have fallen on it. John Andrews, an English tourist, while seeing what was to be seen from the summit of the mountain, slipped and went suddenly down in the direction of the river. In his frantic endeavors to save himself he had the nails literally torn from his fingers. He only stopped in his terrible career within a few feet of the river.

One of the easiest things to catch, and at the same time one of the most difficult to get rid of, is a cough or cold. Dr Bull's Cough Syrup, however, always proves equal to the emergency. Price 25 cents.

—The newest bonnets have very short strings, but they are not as short as their owners are after paying their millinery bills.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Turbercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and loaded with germs of life it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed) JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are unpossessed by any other combination.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

The New England Smelting Co.

Strange as it may appear, it is asserted that one-half of the mines of New England, of proven value and worth, are lying idle for lack of funds. This, too, with tons of ore upon their dumps, and veins of richness exposed, and ready for working. This is primarily due to there being absolutely no home market for the ore. One hundred pound and five hundred pound lots are satisfactorily treated, and assays showing great richness obtained; and then tons upon tons are got out to lie idle awaiting a purchaser. The attention of the projectors of the New England Smelting Co. was called to this state of affairs, and the remedy was apparent. Experience has proven that smelters are as certain sources of immense profit to their proprietors as are any enterprises which can be engaged in. The story of the erection of the smelters in Colorado, Nevada and California, and the immediate wealth which flowed into their treasuries, reads like a fairy tale. A company in the Leadville district, with a capacity of only seventeen tons, is earning $150 every day, over and above all expenses. The LaPlata Smelting Co. put $100,000 into the expenses of its construction, two years ago. Up to this time it has paid in dividends $287,000, and has a surplus of $150,000 on hand. These examples show how profitable business smelting is; and there cannot be found an instance in the history of mining where smelting works which could rely on a supply of ore have failed to earn fortunes for their owners. The New England Smelting company has acquired, by lease and purchase, a location in East Boston, which presents unsurpassed facilities for receiving ore direct, either by rail or water; works of a capacity of twenty tons were begun some time ago, and it is confidently expected that the first of March will see smelting commenced. The first, and in all probability the only stock to be offered to the public, is now being sold by the treasurer—10,000 shares being issued, at $1.50 a share, its par value being $5. Of this, fully one-half has already been disposed of, and the numerous applications for subscriptions show that the remainder will be speedily taken. Address for stock, or any information, the company's treasurer, T. Brigham Bishop, 141 Devonshire Street, Boston.

There are now four comets visible to the earth through a good telescope, none of which can be seen with the naked eye. The first was discoverd by Mr. Scrasebele, at Ann Arbor, Mich.; the second by Mr Hartroig, at Strasbourg, Germany; the third by Mr. Lewis Swift, of Rochester, N. Y., and the fourth by M. Faye, of Paris.

Strengthen your voice and remove coughs, colds and hoarseness, by taking Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents per bottle.

George F. Card, employed by the Stonington railroad company, descended into the tar well of the gas works at Stonington, Conn., Sunday, with a lighted lantern. An explosion occurred, resulting fatally to Card.

No, Sir!

A Scotch minister once said no woman could bear pains well as a man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her hand by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, says he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his "Favorite Remedy" to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" at one dollar a bottle is the thing for female weaknesses and all complaints arising from bad blood. But that Scotchman was mistaken.

Dr. Carver of California, and a Mr. Scott, champion wing-shot of England, shot a match at Hendley, near London, on Monday, for £200 a side and the championship. One hundred pigeons were shot at by each man, and Carver won, killing sixty-six birds to Scott's sixty-two. How many birds each half-killed is not stated.

RHEUMATISM. Prof. Wm. C. Richardson, M. D., of the St. Louis Medical College, says: "I have ordered Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel to be applied locally in Rheumatism, and with most marked relief in every case." Beware of worthless imitations under ours and similar names. Also cures piles, catarrh, neuralgia, painful menthlies, old ulcers, lumbago and weak eyes.

In a colliery at Cheadle, North Staffordshire, England, an explosion took place on Monday by which from fifteen to twenty persons lost their lives.

Fickle in appetite, irresolute in mind, and subject to melancholy, try Malt Bitters.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1881.

A Fusion Saint.

Much excitement was lately occasioned in Mechanic Falls, (Minot,) Me, at the revelations in regard to the swindling operations of the "Eastern Manufacturing Company," and the discovery that one of the prominent citizens of that town, and a present representative in the Maine legislature, in short, no less a person than "the Hon. Thomas B. Swan," was the head of the concern. The "company" sent thousands of circulars through the country offering to send a corn-shelling machine or a scythe-sharpener on receipt of one dollar for packing, etc. The bait took, and a great many registered letters came through the post office, all of which were received by Swan. The innocent senders of money received for a "corn-sheller" a bit of hoop iron, and for a "scythe-sharpener" a bit of pine wood with sand stuck on it. It is known that $500 at least has been thus received by the "company" from its dupes. Recently Swan called for a letter, which the postmaster refused to deliver. He immediately suspected that something was wrong, and left for parts unknown by the first train.

It is further alleged that "the Hon. Thomas B. Swan," besides being the Eastern Manufacturing Co., has been the "Mechanic Falls Jewelry Co.," the "Ricker Rake Co.," and the "Poland Manufacturing Co.," all in the same line of business as the "Eastern," viz., swindling through the mails. His aggregate stealings in this way it is said amount to thousands of dollars.

This fellow Swan has been one of the most prominent fusionists in Maine, and we believe was their candidate for speaker of the present House of Representatives. He was one of the two immaculate fusionists who swore that republican agents attempted to bribe them with $1000 apiece to vote with the republicans in the legislature last year, in order to nullify the "brute scoundrelism" of Garcelon and his infamous council; the other one of this virtuous pair was Mose Harriman of Kennebunk; and they both swore that they accepted the bribes, only to expose the bribers. Those who knew Harriman best scoffed at his story; but Swan's yarn about his being offered a bribe by Wallace R. White left in the minds of many people a lingering suspicion against the latter's probity, though White swore positively that Swan lied. Perhaps, now that Swan is exposed as a sneak thief of the meanest variety, Mr. White's statement concerning him will be fully credited.

Marine Disaster.

The Leyland line steamship Bohemian, Capt. Grundy, which sailed from Boston for Liverpool on the 27th of January, went ashore in Dunlough bay on the Irish coast during a terrible storm on the night of Feb. 6th, and became a total loss. Of those on board thirty-two were drowned, and up to the sending of the despatch on the 7th inst. twenty-one of the crew, including the second officer, had been saved. Another survivor could be seen on a rock separate from the main land, but all efforts to rescue him had so far failed. Two life boats had been capsized in the attempt. Life saving apparatus had been sent for. A tug had just arrived at Crookhaven with the survivors, who are all sick from exposure and bruises. The steamer had a full cargo, but carried no passengers.

The Bohemian was 400 feet long, registered 3113 tons, and was worth about $500,000. Her cargo was valued at $237,000. The total loss of life will probably turn out to be about forty persons, as her crew numbered over sixty, all told.

Congress.

In the Senate, Feb. 7th, Senator Butler of South Carolina, otherwise known as Massacre C. Butler or the "Hamburg butcher," defended the "honor" of his state from the attack upon it made by Senator Conkling in a speech last September, in which Conkling alluded to the frauds in the census which it was at that time believed had been committed in South Carolina. Butler's language and manner were worthy the good old "antebellum days," or the leader of the murderous ruffians who butchered the unarmed colored men at Hamburg.

In the House, on the 7th, the magnificent steal called the river and harbor bill was negatived by a decided vote. This is understood to signify that no more millions will be squandered on trout brooks, to aid in the election of the congressman from "the deestrict."

News and Notes.

Ferguson & Co.'s pork-packing establishment in Indianapolis was burned Monday night; loss $500,000.

A portion of the New York Central depot at Buffalo, N. Y., was crushed by the snow, Tuesday, and four men were killed.

A heavy rain storm at New Orleans on Sunday caused a flood that threatens a disastrous inundation. Crevasses in the new and old levees occurred, submerging a portion of the city on Monday, and it was feared that the whole would be flooded.

Gen. George H. Pearson, postmaster of Salem, Mass., died on Tuesday.

The Virginia board of public works on Monday sold the state's interest in the Atlantic, Mississippi & Ohio railroad, amounting nominally to $4,000,000, for $500,000.

Sunday night Nebraska had the heaviest snow storm of the season, the snow being very heavy with water, but further west it was drier and drifting. A storm of sleet in Wisconsin and Iowa, Monday, broke down telegraph wires and delayed railroad trains.

The town of Monroeville, situated sixteen miles east of Fort Wayne, Ind., was partially destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. Nearly all the business part of the town was destroyed, and the loss will aggregate $100,000.

On Saturday two attempts were made to get a load of nitro-glycerine blasting cartridges put aboard the steamer Edward Bell, of the Bridgeport line, at the pier in New York. Both times the drivers of the teams made their escape when threatened with arrest, but on the second occasion the explosives were seized, and stored by the police down the harbor. It is supposed to have been a villainous attempt to blow up the vessel.

The German ship Bremen was wrecked near Lerwick, Shetland islands, on Friday, and thirteen of the twenty men composing her crew were drowned.

A controversy concerning the ownership of some mining property on Taylor mountain, near Leadville, Col., culminated Sunday night in a fight between nine men stationed to guard the property, and eighteen men in the employ of the other claimants, who about midnight attacked the guards without warning. The latter returned the fire, and a fusillade was kept up until daylight, when the guards surrendered. One of the guards, O. E. Field, was killed, and Ed. Philips severely wounded. None of the attacking party were injured.

Mrs. Catharine M. Realt, widow of the poet Richard Realt, who committed suicide in New York several years ago, has brought suit for libel against the publishing house of J. B. Lippincott & Co. The ground of complaint is a biographical sketch of the poet, written by Rossiter Johnson, and published in Lippincott's monthly as long ago as March, 1879. In that article the plaintiff was spoken of as a woman of the town, and she was further handled without gloves so roughly that she claims she has been damaged $20,000, and she has been greatly injured in her good name, fame and credit, and brought into public scandal, infamy and disgrace.

The Ohio legislature has passed a bill to prevent the consolidation of the telegraph companies, except by methods already provided by law for the consolidation of railroad companies. The bill is now a law.

SOME FACTS!

NO FANCY FAR-OFF EVIDENCE, BUT HOME TRUTHS!

IT DOES its work WELL, pleasantly and speedily. Good common sense folks say so. Nature's law is harmonious. Grapes don't grow on thorns, nor can health be attained by the use of poison in whatever name, or by stupefying medicine or ailment, (which only impair nutrition and impoverish the blood.) DR. SMITH'S is no misnomer, but is just what it purports to be. It cures and that is why it sells. Some dealers have sold $30,00 worth in a day. No blistering, smarting medication. No opium, camphor, alchol, capsicum nor water, Not a drop! Pleasant and even on a delicate infant, as all know who have tried it.

Electric Oil!

200 Doctors say so.

It has cured many severe cases at small expense. It has cured Mumps in Dwight. It has cured Tetter, Scurvey, Deafness, etc., in Pontiac, when everything else failed, as the oldest druggist there says himself.

PONTIAC, Dec. 20th,

A young man here suffering from Scurvey on the head over 15 years, all the doctors failed to cure. I cured with 3 bottles of Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," and the man gave me $50.00. I never knew it to fail in such cases, and I have used it in deafness and other cases with eminent success.

J. STREAMER, Druggist 25 years.

It is the only safe cure of deafness. Try it on any pain, sore, burn, etc.

Ask anyone who has ever used it, what they think of DR. SMITH'S ELECTRIC OIL. It is a sure cure for sick headache, and 20 drops is the largest dose. It instantly relieves a burn, frostbite, felons, gathered breast and all painful sores and swellings, leaving no scar whatever.

Wm. H. Morse, Janitor of Ferson School, Chelsea, cured his foot, which was so badly frozen that he feared amputation.

DR. SMITH invites all candid Physicians to test this splendid remedy freely. No more humanitarian act could be done. Advice free. Come and be cured. Bring on the worst cases and you will see the charming results. Everybody should keep it on hand for any emergency, as a burn, wound, etc.

GEN. JOSIAH G. HADLEY.

Few men in our city who have been known so generally among our residents and to persons visiting Portsmouth for the last half century, seem to bear the weight of years, to move with more elastic step, and to enjoy unimpaired bodily and mental vigor as well as does our well-known citizen whose name stands at the head of this column. General Hadley was born in December 1800, at Bow, and removed to the town of Dunbarton in 1809, where he went to live with Daniel Storey, a prominent farmer of that town, with whom he spent several years as a boy on his farm. Mr. Storey was the father of Daniel Storey, long the agent of the Eastern Stage company in Portsmouth, the younger Storey having come to Portsmouth from Dunbarton to seek his fortune. He lived many years ago in the house where the late Charles W. Brewster lived and died, on Islington street, and subsequently resided on Cross (afterwards Hanover) street, in the same house with the late Joshua Johnson, whose livery stable was on the site of the house now owned by Mrs. G. V. Rowe. In February, 1820, the senior Storey brought the then young Hadley to Portsmouth, where upon the recommendation of his former employer he was engaged as porter at the Portsmouth hotel, then kept by James Wildes. The hotel then did a large business. The stage passengers en route between the state of Maine and Boston stopped here for dinner and for lodgings, and with guests from the country filled the house. Hadley then went into the stable as hostler. The stable was a large brick building, and the country stages were put up there. A large number of merchants and business men were constantly coming to Portsmouth in their own vehicles, and the large stable with its paved yard was a busy spot from early morn to late at night. Mr. Hadley then went to Nottingham square as hostler for the Stage Co., whose line ran to Concord, and changed horses at the square. Leaving Nottingham he went to Deerfield parade and worked a year, and thence to Deerfield and South Deerfield, and finally to Northwood. This line of stages which ran to Concord went over the Northwood turnpike, and a line connecting with the Portsmouth and Concord stages went from Northwood to Meredith bridge. Mr. Hadley drove the stage on this line for three winters and two summers, reaching Meredith bridge (now Laconia) late in the evening. He missed but a single trip, and that was when, on one winter evening when one of the "old-fashioned snow storms" had filled the roads with almost impassable drifts, he reached French's hotel at Gilmanton corner in a single sleigh, with the mail. Mr. French, who was the father-in-law of the late Woodbury Melcher, formerly of this city, told Mr. Hadley that the roads between the corner and Meredith bridge were absolutely impassable that night, and could not be gone over until broken out on the following morning. "But," said Hadley, "I've got the mail and must go through." He was finally persuaded, however, to abandon the undertaking, upon Mr. French's assurance that he would assume the responsibility for all damage by the detention of the mail.

Mr. Hadley then returned to Portsmouth and went into the service of Eben Clark (who came to Portsmouth from Sanbornton) in the Farmer's hotel, which had been built on the site of a house formerly "Elkin's place of entertainment," and which stood at the corner of Pleasant (then Court) and Warren streets, the latter then called Pond lane. After Mr. Clark's death, in 1828, Mr. Hadley was in copartnership far a while with Mr. Clark's widow in keeping this hotel, and subsequently became the sole proprietor, owing the real estate and the hotel furniture, etc. The house was rebuilt by Gen. Hadley in 1833, and renamed the Piscataqua House. This establishment always did a large business, reduced of course to some extent after the advent of the Eastern railroad, but at one time it was the resort of a large number of country dealers who constantly visited Portsmouth to purchase goods and for other business purposes. When the United States government was in want of a site for a building for a court house, custom house and post-office, Gen. Hadley in 1857 sold this estate and the buildings were torn down, as were the two buildings south of it, one owned and occupied by the late Leonard Cotton, and the other by the Rockingham bank. Gen. Hadley bought the estate in 1831, of Elkins. The Farmer's hotel was opened by Mr. Clarke in 1824, and after its close in 1857, Mr. Hadley was out of hotel business until 1865, when he purchased the furniture and took a lease of the Franklin house, (which name followed the "Portsmouth hotel" when Mr. Barnabee took it as landlord about 1839, and was the same establishment where five and forty years previously Mr. Hadley began as porter,) which he kept for three years, during a period of which time he had as a partner his son-in-law the late Joseph C. Perkins. He retired from this establishment in 1868.

The General's military history shows the same kind of promotion that he experienced in his business career. In 1833, while a private of the Rockingham Guards, Capt. Robt. Lefavour resigned his commission as captain. At a meeting of the members of the corps, Mr. Hadley was unexpectedly chosen captain, having received every vote cast save his own, which he threw for Nehemiah Moses, then an officer of the company. He at once protested that he did not consider himself competent for the position, and insisted upon declining. He was urged to consider the matter for a week, and finally at the urgent solicitation of Capt. Lefavour and the members of the company consented to accept, and was commissioned June 29, 1833. He at once set about the study of military tactics, and on the appearance of the company at a public parade shortly after shew he had mastered the subject. The Guards was a fine company. Among the former officers and members who now survive, we recall Henry F. Wendell, subsequently captain, Nathaniel B. Dame, John Woodman Moses, John H. Moran; and John P. Somerby, now of Salem. Gen. Hadley after some years resigned the command, having been appointed in 1836 by Gov. Hill Lieutenant-Colonel of the First Regiment, of which Col. Isaac Frink had the command. In June, 1842, he was commissioned by Gov. Hubbard as Colonel, and two years later was made Brigadier-General. These were in the times when the people of New Hampshire believed, in the words of the constitution, that "a well-regulated militia is the proper, natural and sure defense of a state." Books upon military tactics were not as plenty as to-day, and the difficult achievement was for the newly-made field officer to be able to handle the companies in the field. Col. Hadley, with his Lieut. Colonel, Andrew J. Beck, was in the habit of spending whole evenings together, when with blocks of wood representing companies of men they tested the practicability of the orders as laid down in the book. Upon the field the General was always self-posessed, and gave his orders in such a manner as convinced the most critical observer that he was posted in the knowledge of military matters which his position required.

When Gov. Steele undertook to answer the requisition for troops made by the United States government to carry on the war with Mexico, Gen. Hadley was not at all pleased with the course of the Commander-in-Chief in ignoring the Brigadier Generals as the first means of communicating his orders, and in the belief that the Governor either was ignorant of the rule, or intended to insult the higher officers in the militia, the General resigned his commission and ended his service, June 11, 1846. In 1861 he was captain of the "Old Guards," a company of volunteers from the city of Portsmouth stationed at Fort Constitution, and remained at this post with his company until relieved by the state troops.

In politics Gen. Hadley has always been a democrat, and we think he never omitted to vote a straight ticket at every election since he attained his majority. He was honest in his politics, and though never an applicant for office has served as County Treasurer, in 1840, United States Deputy Marshal in 1837, and as Representative in the Legislature in 1836 and '37. In 1858 he was appointed an Inspector of Customs for the port of Portsmouth.

He was for twenty-nine years connected with the fire department of Portsmouth, the last of his service being as Chief Engineer. He was for nine years captain of the Hook and Ladder Co. This was a volunteer company, the members of which were, unlike those of the fire companies, not exempted from military duty, and of course they served from patriotic motives and the love of the duty. Among the members of this organization were men prominent in the Rockingham Guards and in the Portsmouth Artillery.

Gen. Hadley, while always popular either in his business relations or with his fellow citizens, is noted for a degree of firmness and decision of character. This was seen in his career as a stage-driver and landlord. Although for fifty years accustomed to be where liquor was abundantly drank, he never indulged in its use. While an officer of the militia at musters he never provided wines or spirits at his quarters, and has all his days been a most abstemious man in this respect. To this rule of life he attributes his excellently preserved physical condition.

Gen. Hadley for many years served as a director in the Portsmouth & Concord railroad, during the period of its construction, and in aiding in its early struggles sacrificed several thousand dollars of his property. His acquaintance with the country through which different routes were proposed to be located made him a valuable member of the board of directors.

The regularity of his mode of life has been shown in his constant punctual attendance at the Middle street Baptist church, where he has worshipped uninterruptedly since the organization of the society in 1828. He worshipped with this society while it occupied the Pitts street chapel, and has been a parishoner through all the pastorates since Baron Stowe down to the present time; and his example of constant attendance in his advanced years to-day might well be followed by many younger men.

The General is now retired from active business pursuits, in the enjoyment of a reasonable competence gained by a life devoted to business and governed by sound rules of thrift, good habits and diligence, and bids fair to enjoy these autumnal days of his life for some time to come.

PORTSMOUTH GAS COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth Gas Co., was held at the company's office on Market street, on Tuesday. Ex-Gov. Goodwin, the president of the corporation, presided. The following-named gentlemen were chosen directors:

Ichabod Goodwin, Christopher C. Jackson, John Sise, Ezra H. Winchester, David Kimball.

The officers elected were: Ichabod Goodwin, president; David Kimball, treasurer; Aaron Akerman, superintendent; Thomas R. Martin, assistant superintendent.

A dividend of four per cent was declared, payable March 7th.

AROUND HOME.

The English sparrows have made their appearance on the streets again.

Mr. Fred. Randall is about to open a barber shop at No. 47 Congress street, Frankling building.

On Monday evening the Kearsarge steam fire engine company, No. 3, voted to purchase new hats.

At the Court street church, on Monday evening, the fine readings of Mr. J. E. Lord were listened to and enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience.

The schooner Mary Willey was towed to the Shoals on Tuesday from the cove at Kittery, where she was anchored on Sunday after her unsuccessful attempt to get out on that day.

The exhibition-drill parade of Haverly's Genuine Colored Minstrels, Tuesday, was by far the best thing of the kind yet seen here. A good audience and a good show were seen at Music hall in the evening.

The boilers and tanks which were injured at the burning of the creosoting works at Noble's island, are being broken up and loaded on the cars to be sent away. The new creosoting works will use a new and improved process of impregnating the wood.

There were manufactured at the brickyards on Dover point last season seven millions of brick, and it required three thousand five hundred cords of wood to burn them. Average cost of wood $3 per cord, so that the item of wood figures up $10,500. So says the Democrat.

The arrivals of fish on Monday were as follows: Schooner Sarah E. Babson, 1000 lbs.; Flying Eagle, 6000; John W. Smart, 155; Flying Cloud, 2500; Ev Nichols, 3000; and small boats, 2000 lbs. The demand for fish is gradually improving, and bids for the fares brought in are getting lively.

The lengthened spell of sleighing has brought out several sleighs whose general appearance gives evidence of old age, but the relic which has last showed itself takes the palm; its style unmistakably shows antiquity, the figures 1776 painted on the back not being necessary to substantiate the fact.

Mr. Editor: That pump on Court street which Mayor Sise had taken up last summer would be quite convenient just now, when the aqueduct supply is so short, as that well was never known to fail. Mr. Jones when mayor had all the city pumps and troughs put in perfect order, and they were so kept all through subsequent municipal administrations until the present one. SUFFERER.

A large stack of recently gathered ice at the Eldredge brewery has been housed in by boarding around the top and sides of the pile.

John G. Sleeper of North Hampton, doing business in Boston, who was reported to have been missing for four weeks, denies the story. He was in Boston on Monday.

Charles F. Waterman, for some time past a fireman on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, has resigned that position to become an engineer on the New York & New England railroad.

This evening, at Music hall, the spectacular extravaganza "Eighty Days Around the World" will be presented, with the original scenery used in its production at the metropolitan theatres. The piece is represented by about seventy-five performers, and is an adaptation to the stage of one of Jules Verne's stories.

Each member of the Musical Association should be in attendance this evening at the last rehearsal preparatory to the Convention of next week. A review will probably be taken of all the choruses in "The Messiah" which the class has studied, and a pleasing entertainment will fill the intermission. The singers of the chorus are in better practice than they were at this time last year, and with additions to their number from several towns about us will form a strong body, and carry out their part in the Convention more effectively, if possible, than last year.

Mr. Joseph E. Amazeen arrived home by the three o'clock train, Tuesday afternoon, from Palatka, Fla., with the body of his brother, Clarence W. Amazeen, who was drowned in one of the Florida rivers last season; the body was deposited in the receiving tomb, to await interment on the advent of warmer weather, when the ground opens. Mr. Amazeen left this city for Florida on the 18th ult., and had a very rough passage down the coast; he left Palatka Jan. 30th on his return. Mr. John E. Amazeen, father of the deceased, tenders his earnest thanks to the many friends who have in various ways shown their sympathy with him and his family in their affliction.

INDOOR EXERCISE.

A beautiful specimen of American workmanship is on exhibition in the corner window of Franklin building, in the shape of a full-nickelled 52-inch special Columbia bicycle, made by the Pope Manufacturing Co., by special order of the new agent in this city, for the captain of the Rockingham Bicycle club. It has all the latest improvements, including ball bearings, by means of which the hub of the front wheel revolves upon twenty-four steel balls, reducing the friction to the minimum, as the momentum acquired from one turn of the wheel has kept it in motion over seven minutes. The jar of rough road-riding is reduced by the use of the recently invented cradle spring. The improvement made in this country during the past two years is very marked in every part of the machine, which though strongly built, weighs but forty-three pounds when ready for road riding.

A few evenings since we visited by invitation the headquarters of the Rockingham Bicycle club in the upper Franklin hall, and witnessed the practice drill of the club and the fancy riding of some of the members, who seemed to ride all over and on any part of their bicycles while in rapid motion around the hall, mounting and dismounting at full speed, climbing into the saddles while their machines were standing quite still, and performing the difficult feat of bringing their bicycles to a stop and sitting at ease in the saddle while they balanced themselves without motion. The awkward movements, crooked paths and frequent falls of the green ones who were taking their first lessons in riding, were very amusing—to the audience. The number of riders has nearly doubled since the opening of the riding hall, and the experts devoted to the health-giving exercise upon the ever-ready horse which eats nothing, will be largely increased.

The hall is also used as a roller skating rink, by a private club under the charge of one of the officers of the bicycle club. This amusement, which has had such a run in other cities in this country and throughout England and the continent, has not been introduced here before. In Worcester, Newport and many other cities extensive rinks have been expressly constructed, and are fully patronized. In Portland the city hall is well filled with skaters, and at the recent exhibition of the club a special train was filled with the members and friends of the Lewiston club, which attended by invitation. The hall here presents a lively appearance, and being comfortably heated and ventilated the skaters can enjoy, regardless of the weather, all the advantages and none of the dangers and discomforts of out-door skating. Some of the lady and gentleman members already perform all the difficult figures which are cut with ice skates, and with far less fatigue.

On Wednesday evening of last week we witnessed there the exciting and amusing game of "Rink ball," and the rapid movements of the more experienced skaters were in strong contrast to the struggles of the beginners to keep erect while striking the ball. The rink is especially adapted for those in want of safe and exhilarating exercise, and the membership of the club is increasing. It is hoped a public exhibition by the bicycle and skating clubs will be given before the close of the season. H.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 5th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "I will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

The marriage of Mary Verdnor, of Boston, the second daughter of Isaac Verdnor, to Arthur Hirshon of Helena, Ark., was solemnized after the Jewish form at Boffin's Bower in Boston last Sunday afternoon. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rabbi M. J. Hamburger, there was music and dancing until eight o'clock, when supper was served, after which the dancing was resumed and kept up until a late hour.

The St. Albans Messenger asserts that the opening address delivered at the recent meeting of the Vermont Dairymen's association was taken almost bodily from Dr. J. G. Holland's essays on "Public Education" and "Food of Life." The Messenger quaintly adds that "inasmuch as the association adopted resolutions condemning all spurious articles of food, it is no more than fair that cheating in literary matters by its president should be exposed."

Good Words for a Good Thing.

The papers are so full of exaggerations about all sorts of things that it is hard to believe. Yet all things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be, and deserves the praises that are showered upon it from all who have used it. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with salt rheum from head to foot. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your druggist or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Feb. 2.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 3505; sheep and lambs 9200; swine 13,781; Veals 60; number of western cattle 2736; eastern cattle 269; milch cows and northern cattle 169.

Prices—Extra cattle per 100 ℔s, live weight—Extra quality $6 12½ @ 6 62½; first quality $5 75 @ 6 00; second quality $4 62½ @ 5 25; third quality $4 37½ @ 4 50; poorest grades of oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 @ 4 00.

Brighton hides 9c per ℔.
Brighton tallow 7c per ℔.
Country hides 7½ @ 8c per ℔.
Country tallow 4 @ 4½c per ℔.
Calf skins 10 @ 12c per ℔.
Sheep and lambs skins $1 25 @ 2 00 each.

The demand for beef cattle has not been active as it was one week ago. The supply from the west has been larger and prices upon all grades have fallen fully ½c per ℔ from those obtained last week for the same grades of beef. Cattle coast full as high at the west, but the trade here would not warrant butchers in paying higher prices. The cattle from Maine were not of so good grade as those brought into last market, there being more cows and working oxen in proportion to their number, and but a few bunches of nice beef cattle, which sold at 5 @ 5½c per ℔ live weight.

Working Oxen—Extra $50 @ 70; ordinary $25 @ 50; springers $15 @ 40 per head. We quote sales of 4 springers for $150; 1 cow and calf $38; 1 cow and calf $40; 1 milch cow $58; 1 do at $50; only a few extra cows in market.

Store Cattle—Nearly all the small cattle and many of the stores are in a poor condition and are bought up by butchers to slaughter. Very high cost for these cattle at this season of the year.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were all owned by G. W. Rollins, to be taken to the Abattoir for slaughtering purposes, according, limited at Brighton, from 6 @ 7c per ℔, live weight.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices have advanced during the past week, coasting from 6½ @ 6½c per ℔, live weight, landed at the slaughter houses.

Fifty democratic election officers in Mississippi have pleaded guilty to charges of fraud committed at the November election.

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of

HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed) JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

One of the latest books of the "No Names Series," published by Messrs. Roberts Brothers, of Boston, is "Don John," which is short for Donald Johnstone, and is a good novel of nearly four hundred pages. The plot is the favorite English one of babies changed at nursing, but in this case the parents of the heir, as also the reader, are kept in doubt all through the book as to whether the children were mixed up or otherwise. It finally appears how this is, just in season to gratify our curiosity before we finish the volume. Our Don John is a hero, not only of a story but in the author's conception of the true, noble, unselfish and devoted son and brother. A young lady with a bookish turn, who writes for the magazines, to the surprise of the average reader has the good fortune to love and be loved. The usual erring son with a decidedly uncontrollable kleptomania is in striking contrast with his foster brother, and we wonder that the author (who it is hinted is a celebrated writer) should dare to set aside the theory that blood will tell, by the denouement at the close of the volume. Uniform with others of the series: price $1; Myers has it.

The "Young Ladies' Journal" for February contains a large amount of miscellaneous reading matter, besides its illustrations and articles on fashion, and will be found a very interesting as well as useful number to its many lady readers. Published by the International News Company, 31 Beekman street, New York. Price 35 cts. per number.

We have received the February number of the "Folio," containing its usual amount of reading matter, with a number of songs and marches, and a portrait of Mme. Valleria, the popular singer. This is one of the cheapest musical monthlies published.

Specimens of the New Version.

The revised version of the New Testament is nearly ready for publication. It is said that 500,000 copies are printed for a first edition, and that the price will put them within the reach of all. A few "advance copies" have already been distributed in London, and some specimens of passages which have been changed are given by the London Record. The most characteristic of these we print below, with the King James version, to afford better opportunity for comparison:—

Revised Version.	Common Version.
MATTHEW VI. 9-13.— Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in Heaven, so on earth. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgives us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.	MATTHEW VI. 9-13.— Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

—"Judge," said a western lawyer, "isn't e-q-u-i the way to spell equinomical?" "I think so," said the judge; "but I'll look it up in Webster's dictionary." He fumbled over the pages for five minutes, and then said, in heat: "Well, I've been a Webster man, and voted for him for President, but any man that will write a dictionary and leave out such a common word as 'equinomical' can't have my vote any more."

It is a great pity to see how many people allow colds or coughs or go untreated and thus pave the way to an untimely grave from the effects of consumption. A pleasant, safe, reliable and cheap remedy is Dr. Bull's Syrup. Price 25 cents.

—The Stockton, Cal., Herald says that one of the girls at the paper mill there found a registered letter containing $125 in greenbacks. The letter came in the papers that were procured in the San Francisco post office. The letter bore a recent date, the 16th ult. Not being familiar with greenbacks the girl did not know the value of the "find," and divided with her companions. It must be an extremely droll girl who does not know a greenback when she sees it.

Two Years Ago!

I was a sight to behold, and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health, and can eat anything. What did it? Sulphur Bitters cured me of dyspepsia and liver complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. B. Manchester.

—When the lady of an elegant mansion on Galveston avenue came to the door, the letter carrier was very mad. He said, "I've been knocking at the door for the last fifteen minutes." "Oh, don't distress yourself about it on our account. You didn't disturb us at all. We are used to it. We thought it was only a tramp." And that letter carrier tramped off, shaking his head, and saying something about his salary being too small.—Galveston News.

Consumption or debility in its first stages promptly arrested by Malt Bitters

—"Joe, my dear," said a fond wife to her husband, who followed the piscatory profession, "Do brighten up a little, you look so slovenly. O, what an awful recollection it would be for me if you should get drowned looking so!"

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1881.

[Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N.H., as second-class matter.]

Congress.

In the Senate, Feb. 8th, Mr. Blair of New Hampshire introduced a proposition to amend the constitution so as to forbid the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors after the year 1900. It prohibits the manufacture and sale anywhere within the United States and territories of distilled alcoholic and intoxicating liquors, or any intoxicating liquors mixed or adulterated with ardent spirits, or with any poison whatever, except for medicinal, mechanical, chemical and scientific purposes. It also prohibits the exportation and importation of such liquors and their transportation through any part of the United States, except for medicinal and scientific uses, etc. It was referred to the judiciary committee.

In the House, on the 8th, Mr. Briggs of New Hampshire called up the resolution expressing the regrets of the House at the death of the late Evarts W. Farr, representative in Congress from New Hampshire. Eulogies upon the deceased were pronounced by Messrs. Briggs, Hall and Ray of New Hampshire, and by Blunt of Missouri, Bowman of Massachusetts, Updegraff of Ohio, Shallenbarger of Pennsylvania, Black of New Jersey and Sherwin of Illinois; after which the House, as a token of respect to the memory of the deceased, adjourned to next day.

On the 9th inst. about the only business accomplished in either house was the counting of the electoral votes in convention. The Senate, headed by Vice President Wheeler, entered the hall of representatives at five minutes past twelve o'clock. The members of the House arose. Preceding the vice president was the venerable doorkeeper of the House, Mr. Bassett, bearing two mahogany boxes containing the electoral votes. The vice president took the speaker's chair, with the speaker on his left, and then proceeded to call the joint convention to order, saying that in pursuance of the constitution he would now proceed to open the envelopes containing the votes of the electors. The vote of the state of Alabama was opened and handed to Senator Hamlin, one of the tellers, who proceeded to read the certificate. The work then proceeded in routine manner. At half-past ope all the envelopes containing the electoral votes had been opened and counted. The tellers reported that, leaving the vote of the state of Georgia out, Messrs. Garfield and Arthur had received 214 votes, and Messrs. Hancock and English 144 votes. The vice president then declared that James A. Garfield having received a majority of the votes of all the electors is duly elected president for four years, and Chester A. Arthur vice president for four years. The joint convention then at 1:35 dissolved, the Senate withdrawing.

That Black Swan.

An investigation into the doings of "the Hon. Thomas B. Swan," alias the Eastern Manufacturing Co., alias the Mechanic Falls Jewelry Co., alias the Ricker Rake Co., alias the Poland Manufacturing Co., alias the virtuous fusion refuser of republican bribes, was held on Tuesday, Feb. 8th, by the selectmen of the town of Minot, Me., which town Swan represents in the Maine legislature, and his bondmen as town treasurer. A note was presented by Washington Dean for $1,380, written on a town blank; and another for $500, by Mrs. M. S. Cushman. The town cannot be held responsible for these, but individuals will be the losers, unless Swan is found. It is feared that fusion has received a bad set-back in Minot.

A special reporter of the Lewiston Journal has obtained at Mechanic Falls a copy of a letter from Swan to his father-in-law, Hawkes, dated at Toledo, Ohio, and received on Saturday, Feb. 5th, in which Swan makes a full confession. He says that he is a defaulter to the town to the amount of about $1076, and that he has raised $3130 on his personal notes, given by him to persons who thought they were receiving the town's notes. Swan says he was led into embezzling the town's money by his losses in stock speculations, and feels his disgrace. He has sent to his bondsmen assignments of his property to protect them. Among other things are orders for his pay as a member of the legislature.

The Bohemian Disaster.

The wreck of the steamer Bohemian it is said was due to the misapprehension by the third officer of the captain's orders. The steward states that when the captain found a fog setting in he instructed the third officer to "keep two points off." He then consulted the chart, and on going on deck and looking at the ship's course, exclaimed "Good God! What are you doing? Hard aport!" The ship struck soon afterwards. The second officer, who was below at the time of the disaster, and was saved, attributes the accident to the third officer mistaking the captain's orders and keeping her two points off the wind instead of off the shore. The captain gave orders to go full speed astern before the ship struck. On the morning after the accident there was nothing to mark the scene of the wreck beyond large quantities of wreckage which washed ashore. The masts had entirely disappeared. It is now ascertained that thirty-five persons were drowned, including the master, the first, third, and fourth officers, the chief, second, third and fourth engineers, and three quartermasters. Two invalided sailors sent from Boston by the British consul were also drowned. The survivors are the second mate, the boatswain, the steward, the store keeper, the boatswain's mate, seven firemen, three seamen, a boy, the second and third stewards, Cornelius Sullivan, (it is not stated whether the latter was one of the crew or a passenger,) and a stowaway whose name is not ascertained. The man who was seen clinging to a rock for many hours after the wreck, could not be saved.

New Hampshire Items.

The Great Falls Free Press and Journal have been consolidated, and are now published by E. O. Lord & Co., the proprietors being Edward O. Lord and Mrs. L. H. Burleigh.

The appeal of the Northern and Concord & Claremont railroads from the assessment of the board of equalization for 1879, was heard at Concord on the 8th inst. before the board of referees, consisting of E. S. Cutter of Nashua, Wm. Butterfield of Concord, and Wm. Clark of Claremont.

Monsen Hatch's dwelling in Strafford was burned on the 5th inst., through a defect in the chimney. Insurance $900.

News and Notes.

Miss Violet Brown, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Ex-Gov. Gratz Brown of Missouri, was in the upper story of a public school at St. Louis the other day when the building took fire. While the teachers were subduing the panic and trying to take the children out in safety, the girl stepped to the window, opened it, and jumped down upon the roof of an extension of the building, a distance of eight feet, caught hold of the lightning rod, and slid down to the ground.

The value of last year's cranberry crop on Cape Cod is estimated at $800,000 to $360,000.

All the stock of the new Merchant's Telegraph Co. to connect New York and Chicago, has been taken.

The steamer City of Ludington left Milwaukee for Grand Haven, Mich., Jan. 24th, and had not arrived at her destination on the 7th inst. Tugs were sent in search of her on the 8th, but it is feared she is lost with all hands.

The old part of the New York Central depot at Buffalo, N. Y., which fell in ruins Feb. 8th, killing four men, was 450 feet long and 100 feet wide. It was not crushed by the weight of snow on the roof, as at first reported, but fell from the weakening of the walls by cutting arches to connect with the new depot recently built. There was a vast mass of snow in the roof, however, and the walls would probably have stood but for that.

Oregon has had widely-extended and disastrous floods. In Yokan county eighty per cent of the live stock was drowned, in Wasco county fifty per cent, and in the section east of the Cascade mountains the loss was very heavy.

The California flood caused considerable loss of human life, but just how much cannot yet be told.

The proposed river and harbor steal now before Congress foots up $10,179,800, of which enormous amount only $373,000 is proposed for the New England states.

Wade Sipple is dead. In the days of reckless gambling on Mississippi steamboats, he was a famous thief. His exploits in stealing the money which professional gamblers had won were extensively related. But of late years, when out of prison, he got a living by petty pilfering, and died poor at the age of eighty years.

Two vessels which arrived at London on the 8th inst. reported passing a disabled two-masted steamship about fifty miles off Fastnet. It is thought this may be the missing Cunard liner Batavia.

The treasurer of the United States is required to give a bond in the penal sum of $150,000, with condition not only for "the faithful performance of the duties of his office," but for "the fidelity of the persons to be by him employed," thus making him pecuniarily responsible for the honesty of all the persons employed in his office. In consideration of the peculiar responsibility thus assumed by him, the privilege of selecting his employes was accorded to the treasurer from the establishment of his office in 1789, until some time after the appointment of Secretary Sherman. It was then held for the first time that the treasurer was not entitled to any voice in the selection of his subordinates, and all appointments have since been made by the head of the department without consulting him.

Miss Marianne North, a pretty English artist, is making a tour of the world with very high credentials, for the purpose of painting the distinctive flowers that grow wild. Sir Joseph Hooker, director of the Botanical gardens at Kew, vouches for her artistic powers, her botanical knowledge, and her intrepidity as an explorer.

By a fire in the Victoria docks at London, Feb. 9th, eighteen railway trucks, twelve grain-laden barges and four storage sheds were destroyed, two ships much injured, and other damage done.

Advices from Melbourne fully confirm the report that the much dreaded phylloxera has made its appearance in the vineyards of Australia. A select committee of the Victorian assembly recently paid a visit to the vineyards which are planted on the Barrabool hills, near Geelong. They found that one of the vineyards was unmistakably smitten with the disease, the insects being visible even without the aid of a magnifying glass.

The dean of Westminster, Dr. Stanley, has been making a speech at the Workingmen's college at Ipswich, Eng., and he took the opportunity of ridiculing the "vox populi, vox Dei," proverb, and of calling newspapers "mere sounding brass." The people's voice and newspapers in England, however, have had a good deal to say in the formation and the development of the liberalism to which the dean owes his deanery and his father owed his bishopric, and few men have been through life fonder of popular applause and newspaper renown than the dean. Public sentiment and the newspapers, however, lately have been so bold as to oppose and thwart the dean's project for setting up a statue in Westminster abbey to the son of the author of the coup d' etat and Sedan, and in consequence the dean is very sour over the public and the newspapers just now.

—The London Telegraph says that in the poorer parts of London, drinking water is not obtainable. What of that? Drinking water is what they never want there, while they can get gin at two pence a drink.

—A stout man with strong lungs, who lives in Saco and has a telephone in his place of business, had occasion to speak to a Mr. Belknap of Portland recently. After getting the connections all right he called out: "Mr. Belknap!" Just at this point a boy in the office put some grease on the stove which caused a bad odor. "What is that smells so?" suddenly exclaims the stout man in a testy tone. "I don't smell anything," came a faint voice over the wires. Mr Belknap thought the Saco man made the remark for his benefit.

—Brignoli, the tenor, in company with a number of gentlemen, was recently entertained at Lexington, Ky., by H. Price McGrath. After dinner some one asked Brignoli to favor the party with a song. He replied that singing was his profession, and he only practised it upon the stage. A short while afterward he expressed a desire to see Mr. McGrath's horses. The latter told him that racing horses was his profession, and that if he would come to the next spring meeting, an opportunity to see his horses would be afforded. Brignoli returned to his hotel without getting a glimpse of Tom Bowling or his stable mates.

AROUND HOME.

St. Valentine's day approaches. Look in the show-window of Montgomery's store.

Washington Anderton has succeeded Col. John Bracewell as agent of the print works at Dover.

Mr. Thomas Kennedy, of the firm of Thomas Kennedy & Son, manufacturers of hosiery, died on the 9th inst., after a short illness.

The February term of the supreme court for Strafford county began at Dover on Monday of this week, Hon. I. N. Blodgett presiding judge.

Mr. John R. Hanscom, of Eliot, was presented with a very handsome gold-headed cane on the evening of the 9th inst., a gift from the ladies of the town.

Edward P. Banks, formerly of the 15th Reg't N. H. Vols., and Mark A. Scott, who has been a member of the Portsmouth Guards for several years past, have been commissioned 1st and 2d lieutenants of that company.

The schooner Ev Nichols picked up off Kitt's rock on Wednesday afternoon of this week a spar buoy with chain attached, supposed to be the one placed in Fort Constitution cove for the convenience of the lighthouse steamers for mooring.

A very good audience attended the performance of "Eighty days around the world" at Music hall on Wednesday evening, and seemed well pleased, the only complaint we heard being as to its length. The piece affords the means of passing an evening very pleasantly.

The following extract from the local columns of the Philadelphia Sunday Times of the 6th inst. will interest many persons in this city: "Naval Constructor Hitchborn is a happy man. He is at last the father of a fine boy. The young constructor is doing well."

The subscribers for season tickets to the Musical Convention next week can now select the seats which they prefer, at Preston's. Season tickets, tickets for single concerts, with or without reserved seats, and rehearsal tickets, will be on sale at the same place during convention week.

At the brokers' board in Boston, Feb. 9th, $4000 of Eastern railroad 4 1-2 per cent bonds sold at 105; at auction, $4000 of the same bonds changed hands at 104 7-8. New Hampshire six per cent bonds of 1897 brought 120; Cocheco Manufacturing Co.'s stock, 855; Laconia Manufacturing Co., 565.

The following is a list of the arrivals of fishing vessels on Wednesday, the 9th inst., with their fares: Schooner Flying Eagle, 2000 lbs.; Celia, 2500; Christie Campbell, 13,000; Helen F. Tredick, 1000; Bonita 6000; Celia, 2500; Comet, 500; Grace Choate, 2000; Magellan Cloud, 5000. The Ev Nichols and the Lucy came in light. Price of fish, $2.75 and $3.00. The schooner Helen F. Tredick has hauled up for the present.

"Freaks," which is to be played at Franklin theatre on Saturday evening, is not a mere sketch, in which the first act simply serves as an introduction to a variety performance in the second act, as is the case with many of the pieces now on the stage; it is a farcial comedy, with a well-defined plot upon which all the action depends. The performers are all good, and the entertainment they provide is superior to that offered by any similar company which has been here this season. All those who saw "Freaks" when it was played here some weeks ago will see it again if possible; and an evening's mirth is assured to everybody who attends. See advertisement.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Steb. Dumas of Hampton was turning from Congress into Fleet street, when the sleigh upset, throwing Mr. Dumas out. The horse ran up Fleet street, through Hanover, Vaughan, Congress and Market streets, and was caught by persons working on the streets near Spring hill. Mr. Dumas was uninjured, the horse was slightly scratched on the legs, and the sleigh though on its side during the escapade, received but little injury.

RAISING A CHURCH DEBT.

On Sunday, the 6th inst., at the close of the morning service in the First Parish church, of Dover, Rev. Dr. Spalding stated that Col. John Bracewell desired to say something, and the latter gentleman went forward in front of the pulpit, and after stating his purpose to leave the city and sever his connection with the church and society, he came to the matter of business which was in his mind. In altering and remodeling the church edifice two or three years since, a debt of nearly $12,000 had been incurred. He felt that he was in a good measure responsible for causing that debt, inasmuch as he strongly urged and helped to push forward the marked improvements in the church, and he was anxious to have the debt wiped out before he left the city. With this view he would renew the offer of sometime ago, to pay one-tenth of the whole amount himself, provided the other nine-tenths could be raised by other means. [The exact debt is said to be $11,500, one-tenth of which would be $1150, thus leaving $10,350 to be raised.] The proposition of Col. Bracewell, in the way it was put, had a marked effect upon the congregation, and many thought if the attempt had been made then and there the whole amount would have been raised in fifteen minutes; but Dr. Spalding gave notice that a meeting to consider the matter would be held in the Strafford bank on Monday afternoon.

On Monday, before the hour set for the meeting, Mayor Murphy, Ex-Mayor Stevens, Charles H. Sawyer, Mrs. Frank Hobbs and her sister, Miss Christie, each subscribed $1000 to the fund, making a total, with Col. Bracewell's subscription, of $6150. The remainder of the obligations were provided for at the meeting, and the parish will be soon clear of debt.

ROUGH BOATING.

On Sunday forenoon, the 30th ult., Mr. Orren Lamprey left Boon island for this harbor in a two-masted whaleboat, to bring in the wife and two-years-old child of Mr. Paschal Fernald of Kittery, one of the light-keepers. At about eleven o'clock the boat entered the mouth of the river, but the quantity of floating ice was so great that a passage through it could not be made. Mr. Lamprey then attempted to land at the United States quarantine station, and also at Pocahontas point, Gerrish's island, but the mass of pack ice rendered it impossible. As a last resort he ran back to the cove just westward of the Burnham place, hoping to reach the beach there, the occupants of the boat being almost chilled through and discouraged, having been about four hours in the boat, and seeing but small chance of being able to get out of it.

But the ice was found as heavy in the cove as elsewhere, and it was impossible to force the boat through it, while it was too rough, broken and treacherous to allow of its being walked over. In this dilemma Mr. Porter R. Emery, the manager of the Burnham place, came to the rescue, and after some little time succeeded in getting to the boat one end of a three-inch rope used for mooring Mr. Burnham's yacht during the summer; three yokes of oxen were hitched to the shore end of the line, and in a few minutes the boat—ballast, crew and all—was "snaked" over and through the ice to a high-and-dry point on the beach.

The shipwrecked crew were of course hospitably entertained by Mr. Emery; and after they were thawed out, as Mrs. Fernald was anxious to reach home, Mr. Emery yoked the oxen to a sled and took her and the little child as far as the house of Mr. Warren H. Riley of Kittery, from which point the road was broken out, and Mr. Riley harnessed his horse and carried them the rest of the way.

The boat was unhurt by her rough usage, and on Saturday, the 5th inst., Mr. Lamprey launched her off the beach and started for Boon island; but the wind came out ahead, and as the boat's centreboard was frozen he was unable to make the island, and was seen from the lookout on the Burnham place to run for York harbor. He probably reached the island next day.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Commander Thomas H. Eastman has been ordered to temporary duty at this navy yard.

Mrs. Sarah F. Shapleigh of Eliot was called upon by about a hundred friends and neighbors, on the evening of the 3d inst., and a delightful evening was spent. A collation was served, and when the visitors departed, in the small hours of the morning, it was found they had left behind as souvenirs of the occasion a number of desirable articles, including a set of silver knives and forks, butter knife, sugar spoon, dessert spoons, ornamental lamp, etc.

The ship Bremen, before reported wrecked near Lerwick, Shetland islands, with the loss of thirteen men, registered 1279 tons, and was built at Kennebunk in 1868. She was owned in Bremen, Germany.

The sleighing on the post road in Kittery and York is said by travellers to be as bad as it is possible for sleighing to be. The road resembles a mammoth washboard, with the hills and valleys all running crosswise. In some places the cradle-holes are so close together that there is no room between them for ridges.

Mr. Charles L. Favour, of Kittery Point, concerning the removal of a bullet from whose leg mention was recently made in the CHRONICLE, did not, as stated in that item, get shot in one leg at the first battle of Bull Run, and then lose the other leg at Antietam, as he was not at Bull Run at all. He received both injuries at Gettysburg, the bullet recently removed hitting him first, inflicting a disabling wound; and when a mile from where the fight was raging, on his way to the rear, he was hit again, this time the good leg being shot off.

The First Oil Well.

For several years before 1858, says the Boston Commercial Bulletin, a firm in New York had received a gallon of petroleum a day from Titusville, for use in a liniment, the oil being gathered by dipping a blanket into a spring on which it floated, and then wringing out the blanket. The firm failed, and the Titusville property went to its creditors. The latter sent, as their agent to look after their new acquisition, Colonel E. L. Drake, who had seen long service as a railroad conductor, and was a sharp business man. He became satisfied from his observations that "Seneca oil" possessed more properties than had ever been credited to it, and that a fortune was in store for the man who could secure it in any quantity. He suggested the notion that the oil could be obtained in paying quantities by sinking a well. He was laughed at as a lunatic by Pennsylvanians. He succeeded, however, in interesting some capitalists in the novel theory, and in organizing the Seneca Oil company, of which he was appointed manager.

In the spring of 1859 he began sinking a well on Watson's flat, about a mile below Titusville. The project was considered so ridiculous that it was only with the greatest difficulty that he could hire assistance in his work. He finally secured the services of an old salt borer named Smith, and his two sons. The boring of the first petroleum well was begun on the 1st of July, 1859. When the three men quit work at sundown on the 29th of August they had drilled to a depth of sixty-nine feet, six inches. The elder Smith was the first at the hole the following morning, and to his astonishment it was filled with oil. A barrel of it was dipped out in a few minutes, and the news of Colonel Drake's sanity ran like wildfire up Oil Creek valley. The discovery was flashed over the country, and then began the ever-memorable oil excitement which made and beggared men before it subsided. To-day the oil region is honeycombed with wells, and farmers who own no oil stock are skimming from the waters of the creeks hundreds of gallons of the stuff which is running to waste.

Colonel Drake did not fully realize the mine of wealth which had been opened, and complacently pumped his well while others seized the golden opportunity and secured the lands along the creek, which could then be obtained for a song. He continued his operations in petroleum, but not to such an extent as a larger headed man would have done. He was dazed with what he already had; he could not keep what he had made. He was a generous liver; he rode in his carriage; he took no thought of the morrow. In 1860 he was elected justice of the peace for Titusville, an office then worth about $3,000 a year. In 1868 he sold his property and went to New York, where the fortune he had accumulated in the oil regions was speedily absorbed in Wall street's maelstrom. His health gave way, and upon his wife devolved the provision for the future. She removed the family to Vermont, with the little she had been able to save from the wreck. But their troubles deepened; and even the exertions of his wife could not keep them from the poverty which stared them in the face. Their funds were soon exhausted, and his malady developed into a neuralgic affection of the spine which threatened entirely to incapacitate him. It was almost by accident that his friends learned of his wretched condition, and generously saw to it that he should no longer suffer from a lack of money, and a suitable fund was provided for him.

In 1870, with his family, Colonel Drake removed to Bethlehem, where they have since resided. In 1873 the legislature of Pennsylvania granted him a pension of $1,500 a year during life, which will be continued to his wife as long as she may live.

—The prudent man now goes and borrows a lawn mower from his neighbor. The neighbor is very ready to lend it at this season, and by the time he wants it will have forgotten what he did with it.

—A provincial acrobat hesitates before a trapeze on which he is about to do a daring feat. His manager angers. "Miserable man, you have no courage!" "Miserable yourself," answers the trapezist; "you promised me six dollars, and you now wish to give me only five." "What then?" "Well, a fellow will risk his life for six dollars, but not for five!" —Figaro.

—Sarah Bernhardt tells, incidentally, the following story of herself: In reply, one day, in London, to the many flattering utterances from a crowd of British admirers in the green-room of the Gaiety theatre, she said: "To act that part a person should be young and handsome." To which Lord ——, who had been warmest in his praise, replied: "Ah, madam, you are a complete proof of the contrary!"

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 1873, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

A Monopoly Undermined.

For some thousands—perhaps millions—of years the bees have held a monopoly of the business of producing "genuine honey in the comb," but they are now beaten clean out of sight by their human competitors; and the manufacture of "butter" from tallow is being outdone in New York by that of "clover honey." According to a correspondent of the Atlanta Constitution, who has been looking through the manufacturing industries of the metropolis, the honey comb is made by machinery of paraffine wax, and is an exact imitation of the regular thing, except that the bees fashion their cells of walls only 1-125th of an inch wide, while human artificers have not yet become that deft. The cells are filled with glucose, which is the sweet syrup of common corn, and looks and tastes like honey. The cells, once filled, are closed by smearing a hot iron plate over the wax tops, and the product is sold as the "best clover honey." It is in great demand, and outsells the regular honey. This recalls to mind the success in making wooden hams of a Connecticut man, who was so skillful an inventor that an old sea captain who bought three dozen hams of his manufacture ate all but two of them before he discovered that they were made of white oak.

Political.

The Indianapolis Sentinel, a democratic paper, editorially makes the assertion that Mr. Tilden gave $50,000 to the late democratic campaign fund, in $25,000 installments, and then told the solicitors they must not call again.

Mr. Montgomery Blair says in a recent letter to a Missouri friend, "Lee told my father in the room in which I write this note, when my father at Lincoln's request offered him the command of our army, that he was utterly opposed to secession—regarded it as anarchy—and said if he owned every slave in the country he would freely surrender them rather than see the Union dissolved, and yet he took up arms for the cause he himself had pronounced illegal and ruinous, because his relatives and friends were involved in it."

Peru is the paradise for greenbackers, and they should hasten thither with all possible dispatch. There one gold dollar equals eleven of paper, and shoes cost all the way from $25 to $70 per pair. Cabin passage from Callao to New York is purchased for $4000 in Peruvian paper. Six officers from a United States vessel recently got their dinners at a Lima restaurant. The bill therefor was $60, but the keeper gladly took $6 in gold and gave them a receipt in full.

Grandmother Says!

When she was a girl that her mother always gave her sulphur and molasses to purify her blood, but she now gives Sulpher Bitters to her grandchildren as it is the best medicine she ever saw.—The Father.

—A French physician's experience goes to prove that widowers commit suicide more frequently than married men, and that the presence of children in a house diminishes the tendency to self destruction in both men and women. People who have lived much in houses and hotels with other people's children will perhaps be disposed to question the latter conclusion.

The Debility Produced by Malaria and the disease itself are effectually remedied by the Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.

—Emma Abbott tells a St. Louis reporter that the stage kiss is "a cold, dim, pale phantom; unsatisfactory, elusive and empty." Miss Abbott should get a new tonor at once.

Twenty Years a Sufferer.

Dr. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I was persuaded to try your Golden Medical Discovery, and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground.

I am, sir, yours respectfully,

WILLIAM RYDER.

87 Jefferson street, Buffalo, N. Y.

—Bayard Daily of Logansport, Ind., shot his betrothed wife, Annie Beckly, because she refused to give him a dirk with which to kill a rival. She was given up to die, but surprised everybody by slowly recovering; and a few days ago, as soon as she could stand on her feet, she was married to the man who had so nearly murdered her.

G. O. Taylor, Old Bourbon.

"This a pure Whiskey, suitable for dietetic and medicinal purposes."

S. Dana Hayes, Massachusetts State Assayer, March 13, 1874.

"No drugs or chemicals of any kind were found in any of the samples tested."

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer. October, 1880.

See that the genuine has the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons over each cork. Druggists and grocers sell it.

—Technical knowledge: A two-foot rule was given to a laborer in a Clyde boat-yard to measure an iron plate. The laborer not being well up in the use of the rule, after spending considerable time, returned. "Noo, Mick," asked the plater, "what size is the plate?" "Well," replied Mick, with a grin of satisfaction, "it's the length of your rule and two thumbs over, with this piece of brick and the breadth of my hand, and my arm from here to there, fur a finger."—Punch.

The invalid's hope and strength beyond all other remedies is Malt Bitters.

—It is announced that it does no harm, but good, to inhale smoke from time to time. It is recommended especially for colds and catarrh.

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of

HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

Judging by Appearances.

In the other years, when Maine was a district of the state of Massachusetts, Ezekiel Whitman was among the chosen to represent the district in the Massachusetts legislature. He was an eccentric man, and one of the best lawyers of his time. In those days Whitman owned a farm, and did much work upon his land; and it so happened that when the time came for him to set out for Boston, his best suit of clothes was a suit of homespun. His wife objected to his going in that garb, but he did not care. "I will get a nice fashionable suit made as soon as I reach Boston," he said.

Reaching his destination, Whitman found rest at Doolittle's City Tavern. Let it be understood that he was a graduate of Harvard, and at this tavern he was at home. As he entered the parlor of the house he found that several ladies and gentlemen were there assembled, and he heard a remark from one of them, "Ah, here comes a countryman of the real homespun genus. Here's fun." Whitman stared at the company, and then sat down.

"Say, my friend, you are from the country," remarked one of the gentlemen.

"Ya-as," answered Ezekiel, with a ludicrous twist of the face.

The ladies tittered.

"And what do you think of our city?"

"It's a pooty thick settled place, anyhow. It's got a sweepin' sight of housin in it."

"And a good many people, too."

"Ya-as, I should reckon so."

"Many people where you come from?"

"Wal, some."

"Plenty of ladies, I suppose?"

"Ya-as, a fair sprinklin."

"And I don't doubt that you are quite a beau among them?"

"Ya-as, I beaus 'em home—tew meetin' and singin' skewl."

"Perhaps the gentleman from the country will take a glass of wine?"

"Thank-ee. Don't care if I do."

The wine was brought.

"You must drink a toast."

"Oh, git out! I eats toast—never heard o' sich a thing as drinkin' it. But I kin give ye a sentiment."

The ladies clapped their hands; but what was their surprise when the stranger, rising, spoke calmly and clearly, in tones orotunde and dignified, as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen, permit me to wish you health and happiness, with every blessing earth can afford; and may you grow better and wiser with advancing years, bearing ever in mind that outward appearances are often deceitful. You mistook me, from my dress, for a country booby; while I, from the same superficial cause, thought you were ladies and gentlemen. The mistake has been mutual."

He had just spoken when Caleb Strong, the governor of the state, entered and enquired for Mr. Whitman.

"Ah—here I am, governor. Glad to see you." Then, turning to the dumbfounded company:

"I wish you a very good evening."

And he left them feeling about as small and cheap as it is possible for full grown people to feel.

Thousands of the most prominent and intelligent persons throughout the land have testified to the true merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. We advise sufferers to use it. Price 25 cents.

—A prudent and far-seeing mother married her two daughters some years ago to a plumber and an ice man, and no matter whether there is a mild winter or a severe one, she has a box at the Charity Ball, and spends the next summer at Newport or goes to Europe with one or other of her sons-in-law.—Puck.

Good Words for a Good Thing.

The papers are so full of exaggerations about all sorts of things that it is hard to believe. Yet all things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be, and deserves the praises that are showered upon it from all who have used it. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with salt rheum from head to foot. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your druggist or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

—A Scotch clergyman at Ayr, a few Sundays ago, prayed: "O, Lord, bless the Established Church, and the Free Church, and the United Presbyterian Church, and all the other churches. Thou knowest the various nicknames, Lord, by which they are called; bless them all."

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Ave., Lynn, Mass., is rapidly acquiring an enviable reputation for the surprising cures which daily result from the use of her Vegetable Compound in all female diseases. Send to her for pamphlets.

—The crafty ice dealers of San Francisco have a trick that does honor to the trade. They annually buy up the crop of an Alaska ice company to the amount of 10,000 tons, which is left to melt where it is cut, while San Francisco and California are served with ice artificially made at an exorbitant price.

Rich in fat-producing material beyonud all other foods and medicines are Malt Bitters.

—"A friend of mine," says Edmund Yates in the London World, "recently returned from New York tells me that the first question asked at Liverpool custom house was, 'Have you any tobacco?' the second, 'Have you Eudymion?' He says he saw large piles of the printed edition that had been seized, which were purchased in New York at twopence the copy."

Almost Another Horror.

In New York, on the 9th inst., the large building occupied by the Western Electric Manufacturing company was damaged by fire to the amount of thirty thousand dollars. It manufactured all the instruments, etc., for the Western Union telegraph company and the Gold & Stock company, and also telephones. The fire began in the cellar, and burning through two floors, cut off egress by the stairways for the 150 girls and men employed in the upper stories. They were obliged to save themselves by the fire-escapes from the outer windows, and all were fortunately thus rescued. At one time there were evidences of a panic among them, owing to the dense smoke and heat ascending from below. The escape of the employes was very narrow.

Storms and Floods.

The storm along the Gulf coast on the 8th inst. was the severest for years, not an entire wharf or bath house remaining between Mississippi City and Biloxi. Barns, hotel and wharf at Mississippi City were destroyed.

The steamer Josephine, from Havana for New Orleans, foundered off Ship island. The passengers and crew took to the boats, and were all saved. The steamer and cargo were a total loss. The steamer was valued at $200,000.

At Pensacola every wharf was more or less damaged, with the exception of the Pensacola railroad dock. Barques Isabella Ridley, Governor Langdon and Camschatka, and the brigs Hattie S. Bishop and H. P. Jones, were blown ashore in the harbor, but were all got off by a tug. A pilot boat was beached by her crew, to prevent her being carried to sea. The bridge between Pensacola and the navy yard was washed away.

At Pass Manchiæ, La. every building was swept away, including the depot and telegraph office. No lives were lost.

On the 9th inst. a general thaw was reported in the west, with a rapid rise in the rivers, and serious danger impending to vessels when the ice should give way, principally in Ohio and Indiana. At St. Louis, Mo., fifty vessels were looking with apprehension at the weakening ice above the city, and with disgust at an ice gorge below, which prevented their running away; but the up river ice gave way gradually, and it was believed would pass without serious damage. At Wheeling, West Virginia, the creek rose to a flood, carried away a bridge, and undermined the Baltimore & Ohio passenger depot.

News and Notes.

Dr. C. A. Nolcini of Salem, Mass., has been arrested and held in $3000 bail for causing the death by illegal practice of Flora A. Converse, a girl eighteen years old, daughter of Frank T. Converse of Salem. The illegal operation was performed at the request of the girl's parents. Nolcini formerly kept a drug store in Newburyport, but afterward removed to Boston. He has served one term of eighteen months in the house of correction at Ipswich, for criminal malpractice. He has some friends left, as he found no difficulty in procuring bail.

In Warren, R. I. on the evening of the 8th inst., Christopher McKenzie was drawing Alice Coyle, aged sixteen, on a sled on the river, when both broke through. The young man was taken out insensible, but was resuscitated. The body of the girl was not recovered.

The second trial of W. A. Trotter for the murder of Claiborne Johnson, resulted on the 7th inst., at Petersburg, Va., in a verdict of involuntary manslaughter, with sentence of nine months in jail and a fine of $50.

Four children of the Lee family in Newark, N. J., were bitten by an ugly dog four weeks ago. On the night of the 8th inst. one of the children was seized with hydrophobia, and died in horrible agony. The others have not yet been seized with it.

All litigation between the Pennsylvania railroad and Western Union telegraph company has been suspended.

A despatch from Carson, Nev., says a concurrent resolution passed both houses of the legislature condoling with the Irish sufferers.

The rear car of a train on the European & North American railroad was thrown from the iron by a broken rail near Wytopitlock station, Me., on the 7th inst. The train was making the usual run at the time, and the car was dragged some distance when it struck a culvert with such force that the trucks were torn from beneath the car, which toppled over on its side. There were seven gentlemen in the car at the time, but they all escaped uninjured. The second car from the rear was also dragged from the rails, and the two were left beside the track, the engine proceeding to Bangor with the smoker, mail and baggage cars.

Total number of letters, 512,931,224; total number of postal cards, 163,048,912; total number of newspapers, 496,706,152; total number of pieces of all classes, 1,605,502,802.

A Las Animas, Cal., despatch says: Sunday night, Feb. 6th, James Butcher and A. O. Polk quarrelled at cards, and Butcher was shot. Polk then threatened to shoot the first man who attempted to lay hands on him. G. W. Herring, badly frightened, started for the door, and was shot through the neck. Both men will probably die. Polk gave himself up.

Information comes from Fort Buford that Scout Allison arrived there Sunday, the 6th inst., with 225 of the hostile Sioux under Crow King, Black Eagle, Good Bear and Long Dog. They surrendered their arms and ponies next day. The scouts who followed Sitting Bull's trail have returned with the information that that chief, with forty-three lodges and many horses, crossed the line into Canada about the 24th ult.

At Walpole, Mass., Feb. 10th, a freight train on the New York & New England railroad cut in two a passenger train on the Old Colony road, and several cars of both trains went down a bank. The frieght fireman was killed and the engineer hurt; a lady passenger on the Old Colony train had her skull fractured, and others were injured with glass and splinters.

There can be but little doubt now that the naval training school will be located at Coasters' Harbor island, which is owned by the city of Newport, R. I. It is at present used as the city's poor house, but by vote in December last the people consented to cede it to the United States government for the purpose suggested above. A deed has been signed by the city officials, and on the 8th inst. the Connecticut legislature formally ceded the land to the general government. All the members of the naval board agreed that this was the best location for the school that could be found.

Crusoes.

Involuntary Crusoes have mostly become so from pure accident, but there are instances to the contrary. Seaman Jeffrey, of his majesty's ship Recruit, venturing to help himself to the captain's spruce beer, was punished by being set on shore on the uninhabited island of Sombrero. Doubtless Captain Lake repented the deed when, on his return to the same latitude some two months afterward, the boat being sent to bring the offender on board again returned with the report that he was nowhere to be found. At any rate the captain had good cause to repent it a little later on, for, upon the matter coming to the knowledge of the admiral on the West Indian station, Lake was tried at court-martial and dismissed the service. At home, Sir Francis Burdett brought the case before parliament, and a search was instituted for the missing man, resulting in his being brought to England in October, 1809. He had lived on the rock of Sombrero for nine days, subsisting on limpets and birds' eggs, when, luckily for all concerned, he was taken off by an American schooner and landed at Marblehead, Mass. A Dutch skipper once thought to get rid of a bad bargain in the same way. Putting into St. Helena, then uninhabited, to bury a dead officer, he left there a seaman who had been condemned to death. Disinclined to accept the situation, the criminal unearthed the coffin, and, after turning out its occupant, launched it on the water, and, thanks to a calm falling, succeeded in overtaking the ship. The captain, thinking his pluck deserving recognition, received him on deck, a pardoned man.—All the Year Round.

—What a happy faculty is that of self possession. A friend dropped in to make a call on a wedding couple who were in the very crisis of a family jar. The evidences of the little unpleasantness were too plain to be concealed, but both smiled a cast-iron smile and the visitor politely observed, "You, madam, I perceive, have a bad headache." "No," she responded, trying to look angelic; "My dear little Fido has just swallowed a buttonhook, and I'm so alarmed." Then he turned to the husband: "And you, sir, are doubtless worried about business affairs?" "No," he said in a sepulchral voice; "Fido has swallowed that buttonhook before, and I'm afraid it won't kill him."—American Queen.

AROUND HOME.

Messrs. Charles Robinson & Son have sold their flour and grain business to Mr. James of Hampton.

The steam tug Clara Batemen went to the shoals on Thursday forenoon of this week, to take out a physician to attend a son of Mr. Ingebredson, seriously ill with diphtheria.

The assignee of the private estate of J. C. Carr of this city has notified the creditors of a dividend of seven and two-tenths per cent on their claims, payable at Utica, New York.

A pair of the finest cattle ever raised in this section have been purchased of Gilbert Hoyt of Newington by C. L. Brown, for slaughtering, and will be exhibited on the hoof in front of Mr. Brown's store on Saturday.

One of the most prominent business men and heaviest capitalists of the city was looking around early this week to see how much stock would be taken by Portsmouth men in a new steam factory, company, in case it should be decided to rebuild the Kearsarge mills. We have not heard what the result of his enquiry was.

To-morrow evening, at Franklin theatre, the New York Criterion company will appear in "Freaks." The company is an excellent one, and the comedy crammed full of fun, as all will admit who attended the play when it was given here some weeks ago. A big audience is merited at Franklin theatre to-morrow night.

The finest specimen of the sea spider, or spider crab, that we ever saw, was brought in on Thursday last by the fishing schooner Florence Nightingale, having been taken on one of her trawls; its legs were all perfect, the longest two measuring fifteen inches in length each, and the queer-looking creature's spread "from tip to tip" was but a trifle less than three feet. It has been sent to Dartmouth college museum.

The arrivals of fish on Thursday, the 10th inst., were as follows: Schooner Champion with 5000 lbs.; Julia A., 2700; Grace Choate, 6000; Comet, 3500; Mary E. Caswell, 3500; Florence Nightingale, 4000; Lizzie D. Saunders, 4000; Cora Lee, 2500; and other boats, 3000 lbs. The fares of schooners Florence Nightingale and Lizzie D. Saunders were mostly haddock, the first lots of any account brought into this port this winter.

The 44th Massachusetts regiment, with which First Lieut. Fred L. Dodge of this city, now of the regular army, was connected as a private, and his brother, Albert L. Dodge, first as private and then as a member of the brigade staff, held a reunion and festival on Wednesday of this week at Young's hotel, Boston. The attendance was very large, and included many of the leading officers of the regiment. An elegant dinner was served, after which the members assembled around the camp-fire where hours were spent in rehearsing scenes of war days in North Carolina in which this regiment took a conspicuous part, especially at and around Newburn. The regimental charity fund now amounts to many hundreds of dollars.

REFEREE TRIAL.

The action of David Urch against John C. Coleman, appellant, was tried in the United States court house on Thursday before E. G. Eastman, referee. It is a suit brought by Maj. Urch as lessee of the Newcastle bridges, to recover for damages caused by the gondola of Coleman striking against the bridge. The gondola was coming from Leach's island laden with stones for the breakwater, and in making up to the draw, there being no piers, the hawser which was used to check the craft parted, and the wind from the south-west, and the flood tide, caused the gondola to strike the bridge. Maj. Urch says this was because the craft was not cautiously managed, while Coleman contends that it was an inevitable accident, for the consequences of which he should not be held accountable. Hodgdon for Urch; Wallace Hackett for Coleman.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Feb. 10th:

Request of Daniel Danielson for power to transfer claim against the city, was laid on the table.

Regular bills amounting to $5220.39, also bill of Portsmouth Gas Co. for $16.-69, were ordered paid.

Opinion of city solicitor in regard to city aid for a free library was submitted.

On motion of Ald. Shannon it was voted that when a library has been presented to and accepted by the city, a committee be empowerd to secure a suitable room for it.

Mayor Siae called attention to a rumor that the Eastern railroad proposes to remove it work shop from East Boston. He understood that Salem had taken action looking toward securing the location of the shop in that place, and thought it might be well for this city to appoint a committee to consult with the railroad authorities on the subject of bringing the shop here.

Ald. Sanborn was opposed to asking any favor of the road, as we are in a constant quarrel with the corporation in regard to their action concerning Elm street.

Ald. Noyes was in favor of doing all he could to bring the work shop here to employ our mechanics.

On motion of Ald. Hall it was voted that a committee be appointed to confer with the railroad authorities, Ald. Sanborn's vote being the only one in the negative.

The mayor appointed Aldermen Hall, Hartshorn and Slater as such committee.

Adjourned for two weeks.

The total population of Rockingham county is 49,062, of whom 24,163 are males, and 24,899 are females. The native born population numbers 45,118; the foreign born 3944. There are 48,861 white persons in the county, and 201 colored persons, among the latter being included eight Chinese and fifteen Indians and half-breeds. The total colored population of the state is 720, which includes fourteen chinese and sixty Indians and half-breeds.

REPRESENTATIVE VACANCY.

The fact that a vacancy exists in the legislative delegation from ward one, created by the change of residence of Mr. A. C. Hoyt, has already been announced. The constitution of the state plainly provides that every representative shall be at the time of his election an inhabitant of the town, parish or place he may be chosen to represent, and that he shall cease to represent such town, parish or place immediately on his ceasing to possess the necessary qualifications, including that of residence. This is not the exact language of the constitution, but it is the exact meaning, and it is intended that all representatives shall be at the time of their election, and throughout their entire term, inhabitants of the place from which they were elected. And in order that no town shall be wholly or in part unrepresented in consequence of the removal or death of its representatives, provision is made for the emergency in the following language: "All intermediate vacancies in the House of Representatives may be filled up, from time to time, in the same manner as biennial elections are made." This clause does not perhaps make it the duty of the selectmen of the ward to call a special election, but it empowers them to, and prescribes that should they do so, all the forms of law prescribed for a general election must be observed, including the posting and revision of the checklists, the appointment of inspectors, and the time of opening and closing the polls.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of the New Hampshire Press Association, Feb. 8th, the following resolutions were presented by Dr. Gallinger, and adopted:

Whereas, Since our last annual meeting death has removed from our ranks Hon. Frank W. Miller, of Portsmouth, president of our association, and also two of our honorary members, Hamilton Willis, Esq., of Boston, and Rev. Joseph Fullonton, of Raymond; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Miller this association has sustained a loss greater than words can express. Earnest in his profession, genial, kind-hearted and impulsive, he was the embodiment of integrity, industry and enthusiastic adherence to right principles, and his memory will be cherished by all who appreciate honorable conduct and right living; and as an evidence of the esteem in which his memory is held by this association, we hereby order that a memorial page be set aside in our record book, bearing upon it a suitable inscription.

Resolved, That the death of Messrs. Willis, of Boston, and Fullonton, of Raymond, removes from our honorary membership two estimable and high-minded gentlemen—men who are kindly remembered as painstaking correspondents—and who have left behind them a record of honorable lives. Their memories will be cherished by this association, and their virtues will live as the best monument that can be erected to their names.

Fashion Notes.

New opera cloaks are of shaded plush.

Button gloves are no longer fashionable.

It is not the correct thing to wear tight gloves.

Buttonless, loose-wristed gloves take the precedence of all others.

Eastern combinations of Oriental colors grow in fashionable favor.

Puffs of crimped tarlatan are the proper trimmings for widows' caps.

The hair in Paris is dressed less flat and higher than it was last year.

With ball coiffures are worn bandeaux of ribbons set with precious stones.

Gold, silver and jeweled bandeaux are worn around the head for full dress for balls.

White muslin petticoats are the only undergarments that are made fuller than formerly.

Newly-imported French underwear of all kinds fit the form as close as possible to be comfortable.

The favorite artificial flowers of the season are Parma violets, roses, chrysanthemums and pinks.

Voluminous jabots, mingled with flowers, are worn down the front of dresses for ceremonious occasions.

Gloves to be fashionable must be loose in the hands and fingers, but actually wrinkled around the wrists.

While flowers have become things of the past on winter bonnets, they are worn to excess on evening toilets.

Cloaks of satin de Lyon, with shirred yokes, are rapidly coming in vogue. Fur bands and collars are the trimmings.

White Chudda shawls, enriched on the edges with Oriental embroidery, illuminated with gold threads, make the most elegant ball and opera wraps.

Undressed kid gloves, without buttons, light colors, very loose in the hands and wrinkled around the wrists, take the precedence of all others for evening wear.

The large straight cloaks, with shirred yokes, which are coming in, have elbow sleeves formed of the fullness of the garment and bordered with deep fur bands.

Berthas or rivieres of artificial flowers are made to fit the necks of dresses, no matter what the shape may be, and are finished on the shoulders with bouquets or epaulets of flowers.

Young widows wear Fanchon or bebe caps of tarlatan, with or without strings fastening under the chignon. Elderly widows wear large mob caps of the same material with black net linings in the crowns.

Black beaver, silver beaver, chinchilla, and black fox seem the favorite costume trimmings in fur. Chinchilla is very artistic looking on black, garnet or blue velvet. Black beaver and black fox look best on the various shades of gray and the lighter tints of brown. Silver beaver looks universally well, and, as it is very expensive, adds an air of elegance to any costume to which it may be applied. Leopard skin is not as fashionable this year as it was last, and seal skin, as a trimming, finds a decided rival in seal-brown plush.

Sunday School Teaching.

In London, some Sunday school children were taken for a picnic to the seaside. One of the teachers asked her scholars how they liked the sea.

"Very much, miss," replied a child; "but were are the tinnamics?"

"The tinnamies, child! What do you mean?"

"Why, you know," the child replied again; "the tinnamies that go with the sea. You know the commandment says, 'the sea and all the tinnamies.'"

This was the way the child had of repeating, "the sea and all that in them is."

—It is said that "Mr. Hayes loves young girls." He got into the habit of it when he was a young man, and it's been the great complaint with him ever since. Young men can't be too careful what early habits they form.

—A clergyman's daughter at Napa, Cal., went to a circus. On the following Sunday her father preached on sinful amusements, and used her case as an illustration. In the Sunday school that afternoon he said that she was impenitent, and moved her expulsion; but a vote being taken, all the pupils voted to retain her.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 15th, 1871, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the urinary channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Was It Instinct?

The house dog drove a rabbit into a hollow log in the woods. I heard the dog barking and went to see what he had found.

Looking into the log, I saw the rabbit's great eyes shining like balls of fire. I reached in my hand and caught it—rabbits will not bite. Then I carried it to the house, the dog running along by my side, and trying to get the rabbit out of my hands. The poor scared creature nestled close to me, trembling and saying as plain as words could speak, "Do not let the ugly dog kill me."

After playing with the rabbit for a while, I carried it into the pasture to let it go free. The dog followed me, still anxious for his game. But he was fat and old, and could not run very fast, and as rabbits are fleet of foot, I thought the rabbit could easily outrun the dog and get to the woods. So I put the rabbit on the ground, and it jumped away as if it were glad to be free.

As soon as the dog saw it he gave a sharp bark, and ran after it as fast as he could. The rabbit seemed bewildered, uncertain what to do, and I thought the dog was going to catch it after all.

But suddenly the little creature made a circle round the pasture, and came running back and jumped into my arms. It had found protection there before, and it seemed quite ready to trust me again. Then I kept the dog away and carried the rabbit home. At first I thought I would make a house for it and keep it always. But on after reflection convinced me that it would be happier free. So I shut up the dog, and carried it to the dark woods and let it go free in its own forest home. How happy it seemed as it bounded away to find its mates! When it was a little way off, it looked back and seemed to say, "I thank you. You were very good to save me from the dog, and then give me my liberty."

God protects his children from a great many fierce dogs, and even wolves, of temptation and sorrow and evil. We should always flee to Him and to His truth, when trial or temptation comes. But do we trust him? Do we flee to him? Are we as quick in learning confidence as the wild rabbit of the wood? And do we stop and look back, or look up, to show even by a sign, that we are grateful for protection and His mercy? I hope we do. —Rev. A. J. Patterson, in Christian Leader.

A Rat Story.

The Kingston, N. Y., Freeman is responsible for the following:

A good rat story is told by a lady who lives on North Front street, which shows that rats have a kind of humor about them at times which they will exercise even to the extent of forgetting their plundering propensities. In the house of this lady was a child's rocking horse, and every night the rats would jump on the rocking horse and start it rocking, and rock it for hours, seemingly with the greatest enjoyment in the world. At first hearing the noise, the people couldn't imagine the cause, and didn't know but that the spirits had a hand in it; but when they cautiously peered out and saw the performance it became one of the marvels of the neighborhood to see the rats in their gambols, enjoying themselves, laughing and having their fun rocking the horse.

No, Sir!

A Scoth minister once said no woman could bear pains well as a man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her hand by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, says he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his "Favorite Remedy" to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" at one dollar a bottle is the thing for female weaknesses and all complaints arising from bad blood. But that Scotchman was mistaken.

—A preacher in Rock county, Kansas, had been for weeks conducting a wonderfully successful revival. "Dear brethren and sisters," he said one day, "this is the last meeting I shall hold. It is impossible to keep up a fever on corn-bread and molasses for myself, and an ear of corn a day for my horse. God bless you."

RHEUMATISM. Prof. Wm. C. Richardson, M. D., of the St. Louis Medical College, says: "I have ordered Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel to be applied locally in Rheumatism, and with most marked relief in every case." Beware of worthless imitations under ours and similar names. Also cures piles, catarrh, neuralgia, painful monthlies, old ulcers, lumbago and weak eyes.

—A well-to-do farmer strode into a jewelry store at Muncie, a few days ago, and paid for a ring he confessed to have stolen of the proprietor fifteen years ago. He said he had "been in hell" ever since. If it took fifteen years of it to good him up to paying for that ring, it can't be such a bad place as it has been made out.—Boston Post.

Trapped.

There is a story told of a lady and gentleman travelling together on an English railroad. They were strangers to each other. Suddenly the gentleman said:

"Madame, I will trouble you to look out of the window a few minutes; I am going to make some change in my wearing apparel."

"Certainly, sir," she replied, with great politeness, rising and turning her back upon him. In a very short time he said:

"Now madam, my change is completed, and you may resume your seat."

When the lady turned she beheld her male companion transformed into a dashing lady with a veil over her face.

"Now sir, or madam, whichever you like," said the lady, "I must trouble you to look out of the window, for I also have some changes to make in my apparel."

"Certainly, madam," and the gentleman in lady's attire immediately complied.

"Now, sir, you may resume your own seat."

To his great surprise, on resuming his seat, the gentleman in female attire found his lady companion transformed into a man. He laughed loudly, and said:

"It appears that we are both anxious to avoid recognition. What have you done? I have robbed a bank."

"And I," said the whilom lady, as he dexterously fettered his companion's wrists with a pair of handcuffs, "am Detective J——, of Scotland Yard, and in female apparel have shadowed you for two days; now," drawing a revolver, "keep still."

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of

HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1878.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Old Ironsides.

The frigate Constitution was launched in 1798. In 1861, at the beginning of the civil war, the old ship was put in commission. Her master builder was then living in Indiana, in the 92d year of his age, and the following notice of him appeared in the Cincinnati Commercial in April, 1861:

But few of the patriots who figured upon the stage of action in the days which tried men's souls—when "Old Ironsides" was the crowning jewel of our navy—now remain to acquaint us with the unwritten history of events which at the time were considered hardly worthy of note. Let us endeavor to perpetuate, even at this late period, through the columns of a newspaper, the names and recollections of the few remaining to tell the tale, who though now in their second childhood, recount the scenes of their early days with as much vividness as though their occurrence had been within the past twelve-month.

In connection with the present service of Old Ironsides, it is worthy of mention that one of her master builders is a citizen of Indiana—an old man, bowed down with the weary weight of years, but whose clear blue eye fairly flashes when you lead his mind back to other days, when men were true and devoted to their country, ever ready at a moment's impulse to strike down the traitor who dared even whisper disloyalty.

The worthy patriot whom I would mention is Mr. Prince Athearn, now in the ninety-second year of his age, who was born on the island of Martha's Vineyard, and was apprenticed to the trade of ship-building at the early age of seventeen, in Nova Scotia. After he was out of his apprenticeship, he built several merchant vessels at the port of Falmouth, now Portland, Maine.

When the Constitution was ordered to be built, he was a resident of New Bedford, and being noted as a most excellent master-workman, he was called to Boston to assist in her construction, and appointed second in command. His first duty was to take a vessel to the Kennebec river, in Maine, with a force sufficient to get out her keel and side timbers in the extensive forests in that vicinity. Returning after several months, he laid her keel at Hart's ship-yard, on the north side of the town of Boston, near Charlestown bridge, where he prosecuted his labors until she was successfully launched without a single accident to mar the joyousness of the event; and finally finished and fully equipped and armed her, ready for the gallant actions and proud success which awaited her.

It is the old man's pride to describe how gracefully she sat upon the bright waters in Boston harbor; how like a thing of life she sailed. She was his pride, his masterpiece; well may he be proud of her. And who will not honor the tears of joy and delight which coursed the man's cheek when, lately, he learned that she still floats to bear aloft her country's flag in another and more fearful struggle than those which befel our beloved country in the palmiest days of the good old frigate? Who will not reverence the man whose manly pride and comfort in his old age is to know that his pet has, after years of gallant service, been assigned a post of honor, and is still regarded as one of the finest frigates in the navy?

During the war of 1812, Mr. Athearn made one or two very perilous trips from New Bedford to New York for provisions for the army in a small, fast-sailing sloop called the Dart, which he built for himself, passing, in the night, under the British guns in the channel, and once came near being taken in Fisher's Island Sound. While trying to make the harbor at New London he was fired into by the Russellites, a British seventy-four gun ship, which set all her sails and tried to cut him off from the harbor, but the Dart was a little too fast for her.

Mr. Athearn was also one of the pioneers of the west. He was lured from the "deep blue sea" by the fabulous stories of the easy road to wealth in the west; and abandoning his comfortable home at New Bedford, he and his good old wife, who still lives to comfort him, started with their little family in a two horse wagon, late in the spring of 1814. After a tedious journey of many weeks he reached Fort Pitt—now Pittsburg—where his knowledge of ship-building enabled him in a short time to construct a boat in which he embarked for Fort Washington, Cincinnati, reaching it in safety in the month of July. In February, 1815, he moved to Rising Sun, Indiana, where he has resided ever since. Here, again, his knowledge of ship-building proved not only valuable to himself, but of great service to this then new country, for he was employed to assist in building the first two steamers ever built at Cincinnati—the Paragon, for Captain Parsons, and the Vulcan, for Captain Brooks. He afterward superintended the building of the Crusader at Fredericksburgh, now Carrollton, at the mouth of the Kentucky river, a 300 ton vessel, for Major Ely and his brother-in law, Mr. Gillotte.

It was seriously attempted, in about 1830, to break up the Constitution, but a poetic remonstrance* promptly published by Oliver Wendell Holmes, had an immense circulation, and seemed everywhere to breathe the united voice of the people; and so the ship was saved.

*"Ay, tear her tattered ensign down!
Long has it waved on high,
And many an eye has danced to see
That banner in the sky;
Beneath it rung the battle shout,
And burst the cannon's roar;—
The meteor of the ocean air
Shall sweep the clouds no more!
Her deck, once red with heroes' blood,
Where knelt the vanquished foe
When winds were hurrying o'er the flood,
And waves were white below,
No more shall feel the victor's tread,
Or know the conquered knee;—

The harpies of the store shall pluck
The eagle of the sea!

O, better that her shattered hulk
Should sink beneath the wave;
Her thunders shock the mighty deep,
And there should be her grave;
Nail to the mast her holy flag,
Set every threadbare sail,
And give her to the god of storms,
The lightning and the gale!

—Holmes.

Health Note. Statistics prove that twenty-five per cent of the deaths in our larger cities are caused by consumption, and when we reflect that this terrible disease in its earlier stage will readily yield to a bottle of Dr. Bull's Syrup (costing 25 cents), shall we condemn the sufferers for their negligence, or pity them for their ignorance?

Two men were killed, four fatally hurt, and many others badly injured, by a collision on the North Pennsylvania railroad at Allentown, Pa., on the 10th inst.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1881.

Cards by Mail.

The following general order was issued at the post-office department in Washington on the 10th inst.: "The orders of July 13, 1880, and Sept. 24, 1880, excluding from the mails all card matter except 'postal cards' furnished by the department, are hereby so modified as to permit the sending by mail of printed cards at third class rates; but all cards other than postal cards furnished by this department, containing any writing except the address, shall be charged with letter postage. Section twenty-three of the postal laws and regulations, edition of 1879, is hereby renewed so far as it was revoked by the orders mentioned. This order will take effect immediately upon its receipt by postmasters."

Storms and Floods.

The steamer Vicksburg is reported wrecked off Sabine Pass, Texas, during a storm on the 5th inst.

Immense loss of property from the floods was reported on the 10th. The Wabash railroad bridge at Lafayette, Ind., was damaged $175,000, and it was feared the whole structure would go. At Spencer, Ind., part of the state house bridge was carried away, and bridges all over the state were damaged. New Orleans had a space of five square miles flooded to a depth of three or four feet; 50,000 people live in the district thus inundated, and skiffs and sailboats were navigating the streets. In Ohio and some parts of New York much damage was done by freshets, and a heavy rainfall in Vermont was reported. At Cleveland, Ohio, an ice gorge formed, which was broken by firing thirty shells into it. At Pittsburg, Pa., the freshet did damage estimated all the way from $40,000 to $100,000 and over. Floods and ice gorges were reported from many other places, and the aggregate loss is stupendous.

The Macon & Augusta railroad bridge over the Ocmulgee river at Macon, Ga., was washed away on the 9th inst., for the second time within thirty days.

Reports from Pittsburg, Pa., say that a break in the dam on the Monongahela river has drained the pool there, leaving scores of coal laden boats and barges lying high and dry. It will be impossible to move these until the dam is repaired, and this cannot be accomplished until summer at the least. Meanwhile no coal can be gotten out, and a famine will surely result. Several large iron mills have been forced to suspend operations, being unable to draw water from the river on account of the low stage it has reached.

News and Notes.

Several cases of small-pox are reported from the Italian colony of laborers at Elberon station, N. J. Eight cases of small pox in one house, and four in another, were discovered in the thickly settled part of Jersey City last Thursday. The disease is reported quite active there.

In the state capitol at Lansing, Mich., last Thursday, Robert Clippender, a messenger boy aged twelve years, while sliding down the balustrade on the fourth floor lost his balance and fell on the marble floor fifty feet beneath. He was instantly killed.

The supreme court of appeals at Richmond, Va., on the 10th inst. reversed the judgment of the corporation court of Danville, in the case of Dejarnette, sentenced to death in September for the murder of his sister Mollie in a house of ill-fame. A new trial will be had.

A despatch from Maj. Ilges' camp at Poplar river, Montana, dated Feb. 7th, says the campaign against the hostile Indians has ended. Further pursuit of Sitting Bull and his meagre fellowing has been abandoned, for the present at least, and the companies of the fifth infantry which have been campaigning with Maj. Ilges have been ordered to return.

Francis T. Converse of Salem, Mass., father of the Converse girl who recently died from malpractice, has been arrested for abetting Dr. Nolcini, and held in $3000 for examination. Nolcini has been held in $10,000 for the superior court. Both men were locked up, lacking bail.

A fire-damp explosion took place in a coal mine near Salem, Ohio, on the 10th inst., caused by a man named Smith going into a room where he had been prohibited from going. Six men were killed, and seven badly wounded, some of whom will die.

Capt. Solomon Linnell of life station No. 12 (Cape Cod beach), has been cited to answer before a court martial on charges of violating rules which prohibit members of that service from engaging for hire in wrecking. It is alleged that the officers and crew of that station entered into a contract with the captain of the schooner Edmund, recently ashore on that beach, and gotten off after serious damage and loss of cargo. The vessel was reported as having foundered at sea, abandoned by the crew.

A statement comes from Richmond, Va., that a respectable young man named Lawson was recently married to a girl named Coombs, in Thompson valley. A few nights afterward the bridal chamber was rudely invaded by a party of roughs, and the bride forcibly torn from the arms of the groom; and after a desperate resistance the party left, taking the woman with them. Lawson has not seen his wife since.

Eleven passengers, the purser and two of the crew of the steamer Northern Light arrived at Georgetown, P. E. I., on the 10th inst., from Cape Sharp, where they landed from the steamer. All were badly frost bitten, having been twenty-eight hours on the ice. They reported the steamer in a bad position, surrounded by ice. Two boats left to aid her.

H. R. Smith of Westfield, Vt., a wealthy man, was arrested and locked up on the 9th inst. for a debt of $50, Rather than pay the debt he attempted suicide by cutting his throat, but will probably survive.

Henry Ward Beecher lectured at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, Thursday evening last, under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican club. Gen. Grant presided.

English advices say that important revelations are made of Russian intrigues in Afghanistan. It is learned from Russo-Afghan correspondence that a secret treaty was signed in August, 1878, in which Russia bound herself to perpetual friendship with Afghanistan, and undertook to assist the Ameer against foreign enemies, and that a plan existed for exciting a Mohammedan rebellion in India, etc. The dates of the document are all subsequent to the Treaty of Berlin.

New Hampshire Items.

The Manchester Mirror says that certain parties in that city are considerably agitated over an elopement which took place Friday night. A girl but fifteen years of age, rather prepossessing, and to all outward appearances extremely modest, informed her mother, about five o'clock in the afternoon, that she was going down street to purchase a pair of shoes; and as she did not return, investigation revealed the fact that she had eloped with a fellow who had been paying her some attention. The parties have been traced as far as Lowell, Mass., but probabilities do not favor their return. The girl was taking her meals at a boarding-house, and left without paying her dues.

The mills of the old Waumbek Lumber company at Bethlehem, after lying idle since 1877, have again been started up. They are now owned by W. G. R. Mowry, of Providence, R. I.

On Thursday evening, the 10th inst., an express freight train on the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad ran into the rear of a way freight train near the East Concord station. The express engine and six cars of the way train were considerably smashed. No person was seriously hurt.

—On the Little Colorado is a lady who avers that she is 128 years of age. She says she was thirty years of age at the time of the dark day which created such consternation. The Spaniards buried all their saints, of which they had a goodly number, while Indians took to feasting on dogs and other animals. The "dark day" was so called on account of the remarkable darkness which extended throughout America. The obscuration commenced about ten o'clock in the morning of May 19th, 1780, and continued until the middle of the next night. Birds sang their evening song, disappeared and remained silent; fowls went to roost, cattle sought the barn-yards, and candles were lighted in the houses.

AROUND HOME.

At the brokers' board in Boston, Friday, 300 shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at 40; 125 shares went at 40 1-4, and 200 shares at 40 1-8. Northern railroad sold at 105, and Concord railroad at 100.

The arrival of fish on Friday was as follows: Schooner Amos Tucker, 2000 lbs.; Fleet Wing, 7000; Breeze, 3000; Bonita, 5000; Nettie Adams, 6000; Lucy, 3000; Fleur De Lis, 4000; Josie Johnson, 2000 lbs. The price of fish fell to $1.62 per hundred pounds.

In removing the ice from the river in front of the ship yard at the south end, Friday, several eels were found imbedded in mud which had clung to the under part of ice cakes; they were speedily captured. Twenty-five pounds of eels were taken with a spear from one hole in the ice at that point, Friday.

Mr. John E. Harmon's birthday came on the 9th inst., and not having informed his friends of the event, they called at his residence during the evening to make a protest against such seeming indifference to the fact, but the generous hospitality of Mr. Harmon soon made matters all right, and everybody went home pleased.

Mr. James Hooper, a freight conductor on the Eastern railroad, a day or two ago brought to this city from Conway a pair of white rats, male and female, tame and quite "highly educated." They permit him to handle them at will, seem to take delight in running over him, and not only understand a number of orders but readily obey them.

The steamer Clara Batemen not getting to the Shoals on Thursday on account of the thick fog, started again on Friday, this time with success, the physician who was taken out finding young Ingebredsen in a comfortable condition. After the steamer's return she towed the barkentine Arthur C. Wade to sea from the lower harbor.

A social assembly was held at the Dover Point cottage on the evening of the 8th inst., and fifty couples joined in the grand march, made up of persons from Dover proper, Sawyer's mills, Newington, Greenland, Kittery, Eliot and other places. One party crossed the river from Eliot on the ice, in a double-runner. The band comprised eight pieces, and 110 persons sat down to supper.

At the meeting of Rockingham Lodge of Good Templars on Thursday evening last, a fine photograph of the late Henry B. Dearing was presented to the lodge by some of his near relatives, and was hung over the chair which he had occupied as Past Worthy Chief Templar. Mr. George E. Burt acted as representative of the doners, and remarks appropriate to the occasion were made by others.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Co., of Dover, has settled the suit brought against the corporation by John Gorman to recover for injuries received last summer by his daughter, Margaret Ann Gorman, who was hit in the head while on her father's doorstep by a stone thrown from a blast in the factory yard. The company pays $2000 in full, which will leave the girl about $1500 after paying all costs.

The Journal says: "Our neighbors at Newcastle, evidently noting the increased importance their delightful town is attaining as a summer resort, have removed many of the ledges in their roads, which have been such a danger to travel. This commendable work is to be resumed when the spring opens, after which the thoroughfares will be graded. Another improvement is to be the placing of guide boards at conspicuous points, whereon will be noted the places of interest in the town, and distances to other points."

A remonstrance has been presented in the Maine legislature against granting a charter for a ferry between Kittery and Portsmouth.

The Suffolk club of Boston had its third annual dinner on the evening of the 10th inst., at the Rockingham house in this city. About fifty prominent business men were present.

If some of the crew of the schooner Fleetwing have the same reputation in Gloucester that they have acquired here, it must have been a happy day for that city when they left it. Strike the lyre.

The Criterion Comedy Company will this evening give a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment at the Franklin theatre. "Freaks" is full of fun, and excellently performed. If you want a good laugh, go to Franklin theatre to-night.

A horse belonging to Mr. W. H. Manson of York took freight at snow falling from a building, Friday, and started up Market street, coming to a stop at the corner of Green street. The horse was uninjured; the sleigh escaped with a broken shaft and dasher.

The injured wife of a wayward husband, from Strafford, administered a severe and merited horsewhipping to his seducer in this city on Thursday last. If the man did not get part of the whipping he doubtless would have been glad to exchange punishments with the woman, to say nothing of the divorce which we understand is applied for and soon to come. The wife is very highly spoken of, and will have the sympathy of all her acquaintances.—Journal.

Officer Turner on Thursday started for Concord with a man named Jacob Martin, a Frenchman recently employed in one of the breweries, who has become insane. On arriving at Exeter the officer discovered that there was a defect in the papers required to secure the man's admission to the insane asylum, and had to return to this city with him. The necessary formalities were completed on Friday.

A pedestrian exhibition is announced by posters to take place in Franklin hall on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22d, on which occasion Dennis Driscoll, the great walkist, has offered to walk against any five men Portsmouth can produce, the members of the team of five to relieve each other every mile. Besides this there is an offer of an elegant meerschaum pipe to the fireman who wins a two-mile go-as-you-please race. There are other inducements held out to those who enjoy club swinging, boxing, jumping, etc.

On Thursday and Friday, the 10th and 11th insts., the papers published in and near seaports all along the coast from Eastport to Chesapeake bay were boasting that their harbors were rapidly becoming so clear of ice that vessels could get in and out without difficulty. The Piscataqua has not been closed to navigation at all during the cold spell, and even the docks were clear enough of ice for all the purposes of navigation on the 7th, the drift ice which had been cemented in them by the intense cold, and which bothered fishermen for several days, having been cleared away.

Despite the opposition of one alderman, we think Mayor Sise's suggestion made to the board at the last meeting, that a committee be appointed to confer with the Eastern railroad management relative to the removal to this city of the company's work shops in East Boston, was a good one, and that the board did well to act favorably upon it. At the worst no harm can result, and the city will incur no expense through the appointment of the committee. The establishment here of the railroad work shop would be of positive and permanent advantage to the place, and if there is anything which the city can do to promote the scheme it should be done.

Josiah S. James, Esq., of Hampton, who has purchased the Robinson flour store stock, is a well known business man, and a brother of Hon. Jacob F. James, who in 1847 and '48 was mayor of Manchester. He has been in business at Raymond and at Epping. He is well posted in the corn and flour trade, is a smart business man, and has an extensive acquaintance. At one time he was a candidate for county commissioner upon the democratic ticket, and every one conceded that if elected he would have proved an able officer. Mr. James some time since retired from business at Epping junction, and removed to Hampton; but he is too active and industrious a man to be out of business, and we doubt not that he will, after he takes charge of the old stand on Bow street, have a good trade. The local demand for corn and grain ought to support all of the stores kept for the sale of cereals in our city, and with Mr. James' pluck and energy we look for an increase of sales. Local flour dealers have of late years permitted a large share of the most profitable portion of the trade to be done by the grocers, who have been supplied by commercial travellers with the better brands of flour, and have advertised it sufficiently to attract customers. It was different when the flour business was done by the old-school merchants, who always supplied the best brands from their wholesale stores, and controlled the local market for higher grades. Mr. James will from his western acquaintance be able to show buyers where to get a good article at a fair price.

A CAPABLE CONDUCTOR.

The following from the Bellows Falls Times, relative to Mr. S. B. Whitney, who had recently conducted a musical convention at that place, will be interesting to Portsmouth singers, as Mr. Whitner will conduct the convention here next week:

Mr. Whitney possesses to a remarkable degree the power of organizing the diverse elements of a convention, his eye, ear and hand standing guard over the whole. It was one of the most interesting features of the convention to sit with the chorus and study him as he directed the class with so much earnestness in the rehearsals. If they failed in time or there was a want of harmony or power in any part, by the clouds on his face he would urge on the charge like a major general in a doubtful battle, bringing them all at the end into the bright sunshine that follows the cloud. Mr. Whitney introduced a different type of music from that usually attempted by conventions, being more classical, and herein was his drill conspicuous, and the result attained in three days' practice under his direction attested to his skill as a conductor.

THE KEARSARGE MILLS.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Kearsarge mills is called, to be held at the Rockingham house in this city on the 1st of March, to see if the stockholders will authorize the directors to sell the real estate and other property of the company, and divide the proceeds among the stockholders; to take such action in regard to dissolution as they may see fit; and to transact any other business that may come before them in regard to closing of the affairs of the company.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Feb. 11; Batchelder, J.

George Baker, drunk, fined $3, costs $6.90.

William Clayton, drunk, fined $5, costs $6.90.

Whitfield Chichester, larceny of clothing, bound over in $300 for his appearance at a higher court.

Clayton and Chichester are all one; that is, he gets drunk as Clayton, and steals clothing as Chichester. He was a marine until Thursday last, when he was dismissed from the service, after a confinement of several months on sentence of a court martial; his former comrades raised a purse of about $16 for him, and he stole the clothes of one of them as a return.

CAUGHT 'EM.

The Manchester Mirror of Thursday last relates the following:

Shortly past ten o'clock last evening, as Capt. Jenkins, accompanied by City Marshal Entwistle of Portsmouth, was passing up Elm street between Pleasant and Merrimack, they saw a party strike a man who was passing in front of him a severe blow, that sent the assaulted individual reeling up against a building. Capt. Jenkins pounced upon the man who committed the unprovoked assault, and saw that it was Timothy Lynch, who had that day been let out of jail, where he had been confined for larceny. The officer had no sooner recognized his man than he was approached by Dennis Tirrell, the same who broke away from the reform school, and on being recaptured was taken to the state prison at Concord, from which he was pardoned by Gov. Head. Tirrell, in the foulest and most blasphemous language, demanded the release of Lynch, and calling upon a crowd that had collected, endeavored to excite them to effect the prisoner's release. He then advanced upon Captain Jenkins with the evident intention of dealing him a blow, when Marshal Entwistle sprang upon him and soon had him powerless. The crowd then dispersed, and the two desperate characters were securely lodged in the iron-clads.

"The Head of Medusa:" by Geo. Fleming, author of "Kismet" and "Mirage;" Roberts Brothers, Boston; for sale by Goodrich and Myers, Portsmouth. This story is laid in the spring time and on the Pincian hill in Rome, just the place and the season for an enjoyable tale. The author is said to be the decendant of a celebrated lady to whom the book is dedicated. The Head of Medusa has already turned the heads of some of the girls who have visited Italy—not the "wonderful specimen of the New England type—one of those women who lack a little wholesome sin to make them efficiently human," and who was described as "like some one whose only conception of fires is sitting over a hot air register" by one of the male characters, but the average daughter of the tourist, who doats upon Italy and comes back to exist after living abroad. The Head of Medusa, like the German quotation upon its title page, can better be understood and appreciated by its reading.

—But soft! what light through yonder window breaks? It is a snowball; and yonder goes the son of a glazier.—Brooklyn Union-Argus.

—She had caught him coming out of a sample room, and as he wiped his moustache he hoped that she was not offended. "Oh, no," she replied, "not at all, excepting that in that room is a bar—a bar to matrimony, Henry." They now meet as strangers.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 1875, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Twenty Years a Sufferer.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I was persuaded to try your Golden Medical Discovery, and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground.

I am, sir, yours respectfully,

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. SEWARD.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

Daily Chronicle.

The "Plymouth" Inspection.

The following in regard to the outbreak of yellow fever on board the U. S. S. Plymouth, now and for many months past lying in Portsmouth lower harbor, and what was found by the board of examiners on board that vessel, is from the report of the board as published in the Sanitarian:

In the after hold, on both sides, two of the filling timbers were found to have been cut off square with the moulding edge, thus leaving a sort of dam for the retention of whatever matter might get into the spaces between the frames. On the starboard side one of these spaces was found to be completely filled with a soft mass, of intolerably offensive odor, which seemed to consist chiefly of beans in all stages of decay; the other space was equally full of sponge, clothing, chips and other refuse, more or less decomposed. The stench from these deposits was such as to drive the workmen on deck.

Between other frames on both sides were masses of bacterial growth similar to that found in the forward shell-room; and on the port side, in the cul de sac corresponding to those containing the beans and refuse on the starboard side, was found a quantity of unrecognizable decomposing organic matter. It was directly above this hold that three cases of yellow fever occurred during the first outbreak. Two were midshipmen, swinging one on each side of the hatch; the other an assistant engineer, occupying the adjoining stateroom on the starboard side. Two of the three cases were fatal.

Under the flooring of the magazines was a great accumulation of decomposing chips and auger-dust, emitting a foul odor, and evidently left there when the ship was built. The spaces between the frames were free from noteworthy deposits. Under the lead lining the sheathing was entirely rotten, and blackened as if the wood had been charred, and in this rotten wood dead rats and their nests were found. The thick strakes and ceiling were badly decayed. On cutting through the breed-room floors, confined air of offensive odor escaped. A second floor had here been laid above the original floor, and between the two was a confined space about three inches deep, from which living and active flies crawled out. It is plain that, although ice had long been standing in the fire-room, this space had not been sufficiently chilled to kill the flies. The tin lining to these breadrooms had not been carried entirely into the angle between the deck above and the ceiling, but formed with these a triangular space, within which fungous growths were found.

Owing to the fact that the lower outlets of the spaces between the frames, which were intended to open into the bilge, were, in the Plymouth, closed by covering boards, these spaces throughout the ship were converted into reservoirs for confined air. Other confined-air spaces existed under the limber-boards in the fore-hold, under the floors of the coal-bunkers and of the forward shell-rooms, below the after magazines and breadrooms, and behind the tin sheathing at the outer angles of the latter.

These spaces, as is shown by the presence of the living flies, are so protected from external atmospheric changes as to be practically unaffected by either heat or cold, and have probably not been reached by any of the disinfecting agents heretofore employed. The same observation applies to the interior parts of the timbers, which are nevertheless found to be far gone in decomposition.

We are of the opinion that the various deposits of decomposing organic matter and the quantity of decayed wood above described are closely connected with the development of yellow fever on board of the Plymouth.

Thousands of the most prominent and intelligent persons throughout the land have testified to the true merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. We advise sufferers to use it. Price 25 cents.

—An English paper discusses "What Girls Should Learn." Some of them ought to learn to osculate without making noise enough to bring the governor down stairs to see if the hall lamp has exploded.

Good Words for a Good Thing.

The papers are so full of exaggerations about all sorts of things that it is hard to believe. Yet all things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be, and deserves the praises that are showered upon it from all who have used it. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with salt rheum from head to foot, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your druggist or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

—Farmer Holmes of Indiana paid a quack doctor $10 for fixing his eyes so that he could see in the dark as well as the light. It was a success. That is, he can't see at all by daylight, and of course, can see just as well by night.

The Song of the Dying Swan.

"The Hon. Thomas B. Swan," alias the "Eastern Manufacturing Co." of Minot, Me., in a letter to his father-in-law reiterates the statement that he received from Wallace R. White $1000 as a bribe to do his duty at the time the fusionists were attempting the overthrow of popular government in Maine. As Swan in the same letter acknowledges himself to be a liar, swindler and sneak thief of the meanest and most contemptible variety, his parting shot at White, who is a reputable man and swore that Swan's statement was a lie at the time it was made, will not be likely to do Mr. White any great harm. A fellow who would deliberately rob his best friends, at the very time they were doing all in their power to aid him, would not be likely to scuple much at lying about a political enemy.

The selectmen of Minot have concluded the investigation of the town accounts of Thomas B. Swan, and they find not only the defalcation of $973.81, which he admitted in his letter of confession, but also a further defalcation of $415 paid him last September by Town Collector Campbell, for which he did not credit the town. This makes his defalcation to the town $1418.81.

Congress.

In the Senate, Feb. 11th, the postal appropriation bill amendment, appropriating $1,000,000 in aid of additional foreign postal service in American iron or steel vessels, was adopted by a large majority. In executive session, the nomination of Hon. Charles H. Burns to be United States district attorney of New Hampshire, was confirmed. The committee on territories authorized Senator Saunders to report, with a recommendation for its passage, a bill for creating the territory of Pembina, to consist of the northern half of Dakota.

The House spent the day on private bills. The appropriation committee agreed to report favorably a bill appropriating $175,000 for the purchase or charter of a vessel to search for the Arctic steamer Jeannette, provided said vessel shall be manned by volunteers from the navy. The committee on naval affairs agreed to report favorably Representative Morse's bill to "establish and equalize the grades and regulate appointments and promotions in the marine corps."

Too Much Water.

Reports of disasters from floods and ice gorges came thick and fast on the 11th inst. The Hudson river and its tributaries rose rapidly, and the bridges on many country roads were carried away. The Delaware river rose at an alarming rate, and a disastrous gorge at Matamoras was feared; many of the inhabitants of the Delaware valley fled to their higher lands. The ice in the Susquehana river gorged five miles below Harrisburg, Pa., and backed the water up over the Pennsylvania railroad to a depth of two or three feet. Along the Juniata river, and throughout Dauphin county, nearly all the bridges over small streams were swept away. At Wilkesbarre, Pa., the water rose about twenty feet, the ice touching the bottom timbers of the bridge; the steamer H. B. Wright was ground up and carried off, and a bridge up the river was reported as being on its way down, and it was feared would carry away the bridge at Wilkesbarre. At Toledo, Ohio, the Maumee river overflowed; six grain-laden vessels were carried off by the ice, and crashed through several bridges. At Lasalle, Ill., a portion of the Rock Island railroad bridge was destroyed; the Illinois river was gorged at the mouth of the Vermillion river, and houses and barns were submerged.

On the 12th the water was standing from three to five feet deep in the Island House hotel and the Union depot at Toledo, and the basements of many of the large wholesale stores were full, vast loss resulting; the six schooners carried down by the ice on the 11th were valued, with their cargoes, at over $200,000. At Meriden, Conn., on the 12th, Harbor brook, which passes through the centre of the place, overflowed its banks, doing damage to the amount of $10,000. The water was lowering in the flooded district of New Orleans on the 12th, and reported to be rising in the rivers of New Jersey, and some parts of New York and Pennsylvania. A flood was reported in the Potomac at Washington.

A serious disaster to the Charleston & Savannah railroad occurred Thursday night last, resulting from the freshet in the Savannah river. About two miles of trestle work north of the river has been prostrated. This interrupted travel between Charleston and Savannah. Five hundred men were set at work repairing the break.

News and Notes.

There is no doubt that the British forces in South Africa, under Sir G. P. Colley, were badly defeated in a recent engagement with the Boers, and that Colley only succeeded in escaping back to the camp under cover of darkness, because the Boers, who had drawn off with the intention of renewing the attack in the morning, believed a river in the British rear to be not fordable. Gen. Colley was obliged to leave all his wounded on the field. The details of the fight show that the British troops were at a great disadvantage, the Boers, by dint of superior marksmanship, inflicting a loss out of all proportion to that which they themselves received.

At Hustonville, Ky., on the night of Feb. 10th, James K. McCormick, a traveling salesman for a Cincinnati house, was shot dead by W. I. Moore, Jr., his brother-in-law, in a quarrel.

Ship Charlotte W. White, of Belfast, Me., Dyer master, sailed months ago from St. John, N. B., for Liverpool, and is given up for lost with all on board. Capt. Dyer leaves a widow and mother. The mate, Mr. Doane, was married to a lady in St. John the day before the ship sailed.

The worst snow storm of the season, in Wisconsin, prevailed throughout the state on Friday. In Illinois and Kansas the snow fall was very heavy, fifteen inches falling in the latter state. Railroad travel was in a great measure suspended.

On the 10th inst., at Canada, thirteen miles from Santa Fe, N. M., Julian Vigil (Mexican) killed his wife and young daughter, chopping them with an axe, and severely wounded his son, leaving him for dead. The man then hung himself. Instinity produed by liquor caused the tragedy.

Green Jackson (colored) was hanged at Marion, Ark., Friday, for the murder of a negro last spring. It shows some improvement in public opinion when anybody is hung in Arkansas for the murder of a negro, even though the man hung is also of the same race.

Thomas Turner and Henry Bailey, colord men, were arrested on Friday for attempting to wreck a train on the Petersburg & Weldon railroad near Butterworth's bridge, Va., by placing a heavy sill on the track near a curve. They were caught in the act by a man placed to watch for train wreckers; they confess their guilt, but claim to have been paid to commit the crime by white men. They deserve hanging all the same, whether hired or not.

John Bell (white) shot and killed a negro barber, Alex. Pool, at Hopkinsville, Ky., Thursday night of last week. The murderer was lodged in jail, which was guarded by white citizens to prevent the blacks from lynching him. Had it been the white man that was killed, the same guards would have hastened to hang the colored murderer without judge or jury.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts and William L. Ashmead Bartlett were married in London on Saturday. Before the wedding, in accordance with the will of the Duchess of St. Albans, Mr. Bartlett assumed the name of Burdett-Coutts before his own surname, so that he now has a sufficiency of name at all events.

The Maine Central railroad had a hearing before Judge Cornish, at Lewiston, Me., Tuesday morning of last week, relative to fifteen barrels of whiskey which were seized by Officer Kenniston recently. The city solicitor of Lewiston has been investigating the matter, and has examined the despatches, letters, way bills, etc., and is satisfied that the liquor was forwarded to Portland by mistake, and was not intended for illegal sale. Judge Coraish ordered the whiskey to be returned to the road.

Mrs. Hannah Warren died at Newport, R. I., Feb. 10th, in her 102d year.

Miss Ann Reed, a medical student at Ann Arbor university, drowned herself in Onion lake, Michigan, Friday night.

Oscar E. Perrigo, of Richmond, Va., has been sentenced to five years in state prison for marrying a lady in Richmond while he had living two wives previously married in Boston.

Joseph Kotovski, who killed his sweetheart, Augusta Simon, at St. Louis, Mo., in 1876, was on Friday found guilty of murder in the first degree. He had been twice tried before.

A Delaware grand jury has indicted Col. Robert G. Ingersoll as "a despised reviler of religion" and "an arch-blasphemer and reviler of God." Robert will very likely say something to that Delaware grand jury.

John P. Carrington, editor and proprietor of the Journal and Courier of New Haven, Conn., died Feb. 11th. He was the oldest editor and publisher in the state.

Henry McMakin and Samuel Langner were found dead in their room at the Soldiers' home in Milwaukee on the 10th inst., from the effects of coal gas.

Why Women Should Read Newspapers.

It is a great mistake in female education to keep a young lady's time and attention devoted to only the fashionable literature of the day. If you would qualify her for conversation, you must give her something to talk about—give her education about the actual world and its transpiring events. Urge upon her to read the newspapers and become familiar with the present character and improvement of our race. History is of some importance; but the past world is dead, and we have nothing to do with it. Our thoughts and our concerns should be for the present world, to know what it is. Let her have an intelligent opinion and be able to sustain an intelligent conversation concerning the mental, moral, political, and religious improvement of the times. Let the gilded annuals and poems on the centre table be kept a part of the time covered with good weekly and daily journals. Let the whole family—men, women and children, read newspapers.

—"You are now one," said the minister to the happy pair he had just tied together with a knot that they could never undo. "Which one?" asked the bride. "You will have to settle that for yourselves," said the clergyman.

AROUND HOME.

We are in no danger of another water famine for several days to come.

Snow and ice never disappeared so rapidly before within our recollection, as it did during the latter half of last week.

A private dispatch from Washington states that Chief Engineer B. F. Garvin has been detached from the navy yard near this city.

Schooner Amos Tucker has fitted out for a trip to Georges. Schooner Mary S. Hontvet will be ready in a day or two for the same grounds.

James H. Morgan, of Dover, liquor seller, has signed the reform club pledge and gone out of the liquor dealing business. Or rather, he sold out his liquor business, and then signed the pledge.

In the show window of Montgomery's music and art store can be seen a picture of the new Episcopal church at the west end, as it will appear when finished. It will be quite an ornament to that part of the city.

Ship Wm. H. Marcy of this port, Marcy, master, whose arrival at Liverpool from New York has been reported, experienced very heavy weather on the passage, had her decks swept, lost boats and water tanks, and sustained much other damage.

At the brokers' board in Boston, Saturday, 175 shares of Eastern railroad sold at 39 1-2; Northern railroad, 106; $4000 of Eastern railroad 4 1-2 per cent bonds went at 105 1-2. At auction, Cocheco Manufacturing Co. brought 845 and 850; Laconia Co., 560; New Hampshire sixes of 1892, 119 5-8.

One day last week the schooner Jennie P. Phillips caught in Ipswich bay what the sailors call an "ospade." It resembles the shark in form, is fifteen feet long, and weighs twenty-four hundred and thirty-five pounds; the body is covered with hair, which looks like needles. Two of the crew of the fishing schooner Champion have it on exhibition in Boston.

A young business man of this city was arrested on Saturday, charged by a woman with having behaved very improperly toward her in his store, in defiance of her opposition. A private hearing was had in the case Saturday evening, and an adjournment taken to Tuesday. The defendant has hitherto borne a good reputation; the police wink knowingly when the complainant is spoken of.

It is announced that Mayor Sise has had placards posted in the dressing rooms at Music hall, forbidding insulting personalities in the shape of "local gags" by troupes that may hereafter perform at that place. We don't know whether the mayor or anybody else has the legal power to enforce this wholesome rule, but hope there is such power somewhere, for the contemptible practice referred to should be stopped.

The holidays of 1881 fall on the following days of the week: Washington's birthday, Tuesday; Fast day, Thursday; Decoration day, Monday; Fourth of July, Monday; Thanksgiving day, Thursday; Christmas, Sunday. Church holidays are as follows: Ash Wednesday, March 3d; Mid Lent, March 20th; Palm Sunday, April 10th; Good Friday, April 15th; Easter Sunday, April 17th; Ascension day, May 26th; Advent Sunday, Nov. 27th.

There was but a small audience at Franklin theatre Saturday evening, when that most amusing farcical comedy, "Freaks," was played by the excellent Criterion Comedy company. That the attendance was so small was not to be wondered at, the only marvel being that anybody should go in such weather. Those who did attend were highly entertained.

The Eastern railroad engines were watered in this city at the new tank, last week, the tank being supplied by pumping from the artesian well; and notwithstanding the heavy draft from the tank, the pump gained on it steadily until Saturday evening, when it contained fourteen feet of water—between 40,000 and 50,000 gallons. No perceptible impression was made on the quantity of water in the well, and there is now no doubt of the success of the experiment. A larger pump, of an improved pattern, is to be put in, and pipes laid to the round-house for supplying the tank there.

There was quite a lively time around the fish wharves on Saturday. Many of the boats arrived before the storm became violent, and several collisions occurred between the vessels, but no serious injury was done. The schooner Cora Lee ran her bowsprit into C. Morris Tredick's wharf, breaking one of the stringers. Schooner Rover's Bride came in with her foresail badly torn. Schooner Mary S. Hontvet, whose sails had been put in good condition for her next trip, had a big hole made in her mainsail by fire, caught from sparks from the stove pipe. Schooner Grace Choate had some of her trawls stolen; she is fitting out with nets.

The arrivals of fish on Saturday were as follows: schooner Lucy, 1500 lbs.; Ev Nichols, 3000; Champion, 6000; Christie Campbell, 17,000; Flying Eagle, 1500; Celia, 3000; Mary E. Caswell, 2000; Grace Choate, 4000; Can't Come It, 600; Bonita, 5000; Cosmos, 6000; Florence Nightingale, 4000; Rover's Bride, 4000; Cora Lee, 2000; Flora Temple, 500; Jennie P. Phillips, 10,000; Northern Eagle, 5000; Good Templar, 2000; Nettie Adams, 5000; Water Lily, 400; Josie Johnson, 500; Emma S. Osier, 2000; Iris, 2000; Breeze, 2000; Julia, A., 400; Amos Tucker, 4000; Minnehaha 10,000; other boats, 10,000 lbs. Schooner Lizzie D. Saunders went out Saturday to haul her trawls, but could not find them. The Amos E. Lane also came in light.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The committee we learn on Saturday afternoon appointed Mr. E. J. Goodwin, of Farmington, principal of the high school, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Stephen W. Clarke, Esq.

Mr. Goodwin is a native of Lebanon, Me., is a graduate of Bates college, a good scholar and a competent instructor. He has adopted teaching as a profession, and labors in season and out to improve his talents in this direction. He comes to Portsmouth endorsed by the citizens of Farmington as a successful teacher in the higher branches, and at the same time abundantly able to impart instruction in the ordinary and practical departments of education. He has devoted no little time in addition to other studies, to geology, chemistry, etc., by means of which he will be enabled to properly instruct his pupils in these branches. In fine, we think the committee have made a judicious selection, and that in Mr. Goodwin we shall have for our high school pupils an instructor who is learned without being pedantic, who can make study and the illustrations of his teachings attractive without the sacrifice of discipline, and who above all things believes in his profession as a permanent calling, and who at all times is on the qui vive to qualify himself to keep abreast of the best educational minds of the day in this important, honorable and responsible occupation. We learn that the new principal begins his work at the high school on Thursday.

He leaves Farmington much to the regret of the friends of education in that town, but they are conscious that he is a growing man, and they regard this step as one alike advantageous to Mr. Goodwin and to the interest of the young people who seek to avail themselves of the privileges of our high school.

PORTSMOUTH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

At the annual meeting of the Portsmouth Medical Association, held on Friday evening at Dr. Folsom's office in this city, the following officers were chosen:

President, Dr. N. L. Folsom;
Secretary, Dr. Daniel W. Sherburne;
Treasurer, Dr. Andrew B. Sherburne;
Business Committee, Doctors John W. Parsons and S. C. Whittier, of this city, and Dr. E. Q. Adams of Kittery Point.

On Thursday forenoon last a train on the Boston & Maine railroad when passing between Biddeford and Saco struck a man walking on the track. He was thrown twenty feet, but was not injured. Being asked what he was there for, he said a train had run over his cat's tail and cut it off, and his wife had sent him down to find the caudal appendage. Just then his wife put in an appearance, berated him roundly for his carelessness, and sent him home. His wife can manage him easily enough, though he laughs locomotives to scorn.

Naval Affairs.

Passed Asst. Eng'r John A. Tobin is detached from the Portsmouth navy yard, and ordered to special duty.

The bill to restore Capt. Sommerville Nicholson to the active list of the navy has passed both houses of Congress.

The Alliance arrived at New Orleans on the 10th inst., all well.

The Kearsarge arrived at Pensacola at five o'clock in the afternoon on the 11th.

The flagship Tennessee of the North Atlantic squadron arrived at New Orleans on the 12th.

Secretary Goff has issued a general order which requires commanding officers of the United States marine corps, when transferring enlisted men, to endorse upon the descriptive lists the dates of promotions and reductions, their cause, and any other information they may have in reference to the military history of the men.

The Steamer Batavia Safe.

The British steamer Escurial arrived at Gravesend, Eng., on the 11th inst., and reported that on the 4th she saw the missing Cunard steamer Batavia about one hundred miles east of Fayal, Azores islands, in tow of steamer Columbia. The Batavia had lost her propeller, but was otherwise all right, and all were well on board.

New Hampshire Items.

Michael Donally of Salmon Falls was robbed of a silver watch in some den at the north end of Boston, on Friday evening last.

An old lady living in Stratham between seventy and eighty years of age has never seen the cars.

The following officers of the Rockingham Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company were unanimously elected at the late annual meeting: Directers, William Conner, Exeter; Geo. B. Webster, East Kingston; Harrison G. Burley, Newmarket; John A. Blake, Kensington; and John S. Hobbs, North Hampton. Auditors, Charles N. Healey, Stratham, and William S. Titcomb, East Kingston. The condition of the company is quite satisfactory.

G. W. Hart of Claremont, cigar manufacturer, failed Friday. Liabilities are estimated at $20,000; assets, unknown.

The state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will meet at Plymouth, Feb. 23d and 24th, for the election of officers, etc.

An important suit, the Manchester & Keene railroad vs. the city of Keene, involving $150,000 for gratuity voted by the defendant city to aid in building the road, was called for trial at Manchester, Friday, in the supreme court. A large number of witnesses and attorneys were present, but upon consultation the case was referred to Judge Isaac W. Smith of Manchester, Hon. Jeremiah Smith of Dover, and Hon. Walbridge A. Field of Boston. William E. Chandler and Messrs. Briggs & Huse of Manchester appeared for the railroad, and Hon. Wm. Shedd of Lancaster, Faulkner & Batchelder and T. J. Abbott of Keene for the city. The case has excited a good deal of interest, as it is regarded as a test case.

Hon. Charles H. Burns of Wilton has been confirmed as United States district attorney for the district of New Hampshire.

A Gloucester, Mass., paper of the 10th inst. says: "The cod seining experiment by the fishing schooner Northern Eagle, of this port, continues to be a success. On one trip she took 35,000 lbs. 18,000 lbs. of which were taken on a single morning, two other vessels which were absent at the same time taking 4,000 lbs. and 8,000 lbs. respectively. On a subsequent trip the Northern Eagle also took 35,000 lbs., of which 18,000 lbs. were taken in a single day, her catch being three times as large as that of the trawlers fishing on the same grounds. Several vessels are now procuring outfits for cod seining, and others will soon do so. The United States fish commission are much pleased with the success of the enterprise, which was entered upon at their suggestion, and will soon publish and circulate among the fishing towns an illustrated circular describing the manner and showing the advantages of this method of fishing."

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitation of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

A Salt Fickle.

Lorenz A. Pickle of Newfane, N. Y., is six feet five inches in height, and is one of a family of twenty-four children, of whom twenty-two are now living. He has thirteen sisters and eight brothers. He was the smallest of the family, the largest being a brother who lives in the state of Kentucky, who is seven feet two and a half inches tall in his stocking-feet, and weighs two hundred and seventy-five pounds. The object of this sketch is sixty-eight years of age, but his activity might well be envied by men of forty years. He wears no overcoat, and adds further that he wears no socks. He has two daughters living, one seventeen and the other twelve years of age. The former is more than six feet tall, and still growing; and the other, five feet eight inches in height, will probably reach six feet and more before she has attained her growth. A singular characteristic of Mr. Pickle is that he has two pupils instead of one in each eye. The pupils are not entirely distinct, but rather, are double. He says that it is necessary for him to use a strong magnifying glass to be able to read, but that at a distance he can very easily distinguish objects with a facility that other men do not possess. The secret of his remarkable health and activity Mr. Pickle says is the use of salt. His food consists mainly of salt meat and salt pork, and he says he prefers salt to sugar even in his tea, and uses an average of two tablespoonfuls of salt each day. Moreover, he never eats cake or pastry or sweetmeats of any description. But it is a well-established fact that excess of salt is not wholesome, but induces disease. Mr. Pickle naturally endorses salt, but he is probably healthy in spite of salt, and not because of it.

—The Galveston News remarks that "it is hard to persuade the man nearest the stove that the weather has moderated very much."

—The youngsters seen gathered around the stage door on matinee days are not all grandchildren of the ballet girls, though some of them may be.—Philadelphia News.

—Old Bob Keyworth is one of the hardest landlords in Galveston. Jim Groce lives in one of Keyworth's houses and is a very good tenant, while the landlord has never yet had a dollar's worth of repairs done to the house. Not long since Jim went to Keyworth and told him: "I want you to have that house painted. I am paying $20 a month, and you ought to have it done." Keyworth refused, so Groce had it done at his own expense. As soon as the painting was over old Keyworth raised the rent to $25 a month. "Why do you raise the rent?" asked Jim. "On account of the improvement," replied the old man; "you know the house has just been painted, and a newly-painted house is always worth $5 more than a shabby-looking one."—Galveston News.

No, Sir!

A Scoth minister once said no woman could bear pains well as a man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her hand by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Rondout, N. Y., who performed the operation, says he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was erysipelas, and afterwards the doctor gave his "Favorite Remedy" to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" at one dollar a bottle is the thing for female weaknesses and all complaints arising from bad blood. But that Scotchman was mistaken.

—One morning when the Rev. Willis offered the Lord's prayer in the Nevada Senate, Doolitle leaned over to Hammond and remarked: "He stole that prayer, and I'll bet on it. I heard the same ideas expressed in Eureka at a funeral over two years ago."

BOSTON, Jan. 3d.

F. W. KINGSMAN, ESQ.—Dear Sir: Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam seems to give universal satisfaction, both as to quality and price. We sell more of it than all other cough medicines put together, and have yet to hear of the first intimation in which it has failed to give satisfaction. Yours truly,

RUSH BROS. & BIRD.

—They now tell us that the idea of calling a man a "brick" is taken from Homer, and that "Pull down your vest," is a quotation from Shakspeare. If this business isn't stopped it will get so that a man can't remark to a dog, "Gosh dern yer pelt," without being accused of dropping into the classics.

As a food and as a medicine nothing in medicine can compare with Malt Bitters

FELLOWS'
Compound Syrup of
HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1878.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Our New York Fashion Letter.

HOW WE ARE COLLARED.

It behooves me to write once more concerning collars. The mental faculties of the fashionable world run chiefly thereto, and the lady who does not possess one or more, forfeits all right and title to her most valued appellation. I do not mean, however, the time-honored collar of white linen or lace, designed for in-door wear. Such as we have set our affections upon are of fur or plush, and are worn on the street; in the larger varieties often taking the place of an out door garment. For the word "collar" is used for convenience sake, and here made to comprehend not only the collar proper, but large capes reaching to the elbow and wrist. And this is because it is really impossible to say where the collar ends and the cape begins, inasmuch as a large collar is a small cape; a small cape is a large collar; and who shall clearly define the line of division? The small collar about the neck has driven out the silk kerchief of last winter, and peculiar effects result from the wearing of large capes of long fur hanging shaggy about the shoulders; the picture being completed by a pair of fur cuffs to match. Glimpses are given of a delicate waist below, of course made by contrast to look smaller. Emma Abbott looked extremely well when wearing one the other day over an Agnita polonaise of dark green brocade, since it was exactly the style suited to her slender figure. Capes and collars, moreover, will not die with the departing winter, for Lord & Taylor now have hands busy on elegant re-productions for spring and summer. They will be worn either independently or as parts of costumes.

ABOUT FRIZZES.

But perhaps the New York belle does not think more of her collars than of her frizzes. The latter word, like the former, is used in a comprehensive manner, and made to include the whole family of front pieces. Taken together they constitute no inconsiderable tribe, for some are waved, others curled; others scalloped; others tangled and indiscriminate masses. Some are with partings, others without; some are short, others long; but all are made to lie flat, being kept in position by an invisible netting held by invisible hairpins. Of course the term "invisible" is one of courtesy, and means as nearly invisible as is possible on this mundane sphere. Nevertheless they are worn not only over frizzes, where they really are invisible, but in bold relief where the forehead is seen, and frequently even do duty as substitutes for veils, which never were so little worn as at present. The composure, indeed, with which some New York ladies present a complexion covered with tan or freckles to the full glare of daylight, is only equalled by the coolness with which others promenade public thoroughfares, with their faces unprotected save by a plaster of some favorite cosmetic.

COSTUMES.

Zelda Sequin recently wore a costume of quite novel design, suitable for winter goods but adapted also to lighter spring fabrics. It was the Almada, made up in two shades of bronze, one satin de Lyon, the other a stylish plaid. The outfit consisted of a long redingote and trimmed skirt; the former tight fitting, with fronts opening back, and plaits let in behind under the heading of a wide sash of the plaid material. The skirt, which was separate, gave the effect of a long vest in front, and was finished around the bottom with plaitings. An elegant pelisse made by a leading modiste for Marie Roze was from the Taya design, which is very peculiar in shape, having loose sacque fronts that extend around the armhole. The sleeves were loose, and cut in one with an outer back-piece that falls like a blouse over a skirt plaited front and back. The material was black satin finished with revers of brocaded velvet on the cuffs, collars, and the front of the skirt. Another elegant evening dress for the same lovely prima donna was made of black velvet and pale pink brocade. The design was the Felicite toilet, and showed a skirt having a long velvet train with second train of brocade above, plaited in fan shape and laced down the middle. Two scarfs of brocade extended from under the lower edge of the corsage, and crossing each other in front were fastened on the right side of the skirt in a large bow. The corsage was low, without sleeves, pointed back and front, laced up the back, and ornamented in front with a pointed plastron of pink satin shirred at intervals. Embroidered bands encircled the neck, armholes, plastron and scarfs upon the skirt. This would be a beautiful model for any kind of handsome material. LUCY CARTER.

Stylish. A seal skin jacket is no doubt very stylish, but is a perfect trap for catching cold. We would advise all ladies wearing the same to keep Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup handy. Price 25 cents.

A Cross Baby.

Nothing is so conductive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man, remember this.—Traveller.

Twenty Years a Sufferer.

Dr. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I was persuaded to try your Golden Medical Discovery, and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground.

I am, sir, yours respectfully,

N. Lamson, brakeman on the New York & New England railroad, was on Saturday knocked off a car and killed by coming in contact with a bridge in Hyde Park, Mass. An engine following the regular train ran over the body, and cut it in two.

Two Years Ago!

I was a sight to behold, and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health, and can eat anything. What did it? Sulphur Bitters cured me of dyspepsia and liver complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. B. Manchester.

When we reflect that a power of endurance can be imparted to the brain, and that weak minds have been restored to strength by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, we cannot but conclude that the subtle power is really ponderable. Persons who study hard should use syrup.

Death of Fernando Wood.

Hon. Fernando Wood, member of Congress from New York, died at Hot Springs, Arkansas, at ten o'clock on the night of the 13th inst., in his 69th year. He was first elected to Congress in 1840, and was mayor of New York city for five years, including the first two years of the war of the rebellion. He was a man of much influence in the democratic party.

Who Runs the "Democratic House?"

We had supposed Mr. Sam. Randall was the ruling spirit that controlled the present House of Representatives at Washington, and that legislation depended very much upon his plans and projects; but the Washington correspondent of the Times, who holds a position under the present "Democratic House," gives his Rye friends the following information:

The democratic House of the present Congress is "democratic" only in name and numbers, and never in a quorum of members present ready to do business. Whatever they do is what the republicans will graciously permit them to do. They are bound hand and foot by rules of their own making; and submit very gracefully to such kicks and cuffs as the jubilant republicans choose to administer.

This treasonable utterance, of course, is only heard just before the close of the session, and is an important admission of the incompetency of the democratic party, as it to-day exists, to control legislation, which was one of the many reasons why the majority in the House had "leave to withdraw" granted at the last November elections.

News and Notes.

Gen. Herman Ubl, oldest son of the founder of the New York Sta ts Zeitung, at one time business manager of that paper, and a prominent member of the New York national guard, accidentally shot himself to death on Sunday while cleaning a large revolver.

Parnell, the Irish agitator, has fled to France, and it is reported that the other land-league leaders are panic stricken, and getting out of Ireland as fast as possible. It is alleged that the British government has secured abundant proof that an armed insurrection was planned.

An old feud in Boyle county, Ky., between Cain. Rowsey, a notorious ruffian, and Tom Gresham and one Reid, was ended Sunday night, so far as Rowsey was concerned, he being shot dead by the other two fellows with double-barrelled shot-guns.

On Saturday night, at Marshall, Texas, the county clerk's office was entered through a window, and the votes of nineteen of the twenty-three voting precincts were made away with. A large number of citizens are to be tried next week, charged with violation of the United States election laws, and the robbery was no doubt done to remove the conclusive evidence of their crimes.

The snow storm that raged west of the Mississippi river on Friday and Saturday was the worst ever known in that region. In Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Kansas nearly all the railroads were blockaded, and many of them entirely abandoned. The railways have never known so severe a storm, many roads being no sooner shoveled clear than they were again filled in, in many instances to the tops of the telegraph poles.

A gigantic system of burglaries has been unearthed at Montreal. For many months past goods have been taken from stores, the police being unable to find the least clue to the perpetrators; but it turns out that all the depredations were committed by a son of Charles Letourneaux, a prominent business man, and several accomplices of the son. The leading criminal was conducting a heavy and apparently legitimate business as "Letourneaux & Co.," and only the merest accident aimed suspicion toward him; he has escaped, but several of his aids are in custody. Their stealings are estimated at $60,000.

The census bureau has prepared a statement in relation to the indebtedness of the cities of the country, which shows that the bonded debt of 300 cities foots up $664,000,000. Seventy-five New England cities owe more than $62 for each inhabitant, and the average for seventy-two cities of the middle states is more than $76, for thirty-eight cities in the south nearly $56, and for 115 western cities a little over $32 for each resident.

Burlington, Vt., has a public library of 13,500 volumes, which circulated 300,000 last year. Sixty per cent of the books read were prose fiction, a decrease upon former years.

A bill is before the Massachusetts legislature to unite the Boston & Lowell and the Nashua & Lowell railroad corporations. The former has leased the latter for ninety-nine years, and there seems to be no good reason why these two short roads should not become one.

Four members of a family named White, living in Whitehall, N. Y., are remarkable for weight and stature. The father is six feet one inch tall, and weighs 203 pounds, while David, twenty-one years old, has the same weight, but is six feet five inches tall. The united weight of the father and three sons is 751 pounds, and their total height is twenty-four feet seven inches. There are five younger sons, from eleven to nineteen years old, who foreshadow proportions similar to those of their elders.

George C. Mitzell, a sergeant of marines on the United States training ship Saratoga, now lying at Baltimore, died at a house kept by Margaret Price, Saturday morning, from the effects of laudanum administered by himself. Mitzell left the vessel at five o'clock Thursday afternoon on a liberty of twenty-four hours, and as he did not return at the expiration of that time, a reward was offered for his arrest. Annie Craig, a woman of his acquaintance, met him Friday night, and informed him of it. He remarked: "I don't care a ——— about the reward. Before morning I shall be in hell with the spirits." He accompanied the woman to her house, and drank a quantity of laudanum.

An entertainment was given at Booth's theatre, New York, recently, to aid in purchasing a statue of Edgar Allen Poe, to be placed in Central Park. The receipts amounted to nearly $6000.

"Appleton's Journal" for March gives a varied list, including adventure, travel, literary criticism, historic criticism, romance, and social essays. In "Adventures in Patagonia" we have a very fresh and stirring paper, giving a number of graphic descriptions of ostrich-hunting, deer-hunting, puma-shooting, and other nomadic adventures in that far-off land. The hunters were three English gentlemen and Lady Florence Dixie, the article being based on Lady Dixie's work describing the journey. "Scotch Orthdoxy and Modern Thought" is a searching and suggestive review of "Scotch Sermons," which just now is attracting so much attention in literary and theological circles. There is probably no more unique and picturesque figure in history than Suwarrow, or Suvaroff, the famous Russian general of the last century; and the paper in this number describing his strange and fantastic character is one of really intense interest. A paper entitled "Some of Shakespeare's Female Characters" has fresh interest, if only from the fact that it comes from the pen of the once famous English actress, Helena Faucit, now wife of Sir Theodore Martin, author of the "Life of the Prince Consort." Then we have papers on "Tennyson's New Drama," on "George Eliot," on "The Criterion of Poetry," and on "Some Recent Novels." There is an original story by Barnet Phillips, and the conclusion of Erckmann-Chatrian's "Veterans of Yesterday." The editor has several papers, including a discussion of the Shakespeare and Bacon question, with some fresh suggestions on the topic, and a wholesale assault on the theory that women have superior intuitions to men. "Notes for Readers" closes the number.

The publishers assert that the purpose of Appleton's Journal is to give to intelligent readers literature of a permanent and sterling character upon topics affecting public weal and general culture. The character of the publication clearly indicates that this end is kept in view. In our magazine literature in many respects there is room for an improvement, and Appleton's seems to lead the way in this direction.

Published monthly at twenty-five cents per number, or $3.00 per annum. D. Appleton & Co., publishers, New York.

AROUND HOME.

Hon. Wm. E. Chandler was in town on Monday.

There was skating on the south pond, Monday.

Thirteen shares of Kearsarge Mills stock were sold at auction in Boston on Saturday, at $60 per share.

There were no departures or arrivals of fishing vessels on Monday; the price of fish went up to two dollars per hundred pounds.

Eastern railroad 4 1-2 per cent bonds sold at 106, and Northern railroad stock at 107, in Boston on Monday, at the brokers' board.

Hanlan and Laycock pulled over the Thames championship course on Monday, for the Sportsman challenge cup and £1000. Hanlan won easily, by four lengths.

The flood in the Potomac river at Washington, Saturday, carried away a part of the long bridge, and Pennsylvania avenue was overflowed. The damage is estimated at $200,000.

An association has been formed composed of men of both political parties in Cambridge, Mass., proposing to aid the cause of civil service reform. Frank Goodwin, Esq., is one of the committee to nominate officers.

The schooner Daniel C. Baker has been unfortunate this winter in losing trawls, and has been trying to discover who the thief was; these efforts were finally successful, and the parties implicated in the theft were arrested on Monday, and made a settlement by paying for the stolen trawls. This is considered by the honest fishermen as much too easy a let-off.

Mr. Edward Hobbs, formerly a conductor on the Eastern railroad, died in Portland last Friday. He was a native of Wells, Me., and was in the employ of the Eastern railroad nearly twenty years, being conductor about ten years; he left the road some six years ago, and has recently been in charge of the baggage department of the Maine Central road at Portland. He leaves a wife and one child.

Mr. Robert Roberts was on Monday forenoon driving a young and spirited horse harnessed to a wagon, when the animal took fright, and Mr. Roberts was thrown heavily to the ground in front of Mr. Samuel Dodge's residence on Middle street, striking upon his head and receiving serious hurts. His wounds were temporarily dressed by the ladies of Mr. Dodge's household, who were unable to remove him into the house, and he was conveyed to his home in a hack by two police officers, who were at once sent for. On examination there were found several severe cuts on the head, and it was feared that he might have received other injuries of a more serious nature, which owing to his dazed condition up to a late hour in the afternoon could not be ascertained.

The supreme court at Dover was engaged part of two days last week on the trial of the civil case Emerson vs. Wentworth, the latter being police judge of Rochester. It was a case brought by some Boston gamblers to recover $300 and costs, paid by them to Wentworth as police justice in settlement of a criminal suit for gambling at the Rochester town fair. Plaintiffs hired the privilege of gambling of the fair managers, but were arrested by the selectmen and taken before Justice Wentworth, where the matter was settled on payment of the $300 and costs. They claimed that this sum was extorted from them under duress, and sued to recover it back. The verdict of the jury was rendered in favor of the defendant Wentworth, which was really a verdict in favor of the town of Rochester, as the $300 went into the town treasury.

Meetings have been held in Boston and other cities to express American sympathy with Ireland, and the usual speeches and letters which such occasions develope have been brought forth. Some of our Irish fellow citizens are wondering when certain men about town who have a soft way of asking for the Irish vote occassionally, are to hire a hall and give vent to their overflow of sympathy for the oppressed people of Ireland.

Passed Assistant Engineer John A. Tobin, U. S. N., received orders last week detaching him from duty at this navy yard on Monday, the 14th, and ordering him to special duty at the naval and marine engineering exhibition at Glasgow, Scotland, to seek professional information deemed useful to the naval service. He sails on Saturday per steamship Circassian, from New York. During Mr. Tobin's service at this yard he has made a host of friends in this city, who part with him with regret, while recognizing the compliment conveyed in his selection for the important service on which he is ordered; he is an enthusiastic student in the line of his profession, a fact of which the navy department is evidently aware.

Benjamin W. Lord, of Dunbarton, was on complaint of City Marshal Thos. Entwistle of Portsmouth arraigned before Judge Dana in the municipal court at Concord on Thursday of last week, for alleged malicious starvation of two calves, one bull and a horse at his barn in Dunbarton. The proceedings were instituted on behalf of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, and at the request of the president, Hon. T. E. O. Marvin of Portsmouth. Mr. Entwistle visited Dunbarton on Tuesday, and upon entering the barn of the respondent found the animals above referred to dead, and others suffering for water and proper food. Lord was arrested on Wednesday, and lodged in jail. He was represented by Col. A. F. L. Norris, and pleaded not guilty, Hon. Charles P. Sanborn conducting the prosecution. Several witnesses were called, and the defense offering no testimony, the judge ordered Lord to recognize in $500 for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court at Concord.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD SUIT.

At bill in equity has been filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the United States in this city, in behalf of the Mercantile Trust Co. of New York against the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad Co.

The bill recites the construction of the P. & O. R. R. in the state of New Hampshire, and the execution of a mortgage on Nov. 1st, 1871, of the road from Portland to the western line of New Hampshire to secure payment of $3,300,000 of gold bearing bonds of that date due November 1st, 1901, at six per cent interest, of which sum of $800,000 was to be applied for the liquidation and removal of a previously existing bonded mortgage on the road between Portland and Bartlett, and $2,500,000 were to be used to build the road. Of these bonds about nineteen hundred thousand dollars were sold, and the trust company holds $80,000, and other bona fide purchases have the remainder. That interest was paid on these bonds to and including May, 1876, since which time interest has not been paid, and in November the defendant railroad company became insolvent. A prior mortgage from Portland to Bartlett' dated Nov. 1st, 1870, had been executed to secure $800,000 of similar bonds, the proceeds of which were used in building the road to Bartlett, and purchase of equipment. That these bonds were to be taken up by the new bonds secured by mortgage of Nov. 1st, 1871, but the holders of these bonds have declined to exchange them. That interest is paid on these bonds in part from the earnings of the road. That the new bonds were used to purchase equipment used on the entire line, and that from proceeds of these bond the railroad company is enabled to pay the interest on the earlier mortgage. That the income is used for this purpose, whereas that portion of the earnings on the part mortgaged to secure the bonds held by the trust company should be appropriated to pay the interest due on the bonds secured by the mortgage on that part of the road in New Hampshire. That the line west of Bartlett earns more money than does the portion between Bartlett and Portland. The trust company asks to have these earnings appropriated to pay the interest on these bonds under the direction of the court, and for similar remedies as are sought in like cases.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Feb. 14; Batchelder, J.

George Weeks, for assault, was fined $5, costs $5.76. Same, on another similar complaint, was fined $2, costs $5.36.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION.

The first rehearsal of the convention was held on Monday evening at Music hall. The chorus was large and very fairly balanced, and deserved the commendation given by the conductor for their initial performance. A very select and quite large audience attended.

MATTERS IN RYE.

RYE, Feb. 14th.

The thaw which commenced on Wednesday and culminated Saturday afternoon and night in a furious rain storm, has left the roads in a condition that is not favorable for either wheels, sleighs or pedestrians. Friday morning the drifts, which previously had been hard enough to hold up a horse, were found to be treacherous, as quite a number soon ascertained in trying to go over them. During the day the drifts were shovelled through, on most of the districts, so that it was perfectly safe to be out that night. So much shovelling on the roads has not been done before for years; and it is to be hoped that before there comes another such a season of snows and blows, the roads in some places will be made wider and straighter.

While all the highway districts in town have had quite as much snow to contend with as was agreeable, district number two had seemingly a double portion to take care of, and for upward of half a mile a path had to be cut through solid drifts, in some places six feet deep. It took all the able-bodied men in the district all day Friday to make the roads passable, but they did it in good shape, and also helped North Hampton in clearing out a small portion of her highway. I don't know but what this few rods of the road in North Hampton, which any casual traveller would naturally suppose was a part of Rye, ought by law, surveyor's lines and the map, to be a component part of the former town; but common sense would seem to indicate that it should be a portion of Rye, as well as the buildings of Messrs. Calvin and Oliver Garland, which are situated thereon.

In addition to the thaw, last week was prolific of other entertainments. First came the "Martha Washington" on Monday evening at the Congregational vestry, which was attended by all the Marthas and Georges, and their children, in town; at least the woods—or rather the vestry—was full of them, and they evidently were each and every one glad to be there, and seemed perfectly satisfied to contribute each their nickle for the pleasure derived from the entertainment given on the stage, etc.

Tuesday evening a goodly number of the members of the Congregational society met at the parsonage, and presented Rev. J. W. Kingsbury with many articles which are used in all well-regulated households, and which in fact it would be difficult to get along without, as well as with a purse of $30; and also another purse of $12, a gift to Mrs. Kingsbury from Miss Belinda S. Bunker's class in the Sunday school.

Prof. Harrington, the veteran in magic and ventriloquism, gave one of his entertainments at the town hall on Wednesday evening, and had a large audience. Mr. J. E. Lord gave readings at the Christian church on the same evening, to a fair house.

Friday evening the Musical Association met for rehearsal at the town hall, and will meet again in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sawyer, and Miss Alice Jenness, arrived back from Florida last week, evidently well satisfied to get home. Judging from what one hears of the land of oranges and flowers from those who have recently spent a few days or weeks there, it is not a particularly desirable locality to emigrate to, especially if the place you propose emigrating from is any kind of a place at all, say Old Rye, for instance.

How many voters are aware that town meeting day is only three weeks off? Those who are pining for an office had better hurry up and get their next winter's supply of wood cut, split and piled, for a neglect to accomplish that before the second Tuesday in March is in Rye as much a bar to being elected a town official, as is the being a black republican.

"Harry," of the States and Union, has laid the writer under obligations recently, first by sending him a generous supply of Washington papers, and second by solving so satisfactorily the problem of the recent noise which was heard by several gentlemen at Greenland depot, and which for want of some definite explanation was set down as an earthquake. His idea is evidently the correct one, viz., a fall on the ice by "Shadow" of Stratham.

Rev. Mr. Kingsbury and Rev. Mr. Goss of Portsmouth exchanged pulpits last Sabbath.

There are two cases of scarlet fever in a mild form in the south school district. The cases in the centre district, with one exception, are doing well. NAT.

—The phrase, "The art preservative of all arts," is taken from the inscription upon the facade of the house at Haarlem, Holland, formerly occupied by Laurens Koster, to whom is attributed, among others, the invention of printing. Mention is first made of this inscription about 1628.

—The czar tightens his strictures on Russian newspapers. The publication of private advertisements in the journals of Moscow and St. Petersburg has been prohibited for a month, to prevent secret nihilist announcements. The nihilists have found most ingenious ways of giving information to each other through advertisements of cures for gout, sales of furniture, etc.

PREMATURE LOSS OF THE HAIR nowadays may be entirely prevented by the use of BURNETT'S COCOAINE. It has been used in thousands of cases where the hair was coming out in handfuls, and has never failed to arrest its decay; it promotes a healthy and vigorous growth, and it is at the same time unrivalled as a soft and glossy dressing for the hair.

BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS are the best, strongest and most healthful. Sold everywhere.

Itching Piles--Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment" is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents; 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth St., Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cts. a box everywhere. tu,th & s 6tjan29

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. S. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered since October 1875, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a single dose of improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "It will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from diffenulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Senator Rollins recently made in the Senate an exposition of the process by which naval officers are occasionally allowed to "jump" their fellow officers in the way of being advanced in numbers upon the list. The senator shew familiarity with the history of these promotions, and if injustice is done to any one fairly entitled to maintain his position upon the rolls it will not be for the lack of vigilance on the part of the senator from New Hampshire, who hold that undue favoritism in these matter works not only wrong to the other officers, but entails an endless wrangle which unceasingly returns to plague the navy department and Congress in efforts to right the wrong.

—The point of view has much to do with differences in literary criticism. The Boston Courier records this opinion of a boy of twelve on Cooper's novels: "Cooper fixes his books up pretty well; he doesn't have so much girl in them as Scott does in his."

—An English journalist was recently explaining way there are so few interviews in English journals. "Our reporters," said he, "will go as far as an American, but they are so polite that they do not wish to print a man's ideas until after he is dead, and then it is too late."

Fees of Doctors.

The fees of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.—Post.

—"Strange Conduct of Royal Commissioners" was the headline that put an English country editor into jail for contempt, in an article reporting the doings of an election-investigating commission.

—Kentucky country newspapers must rate low. A Morgan county preacher said, in a recent sermon, that one could buy a reputation from a newspaper by presenting the editor with a green cucumber.

—A peasant named Vang, who had exhibited remarkable literary gifts, died in Norway the other day, in his eighty-third year. He never rose beyond an humble office in the village school, but he published several important collections of folk music and folk songs, and in 1871 brought out a remarkable volume of local legends. He lived entirely among the people, and supported himself partly by teaching and partly by breaking stones.

—A slight railway accident recently detained a bridal party a few hours, and during the interval the bride had leisure to find out that she loved the "best man" better than the groom. This she confessed with humiliation and tears, but with firmness and despatch. The groom argued the point for an hour, and finally handed her over to his friend with the words: "Take her, old boy. She is yours by divine right. If she cannot be my wife, I would rather see her yours than be a king myself."

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed) JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

TWO MUSICIANS.

When one with skillful fingers swift as wind
Swept to and fro along the glittering keys,
I said: I wish I were away from these
Clattering and noisy players that resigned
Myself to listen, and I tried to seize
Upon some meaning in the tune I heard.
But in my ears the harsh notes rang and whirred;
It was as if I stood carelessly
Among a crowd of people coarse and rude,
Who talked in shrillest tones of grudge or feud,
Though only seldom one could catch a word.
Even their voices were a bore to me;
I pictured their dull faces, till released
From such companions, when the music ceased.

But when the second player struck a note
And fingered softly on a gentle air,
It was like coming from that turmoil where
I waited, on the Venetian boat,
Idly to glide among the shadows, there
Where one may drift and dream; and suddenly
One deep sweet voice sang such a song to me.
I listened, and I followed far away—
No music every sent the so astray.—
I never could call back the tale it told,
But all the world seemed lost, as when, one day,
I lay me down upon a high cliff's crest,
Warm with the sunshine, there alone to rest,
While far below the great waves shoreward rolled.

Classical Names in Massachusetts.

Groton is a pretty village. It nestles in a circle of hills and lakes. This country is full of lakes and beauty, and some of the lakes preserve their sweet old Indian names, breathing the music of the sighing winds and the rippling water. There is one lake near Webster, Massachusetts, that has two Indian names. If the morning is a little hazy or sultry and you don't feel very lively anyhow, you simply call it "Chadbonakongkomon." But if the day is clear and bright and the air is bracing, and you feel as though you could jump over a mountain, you clasp your hands in ecstacy and exclaim, "Oh, beautiful Chargoggagoggmanchoggagogg!" And these are the veritable Indian names of the lake, mind you; I don't invent them myself. A man on the train spelled them for me, and then I asked him to pronounce them. He started, but when he got about half through the second one, the conductor came along, necked him, and hustled him into the smoking car. "That's the second time I've heard him talking like that in the ladies' car," the conductor explained to me, in an apologetic tone of countenance, on returning from the scuffle.—Burdett's letter to Hawkeye.

A Capital Substitute.

Once a man searched through what is now the state of Florida to find a fountain he had heard was there, which was able to make an old person young again. He failed. We can't be boys or girls again. Age and infirmity are sure to come, but God did not ordain sickness. That is our fault. There is no fountain of youth, but there is a fountain of health, and its other name is Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." It comes from nature—from the fields and flowers, and like them is "very good." Try it for complaints of women, blood troubles, and pains and aches everywhere. If you can't get it at the store, send one dollar for a bottle to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

In the town of Ellsworth, Me., or vicinity, is a gentleman whose name is Elijah Lorenzo Mortimer Allen Cook. His first wife's name was Isabella Bomanilla Clark Johnson, and his second and present wife's name is Mary Maria Teresa Terrinne Jennie O'Mile Pierce Cook.

"I ordered Liebig Co's Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel in the case of an old indolent ulcer, attained with great suffering and which had resisted a variety of constitutional and local treatment. I am happy to say it effected a perfect cure in a fortnight."

Prof. MARTIN EHRLIGH, M. D.
31 West 24th St., N. Y.

Beware of counterfeits and cheap, worthless imitations. Also cures piles, catarrh, neuralgia, rheumatism, hoarseness and sore throat. Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes.

Small-pox is reported as epidemic at Cuba, Illinois. At Streator, Ill., the disease has broken out in a convent.

We are strongly disposed to regard that person as the best physician who does most to alleviate human suffering. Judged from this standard, Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., is entitled to the front rank, for her Vegetable Compound is daily working wonderful cures in female diseases. Send for circular to the above address.

"A Celebrated Case" is being played at the Globe theatre in Boston, with Mrs. Thomas Barry and other celebrities in the cast.

From the cradle to the grave all are subject to coughs and colds. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is a certain cure in the most obstinate cases. New trial size, 10 cents.

On Saturday night Judge Crosby, of the Lowell police court, celebrated his eighty-third birthday by giving a reception at his home to all the clergymen of the city, Catholic and Protestant, for conference on the temperance question, and congratulations on its present unexpectedly favorable outlook in the city government.

Truly wonderful in nervousness, general debility, emaciation and dropsy,—Malt Bitters.

Congress.

The Senate on the 14th passed the postal appropriation bill, with the amendment appropriating $1,000,000 for additional ocean postal service stricken out.

The Senate committee on appropriations has voted to report favorably the bill to distribute the remaining $143,000 of the Farragut prize money. An amendment to the bill forbids the payment of any part of it to lawyers or for counsel fees, the object being to prevent the further depletion of the award by Ben Butler and others, who have claims against it.

News and Notes.

Fire at Pittsfield, Mass., Saturday morning, destroyed a small house occupied by Mrs. Fallon, an old woman living alone, and she was burned to death. Her remains were found in the ruins horribly disfigured.

Patrick McGrath was killed on Monday at Garfield & Proctor's coal pockets in New Bedford, by being crushed between a moving coal car and a post supporting the building. He was twenty-one years of age, and came from Ireland last year.

F. A. McClain, an employe of the Roberts Torpedo company, was driving near Bradford, Pa., Mon ay morning, in a sleigh with 200 pounds of nitro-glycerine, when the horses became frightened and ran against a boulder, causing an explosion. McClain was torn to mince-meat, both horses were killed, and no evidence of the sleigh could be found.

The stockholders in the "Permanent exhibition" at Philadelphia on Monday decided to wind up its affairs, and sell the building in Fairmount park.

Mary Anderson is playing at the Boston theatre this week. The Harvard students occupy front seats, and purchase the choicest bouquets for the fair artiste.

Christian Margaret and wife were suffocated at Milwaukee, Wis., on Monday, by gas from a coal stove, making four persons suffocated in the same manner within a week in that city.

The inhabitants of Fern Creek, Ky., are besieged by hydrophobic animals, dogs, cats, sheep and cows, that were bitten by a mad dog recently, and are afraid to walk the streets.

A sad scene was noticed in the police court at New Haven, Conn., a few days ago, when two sisters, the older twenty-two years old and the other two years younger, were arraigned for drunkenness. The former was a wife and mother, and her husband swore that she had been drunk continuously for four weeks. The cases were continued thirty days, principally because the children of the older woman were too young to be deprived of their mother.

Miss Cora A. Nutting, a highly respected young lady, mysteriously disappeared from Springfield, Mass., some weeks ago. She has recently written from Newark, N. J., that her home was a happy one, and that her disappearance was not voluntary, but entirely against her will, but no solution of the mystery was pointed at.

Mrs. Wilt of Tompkinsville, Staten Island, was standing near a bureau Saturday night, when a kerosene lamp exploded and set fire to her clothing. She ran up stairs, and meeting her mother upset her so that she fell and broke her leg. A young man met the burning woman at the head of the stairs, and extinguished the flames with his coat, but the injuries were so severe that the poor woman died in an hour.

Two United States senators and six representatives were captured in a Washington gambling den recently. So say the Washington correspondents, but they do not give their names.

The Brush Electric Light works at Cleveland, Ohio now employ 227 men, who turned out $1,500,000 worth of goods last year. The works produce 125,000 carbons a month, and nine Brush machines and 150 lamps weekly. New buildings are now going up which will greatly increase the concern's capacity.

In New York, Monday, a man named Merritt fatally shot a woman named Margaret Knapp, fired an unsuccessful shot at a man named Hamilton, and then fled. The woman had been living with Merritt as his wife, and Hamilton, a former lover, called on her at Merritt's rooms.

Five negroes were sent to Springfield, Tenn., from Nashville, on Monday morning, to be tried for the murder of a man named Lapreade. In the evening Gov. Hawkins received a telegram from the judge of the court asking for aid, as the prisoners were threatened with lynching that night. Fifty militiamen, with sixty rounds each of ball cartridge, were hurried to Springfield from Nashville by a special train.

The Nashua Telegraph says: "Because Jay Gould attended the complimentary dinner in New York given to Mr. Dorsey, it will not do to infer that Mr. Gould is much of a republican. He once swore before a committee of investigation that in a democratic district he was a democrat, in a republican district a republican, in a doubtful district he was doubtful; but in every district and at all times 'he was an Erie man.' Jay Gould is a party unto himself, and is now trying to find organs for it."

John Quincy Adams, and the Right of Petition.

One day in February, 1837, after presenting an enormous number of his usual petitions, Mr. Adams said that he had another paper of a somewhat extraordinary character, and he would like to inquire whether its presentation would be in order; it purported to be signed by eleven slaves. Mr. Speaker Polk was startled, declined to decide the question, and said he would refer it to the House. Mr. Adams' long preceding array of abolitionist petitions had wearied members into inattention, but Mr. Polk's obvious embarrassment attracted Mr. Lewis of Alabama, who asked what the petition was. Being told, he lost all control of himself, frothed at the mouth, turned toward Mr. Adams, and ejaculated at the top of his voice, "By God, sir! this is not to be endured any longer!" "Treason! treason!" screamed half a dozen other members. "Expel the old scoundrel! Put him out! Do not let him disgrace the House any longer!"

A resolution was moved that Mr. Adams, having presented a petition signed by negro slaves, and so given "color to an idea" that bondsmen might petition, should be brought to the bar of the House and censured by the speaker. Another motion for the rejection of the petition fell so far short of the intensity of the occasion that it was promptly withdrawn. It was intimated that if such an offender were to escape unchastised, southern representatives would do well to go home. Mr. Alford wished the paper to be burned by order of the House. Mr. Haynes moved that Mr. Adams deserved the "severest censure of this House, and is censured accordingly."

So the rain of invective and of condemnatory resolutions pelted upon the aged and solitary head of the stubborn vindicator of the right of petition; yet the hardy old combatant never flinched, but felt quite at home, and perhaps rather enjoyed himself amid the wild din and tumult. "I suppose that if I shall be brought to the bar of the House I shall not be struck mute by the previous question before I have an opportunity to say a word or two in my own defence," he said. His "word or two" proved, as usual, very rasping. He reminded gentlemen that he had presented no petition at all, but had only asked a question; he notified Mr. Lewis that his resolution did not coincide with the petition, which prayed that slavery should not be abolished; he made the most irate laugh at the ridiculous and unfortunate phrase, "giving color to an idea." He did not, however, content himself with a mere sparring exhibition, but in spirited earnest made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the universal right of petition without regard to the social status of the petitioners. In time his antagonists became heartily disgusted with the contest; for, apart from such soundness as had to be conceded to his position on the general right of petition, they had been over hot-headed, and had blundered into absurd as well as indefensible attitudes. They proposed to lay the whole subject on the table; but Mr. Adams strenuously resisted this, being relentlessly bent upon having the fight out. Thereupon the excitement again waxed furious. The more perturbed among the southerners sent for their esteemed champion, Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, absent on other business. They told him that the Union was in danger. Breathless, he rushed into the hall; but upon learning the cause of the summons his indignation was vented upon his discomfitted friends. "Is that all?" he said scornfully; "in my opinion, slaves are the very persons who should petition. * The country, I believe, is safe." He helped matters to a conclusion, if not quite in the way expected by his friends. The House let Mr. Adams drop from its scorched fingers, and was content to resolve that it could not "receive said petition without disregarding its own dignity and the rights of a large class of citizens of the southwest, and the constitution of the United States."—International Review for February.

—A young lady who had been married a short time, lately told a "bosom friend" that there was only one thing more astonishing than the readiness with which Ned gave up smoking when they became engaged, and that was the rapidity with which he took it up again after they were married.

—A gentleman not unknown in literary circles was present at one of the Pope's receptions. The Holy Father approached him and said: "You are an American. Are you a Catholic or a Protestant?" "Holy Father," replied our friend, "I am neither a Catholic nor a Protestant. I am a journalist."

—Jennie June criticises little women who swathe themselves with great folds of heavy material, drag loaded trains, and carry pounds of beads. She says:—"See a woman in a plain high gown of brown satin with ruffles of fine lace, and a string of amber beads around her neck—a dress that is not an obstacle, that even if it is long is easy taken up. That is taste."

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if a loved to continue very serious results may follow. The Generosity of a Former Slave.

A touching incident, which shows the kinship of mankind, is told in the New Orleans papers in the story of Gaff Jack, a former slave in a prominent Louisiana family, who spent a dollar given him at New Years in the purchase of a half ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery, for which he drew $1,000, and with which he provided for the wants of his aged parents, and with a portion relieved the wants of some poor Germans whose sufferings moved him. He will buy again, as will many others, by writing to M. A. Dauphin, No. 319 Broadway, New York City, N. Y., or same person at New Orleans, La., before March 8th, the next drawing.

The schooner Helen F. Tredick, which has been laid up, is again to resume her fishing trips.

We are informed that another council of the Legion of Honor is to be organized in this city.

The fishing fleet, some thirty vessels, left in force on Tuesday morning for the fishing grounds.

The ship Gov. Goodwin, which arrived at Hong Kong on the 11th inst. from Cardiff, made the passage in the remarkably short time of 110 days.

Rev. E. C. Bolles, who is to give the closing lecture in the Universalist church course, concludes his series of lectures before the Lowell Institute on Thursday evening.

Mr. Roberts, who was hurt on Monday by being thrown from a wagon, was easier and apparently a little better on Tuesday, though the full extent of his injuries could not yet be determined.

The contract to move sixteen buildings at Epping, from a portion of the camp ground, has been awarded to Frank Morrill of Salisbury. This removal is ordered by the court, the contest being between the camp ground proprietors and certain dealers, the latter winning.

At a meeting of Temple Lodge, Knights of Honor, of Manchester, on Friday evening of last week, a communication was received from Gov. Goodwin Lodge of this city, inviting the attendance of Temple Lodge on the evening of Feb. 23d. The invitation was accepted, and a committee of arrangements appointed.

The officers of Davenport Council, No. 5, Royal and Select Master, of this city, have been invited by Adoniram Council of Manchester to visit that council on the evening of the 25th inst., to witness the work of the Cryptic rite as exemplified in the royal and select degrees. The officers of the Grand Council have signified their intention to be present.

Martin Hoyt, Esq., left this city on Monday for a trip to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, intending to be absent from ten days to a fortnight. His patrons need not however absent themselves from his place of business on this account, as they will find his partner, Mr. Edgar D. Wood, and his skilled assistants, able and willing to give satisfactory attention to customers regular or casual.

A year or two ago, when Mr. Reid was canvassing this city for subscribers to Johnson's Cyclopædia, he borrowed of a gentleman the first volume of Chambers' Encyclopædia, for the purpose of instituting comparison between the two works. The book has not been returned, leaving the set incomplete and practically worthless, and whoever now has it in possession will confer a favor on the owner by sending it to the CHRONICLE office.

The schooner William P. Hood, which sailed from this port on the 26th ult., with a cargo of apples and potatoes for Baltimore, arrived at her destination on the 12th inst. She did not get past Hyannis, Mass., until the 4th inst., bad weather and ice interfering with her progress. She arrived at New Point Comfort, Va., on the 6th, and was detained there by the ice for nearly another week.

Harper's Magazine for March is now ready for delivery by Moses Brothers and W. G. Myers.

The Veteran Artillery Association on Monday evening voted to have a supper at the Rockingham house on the evening of Feb. 22d, and appointed a committee to make all necessary arrangements.

The horse belonging to Mr. Robert Roberts who was so severely injured on Monday by being thrown from his team, took quite a circuit around the city; his speed through Water street was hardly above a walk, and it is said he could easily have been stopped had anyone been disposed to attempt it. He was brought to a stand-still on State street.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION.

The rehearsals on Tuesday shew a marked improvement in the chorus, the one in the evening being attended by a considerably larger audience than was present Monday night.

This evening the first grand concert will be given, with Miss Emma J. Flanders, Mrs. C. A. Sinclair, Miss Mary A. McCarthy, Miss Lizzie M. Flagg and Mr. J. H. Chapman as soloists.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Feb. 15; Batchelder, J.

Mr. Dennis J. Lynch, grocer, was brought up on a charge of felonious assault upon a woman in his store, the case having been continued from Saturday. The defendant proving conclusively, by other evidence than his own testimony, that he was absent from his store at the time the alleged assault took place, the case was dismissed. The complainant was Mrs. Sarah Holland, wife of John Holland, who lives on Bow street.

Hon. Albert R. Hatch was counsel for the accused, and Wm. Russell Foster, Esq., for the complainant. After the evidence was all in and Mr. Hatch had spoken, Mr. Foster addressed the court requesting the defendant's discharge, and stating that he (counsel) took up the case on statements made by the complainant which the evidence had plainly proved false. Later in the day the woman was arrested on a charge of perjury, and was held in $200 for examination on Thursday.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The ice which for some days last week blocked the sea beach at Gerrish's island had all disappeared before Saturday, and Pocahontas point was clear on that date.

Dr. Alexander Blake of Kittery Point was called upon one day last week to dress the left thumb of Mr. Eleazer W. Hoyt, which the latter had split open while splitting wood.

The Ocean Park association, recently organized to purchase and manage a Freewill Baptist camp-meeting ground at Old Orchard, has appointed a committee to survey the lately purchased land, lay out avenues, and locate buildings, including a pavilion and observatory; also to confer with parties relative to the erection of a large hotel and boarding house, to ascertain how many private cottages will be built the coming season, and make arrangements for the public meetings. Owing to the demand for shares of stock it has been decided to increase the number of stockholders from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five.

YORK CORNER, ME., Feb. 14th.

On Wednesday evening, the 9th inst., a goodly number of the friends of Rev. Mr. Downs, of the little church at Ground Root hill, met at his residence and passed a very pleasant evening. All were pleased. A good supper was prepared by the visiting friends, and a good amount in the shape of United States funds was left to cheer the hearts of the worthy pastor and his estimable lady. A word for the little fourteen-years-old daughter who entertained the company by her admirable singing; she has a splendid voice and natural musical talent, which with some cultivation will sometime surprise her many friends. She is a born singer.

On Friday, the 11th, Capt. Joseph Sewall, a gentleman about seventy years of age, while moving a log missed his footing, and falling backwards dislocated his shoulder. He was attended by Dr. Potter of Portsmouth. On the same day a Frenchman in the employ of J. P. Norton, Esq., while chopping, cut a severe gash in his right foot. On the same day a valuable ox belonging to Mr. John Young fell, and in some way broke off one horn. On the same day while Messrs. W. F. Mozart and Daniel N. Armstrong were engaged in blasting a ledge, a charge of powder which they were endeavoring to withdraw exploded, and Mr. Mozart received severe injuries about the face and head, while Mr. Armstrong suffers the loss of one thumb, and also the use of both hands for the present. Friday was an unlucky day for the people, but a good day for press reporters.

On Saturday Mr. Benjamin Lucas, aged about eighty-seven years, and a pensioner of the war of 1812, passed away. He was I think the last pensioner of 1812 in town. r.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Wells on the Jurisdiction of Courts." West Publishing Co., publishers, St. Paul, Minnesota.

The eastern merchant looks to the west for his supplies of grain, and the capitalist for his interest and railroad dividends; but shall the lawyer of the older east look to the writers of the more juvenile west for his law books? Chicago and St. Louis have sent east many publications for the enlightenment of lawyers, and now Saint Paul comes into the field of legal literature.

The West Publishing Co. of St. Paul has been noted for its enterprise in the publication of the Federal Reporter, a weekly issue of which gives all the decisions of the circuit and district courts of the United States immediately after their rendering. The Reporter has gained a large circulation among the legal profession of the country, and the publishers also send east their law publications in great numbers.

Newly settled states have many novel legal questions to be settled in their courts; and the admiralty jurisdiction of the western waters has given the federal courts no little amount of business. The treatise of Mr. Wells, who is rapidly becoming known as a writer upon law, is a valuable addition to the library of the jurist. It gives a concise statement of what is jurisdiction of courts, parties and everything thereto pertaining. It treats of equity, admiralty, probate, crimes, bankruptcy, claims against the national government, homestead — indeed of the many varied forms in which questions arise in legal controversies; and they are collated with reference to authorities so that the student or practitioner can at a glance find what he seeks, and the source whence the determination of the case arose. The list of cases cited, alphabetically arranged, consumes about twenty-five pages; while a copious index, in addition to a classified table of contents, will at once permit even the novitiate to find the law upon almost any adjudicated question.

Such a book costs the author an immense expenditure of time, and in the same ratio saves it to the profession. The book contains over six hundred pages, and is to be had of all the leading law booksellers in the country.

"Quiet Hours: A collection of poems. Second series." Boston; Roberts Brothers; price $1.00.

This neat little volume, like the first of the "Quiet Hours" series, contains poems of nature and religion, selected and printed from the works of well known authors by permission of the publishers of the poems. The selection here presented contains many beautiful lines from Wordsworth, Turner, Keats, Coleridge, Tennyson, Shelly, Jean Ingelow,—indeed from a great number of distinguished poets. Among the collections devoted to "Prayer and Aspiration" are found the beautiful lines "Praying in Spirit," by Harriet McEwen Kimball.

This series of "Quiet Hours" is devoted to subjects under the heads of "Nature; Morning and Evening; Inward Strife; Life and Duty; Prayer and Aspiration; Trust and Adoration; Heaven and the Saints; and Miscellaneous." The work of compilation seems to have been performed with a judicious appreciation of what a volume of this character should contain, and the little book will be a welcomed companion to many a weary heart, and its cheering consolations and beautiful examples of touching devotion will be appreciated by all who possess it. In the neat little dress of the new volume, there seems added beauty to many of the lines with which we have long been familiar, but which we never tire of rereading; and the happy way in which the editor has grouped together the authors of different ages enables us to judge of the power of fine poetry in its elevation of our race. The book is for sale by Mercer Goodrich, No. 1 Market street.

We are indebted to Hon. Mr. Ray of the third congressional district for a copy of the Congressional Record containing the proceedings of the Senate and House on the 8th inst., upon the resolutions concerning the death of the late Hon. Evarts W. Farr. The speeches of Col. Briggs, and Messrs Hall and Ray were creditable to those gentlemen, and shew a keen appreciation of our lamented deceased citizen. In the Senate, Mr. Rollins called up the resolutions, and addressed the Senate at some length in eulogy of the deceased representative. He was followed by Senator Blair, whose closing remarks were: "New Hamphire is not ashamed of her sons. She points to them as her jewels. But of none can she more truly say that he was a 'knight without fear and without reproach' than of poor dead Farr, now emblamed in the immortal glory of his own life, and awaiting the reveille of the resurrection on the peaceful banks of the wild Ammonoosuc, while the shadows of Mount Washington lie tenderly on his grave. There is nothing more but to turn slowly and sadly to the exacting realities of life, and by imitation of his bright example to prepare for the inevitable hour."

—A Montana Indian, who was recently convicted of murder, expressed his opinion of the lawyer who defended him with delicious frankness: "Lawyer too much talk! heap fool!"

Naval Affairs.

The flagship Tennessee sailed from Kingston, Jamaica, for New Orleans, on the 14th inst.

Chief Engineer B. F. Garvin is detached from Portsmouth navy yard, and placed on waiting orders.

Chief Engineer D. B. Macomb is detached from duty in charge of stores at Portsmouth navy yard on March 1st, and ordered to the yard.

WHAT HAPPENED TO

MR. JOSEPH BEACH.

Stone in the Kidney expelled after using Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" about two weeks.

One of the most remarkable cases that has ever been brought to the notice of the public, is that of Mr. J. B. Beach, of Stone Ridge, Ulster Co., N. Y. Mr. Beach had suffered a non October 18th, 1874, from the presence of Calculus or Stone in the right Kidney. No less than seven physicians were employed at different times, to whom Mr. Beach paid hundreds of dollars for medical treatment, with only temporary relief from his agony.

By the urgent solicitations of his friends he was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy"—experienced a marked improvement from the first day he began to use the medicine; on the 15th of September he voided a stone as large as could be passed through the natural channel.

Mr. Beach concludes a long letter to Dr. Kennedy by saying: "I will always afford me pleasure to recommend the "Favorite Remedy" to those who may be suffering from difficulties of the Kidneys and Bladder, or any disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. The "Favorite Remedy" is sold by all druggists. The Doctor's only address, is Rondout, N. Y.

Ruel Durkee of Croydon is said to be the champion barley raiser in Sullivan county. He recently had thrashed 400 bushels of barley.

Richard Taft, senior partner in the firm of Taft & Greenleaf, proprietors of the Profile house, died at Littleton on the 14th inst., at the age of about sixty-nine years. At the time of his death he was president of the Profile & Franconia Notch railroad. He leaves a widow, and one daughter, wife of Charles F. Eastman, Esq., of Littleton.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Washington, D. C. Nov. 10, 1876.

I take pleasure in certifying to the efficacy of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, in use in my family and as a specific for colds of children or adults. I have found it to be a cure almost immediate and always permanent. Very respectfully,

THOS. B. PRICE.

A woman was killed Saturday night at Guilde Hollow, in the town of Egremont, Mass., while scuffling with a man who had called on her. A gun was discharged that he was trying to take from another man in the room, causing the death. He claims that it was an accident.

That's a Fact.

A man can't work unless he feels well. The hard times have made plenty of people sick simply by worrying them almost out of their wits about money and business. Trouble of mind has brought on trouble of body. There is indigestion, heaviness in the head, and all that. Are you afflicted in this way? Go and invest one dollar for a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and it will make a new man of your. It takes the bile out of the blood, and is worth a trip to Rondout, N. Y.,—the doctor's home—on foot, if you can not get it more easily. First, however, see if your druggist hasn't got it.

Hon. George P. Marsh, who has been minister to Italy since 1861, is reported as saying that it has cost him $1000 more to live than his salary, which makes, of course, $20,000 he is out of pocket for the honor of representing the United States. He is coming home, being eighty years of age and out of health.

Cleansing, purifying, strengthening and nourishing beyond all others are Malt Bitters.

Primitive Dutch Lullabies.

The Christian Intelligencer contains an interesting article on "The Primitive Dutch Baby of America," compiled from Mrs. Vanderbilt's "Social History of Flatbush," from which the following is selected:

With the cradle has also survived an old Dutch Lullaby. As it is a sort of traditional "Mother Goose" among our Dutch families, we give it here, but we are not willing to vouch for the spelling, as we have never seen the words printed; probably it has never before been in print. We feel sure however, that it is a familiar sound to the descendants of every Dutch family, and that grandpa and grandma have trotted many a little four-year-old upon their knees, to the song of

Tip a trop a tronjes,
De varkens in de o-oajes,
De koeijes in de klaver,
De paarden in de haver,
De eendjes in de waterplass,
De gro-ote mayn kleine-was.

A free translation of the above being that, to climb up to father's or mother's knee, was for the child a little throne, upon which he might be as happy as were the little pigs among the beans, the cows among the clover, the horses among the oats, and the ducks splashing in the water.

At the last line the singer is supposed to toss the child as high as he could reach, giving the real name in the blank left above in saying, "So groot my little—was." We find upon inquiry that this little cradle song was everywhere in use in the Dutch settlements from Albany to Long Island. Upon application, it has been sent to us from different sources, with only the slight variation occasioned by the loss of one line in the Long Island version. Following "De eenjes in de waterplass" should be "De kalf es in de long gras." This is the only theft that time has succeeded in making for, perhaps, two hundred years, for we can give no date to the bit of rhyme; there is nothing in the world which makes it improbable that it came with the children from the fatherland.

Sometimes instead of the child's name in the last line, it was altered thus: "So groot my kleine poppetje was." That is, so tall is my little puppet, doll, or baby, as it may be translated—a term for endearment.

ILLUSTRATION.—At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS'

Compound

SYRUP OF

HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

Handwriting and Character.

You never take a pen in hand but you are showing something of your own character. The very style of the hand writing is an element in the determination of character. The way in which a man dashes off a letter is very much the way in which a man uses his voice. There is a modulated ease in the tones of the handwriting. Without professing to be experts, like Messrs. Chabot and Netherclift, we can certainly gather a general idea of character from the handwriting. A state minister was commenting on a very strong dispatch in the presence of his sovereign. "The language is strong," said he, "but the writer does not mean it; he is irresolute." "Whence do you see irresolution?" said the King. "In his n's and g's, please your Majesty." Only it is to be said that a great deal of humbug is often talked by people who profess to be judges of handwriting. I showed a professor of caligraphy a letter which I had received. He took a very unfavorable view of the handwriting. It was "the handwriting of a man without learning, without genius, without feeling." "And now, sir," I said, "will you look at the signature?" The letter was written by Lord Macaulay.—London Society.

Discouraging to Office-Seekers.

General Garfield is reported to have said the other day, in conversation with one of his visitors, that he did not propose to turn good republicans out of office merely because they are doing well and others want their places. This remark is not calculated to encourage the large number of ambitious men who are waiting for the fourth of March to press their claims for appointments upon the new president. It means that there are to be no sweeping changes in the public service, made solely to gratify aspirants to office who can urge personal friendship or recent party service as a reason for giving them the places of worthy and efficient officials appointed by former administrations.—N. Y. Tribune.

Fees of Doctors.

The fees of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.—Post.

—Amenities of literature: "When I am played out as a novelist," said Balzac one day to Dumas the elder, "I intend to write for the stage." "Begin at once, then!" replied Dumas.

—"What are you looking for?" asked one of the Widow Bedott's two daughters, who were entertaining two young gentlemen on the piazza rather late one night last summer, of their mother, who seemed to be hunting for something around the front yard. "The morning papers," answered the widow. The young men left.

Rational Treatment and Positive Cures are what the afflicted seek for, and those who resort to Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are not doomed to disappointment. So positively efficacious is his Favorite Prescription in all cases of female weaknesses, nervous and other derangements incident to the sex, that this potent remedy is sold under a positive guarantee. For particulars see Pierce's Memorandum Book (given away by druggists), or see the wrappers of the medicine. Sold by druggists.

WASECA, Minn., April 5th, 1879.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D.:

Dear Sir—I feel that I should be neglecting my duty were I to fail in giving my testimony as to the value of your medicines. For years I have been a great sufferer from a complication of chronic diseases which our physicians treated in vain. I am now using your Favorite Prescription and find myself almost well. Your medicines have done me more good than anything I have ever used.

I remain, gratefully yours,

MRS. E. B. FARMALEE.

—A transcendental preacher took for his text, "Feed my lambs." As he came out of the church a plain farmer said: "That was a very great text, but you placed the hay so high in the rack that the lambs couldn't reach it, nor the old sheep either."

—"I wonder, uncle," said a little girl, if men will ever yet live to be 600 or 1,000 years old?" "No, my child," responded the old man, "that was tried once, and the race got so bad the world had to be drowned."

Promote Digestion

And healthfully stimulate the liver with the Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic.

—An exchange says, "The new born baby of the Japanese minister to this country has been named Ulysses Grant Yoshida," and adds, with uncalled-for perspicacity "after General Grant." But for this timely explanation we might have thought the child was named for Christopher Columbus.

A Big Bill.

Washington despatches of Feb. 15th say: "The pension appropriation bill, as amended by the Senate and now before the House appropriation committee, appropriates $68,282,906.68, being the largest pension appropriation bill ever perfected, either by this government or any other, and is more than all the pension appropriations of all the governments on earth combined. This is not entirely owing to the arrears-of-pensions law, although before that was enacted the pension expenditures were annually less than one-half the amount now about to be appropriated. The wholesale pensioning of the survivers of the war of 1812 has helped to swell the aggregate. There are now on the roll over 35,000 widows and survivors of that war. It is remarked at the pension office that no one engaged in that war seems to have died in the last half century. The effect of this immense swelling of the pension roll is to postpone indefinitely the pensioning of the survivors of the Mexican war. A convention of the survivors of the latter war is to meet at Louisville on the 22d, and a strong memorial will be sent to Congress asking that the claims of the Mexican soldiers be considered. The justness of these claims is generally acknowledged, but there is a general indisposition to further increase the pension budget. It is estimated that there are only 8,000 survivors of that war, but from the way survivors of the war of 1812 have turned up, there must be about 100,000."

News and Notes.

Neal Dow asks the Maine legislature to increase the fine for a single sale of intoxicants from $30 to $100, the fine of a common seller from $100 to $1,000. He also proposes to have the teams employed in the transportation of liquors for unlawful sale confiscated, and to give informers one-half the fines collected.

Charles W. York and Enoch F. Davis, who were arrested for complicity in "the Hon. Thomas B. Swan's" swindling, were brought before Commissioner Rand in Portland, Me., on the 15th inst., and bound over to the April term of the United States court in $500 each.

Ayoob Khan, the ameer of Cabul, has put his three sons to death for treason.

Judge Lawrence, first comptroller of the treasury, has certified that Dr. Mary Walker is under the law entitled to one year's pay as a clerk in the treasury at $900. It was understood that she was to have a place, and the appointment clerk, Mr. Vanderbilt, put her at work after she had taken the oath of office. Secretary Richardson refused, when her appointment came before him, to sign it. She reported for duty for awhile, but finally gave it up and claimed that she was entitled to pay under the law, which claim Judge Lawrence allows.

Prof. Darwin continues to prosecute his researches, and is an inveterate reader, though he is past seventy, and is confined to his bed.

George Willard threatened to shoot his son, eighteen years old, for coming into the house to warm himself, near Freeport, Ind., on the 12th inst. The boy seized an axe and broke his father's skull.

Mrs. Bridget McCormick of Lynn was probably fatally burned on the 15th inst., through knocking a kerosene lamp off a mantlepiece. She is forty years old, and has a husband and four children.

Mrs. Charles A. Harriman, wife of the pedestrian, horsewhipped Marcellus Ladd in Haverhill, Mass., on the 14th inst., for offensive words spoken against her husband. Who says wives are the "protected?"

At Danielsonville, Conn., Feb. 15th, two children were fatally burned from pouring kerosene on a fire; another child was badly burned, and the mother was seriously injured in trying to save the children.

A German family named Minnefield, in Greenville, R. I., have been arrested, charged with keeping $1,265 which Almy Matthewson, a contractor, lost some four years ago, and which one of the family found. A family quarrel revealed the secret.

A letter received by the marine and fisheries department of Quebec, gives the particulars of the wreck of the ship Nonantum, near Cape Anguilla, on the coast of Newfoundland, in the latter part of December. The ship had a crew of eighteen men, only eight of whom reached land. The names of the two survivors are McCreechy, the chief mate, and Dooley, a deck hand.

At Denver, Colorado, on the 14th inst., John W. Young, son of Brigham Young, was arrested by a deputy United States marshal on telegraphic instructions from the United States marshal at Salt Lake, where Young has been indicted for bigamy, it is supposed at the instance of his first wife. Young was before the United States commissioner on the 15th, and gave bail in $2,000. Young's first wife was a lady of high social position in Philadelphia. Before marriage he made her a promise never to practice polygamy, but three years ago he married a handsome Salt Lake girl of sixteen years.

The British steamer Hooper, Capt. Murrell, from London, arrived at St. Jago de Cuba on the 10th inst. with a new telegraphic cable on board, to connect Cienfuegos with that port. She was expected to sail on the 16th for Boston, where she will load for London.

The Michigan avenue Baptist church in Chicago was recently burned, and the janitor charges the pastor, Rev. Kerr B. Tupper, with setting it on fire.

At Detroit, Mich., on the 15th inst., George D. Horn was put on trial for manslaughter. Horn was captain of the steamer Garland, which ran down and sank a steam yacht last summer on Detroit river, by which seventeen lives were lost.

Three men were killed in Brooklyn, Feb. 15th, by the breaking in two of a mast which they were taking out of the Swedish ship Cleopatra.

The Halifax Chronicle, which has favored an investigation of the charges made by Prof. Hind, says that whether the United States were swindled out of the award is a point upon which opinions differ, but says with much emphasis that there is one point upon which Nova Scotians agree, and that is that the five and a half millions might as well be returned to the states as flung into the mountains of British Columbia or the wilds north of lake Superior.

Political.

Philadelphia's municipal election was held Feb. 15th, and resulted in the election of Samuel G. King, democrat, for mayor, by a majority of 5000; W. N. West, republican, was elected solicitor by 10,000 majority; John Hunter, democrat, was elected receiver of taxes by 20,000 majority. The election in Pittsburg, Pa., occurred the same day, and the citizens' candidate for mayor was elected over the regular republican nominee.

Spots on the Sun.

It is painful to witness the condition of the sun. The great fire-ball is in intense commotion. His surface is seamed and scarred in every direction, with black spots that indicate the disturbing elements at work in his chaotic mass. Occasionally, for a day or two, the blemishes disappear, and the glorious king of day shows a face like a shield of glowing gold. But the aspect quickly changes; spots come rushing in all directions and assuming all forms. They appear singly and in pairs, and again in groups and rows; immense groups break up into small ones, and small ones unite to form great chasms, into which half a dozen worlds might be dropped and there would still be room for more. Sometimes the spots are visible to the naked eye, and at that time a good opera glass or a spy glass will make them easily perceptible. Hundreds of observers all over the world watch the sun's face every clear day, and keep a record of the number of spots, their size, and the direction in which they move, for as the sun turns on his axis they turn with him, some of them remaining for months without much change, some taking on new forms and some disappearing entirely. Very little is known of this mysterious sun or the spots that are visible more than ninety millions of miles away.

Once in about eleven years the sun takes on his present sun-spot phase, and we are approaching the maximum of disturbance. No one knows the cause. Some believe that it is planetary attraction, some that it is the fall of great masses of meteoric matter, and some that it is the result of internal commotion and the rush upward of gaseous explosions in comparison with which our fiercest volcanic eruptions are but the flicker of a flame. Besides the sun-spot agitation, the gaseous outbursts are marked and vivid. The tongues of flame or rosy protuberances are darting forth in all directions and bearing their testimony to the solar commotion. Mr. Trouvelot, of Cambridge, who makes daily observation of the sun's chromosphere, gives a graphic description of a remarkable solar protuberance that he witnessed on the 16th of November. When first seen it was large and complicated, extending upward from the sun about a hundred thousand miles. Three or four hours after, it had developed into huge proportions, extending far out into space, and vanishing gradually to regions where it could not be perceived. As nearly as it could be measured, it reached a height of over a quarter of the sun's diameter, or about two hundred and thirty-five thousand miles. Such a protuberance hurled upward from the earth would almost reach the moon! Two hours after, the whole structure had collapsed, and was only about eighteen thousand miles high. Observations like this give an idea of the mighty forces at work in the solar orb, and make observers long for the time when a satisfactory solution may be found for this mysterious periodical solar disturbance, so intimately connected with the meteorological condition of the earth. —Providence Journal.

—A lady was sworn as a witness lately in a New York police court. She is an elderly and dignified lady. In swearing to her affidavit she placed her hand upon the Bible, but when requested to "kiss the book" she raised it until her eyes noticed its time-worn and soiled condition. With an exclamation of disgust she quickly dropped the book upon the bar. A completion of the ceremony was not insisted upon by the court, but bystanders on all sides offered suggestions of the need of a new Bible.

—Macon, Ga., is considerably exercised about a bull that has taken possession of a vacant lot near a school house, and makes the children's lives a burden to them. Macon has a clause in its city laws prohibiting cows from roaming the streets, but nothing is said about bulls. Hence these steers. The city fathers are gravely debating whether the bull can be abated on the ground that he is a nuisance.

AROUND HOME.

Some fishermen were arrested on Wednesday for confiscating fish belonging to another vessel, and selling them, it is said, at a very low price.

It is reported that Rev. G. D. Garland, pastor of the Christian church at North Hampton, has received and accepted a call to the church at Newcastle.

Among the passengers by the steamship Marathon, which arrived at Boston Feb. 14th from Liverpool, were Mrs. Celia Thaxter and Oscar Laighton.

A pocket-book containing a sum of money was picked up on Wednesday afternoon; and handed in to the police station. The loser can recover it on applying to the city marshal, and proving ownership.

Mr. Benjamin Moulton, one of the oldest citizens of Stratham, died in that town on the 16th inst., at the age of eighty years and six months. Mr. Moulton was one of the oldest members of the Mechanics' Association, having joined that organization in 1835.

The arrivals of fish on Wednesday were as follows: schooner Comet, 600 lbs.; Ev Nichols, 600; Flora Temple, 5000; Can't Come It, 600; General Grant 2000; Julia A., 1600; Mary E. Caswell, 500; Christie Campbell, 5000 lbs. Owing to the thick weather but few of the vessels found their trawls.

Mr. William Forsyth, for many years connected with S. R. Niles' advertising agency in Boston died at his residence in Chelsea, Mass., on Wednesday morning, the 16th inst. Faithful and conscientious in the discharge of all his duties, he made a large number of personal friends among business associates, who will miss his pleasant smile and kindly words.

In another column will be found the announcement of the coming of Denman Thompson, who will appear at Music hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 26th, as "Joshua Whitcomb." When Mr. Thompson played here before, late squirers for tickets had great difficulty in procuring eligible seats; his popularity has not abated in the slightest degree, so an early application is advisable.

Eugene Foote, whose right hand was badly jammed while coupling cars on the Eastern railroad, Jan. 31st, will save the hand, though he will probably be permanently deprived of the use of two fingers. Mr. Foote was not insured in the accident insurance company of Hartford, as was reported at the time he was hurt; and neither was his brother, Frank A. Foote, who was injured some months previously while at work on the railroad.

A larger quantity of ice has been cut in this city and vicinity this season than for many previous winters. The Eldredge Brewing Co. took from the pond back of their brewery 3500 tons in three cuttings. Mr. George A. Perkins had cut some 3000 tons, and his brother, L. M. Perkins, about 1500 tons. Mr. Charles Hodgdon, of Newington, is estimated as having harvested 1500 tons, and Mr. Cyrus L. Brown has cut from the Foye pond for personal use twenty tons. The Laighton Bros. receive their supply, 450 tons, from Mr. David Lamprey of Hampton. The Jones breweries obtain their ice, using about 1800 tons, from Mr. George A. Perkins and from Dover. The ice crop this season is of the usual quality, and will average fourteen inches in thickness. Milton three ponds, which were made lively by the large number of hands employed in the various operations of procuring ice last winter, have this season stored but a small quantity owing to the great scarcity of water, the little remaining in the pond being hardly necessary to supply the means of running the Salmon Falls mills.

The annual report of the Portsmouth Firemen's Relief association for the year ending Feb. 1st, 1881, is as follows: During the year two reliefs of $35 each have been paid. The first was paid to John Lewis, of hook and ladder company, who was injured at the fire on Noble's island, and the other to Peter O'Donnell, of Kearsarge engine company, who was injured at the burning of Kearsarge mill. There is now a surplus fund of $1662.03 deposited in the Portsmouth savings bank, $70 having been paid in benefits during the past year. The present membership numbers twenty. The president of the association is George A. Jackson; secretary, William S. Hazel; treasurer, Samuel S. Fletcher. This society, although not a large one, is one which must be productive of much good at a comparatively small expense, and is worthy of the liberal support of the entire fire department, and should have enrolled on its list a larger percentage of the firemen than it now has. The dues are only $1, while those of its members who are unfortunate enough to meet with accidents receive as a benefit $5 every week during the time they are confined.

A HISTORIC BUILDING.

The Chase mansion, advertised in our columns to be sold at auction, is one of the historic houses of Portsmouth, which has preserved the same appearance for a century and more.

This house was the residence of Stephen Chase, Esq., a merchant, a graduate of Harvard college, and a founder of the Portsmouth Athenæum. The estate has been in the ownership and occupation of the Chase family for over a century and a quarter. The house is on the same side of the street and not far from the "Nutter mansion," a view of which appears in Aldrich's "Story of a bad boy," and a little further on is the "Earl of Halifax" hotel, at corner of Atkinston street, whence departed the first stage-coach which ran beween Portsmouth and Boston, in 1761.

One of the often alluded to incidents which has rendered the Chase house famous in the annals of Portsmouth, is the visit of General Washington to this ancient seat of culture, wealth and political importance, in 1789. Hon. Paine Wingate, who lived in Stratham, and was from 1798 to 1809 a judge of the superior court of New Hampshire, was a senator in Congress under the federal government from 1789 to 1793; and when Washington came to Portsmouth he journeyed through Hampton Falls, where he visited Meshech Weare, and thence came by way of Greenland to Portsmouth. Mrs. Chase, wife of Rev. Stephen Chase, was an aunt to Wingate, and Mr. Stephen Chase, the ancestor of Theodore, Joseph and William Chase, was cousin to the senator. As near relatives to the senator, whose house was twelve miles distant from Portsmouth, an entertainment was tendered to President Washington at the Chase mansion by Mr. Stephen Chase, which was accepted by the president. Mr. Stephen Chase was perhaps one of the best men among the large number of leading citizens then residing at old Strawberry Bank, to properly entertain the chief magistrate, who on taking his departure kissed, with fatherly affection, the young ladies of the family, one of whom, afterward the mother of a well known lawyer and ex-judge of New Hampshire, often related the incident with patriotic pride to her children after they had grown up.

The house, after the death of Mr. Stephen Chase, was the home of the late Theodore Chase before his removal from Portsmouth to Boston; and subsequently was occupied by William Chase, a merchant whose counting-room was near that of his brother in the large building at the head of Portsmouth pier, which was burned many years ago. It only ceased to be the home of the Chases at the recent decease of Mrs. Sarah Chase, the widow of William, and ere long will pass under the hammer of the auctioneer to new owners.

A CARD.

An elegant chair was left at my home this afternoon; also the following letter:

A few of the pupils of the "Boys' High School" of former years desiring to express their appreciation of your kindly interest in them while under your care and since, join in sending you this chair. They are among many who have very pleasant memories of their high school days. They heartily wish for you every success and happiness in time to come.

I most sincerely thank the donors, not only for the elegant gift, but also for the kind letter and kinder remembrance of my earlier years in the high school. As no names are given, I can only conjecture from whom this expression comes. It has awakened a train of thought which makes me regret, not that I am so soon to leave the school, but that I cannot live over again the years when unimpaired strength made the hours I spent in the school-room the happiest of my life. As I turn away from what has thus far been my life work, I most gladly recall the warm sympathy of many of my former pupils. For all the past and for this last expression of good will I have only words of gratitude. I heartily reciprocate the kind wishes in regard to the years to come. May the future be successful and happy, and the magic lantern of life display in brighter colors the pictures of anticipation. S. W. CLARKE.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION.

The concert on Wednesday evening attracted a fine audience and was greatly appreciated, solo singers and chorus being well received.

This (Thursday) evening the second concert will be given, by the Schubert Male Quartette of Boston, and Miss Edith Wendell of this city. All who have attended the rehearsals or concerts agree in denominating Mr. Whitney one of the best conductors who ever graced a stage; the singers are unanimous in his praise, and are showing marked and rapid improvement under his drill.

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. Samuel Dyke, in a recent lecture on divorce laws, stated as the result of his investigations that in New Hampshire, where the strictness of divorce laws has not been relaxed for a century, the increase of divorces is as marked as in Maine or Massachusetts.

On the 15th inst., at Peterboro', the friends of Mrs. Elizabeth Treadwell Weston celebrated her 103d birthday. She enjoys very good health, and is daily about the house, converses and tells stories of days gone by with the greatest interest. She has a son, Deacon Samuel Weston, aged eighty-five years; a grand-daughter aged fifty-eight, a great-granddaughter aged thirty-two, and a great-great-grandson six years old, living.

Romances in Real Life.

The ways to matrimony are indeed wonderful. The people of Clinton county, Illinois, were never so certain of this as at the present time. Leroy Lindley and Ernest Graham are young farmers in that county, in good circumstances, and moving in good society. They have been warm friends. The belle of the neighborhood was Miss Agnes Roper, and both of the young men admired her. The more modest Leroy "never told his love," and Ernest was a successful suitor. The day was set for the wedding, and Ernest asked his friend to act as his best man. Not wishing to betray his own secret, he consented. It was decided to have the wedding at St. Louis, and the party started by railroad for that city, where the invited guests assembled at the appointed time. An accident delayed the train, and made necessary the postponement of the ceremony until the next day. Agnes passed the night at the house of a friend, and in the wakeful hours she made the discovery that she loved Leroy much more than she did her affianced. In the morning she told her feelings to Ernest, frankly, and he, like a sensible man, relieved her from her promise. Then he told Leroy all about it, and that gentleman, still keeping his secret, suggested that they should go to Agnes and learn whether she was affected by anything more than a passing whim. Together the friends went to have her decide between them, and she frankly declared her affection for Leroy, who then told the story of his previously hopeless and unslying love for her. Ernest took the first train for his Illinois home; Leroy and Agnes are enjoying their honeymoon in St. Louis.

Another story illustrative of how wonderful the ways to matrimony are—"a tale of two cities"—comes from Milwaukee and Chicago:

The other day a Milwaukee gentleman was visited by a Chicago merchant and took him home to dinner. He was well acquainted with the family, and in conversation with the charming daughter of his host, rallied her on her continuance in a state of single blessedness. She replied that none of the Milwaukee beaux were to her taste, and in an indifferent way inquired if Chicago had any nice young men disengaged. Receiving an affirmative reply she remained a minute or two in a brown study, and then brightening up said in a bantering tone, "Well, you are a commission merchant; send me down a nice young man, and I will allow you a commission of ten cents a pound." Nothing more was said, but the merchant did not forget his commission. He thought over the list of available young men, and made a mental note of the result. Nor was that all. A few days later a handsome young man, one of Chicago's "best"—and they do have some of the right sort in that city—rang the bell at the door of the Milwaukee mansion, and presented a note of introduction to the belle of the household from her recent visitor. She was surprised, of course, but fully equal to the occasion. The visit was prolonged beyond the expectations of either, and was followed by another and others, and although all this has occurred since the first of January, the wedding cards are out, and the Chicago merchant has received the first installment on his commission, based on an estimate of one hundred and ninety-five pounds.

Woman's Triumph.

A Severe Surgical Operation. It is Endured without taking Ether. Subject, Mrs. Eward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y.

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y., furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand without benefit. Not until the hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help.

He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverance.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weakness and diseases of the blood. One dollar a bottle. Your druggist has it.

As Soft as it May.

When three rival western railroads—say three running out of Chicago—get into a rumpus, cut rates and rates, they will carry passengers and freight free. It is a lover's quarrel and must soon end. Before the public has much benefit from the break the president of the road which is losing the most money invites the other to come and see him regarding a new style of cattle car. They make their appearance on time, light fresh cigars, settle down in easy chairs, and No. 1 remarks:

"Gentlemen, I am sorry to disappoint you, but the model of the new car referred to was accidentally broken last night."

"Oh, it's of no consequence," says No. 2.

"Not in the least," adds No. 3.

"Now that you are both here, and I happen to think of it, I may be pardoned for saying that my road can continue this cutting business for an indefinite period and still pay dividends."

"And so can mine."

"And so can mine."

"No doubt of it, gentlemen—not the least doubt. This afternoon I instructed my general passenger agent to cut rates one dollar lower."

"And so did I."

"And so did I."

"But while sitting here I have been led to inquire of myself why any of us should cut rates. There is traffic enough for us all at good rates."

"Yes, that's so."

"Yes, that's so."

"The public do not thank us for this cut. We might carry ten thousand passengers to St. Louis and not receive even a thank you."

"Not a thank."

"No, not a thank."

"Therefore, gentlemen, seeing that we are all here together, and seeing that a hard winter is approaching, I feel like signing an agreement to restore old rates."

"So do I."

"So do I."

"Very well. We will sign our names to this contract, and I will order George to bring the bottles of champagne and a lunch. Excuse my bland smile, gentlemen, but I feel good."

"And I was never more happy."

"And I am serenoness itself."

And next day rates are restored to the old figures.—Chicago paper.

Tee Witching Time o'Night.

Persons who have watched much with sick people at night, or who have been often awake at midnight from any cause, have noticed an unusual number of noises at that time. Those who are not cowardly often ascribe these to the blinds, the cat, or a starting nail. But just now, in Nevada, an old Ruby Hill miner, who has had fifteen years' experience under ground, says that he has observed one peculiar fact, that between twelve and two o'clock in the night, if there is a loose stone or bit of earth in the mine it is sure to fall. Says he: "About this time it seems that everything begins to stir, and immediately after twelve, although the mine has been still as a tomb before, you will hear particles of rock and earth come tumbling down, and if there is a caving piece of ground in the mine it is sure to give way."

—The German "Publishers' Journal" has issued statistics concerning the number of periodical publications published in the world. According to it the total number is about 23,000, of which Germany boasts 3,778; England, 2,509; France, 2,000; Italy, 1,226; Austria, 1,200; Russia, 500. Asia produces 387; Africa, 50; America, 9,129; and Australia, 100.

—Kate Field has confided to a Boston reporter the important fact that she prefers the short paragraphs in newspapers to the long and labored editorial articles. Some day Kate will come across a column article about herself, written by a woman, and will read it with intense interest, after which she will admit that for wild fascination there is nothing like a column of "friendly" criticism.

—Says the Boston Transcript: "You put blinders on a horse so he can see nothing that is going on about him, and then blame him for trembling and starting to run for every little noise. You forget how frightened you were when, with blinded eyes, you were initiated into the awful mysteries of the High Mightful Lodge of Unbiased and Superincumbent Chinwaggers. They may depend upon it that when the Angel Gabriel comes to this country he won't light in Kentucky.

I Wished I Was Dead!

After suffering several years with the leucorrhœa, and no doubt I would have been, only a lady induced me to try Sulphur Bitters Now I am well. Three bottles cured me.—Mrs. C., Newport, R. I.

—A French family, consisting of a father, mother and nineteen children, moved from Mechanicsville to a tenement in Fall River. When they arrived there with their household goods, the landlord refused them the tenement on the ground that the yard was too small to hold the children.

A Cross Baby.

Nothing is so conductive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man, remember this.—Traveller.

—"What," asked the teacher, "was the greatest obstacle Washington encountered in crossing the Delaware?" And the smart bad boy thought for a minute and then made answer, "The toll-man."

Malt Bitters build up the nervous and muscular system as so overcome disease.

ILLUSTRATION: At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount? If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common; most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had taken one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

As endless chain or good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

The Stovepipe Hat.

There must be a deeper and more potent reason for the popularity of the stove-pipe hat than the mere consideration that the wearer looks well in it, if he does look so, according to the Buffalo Courier. We are satisfied that the secret causes of this curious popularity is a moral one. The plug hat is virtually a sort of social guaranty for the preservation of peace and order. He who puts one on has given a hostage to the community, for his good behavior. The wearer of a plug hat must move with a certain sedateness and propriety. He cannot run or jump or romp, or get into a fight, except at the peril of his headgear. All the hidden influences of the beaver tend toward respectability. He who wears one is obliged to keep the rest of his clothing in decent trim, that there may be no incongruity between head and body. He is apt to become thoughtful through the necessity of watching the sky whenever he goes out. The chances are that he will buy an umbrella, which is another guaranty for good behavior, and the care of the hat and umbrella, perpetual and exacting as it must ever be, adds to the sweet seriousness of his character. Then the man who wears a plug hat naturally takes to the society of women, with all its elevating accessories. He cannot go hunting or fishing without abandoning his beloved hat, but in the moderate enjoyment of female companionship, croquet and lawn tennis, he may sport his beaver with impunity; in other words the constant use of a plug hat makes a man composed in manner, quiet and gentlemanly in conduct, and the companion of the ladies. The inevitable result is prosperity, marriage and church membership.

—A Columbia college student, speaking of astronomy, says—"I see how one can find out how large and how far away the stars are, but, by Jove! I don't quite see how they ever found out their names!"

That's a Fact.

A man can't work unless he feels well. The hard times have made plenty of people sick simply by worrying them almost out of their wits about money and business. Trouble of mind has brought on trouble of body. There is indigestion, heaviness in the head, and all that. Are you afflicted in this way? Go and invest one dollar for a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and it will make a new man of your. It takes the bile out of the blood, and is worth a trip to Rondout, N. Y.,—the doctor's home—on foot, if you can not get it more easily. First, however, see if your druggist hasn't got it.

It takes about $2,500,000 to pay the annual expense of the 20,000 houses which are owned in Great Britain.

We are strongly disposed to regard that person as the best physician who does most to alleviate human suffering. Judged from this standard, Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., is entitled to the front rank, for her Vegetable Compound is daily working wonderful cures in female diseases. Send for circular to the above address.

Beacon Lights Extinguished.

Beacon light No. 3, in Currituck sound, N. C., was destroyed by the ice recently. The beacon was one of those very recently established, and was lighted with gas, and run with the automatic clock machinery. It was put up in December last. It is not known exactly what time it was swept away, but the letter from the keeper was dated Friday, Feb. 11th. The letter also states that the lens and the clock attachments by which the light was regulated were saved.

The Sharp's island lighthouse in Chesapeake bay was carried away by the ice-run on the 11th inst. This was one of the strong hexagonal screw-pile lighthouses, built on solid wrought-iron piles. It showed a fixed white light visible eleven miles, a fine sixth-order lens made by Henry Lepante of Paris being used. The lighthouse was established in 1838, and rebuilt in 1866. The loss is estimated at $20,000. The keeper, Columbus Butler, and the assistant keeper, Charles L. Tarr, stuck manfully to their posts, until forced to abandon the light and make their escape in a boat. The run of ice is described as having been something frightful, under the action of a heavy northwest wind.

A Brutal Parent.

In the probate court at Worcester, Mass., Feb. 15th, a petition was filed by Thomas B. Rice of Boston and Alfred Holden of Barre, in behalf of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children, for the appointment of guardians for Charles H. Nourse and Hattie E. Nourse, aged nineteen and eighteen respectively, children of Benjamin Nourse of Oakham. The testimony of the son and daughter and neighbors showed Nourse to be a most heartless and unfeeling parent, who has treated his children even worse than he has his cattle; and after two hours' hearing he did not have the moral courage to make any defence of his conduct, and his counsel, L. Emerson Barnes, Esq., of North Brookfield, gave up the case, the facts being unknown to him until after the evidence had been offered.

The evidence showed that the mother of the children died when Charlie was six years of age, and Hattie five. They were subjected to very harsh treatment during the succeeding eight years, while they lived at home. On the slightest provocation they were knocked down and kicked; bean poles and cudgels were plied vigorously on Charlie's back, his nose was pulled until it bled, and once his father put his thumbs into the boy's mouth and held him up by the cheeks. Hattie was held by the ears when six years old, and the left one was injured so badly that it is permanently deaf. Blows over the head and neck produced black and blue spots. She was obliged to do the housework at eight years of age.

They were not allowed to play with other children, were not allowed to go to church, and the school records showed that they attended school less than half the time it kept. Nourse told them education would make them fools. They were obliged to work from sunrise to sunset, and when they went to see their grandmother, who lived a short distance away, he whipped them if he found it out.

They submitted to this sort of treatment until they were fourteen and thirteen years of age, respectively, when they went to their grandmother's, and have since lived at various places, their father meantime collecting their wages under threat of suing their employers if their wages were not given him. The court appointed Alfred Holden of Barre and Thomas B. Rice of Boston guardians of the children.

News and Notes.

The fortifications appropriation bill was reported to the Senate on the 16th inst., amended by the committee as follows: The amount granted for the "protection, preservation and repair" of fortifications is increased from $100,000 to $200,000; the item of $400,000 for the "armament of sea coast fortifications" is reduced to $250,000.

An elegant and costly monument to be erected over the tomb of Hon. Zachariah Chandler, is being cut out at Hallowell granite works. A statue of the eminent rebel general, Stonewall Jackson, is also being made at these works.

Two women were run over and killed by a gravel train at Allentown, Pa., Feb. 16th.

A hearing on a petition for a new trial for Edward C. Hayden, under sentence to be hanged Feb. 25th for the murder of his wife, was commenced in Montpelier, Vt., on the 10th. The petition is based on alleged new evidence as to Hayden's insanity.

The executive council of Maine on the 16th inst. confirmed the nomination of Josiah S. Hobbs of Augusta as state librarian, in place of John D. Myrick. The nomination of Mr. Stilwell as fish commissioner, was withdrawn. The council rejected the governor's other nominations, which were Mr. Cushing in place of Mr. Osgood for prison inspector, Mr. Butler in place of Mr. Manley for insane hospital trustee, and Mr. Smith for fish commissioner in place of Mr. Stanley.

The profits of the New York post-office last year were $2,758,717.

Business is suspended at Cuba, Ill., on account of small-pox. The same disease is reported as rapidly spreading in Chicago. On the 16th inst. there were reported to be sixteen cases of small-pox in Caliope, a little village in Sioux county, Iowa. Rufus Stone, publisher of the Sioux County Independent, died on the 12th inst. of small-pox, and remained unburied on the 16th, the fear of contagion being so great that no one could be prevailed upon to bury him. Five dollars a day had been offered for nurses in vain, and the supply of fuel and provisions had gived out. Momements were made in Sioux City for the relief of the suffering community.

For several months the young daughter of Charles E. Crawford of New York city has been treated as a kleptomaniac, and her hands kept tied night and day. She was charged with innumerable thefts, and with setting the house on fire twice. Recent developments showed she was innocent, and an Irish servant girl named Mary Dooley now confesses that she was the thief and incendiary. Large quantities of the stolen goods were found at her home. The real thief has been held in $3000 for trial on charges of robbery and arson.

The burning accident at Danielsonville, Conn., was more serious than was first reported. The family consisted of father, mother and five children. The father is a French laborer, named Quintin, employed in a factory. While the mother was out of the room, the five children started a fire, using kerosene oil. An explosion resulted, and four of the five were fatally burned, two dying in a short time. The oldest one was aged twelve years, and the youngest one six years.

Paddy Ryan was arrested in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15th, on a requisition from the governor of Virginia, for taking part in a prize-fight with Joe Goss in the latter state last summer. Next morning he was permitted to go to his liquor shop in company with an officer, and soon walked out and jumped into a hack, a crowd of roughs preventing the officer from detaining him.

Near Utica, Mo., Feb. 15th, the body of a Mr. Leaver was found in a manger in his stable, with the throat cut. He had been missing for two weeks, and during all the time the horses had been eating hay off the body. Whether it was a murder or suicide is not known.

William Jackson has been arrested at Lowell, Mass., charged with causing the death of Alexander Lindsay, his brother-in-law, on the 8th inst. Lindsay's death was at first reported to have been caused by a fall on an icy door-step.

Gangs of cowboys are depredating upon Mexican stock-raisers in Sonora, and the people are in terror. There are about two hundred of these cattle thieves, mostly from Texas, scattered in bands of from four to twenty. The Mexicans are arming themselves, and say if the authorities do not punish these invaders, they will not allow an American to cross the line. If the United States does not stop these American marauders from invading their homes, serious complications must arise.

Big Colonization Scheme.

President Gonzales, of Mexico, has made a grant of 1,500 leagues of land in Sonora to Samuel Brennan, formerly of California, on which to colonize 1,000 families, many of whom are understood to be ready to move into the country from eastern and western states and territories.

Gen. Manuel Castro, who commanded the native California forces in the battle fought with Commodore Stockton and Gens. Kearney and Fremont in 1846, in California, has been recently reappointed to the Mexican army, and will probably command the department comprising Sonora. He is positively asserted to be interested in the scheme of colonization.

Political.

The committee investigating the alleged abuses of the franking privilege has nearly completed its work. It has appeared in evidence that the republican campaign committee expended $20,000 in postage and expressage, and it has not appeared that they misused the franking privilege. It has been discovered that employes of the democratic congressional committee sent a vast amount of non-frankable matter under frank. The number of franked documents sent from Washington is shown to have been nearly fifty millions.

Eckley B. Coxe, the democrat who was elected to the Pennsylvania senate in November, but declined to take his seat because he had used money to procure his election, was re-elected on the 15th inst., by a largely increased majority.

The New Orleans Times, a democratic paper, devotes an editorial to the murder in Lake Providence, La., on the night of the presidential election, of Dr. Jones, the editor of a republican paper, who was assassinated for no other reason than his politics, his personal character being of the highest. The Times cannot learn that any effort has been made to arrest the murderers by the local authorities; if such effort had been made, the assassins would now be in prison. Before the grand jury of the United States court, one witness is reported to have testified that he stood within ten feet of Jones when he was killed, and recognized the murderer. The Times very plainly informs the people of Louisiana that they cannot expect accessions of population and capital so long as they sustain a sentiment which protects or refuses to punish political murderers.

—"Bridget, I cannot allow you to receive your lover in the kitchen any longer." "It's very kind of you, ma'am, but he's almost too bashful to come into the parlor."

—A Milwaukee policeman has fallen heir to $60,000, and every female cook in his beat wants him to keep his promise at once, and he wonders how he's going to avoid about fifty breach-of promise suits.

The 37th annual report of the New England Mutual Life Insurance company, which is now ready, cannot fail to be of the greatest interest to policy holders, and to those intending to take out policies. The year just passed is the most prosperous ever known for this old, reliable and liberal company, as will be seen by their card in our paper.

The steam fire engine Dover, No. 1, belonging to the Dover fire department, was tested on the 15th inst., preparatory to being put into active service after being kept in reserve for some years. With one hundred and fifteen pounds of steam the machine threw a good stream of water 285 feet and five inches, and the Dover firemen think she is the "boss" engine in the state. The machine was built by the Amoskeag company in 1864.

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 25th, 1880.

"JOSHUA WHITCOMB."

The sale of tickets to "Joshua Whitcomb," Denman Thompson's wonderfully popular sketch of New England character, which is to be given at Music hall on Saturday evening, the 26th inst., commences at Preston's this morning. It was difficult for late comers to get tickets when Mr. Thompson was here before, a fact those intending to see the play this time should not forget.

"THE GUV'NOR."

Saturday evening, Feb. 26th, at Franklin theatre, Portsmouth play-goers are to be given an opportunity to see "The Guv'nor," the comedy which has just closed a remarkably successful run of eleven weeks at the Boston Museum. From the innumerable commendatory press notices of the play we select the following, from the Boston Transcript:

If you want to enjoy a good jolly continuous laugh, one that will make your sides ache and keep a smile on your face for a week afterwards, see this new "Comedy of errrors." It is full of pure, clean fun from beginning to end.

It will be given here with the same cast as at the Museum, including Mr. Warren as Butterscotch, Mr. Geo. W. Wilson as Macclesfield the boat-builder, Mrs. Vincent as the boat-builder's wife, and Miss Norah Bartlett as Mrs. Butterscotch.

The Museum company played the Guv'nor in Lynn on Wednesday evening of this week. Every ticket was sold long in advance of the opening. The company returned to Boston after the play in a special train.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION.

The rehearsals on Thursday were well attended, and the concert in the evening had a larger audience even than was present Wednesday evening.

To-night the convention closes with a grand concert, when the oratorio of "The Messiah" will be given, with Miss Fanny Kellogg, Miss Fenderson, W. C. Tower and John F. Winch in the solo parts, and the full chorus.

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 17th.

Mr. Editor: What protection have we against the mistakes of a careless or ignorant druggist? The prescription of one of our most eminent physicians was carried to-day to No. 36 Market street to be made up for the third time. Before using, it was found not to be what had been ordered, and on suspicion of its being ergot it was taken to every druggist in town, and pronounced to be such. This ergot was delivered in the place of wine of iron, which was to be given to a child not two years old. Ergot may not be as injurious as fluid extract of strychnine, or belladonna, either of which it might have been, but that does not make the mistake any less inexcusable. P.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The Maine legislature has passed a bill authorizing the Boston & Maine railroad to purchase the newly-built Orchard Beach railroad.

The valuation commission of Maine has completed its labors, and reported on the 17th inst. The total valuation of the state is $235,978,716, an increase since 1870 of $11,155,798. The total number of polls in the state is 160,569; in York county, 15,504. The valuation of York county is $22,423,960, a decrease since 1870 of $18,915.

Poisonous Colors.

An English newspaper has the following comment on the prevailing fashion of arsenical colors:

Formerly, green wall papers, colored with a preparation called Schweinwurt's green, were fiercely denounced by chemists as loaded with arsenic, and in consequence got a bad name; but now the field is wider, and all the principal colors produced by aniline dyes are open to the charge of frequently carrying in their composition this insidious poison. Let me here mention a fact that within the last week has come under my notice; and if anybody, after hearing it, can assert that the evil is a small or imaginary one, all I can say is that he must have curious notions of cause and effect.

A merchant in business in one of the largest manufacturing towns of the north told me that a French gentleman had called upon him a few days before, with a letter of introduction from a well-known London firm. In introducing his business, he said the object of his visit was to inquire from my friend as to the best firm from whom arsenic could be purchased in that district. And in explanation the Frenchman added, "You know that my firm are large manufacturers of aniline dyes, and I am come over here to purchase 10,000 tons of arsenic, if I find the prices suit me."

The merchant gave the address of a house he could recommend; but, in telling the story to me, he said, "Really, I did not feel very comfortable in giving it, though what could I do? He would have found it out somewhere else. But it was a strange, and to me, I confess, a very unpleasant coincidence, to hear two days afterward that my friend, the bankers' agent in this town, had for some weeks previously been dangerously ill, through poisoning induced by wearing striped colored stockings, and that he was in danger of his legs having to be cut off; and I knew all the while that these horrible dyes were at the bottom of the mischief!"

A Singular Mania.

New York gossip tells of the queerest mania yet. It is that of a society belle who has fallen dead in love with negro minstrels; not with a negro minstrel—that might be understood—but with negro minstrels en masse. Whether she knows them or not, she writes them notes, stops them on the street, and asks them to the house when the folks are out, where she entertains them in grand style. She presented to one of them a pair of solitaire diamond earrings which her father had given to her on Christmas. Her parents intend to send her to Europe in hope of curing her of her infatuation.

—Kind words never die. An elderly stranger bought a copy of the News from a newsboy, and handed him a quarter, but upon the boy's hunting for change the old gentleman said: "Never mind the change, sonny; just keep it for yourself." This was probably the first kind word that had been spoken to the homeless, friendless orphan boy since his mother died, and it completely overcame him. Brushing hastily away a tear, he seized his benefactor's hand and exclaimed in a husky voice: "Bully for you, Old Stick-in-the-Mud! I wonder how much reward there is offered for you by the savings bank you used to be president of?"

Woman's Triumph.

A Severe Surgical Operation. It is Endured without taking Ether. Subject, Mrs. Eward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y.

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y., furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand without benefit. Not until the hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help.

He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverance.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weakness and diseases of the blood. One dollar a bottle. Your druggist has it.

Brave Mexicans.

Rear Admiral Stevens, commanding the United States naval force of the Pacific station, reports to the secretary of the navy, under date of Mazatlan, Mexico, Jan. 24th, that he reached that port in the flagship Pensacola on Jan. 17th, and that, unless ordered to the contrary, it was his intention to cruise down the coast. If this course should be considered unnecessary, he would proceed to the Sandwich islands, where he says the interests of the United States are very great, and that the flagship has not been there for a long time. Accompanying this report is a statement from the rear admiral, calling attention to the heroic conduct of certain Mexicans who volunteered to take a boat out from the shore with a view of rescuing the crew of the American schooner Teutonia of San Francisco, Capt. Struckney, and which was driven on the rocks at the entrance of the harbor of Mazatlan on Dec. 14th, 1880. Two boats were despatched in succession and capsized, after which Luis E. Scover, captain of the port of Yslao Marias, volunteered to take a boat out. This boat was manned by volunteers, whose names were Procopia Macias, Pomposa Verdugo, Bernardo Hernandez and Ricardo Flores. Manuel E. Yzaugine, captain of the port of Mazatlan, went in the boat himself to give directions. The statement says: "After long continued and well directed endeavors the boat succeeded in reaching the vicinity of the wreck. It was found impossible to lay the boat alongside on account of the heavy sea and the floating wreckage. Ricardo Flores now jumped overboard and swam to the vessel with a line, by which the officers, crew and captain's wife succeeded in reaching the boat, which conveyed them in safety to the shore." The rear admiral urgently recommends that the United States government confer some lasting mark of its gratitude upon these brave men, and suggests that medals, which can be worn, would be highly appreciated.

A Capital Substitute.

Once a man searched through what is now the state of Florida to find a fountain he had heard was there, which was able to make an old person young again. He failed. We can't be boys or girls again. Age and infirmity are sure to come, but God did not ordain sickness. That is our fault. There is no fountain of youth, but there is a fountain of health, and its other name is Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." It comes from nature—from the fields and flowers, and like them is "very good." Try it for complaints of women, blood troubles, and pains and aches everywhere. If you can't get it at the store, send one dollar for a bottle to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount? If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of Hypo-Phos-Phites

TUBERCULAR DISEASE OF LUNGS AND BRONCHITIS.

Tubercular consumption of the lungs is that form of the disease most common, most fatal, and until recently considered incurable. Tubercle, from which the name is derived, is a morbid product, deposited from diseased blood in various parts of the body; and in proportion as that fluid is impure, and length of time it remains so, will tubercular diathesis continue.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 20th, 1879.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.

Dear Sir: About three years ago I was attacked with bronchitis and tubercular disease of the left lung, and suffered for two years so severely that I was unable to attend to business. About a year ago I was advised to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, and before I had finished one bottle my appetite and strength were greatly improved; my cough became less troublesome, my sleep was sound and refreshing, which had not been the case for over a year. I had suffered from nervousness and difficult breathing all the time I was sick; but your Syrup has cured it all. I advise all persons afflicted as I was to use Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. (Signed)

JAMES H. STEWART.

An endless chain of good effects is formed by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we are safe in saying, from a long experience in medicine, its virtues are not possessed by any other combination.

Daily Chronicle.

A Yankee at the Theatre.

On a certain occasion, at a certain dramatic temple, a farce was in course of representation, and had just reached the scene where the lover enters seeking, almost distracted, his lady-love, who had just concealed herself a moment before (in full view of the audience) in the "garden," behind some some canvas representation of bushes.

"Where, O Heaven! has my Julia fled?" exclaimed the actor, in despairing accents, looking around everywhere but in the right place. A specimen of the genus Yankee, in the pit, who had hitherto been all attention, now exhibited symptoms of impatience, and as the actor repeated his impassioned inquiry, he was answered by our Yankee with—

"Right behind you, you durn fool, in the tater patch!"

The effect of this can be better imagined than described—the applause was tremendous.

I Wished I Was Dead!

After suffering several years with the leucorrhoea, and no doubt I would have been, only a lady induced me to try Sulphur Bitters Now I am well. Three bottles cured me.—Mrs. C., Newport, R. I.

—The English landlords who evict Irish tenants lean their backs against the Bible for precedent and authority. Was not Adam evicted from Eden! and did he ever get any pay for the improvements he had made?

A Cross Baby.

Nothing is so conductive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man, remember this.—Traveller.

—In an essay entitled "Dickens as a Journalist," in preparation in England, there will be printed the first piece of descriptive reporting penned by Charles Dickens, and printed in the Morning Chronicle long before one word of his "Sketches by Boz," in the Evening Chronicle was written.

From the cradle to the grave all are subject to coughs and colds. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is a certain cure in the most obstinate cases. New trial size, 10 cents.

—The time has arrived when an invitation to a wedding is equivalent to lending a groom $10 and feeling thankful that he didn't ask for more.

Rational Treatment and Positive Cures are what the afflicted seek for, and those who resort to Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are not doomed to disappointment. So positively efficacious is his Favorite Prescription in all cases of female weaknesses, nerveus and other derangements incident to the sex, that this potent remedy is sold under a positive guarantee. For particulars see Pierce's Memorandum Book (given away by druggists), or see the wrappers of the medicine. Sold by druggists.

WASECA, Minn., April 5th, 1879.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D.:

Dear Sir—I feel that I should be neglecting my duty were I to fail in giving my testimony as to the value of your medicines. For years I have been a great sufferer from a complication of chronic diseases which our physicians treated in vain. I am now using your Favorite Prescription and find myself almost well. Your medicines have done me more good than anything I have ever used.

I remain, gratefully yours,

MRS. E. B. PARMALEE.

—It is about as hard to find a girl whose marriage is announced in the newspapers who isn't "beautiful and accomplished" as it is to find a man who has just died who wasn't "honored and respected by all who knew him."

ELBRIDGE SIMPSON, M. D., of Hudson, N. Y. writes:

I have used Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites in cases of consumption and other lung and throat diseases, with the most gratifying results. Of the various forms of administering phosphorous and phosphatic preparations in use, none have been found so completly adapted to the requirements of the age as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

—"The land, my friends," said an Irish orator the other day at a meeting, "has belonged to the people from the days of Adam." "Adam indeed!" replied a voice in the crowd, "do not speak of him; he was evicted from the Garden of Eden without compensation."

—A New York correspondent of the Boston Commonwealth reports that during the war several benevolent old ladies collected a large sum of money to found a home for the orphans of soldiers killed in the cause of freedom. The scheme flourished; a beautiful building was built. It now stands empty and desolate. Why? Did the money give out? Not at all; but the orphans did. They grew up, married, died, and there were no more to take their places. This institution is on Washington heights.

Congress.

The Senate used up the whole of the 17th inst. in debate upon the funding bill, but did not reach a vote upon it. A majority of the senators appeared to be in favor of a three-per-cent bond.

The noble steal known as the river and harbor appropriation bill was endorsed by the House on the 17th, by a vote of 163 to eighty-four.

The Senate on the 18th passed the funding bill, providing for a 5-20 three per cent bond, and a 1-10 three per cent treasury note. The vote on its passage was forty-three to twenty.

News and Notes.

George S. Gardnier, of the firm of Bateman & Gardnier, the largest business house in Newport, R. I., dropped dead at about midnight on the 16th inst.

James Flynn and a boy named O'Neil, of Wallingford, Conn., drove into what they thought was a shallow stream, Saturday evening, the 12th inst., when they found themselves in a gully ten feet deep, with a torrent of water rushing through. The horse was drowned, and the men clung to a tree. A boat was started to their assistance, but it was upset. An attempt was made by a man to swim to them with a rope around his waist, but he was nearly drowned, and gave up the attempt. At length about forty persons arrived, and contrived to rescue the imperilled ones by means of a rope attached to a boat.

A. J. Schade, formerly head bookkeeper in the Third National bank, of Pittsburg, Pa., is a defaulter to the extent of $11,600. He left town several weeks ago, and the affair was kept private until the 17th inst.

Thousands of cattle are reported killed by the recent severe weather on the Nebraska plains, and over 500 dead cattle were counted in sight of the railway from Ogalalla to Big Springs, a distance of but nineteen miles.

In New York, on the night of the 16th inst., Thomas Sullivan, a bar-keeper, while intoxicated, created a disturbance, shot twice at a policeman, wrested his club from him, striking with it at bystanders right and left, and shot a car conductor in the thigh. Sullivan then fled, pursued by a crowd, one of whom, James Hoyt, crushed in his skull with a stone. Sullivan is dying, and Hoyt is jailed.

Some considerable interest has been excited the past week in jewelry and mineralogical circles in New York by the sale of a large lot of "Hiddenite emeralds," which were taken out of a mine in North Carolina by Col. Hidden, formerly an aid to Mr. Edison. They prove to be as pure as the best emeralds from Bogota, and are the first pure emeralds found in this country.

William Jackson was arraigned on the 17th inst. in the police court at Lowell, Mass., for the murder of Alexander Lindsay, his brother-in-law, about ten days previously. He was represented by W. Z. Bent. Without any evidence being submitted he was committed, the intention being to take him before the grand jury at Cambridge, and should they indict him, to dismiss the case at Lowell.

Jeremiah Winchell, charged with shooting Harriet Morrison at South Egremont, Mass., Feb. 13th, was taken from jail Thursday, for trial in the district court at Great Barrington. He pleaded not guilty, and waived examination. The Telegraph Consolidation.

Two suits were brought in the New York courts, Feb. 17th, to prevent the consummation of the consolidation projects of the telegraph companies. One is a suit against the Western Union, to prevent the issue of $23,000,000 of stock of the company in scrip to purchase the stock of the American Union and Atlantic & Pacific companies, alleging that the amount to be paid for the stock of the companies to be purchased is excessive, as it could be reproduced for less than the purchase money. The second suit is brought by the Direct Cable company, which filed a bill in the United States circuit court for a perpetual injunction against the proposed consolidation of the telegraph companies.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Feb. 16.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 3886; sheep and lambs 8456; swine 10,597; Veals 82; number western cattle 2501; eastern cattle 143; milch cows and northern cattle 175.

Prices of beef cattle per 100 lbs, live weight—Extra quality $6 25 @ 6 62½; first quality $5 37 @ 6 25; second quality $4 62½ @ 5 15; third quality $4 12½ @ 4 50; poorest grades of oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 @ 4 00.

Brighton hides 8c per lb.
Brighton tallow 5c per lb.
Country hides 7 @ 7½c per lb.
Country tallow 4 @ 4½c per lb.
Calf skins 10 @ 12c per lb.
Sheep and lambs skins $1 25 @ 2 00 each.

The trade for beef cattle has not improved any over that of one week ago. Cattle cost higher at the west, but the markets here will not warrant higher prices to be paid, and in most instances they have not varied much, if any, from those obtained one week ago. Several of the best lots of beeves were sold for the English market at highest quotations, but the larger portion of sales to butchers have ranged from 5 @ 5½c per lb live weight. The supply from Maine was light, and a large portion of the stock from there were milch cows and springers, there being but a few beef cattle or working oxen among them.

Milch Cows—Not a large supply in market, but enough for demand. We quote sales of 1 pr, girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2800 lbs, at $120; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 6 in, live weight 2600 lbs, $110; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2700 lbs, $125; 1 pr, girth 7 ft, live weight 3000 lbs, $135; 1 pr steers, girth 6 ft, live weight 2100 lbs, $75.

Store Cattle—Not much call for them and but few offered in the market for sale. Nearly all the small cattle and many of the cows that are in a fair condition are bought up by butchers to slaughter.

Milch Cows—Extra $55 @ 75; ordinary $20 @ 45; springers $15 @ 50 per head. We quote sales of 2 cows and calves at $90; 3 milch cows at $55 each; 4 milch cows at $52 to $55 each; 1 new milch cow at $45; 1 spr nger $40; 4 springers at $35 each; 1 extra cow and calf $75; 3 cows and calves for $130 the lot.

Sheep and Lambs—The supply from the west for the week has been large, costing from 6 @ 7c per lb, live weight, landed at Brighton, all owned by G W Hollis, and taken to the Abattoir to be slaughtered.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices remain firm, costing, landed at slaughter houses, from 6½ @ 6¾ per lb, live weight.

A Car-Load.

Taking 20,000 pounds as a fair average load, the ordinary railroad freight car will hold: Corn, 450 bushels; barley, 400 bushels; oats, 800 bushels; rye, 400 bushels; wheat, 425 bushels; bran, 1,000 bushels; flaxseed, 360 bushels; apples, 360 bushels; potatoes, 480 bushels; whiskey, 60 barrels; salt, 70 barrels; lime, 70 barrels; flour, 90 barrels; flour, 200 sacks; cattle, 18 head; hard wood, 6 cords; soft wood, 7 cords; solid boards, 6,000; feet shingles, 40,000; hard lumber, 20,000 feet; green lumber, 15,000 feet; joist, scantling and large lumber, 4,000 feet.
